A Right Good name is more worth then greate riches / and louinge fauour is better then siluer and golde.

Whiche ryces or pouerte do mete yo / is cometh all of God.

A wyse man feyth the plague and hideth hymself / but the fooly he go an syl / and are punysshed.

The ende of lowlynesse / and the feare of God is ryces / honour / prosperite / and health.

Speares and shaxes are in the waye of the forward / but he that wyll fepe his soule / let hym fyre from such.

If thou eschape a chylde in his yowthe what waye he shoulde go / he shall not leaue it when he is olde.

The ryche ruleth the poore / and the hoowere is seruant to the lorde.

He that soweth wysenesse / shall reape fauour / and the eode of hye / plague shall destraye hym.

A Louyng eye shal be blessed / for he geueth of hyo bread vnto the poore.

Cast out the keynfull man / and so shall stryfe go out with him / sec / variance and sclander shall cease.

Who so delyleth to be of a cleane herte / and of grauous lyppe / the linge shal be his fonde.

The eyes of the Lorde perserue knowlege / but so for the wodece of the despytfull / he wyngeth them to nauyght.

The slaughterful body sayeth there is a Lion without / I enyght be slayne in the strete.

The mouth of an harlot is a depe pyt / wherein he fallith that the Lorde is angrye wthall.

Foolynesse sticheth in the herte of the lad / but the eode of correction dyspuch it awaye.

Who so boerth a poore man wrong to inuerece hyo vnyue ryces / geueth (commonly) vnto the ryche / and at the last cometh so pauerte humilite.

My soule do we bounde thine eare / and hert vnto the wodece of wysdome / applye thy mynde vnto my doctrine / for seio a pleasourte shing / if thou feyrt it in chyn herte / and p: acc ryset in thy mouth: that thou mayeste alwaye put thy truste in the Lorde.

Caue not J warned by very ofte with counsell and learning: that I mighte seue the the truth / and that thou wist the verye myghte test answerer them that laye anye thyng agaynst that.

Or that thou eode not the poore / because he so weak / and appresse not the simple in iudgemente: for the Lorde bymself wth best nre theye cause / and he violence vnto them that haue vset violence.

Take no frendshyppe with an angrye & wylfull man / and feyrt no company wth the furious: lest / thou leaunt hyo wayce / and reueceane hurte vnto thy soule.

Do not thou one of them that binde their hande vpon promysse / and are furetye for better: s: b. p. v. 6: for if thou haste nothinge to paye / they shall take awaye thy bed from vnder the.

Thou shalt not remoue the lande ma: f: / heu. xvij. 6 which thy forefether haue set.

Excuse thou nat / that they which be diligent in their busynesse stande before thyngs / a not amonge the simple people.

The XXIII. Chapter.

Can thou steele as it table to eate with a Lorde / andne thy self manerly with the thyngs that are set before the.

Measure thine appetyte: and if thou wilt ruke thine owne selfe / be not ouce greedy of hyo meate: for meate deyleth and deir cauth.

Take not ouce greute trauayle / and labour: wch. xvij. 10 so he ryche / be wace of such a pynpose.

Why wyle thou set thine eye vpon the thyng / 3cc. xvij. 6 which soodenly vanysbeth awaye.

For ryces make the fleskes wynges / and take theye flighte lyke an Eagle in to the ayre.

Eate not thou wth the enuious / and desyre not his meate: for he hath a many a lousie hert. He sayeth vnto thyn eare and dysnyk / where as his herte is not wth the.

For the moyses that thou hast eaten / shalbe thou partake / and lest those swete wordes: Tel nothinge in to the eare of a soule / for he wyl despise the wysdome of thy wodece.

Remouer not the olde landmarke / at some D: d. 11 not wthyn the fide of the furberle: for he shal be deliuered the so myghte / when he shal be sende thyn cause agaynst the.

The Proverbs of Salomon.

B Applie thine heere vnto learning/and thine eare to the wordes of knowledge.

Pro. viij. c Ecc. xxv. D Withholde not correction from the child/for if thou beest him with the rod / he shall not dye.

Thou smytest him with the rodde/ but thou restraynest hys foulefein hell.
My sonne / if thine heere receaue wisdom/my heere also shall receiue / yee / my name shall be very glad / if thy lippe speak the thinge that is righte.

Pro. xiiij. a and c. Let not thine heere be gelous to follow sinners / and kepe the shil in the feare of the Lord all the day long / for the ende is not yet come / in thy patient abiding shall thou be in vaine.

My sonne / geue eare and be wise / so shall thine heere prosper in the waye.

Pro. xvij. d Kepe no company with wynebibbers / a ryuorous eareer of fleshe / for such as hee discomfite and enuious / shall come to pouert / and he that is geue to much slepe / shall go vnder a ragged cote.

Wise care onto thy father that degeat the / and despayre not thy mother when she is olde.

Labour to get the truth / sell not awaye wyrdome / neuerture and vnderstandinge / for a eyghteous father is maruaylous glad of a wise sonne / and delyretch in him / so shall thy father be glad / and thy mother that heere thou shall receiue.

Pro. xvij. d My sonne geue me thine heere / and let thine eyes haue pleasure in my wayes - for as a whelke is a brece graue / and an harlot is a narrow pyre.

Shee larketh lyke a shefe / and those that be not aware / shee bringeth onto hee.

Where is wee? where is sowwe? where is stryfe? where is banishing? where are wound-des without cause? where be reed eyes?

When amonge those if be cuer at the wyne/and seeke out where the best is.

Take not thou vpon thy wyne / howe read it is / in what coloure it geureth in the glasse.

It geureth downe softly / but at the last it be-cometh lyke a serpent / and stryngeth as an adder.
So shall thine eyes loke vnto strange women / and thine heere shall muse vpon warde thynges.

Yee / thou shalt be as the shee stoppeth in the middle of the see / or upon the top of the masse.

They wounded me / (shalt thou say) but it hath not hurt me / they smote me / but I sleue not.

When I am well wakened / I wyll go to the dunke agayne.

The XXXIII. Chapter.

DE not thou gelous ouer wicked me / and desyre not thou to be amonge them - for theye herte magneth to do hurt / and theye lippe telle of mischief.

Thou art wisdome an house / shalbe buylded / and werye vnderstandinge it shalbe set vp.

Thou art wisdome in small chambers be filled with all costly and pleasant ryces.

A wise man is stronge / yee / a man of vnderstandinge is better / then hee that is mightie of strength.

For with discretion must warres be taken in hande / and where as are manye thou can geue counsell / there is the victory.

Wisdome is an hie thinge / yee / reuen to the foole / for hee hath not open hys mouth in the gate.

Hee that imagineth mischief / may wel be called on vngenerous persone.

The thoughte of the foolyshe is synne / and the feintfull is an abhominacion vnto men.

If thou be euertie and negligent in the tyme of neede / then is thy strength but smal.
Deluere the that go vnto death / and are led awaye to be slayne / and be not negligent the rest. If thou wilt saye / I frette not of it.

Thynkest thou that he which maketh hee to / doeth not conydeit vnto / and that he which regardeth thy soule / seeth it not?

Shall not hee recompence euery man / ac-cordinge to his waye?

My sonne / thou eatest hony and the sweete hony combe / for it is good and swete in thy mouth.

Wise thou shalt the knowledge of wyrdome be vnto thy soule / as soue as thou hast gotte it - and there is good hope / yee / thy hope shall not be in vaine.

Lape the pcy watre weyched vpon the house of the ryghteous / and distreue not hys restyng place.

For a wise man salletch fruen tymer / and resteth vpon a gayne / but the vngodly fall in to cumwylde wast.

Do. 10. a. † Reioice not thou at the fall of thine enemy / and let not thine heart be glad when he stumbleth.

Do. 10. a. † For that sayeth to the vngodly: thou art righteous / hym shall the people curse / yett he community shall abuse hym.

But they that rebuke the vngodly shall be commended / and a ryche blessinge shall come vpon them.

Do. 10. a. † He maketh hym self re be will loued / that giveth a good answer.

Do. 10. a. † First make up thy wyse that is wycheout / and loke well vnto that which thou hast in the side / and the buyde thynne house.

Do. 10. a. † Be no false witness against thy neighbour / and swure not hym with thy lippe.

Do. 10. a. † Say not I will handle hym / euen as he hath deale wyth me / and wylle reuenge euery man accordinge to his dedes.

Do. 10. b. † I reene by the side of the slouthfull / and by the wyneyard of the foolys man.

And loit was all covered with thorns / and stode full of thystes / and the stone wall was broken downe.

Do. 10. a. † Yett / I see on still a litle / a litle / a litle / solde thynne hande to gether yett a litle / so shall poue come vnto the / as one that trauallyeth by the way / and receyvethe a weaptied man.

The XXV Chapter.

Do. 10. a. † These also are Salomons prouerbes / whiche the em of Iudah the kyng of Iuda gaue thered together.

It is the honoure of God to kepe a thyngge secret / but the thyngge honoure is to searde dent. ps. 84. 11. out a thyngge.

The heauen is hygh / the earth is thye / and the thyngge herre is vnto searde.

Take the dust from the flyuer / and there shall be a cleane vessill therof.

Take away on golde from the harte / a hie seate shall be stablised to a ryche man.

Do not saye thy self in the presence of the thyng / and putt it not in place of great men.

Do not saye it is that it is forde vnto the / come vpon thyself / the thou to be set downe in the presence of the punce / whome thou seest with thynne eyes.

Do not be hasty to go to the lawe / lest thou be putte in thyne neighboures case / for the lawe shall be thyne shame.

Do not handle thy matter with thy neighbour / him self / for thou shalt not be able to seeke: lest thou be heard that of his name to thy dishonoure / a litle thine enill name do not cause.

A word spoken in due season is like appole of golde in a siluer byse.

The correction of the wyse is to an obedient care / a golden chayne is a Jewell of golde.

Do not saye as the wyse / cold in the house / for he is a saythfull messenger to hym that sent hym / a rethorick his master in mynde.

Do not saye as the great beast / a / and geue thyself nothinge to like / a cloudes and wynde without rayne.

Do not saye as the patient / may a punce be pacified / euen with a soft thyngge may a rigorousse be broken.

Do not saye as the synners / dany / care so much as to suspect for the deil / thou be ourfull / and partake it our agayne.

Do not saye as the wyse / from the neighbour / house / lest he be werry of the / so abuse the.

Do not saye as the false witness / against thy neighbour / he is a very speare / a sword and a sharpe atowe.

The hope of the vngodly in tyme of neede / is like a rotten wynde and a slippery soe.

Do not saye as the sonne / to a waked herte / doth hee burn with agayne in the cold / a pouerth wyng get vpon chaffe.

Do not saye as the cryer / buiges / fed him: if hee n. q. thylle

The Proverbs of Salomon.

I. Re. 27. b Chyffe / gawe hym thynke : for so balde thou heape coales of fyre upon hys heade / and the Lord shall consume the.

The floure wynde dryueth awaye fraine / euen so doeth an earnest fecke countenaunce a daerfyres tunge.

Pr. 27. b It is better to sit in a corner vnder the roofe / than with a bawling woman in a wyde house.
A good reporte out of a ferre countre / is lyke eade wate to a chyffe foule.

A righteous man fallinge doune before the wngodlye / is lyke a troubled welke / or a sponge that is destroyed.

Ecclesi. c Life as it is not good to eate to much hony / euen so be that wyl feache out by thynge / or it shalbe to heauy for hym.

Be that can not eate hymself / is lyke a cyne which is broken doune / and hath no walles.

The XXXI. Chapter.

Chyffe as snowe is not mete in sommer / nor raine in haruest / euen so is wylshyppe vnseemly for a kyng.

Lyke as the byrd and the stallowe take their flight and flye here and there / so the curse that is geynt in vaine shall not lye upon a man.

Dial. 23. b Who the horse belongeth a whippe / to the asse a bydle / and a robbe to the soules backe.

Whe is the soule an aunswere after his foolhardynesse / lest thou become lyke vnto him: but whiche the soule an aunswere to byn foolhardynesse / lest he be wise in his owne conceite.

As is lame of his feet / or wonden is he in vanyte / that cometh any thyng to a soule.

Chyffe as a man wysemelye thynge to haue legges and yet to balde / euen so is a parable in the foules mouth.

As thea seith a soule in byrde dignite / whar is euen as if a man byd caste apertuous stone vpon the gallows.

A parable in a foules mouth / is lyke a thorn that pierceth a thornen man in the hande.

A man of experyence discerneth all thynges well / but who so byrth a soule / byrth such one as wyl take no bede.

Pr. 27. b Lyke as the dog turneth agayne to hye womyre / euen so a soule becometh his foolhardynesse agayne a frende.

As thou sayst a man that is wete in his owne edeate / there is more hope in a soule thyn in him.

Pr. 27. b The slouthfull saith: there is a Leopard in the way / and a Lyon in the myddest of the streete.

Lyke as the doge turneth aboute vpon the wethers / euen so doeth the slouthfull wethers hymself in his bedde.

The slouthfull bodye shyneth his hand in to his bosome / and it groweth him to put it as gaue to his mouth.

The sloughard shyneth himself wylth then vpon men that lye and trade.

Who so fecht by and medleth with other mens streit / he is like one that taketh a dog by the eare.

Lyke as one shureth deadly arrowes and dartere out of a prey place / euen so doeth a byrd flemble wylth his nesghoure: and wha sayeth he I wyll be in spoone.

Where no wood is / there the fyre groweth redi: out / and where the dachpetye is calen away / there the styffe cesseth.

Calen kundle heate / and wood the fyre: euen so doeth a beauling slow steare vpon maraile.

A felanderes woodes ace lyke slawery / that they pearce the inward partes of the bodye.

Venomous lyppe and a wretched heere / ace lyke a postherde covered with sturc wolle.

An enemye dissembleth wylth his lyppe / or in the meane season he is magneth myshete: but when he speaketh saye / delise him not: for there are seuen abhominacions in him here.

Who so fecht euell wylth secretlye to do hurt / his malice shalbe heared before the whole congregacion.

Who so byggeth vp a pyre: shall sell the: and who so byggeth vp a stone / shal stombe vpon it hymselfe.

A dissembling tunge haneth one that rebueth him / and a slanging mouth wylth myshete.

The XXXVII. Chapter.

It is not thy boast of to mouen: for thou knowest not what maye happen to thee.

Let another man pearce the / and not thynne owne mouth: for other folkes lyppe / and not thynne.

The floure is beuoy / and the sond weighty: but a soule wylth is heauy: ce the they daly.

Wylth is a crafty byng / and furuous / is a vey cypell: yet / who is able to abyde enuy?

¶ An open rebuke is better the a secret leue.
Forryfull are the woundes of a louce / but the byss of an enemie are verecarfull.

¶ That is full / abhoureth an hony combe; but vnio bym that is hongryc / eury soure thyng is sweete.

¶ Berbe vs rymis syster / is lyke a by:yd that so: / suster her nexte.

¶ He ber is glad of a secrett ornament and sauoure / but a stinacle that can geue good counsell / reuoyce a mans neyghboure.

B Thyne owne frend and thy father a frend se thou forsake not: but go not in to thy brothers house in tyme of thy trouble.

¶ Better is a frende at hande / then a brother farre of.

¶ My sonne be wise / and thou shalt make me a glad berer: so that I shall make answerce vnto my rebuker.

¶ A wise man seing the plague wil hude him self / as for foules they go out styl / and suffer harme.

¶ He that refrayneth her refraneth h wynde / and holdeth oyle fast in his hande.

¶ Lyke as one yon whereth another / so doeth one man conserte another.

¶ Who so sepech his sygge tree / shall enioye the fruite thereof: he that waytech vpon hys maister / shall come to honoure.

¶ Lyke as in one water there appeare diuers face of euen so diuers men haue diuers becom.

¶ Lyke as a bell and destruction see neuer full / so the eye of men can neuer be full of sight.

152

¶ A flouer is reyd in the mouthe / and golde in the saunce / and so is a man / when he is openly prayced to hys face.

¶ Though thou buildest a house like a forste with a pestill in a maner: lyke omeed / yett will not hys foot benesse go from hym.

¶ We ebat thou knowe the nombre of thy canell thy self / and loke wel to thy sheete.

For ryche abyde not alway / a the trauce

Who so freely company with a thefe / hath his owne soule be thefe blasphemyes / and relecth it not forþ.

As theb feareth men shall have a fall: but who so feareth his trust in the Lord / shall come to honour.

Many there be that see the princes favour: but every mans judgement cometh from the Lord.

The righteous abhoire the vngodly: but as for thefe: theye be in the ryght waye: the wicked hath them.

The XXX. Chapter.

The wordes of Agur the sonne of Iafch.

In the prophetic of a true saythfull man / whome God hath helpe / whome God hath comforted / and noyshed. For though I am the least of al: I have no mane vnderstanding: for I neuer learned wysdom: yet have I vnderstanding: and am well instructed: in godly thynges. Who hath eloued vp me to heauen: Who hath come doune feom heuen: Who hath holdeth the wimde fast in his hand: Who hath cōspired f wane in a gaicnet: Who hath st all the endes of þ world: What in his name: or his sines name: canst thou telle.

All þ wordes of God are pure: I cleane: for he is a slyde vnto all the þ que theye trust in hym. / Thus thou nothing thefow vnto his wordes: / nly be cepiue the: as thou be soude as a spae.

Two thynges I require of the: that thou wilt not venge me before I dye. Remoue fro me vaine and lyent geue me neyther pouerte nor riches: onely graunte me a necessary huing. / Rest: I be to full: I dryue the: a say: what sowe in the Lord: I And lest: I beyng cōfrayned thoto me pouerte: fall vnto stealing: / a souseare the name of my God.

Trust not a seruants vnto his master: lest he be thefe euel of the also: and thou be hurt.

As þa bringest vp an euill reporte vpon the generation of þs father and mother: is not worthy to be commended.

The generation that thinketh selfe cleane: shall not be clenst: for theye: fly bynness. There are people that haue a proud lofe / and cast vp theye eye lidde. Theis proud theye are swarthe: and wuch theye: shew vnto theye confuise and beaure the symple of the earth / and the poore: from among men.

This generaciõ: which is lyke an besliche: hath two daughters: þ one is called: scith by the other: þun ge: by the.

There be the thynges that are neuer satisfied: a the fourth sayth neuer þoo. The billa: wmainis wonebe / and the carth hath neuer water ynough. As for the: it sayth neuer þoo. Who so laugheth his salthe to souer: and scith bys motheres commuiment: at þe: xxi. b and naught: the rauens pick out his eyes in the valley: / a ventoured be he of the yong: Argles.

There be the thynges to bye for me: and as for the fourth: it passeth my knowlege.

The waye of an Eagle in the ayre: the waye of a serpe: vnto the founte: the waye of a hippie in the see: / a the waye of a man: with a yonge woman. Suche to the waye also of a wyfe: that is brackly vnderled: in the wyfth: her rioude: seke as wha the boy cut: a sayth: As for me: I haue done no harme. Wherto the thynges: I care not. / I sayed: / a the fourth maye: it not beare: There a seruant that beareth rule: shal eoue a soule that hath great riches: thoto an ydle housewyfe: and thoto eu hand: in ynde that is hepye: bee mynnes. There be foure thynges on the earth: the whyche are very lytle: buten mysdoone theye create the wyfe. The first: the mites: are but a wraite people: yet gather theye theye meit: together in the dust.

The ednyes see but a feble folke: yet gather theye theye chowdes among the rockes. The grethoppers: haue not a gnde: yet go theye forþ together by heapes. The flyger labourer: shal her handes: and þat in the sinder palayce.

There be the thynges that go flyst: but the goinge of the fourth: is the goodly: of all. A Lyon which is king of bestes: / and greth place to no man: A cocke ready to fyght: A rāne: And a King: that goeth forth with þs people.

If thou be so foolish: to magnifye thy selfe: or: medleth with any such thyng: / the laye thy hande vpon thy mouth. Who so chyneth myse: / maketh dunce: he: v rubbeth his nose: maketh a to blede: and he: shal causeth wuch: þungeth sayth styfe.

The Proverbes of Salomon.

The wordes of kynge Lamuel/and the Prophecie that hys mother saugh hym.

The XXXI. Chapter.

WHONNE/ thou sonne of my body: O my deare bloued sonne / geue not ouer thy substaunce and mynde vnto women / which are the destruccion euen of kynges. O Lamuel geue kynges no wine / geue kynges and princes no strange drinke / lest they beynge doente forget the lawe / and regarde not the cause of the poore / as of al such as be in aduersite. Geue stronge drinke vnto such as are contempned to deathe / and wyne vnto those that mourne that they maye thynk in and forget theyr mys-ery and aduersite. Be thou an aduocate and stande in iudgement thy selfe / so speake for all such as be domme and successe. With thy mouth defende the thinge that is lawfull and ryght / and the cause of the poore and helpelesse.

B Who so fyndeth an honest faithfull woman / she is more worth then pearles.

The heart of her housholde maye safely trust in her / so that she shall haue no neede of spyales.

She wyll do hym good and not euell all the dayes of her lyfe.

She occupieth wool and flaxe / and labour-eth gladly with her handes.

She is lyke a marchaunte shipp / that bringeth hie byntes from facee.

She is vp in the nyght season / to prouide meate for her housholde / and foode for her maydens.

She considereth lande and byerth / and with the fruite of her handes she planteth a vnytyed.

She gydeth her loynes with strenght / and couragely her armes.

And if she perceaue that her houswyfe doeth good / her table goeth not out by nyght.

She layeth her fingers to the spynble / and her handes taketh holde of the rocke.

She openeth her handes to the poore / yet she stretcheth forth her handes / so fuche as haue neede.

She feareth not that the cold of the wynter shall burne her howke / for all her howke she keare double clothe.

She maketh her selfe fayne ornamente / her clothyng is whyte sylke and puple.

Her housholde is muche fet by in the gates / when she sitteth amonge the rulers of the lode.

She maketh cloth of sylke and selleth it / and getteth a gyddell vnto the marchaunte.

Strength and honestie is her clothyng / and in the latter daye she shall cooye.

She openeth her mouth with wysedome / and in her tongue is the lawe of grace.

She loketh well to the wayes of hie house holde / and eateth nashet bread with ydolence.

Her byntes are wys and eal her blessing / and her housholde maketh mude of her.

Many daughters there be that gather themselues together / but thou goest about them all.

As for fauour / it is deceafull / and browne is a wayne thinge / but a woman that feareth the Lord / she is worthy to be prayse.

Geue her of the frute of her handes / and let her owne worke paye for her in the gates.

The ende of the Proverbes of Salomon.

The booke of the Preacher / otherwys called Ecclesiastes.

The first Chapter.

V Vaine are the wordes of the Preacher the sonne of Dauid kinge of Ierusalem. All is but vaine / saith the Preacher. All is but playne vaine. For what he hath a ma of all the labour that he taketh vnder the Sunne One generation passeth away / another commeth in: the earth abideth still. The Sunne arise in the Sunne goeth downe / and returneth to his place / that he maye there rise again. The winde goeth toward the South / and scithed his compass about vnto the North / and so returneth into himselfe again. ¶ All floweth into the sea / and yet the sea is not filled: for loke vnto what place the waters runne / thence they come againe. All thinges that are done are for nothinge / and the heart is not satisfied. ¶ The eye is not satisfied with sight / the eare is not filled with hearinge. ¶ The thinge that hath bene commeth to passe againe: and the thinge that hath bene done / is done againe / there is no new thinge vnder the Sunne. Is there any thinge whereof it maye be sayde: lothine is newe? For it was longe ago in the tymes that haue ben before vs. The thinge that is past is a sure of remembrance. ¶ Lo for the thinges that are for to come / shall nomore be thought vpon among them that come after. ¶ I my selfe the Preacher / beinge kynge of Iherusalem / applyed my minde to to seeke oute and searche for the knowlege of all thinges that are done vnder heauen. Such travail and labour hath God giuen vnto the children of men / to exercise them selfes therein.

¶ Thus I haue considered all the dyn-gion that come to passe vnder the Sunne / and lo / they are all but vaine and vexation of mynde. The croked can not be made straight / and the sauer can not be numbred. ¶ I communed with myne owne heart / sayinge I haue I am come to a greates place / and haue gou-erned more wysdome / then all they that haue ben before me in Ierusalem. Yet my heart had greauespecter of wysdome a knowlege / for there vnto I applyed my minde: but I mighte knowe what were wysdome and endles standinge / what were circuite and foolyspence. And I perceaued that this also was but a vexation of mynde: for where muche wysdome is / there is also greates mayne and travail: and the more knowlege a man hath / the more is his care.

The II. Chapter.

¶ Then sayde I thus in my heart: How go I? I will eate myne ease / and haue good dayes. But lo / that was vaine also: in so much that I sayde also laughiter: thou arte madde / and to my selfe: what doest thou?

So I thoughten my heart / to wretchedly my selfe from wyne / to applye my mynde vnto wysdome / and to conpise hande foolyspence vntill the tyme that among al the thin-gys which are vnder the Sunne / I myghte see what were best for men to do / so longe as they liue vnder heauen.

¶ I made me goodes saye workes. I buylde me houses / and plantede vineyardes: I made me orchardes and gardenes of spallus / and planted trees in euen of al maner frutes.
I made pokes of water / to water the grene in fruitfull trees withall. ¶ I boughte seruants and maydens / and had a greates house-holde. ¶ I had cattell and shepe / I had more substance of them / then all they that were before me in Ierusalem. ¶ I gathered siluer and golde to gether / euen a treasure of kinges and landes.

¶ I pouyded me fingers and women which coude playe on instrumentes / to make me myrth and pastime. ¶ I had me diuynge cup-pes also and glasses. ¶ Finally I was greates and in my wysshipp / then al my predecessours in Ierusalem. For wysdome is trayned with me: and loke what I haue gotten. Besides / I see them haue it: and when I souer my heart deliued as had any pleasure / I wyln o hilt

he is not from it. Thus my heart reioyced in all that I had done: thus I reioyced in the poecion of all my travail. But when I considered all I wailes & my hanes had wrought: and all the labours that I had taken therein:
lo! was but vanitie and vexacion of minde/and nothing of any value vnder the Sunne.
Then turned I me to consider wisdom: & anour and foolishnesse. For what is to be a good man: that myght be compared to me? I finde in such workers: and I sawe that wisdom excellently doeth his office: as farre as by godd word I haue seene. For a wiseman searcheth his eyes about in his heade: but the soule geth in the darknesse. I perceaued also that they doth had one end.

C Then thought I in my minde: If it happed vnto the soule as it doeth vnto me: what reuerd me the labour any more for wisdom.
So I confessed within my heart: that this also was but vanitie. For the wyse are curd as lute in remembrance as the foolish: and all the dayes for to come shall be forgotten: yet the wysman dyeth as well as the foule. Thus beganne I to be weary of my life: in so muche that I could away with nothing: & I came vnder the Sunne: for all was but vanitie and vexacion of mynde: yet I was weary of all my laboure: which I had taken vnder the Sunne.
Because I should be sayn to leave them vnto another man: that sometime after me: for who knoweth whether he shall be wyse man or a foule? And yet shall he be loide of all my labours: which I in such vnfayme haue taken vnder the Sunne. Is not this a vaine thinge?

D So I turned me to refraine my minde: fro all such travail: as I toke vnder the Sunne: for so muche as a man should weery himself with wisdom: vnderstandin: and op-pounment: yet be faine to leave his labours vnto another: that neuer sweet for them. This is also a vaine thinge and a great misery. For what getteth a man of all the labour and trauail of his mynde: that he taketh vnder the Sunne: but he is innesse: for we are vnsucrenesse of the dayes of his life? In so muche that his heart is not rest in the night. Is not this also a vaine thinge? Is it not better then for a man to eat and drinke: in his soule to be merry in his laboure: yet I sawe that this also was a gyfte of God: & for who maie eate a drink: / 1. Timoth as thyng: or any thinge to passe without hym?

And why: he geueth wyse man what he plea-seth him: whether it be wisdom: or understanding: or gladnesse. But vnto the synner he geueth weemes: and sorrow: that he may get ether a heape together the thinge: & after that waile shall be giuen vnto him: whom he pleas-eth God. This is now a vaine thinge: yet a very desiquenesse and vexacion of minde.

The. lii. Chapter.

E Very thinge hath a tyme: yet all that is vnder the heau: hath his season: and a tyme to be born: and a tyme to die.

There is a tyme to plante: & a tyme to plucke vp the thinge that is plante.

A tyme to lye: and a tyme to make wbole.

A tyme to be cald: & a tyme to be cald vnto.

A tyme to wepe: & a tyme to laugh.

A tyme to moue: and a tyme to daunce.

A tyme to cast awaye stone: and a tyme to

A tyme to embrace: and a tyme to refraine from embracing.

A tyme to winne: and a tyme to lose.

A tyme to spare: and a tyme to spende.

A tyme to cut in peeces: and a tyme to sowe together.

A tyme to kepe silence: & a tyme to speake.

A tyme to loue: and a tyme to hate.

A tyme of warre: and a tyme of peace.

What hath a man els? (y^e sayth any thinge) B But weemesse & labour: for as touching the trauail and carefulnesse: which God hath geuen vnto men: I see that he hath geue it: & he hath increased it in. Al this hath he ordeyned to be accomplished: & every thinge his time.
He hath plante: & he hath increased: also in the hearts of men: that they should not finde out the beginninge of his works: which he hath set in the beginninge to the end. So I perceaued: that in these thinges: there is nothinge better for a man: then to be merry: and do well: for lo: we are but lute. For all that a man can do: & winne for: yet whether it be a mans mynde: or all his laboure: & what is a gyfte of God. I considered also that what soeuer God doeth: he can not be resisted: & that nothinge can be put

unto it no: taken from man and that God doeth it to it men: therefore men should feare him. The thinge that hath bene a name: and the thinge that is set to come: hath bene aforesaid: for God resteth againe the thinge that was past: therefore: I sawe under the Sunne: vngodly men in the steede of iudgement: and inquire in steede of righteousnesse.

Thinke I thought in my minde: God shall separate the righteous from the vngodly: and then shall be the iudgment of all conscience and wiske. I consumed with nyne owne here also: concerninge the children of men: for God hath chosen them: and yet hee reth them: appeare: so though they were beas-tes: so: it happeneth vnto me also: I doeth vnto beastes: as if one theyr self: theyr self: other ye: they haue: both one manner of theyr self: in thou a man hath no preeminence aboue a beaste: but all are subdued vnto vaine. They goe all vnto one place: for as they be all of dust: so shall they all turne vnto dust againe.

What knoweth the spere of man: that goeth opward: into the diuety of the heaue: that goeth downe into the earth: Wherefore: I perceiue: that there is nothinge better for a man: then to be ioyfull in his labour: for that is his porty-on: But who wyll charge him: to seeke thynge that shall come after him?

Eccl. i. 4

Turned me / and considered all the violent wronges: that is done vnder the Sunne: and beholds: the reates of such as were oppressed: and there was no man to come: to rethem: or that wolde helpe and defende them from the violence of their oppressours. Wherefore: I iudged those that are dead to be more happy then liue: as be alway: yet / him that is yet vnto me to be better: as ease: the they both: because he is byrth not his miserable workes: that are done vnder the Sunne. I sawe: I sawe that all triuall and vngience of labour: was hated of euery man. This is also a vaine thinge: and a vaine of minde. The soule seideth his handes together: in earth no bio: own selfe.
One hardiust: sayeth he: is better with rest: then both the handes full with labour: and reasure. Therefore: I turned me: a be beholds: yet another vaine vnder the Sunne. There is one man: cometh: but himselfe alone: hauinge nothinge child: no: brother: yet is there no care of his carefull man: for as eyes can not see: for they: with eyes: yet: both be no: remember himselfe: as saue: For whom? I take this travaille: for whose pleasure? For I thus consume away my lyfe: This is also a vaine: and miserable thinge. Therefore two are better: the one: for they maye well enioye: the pleasure of their laboure. If any of them fall: his companion helpeh him up againe: But two is him that is alone: for if he fall: he hath not another to helpe him up. I sawe: when two slepe together: they are warme: but howe is a body be warme alone: One may be ouer come: But two maye make resistance. If theye slepe table: so not lightly be taken. I sawe: child beinge with his father: then an olde kinge that doeth: / a can not beare in time to come. Some one cometh: / out of prison: and so made a kinge: another: / which is borne in the singdem cometh: / to pouerte. And I perceiued: that all man: / goeth vnto the Sunne: go with the: / coude child: / cometh up in the steede of the other. As for the people: that haue bene before him: / that come after him: they are innumerable: yet is not their ioye the greater: than before him. This is also a vaine thinge: and a vaine of minde. When thou comest into the house of God: kepe thy selfe: / what nye: that thou maye beare: that is better: the: / of foules: for they knowe not: what euil they do:

The V. Chapter.

Do not haue with thy mouth: a let not thyne better: speake any thinge: / for God: / for God is in heauen: and thou upon earth: therefore let thy wordes be fewe: for where muche carefullnes: is there are many vnaime: and where many wordes: are there men may beare foules. If thou make a vowe vnto God: / do not faile to performe it. Do for foules: the: / be with no pleasure in them. If thou promise any thinge: / paye in: for better it is: that thou m. For no vowe: / then: that thou shouldst promise: and not paye. Use not thy mouth: to cause thy selfe: / that thou see not before: /

Ecclesiastes.

Ecclesiastes 10. many words; there are also diverse vanities: for loke that thou feare God. 1 If thou seest the poore to be oppressed and wronged: if he beare wrong for that equite and the righte of the law: is hee mist in the land: be it mayst not thou as such iudgement: for our great man feareth such which are the: in the mightie helpe them selves together. The whole lande also is in the felid: and it that is therein: is in subiection and bondage vnto the kinge.

Ecclesiastes 11. He that loveth money will never be satisfied with money: a wofull desireth en riches: shall haue no prosyre thereof. Is not this also a vaine thinge? Where as many ryche are: there are many also that spende them awaye. And what pleasure more hath he that possideth rich: that pleasure that he maye loke vpon the rich his eyes: A labouringe man sheweth sweety: when hee is in the life: or much that he careth: that the abundance of the rich will not suffice him to spende.

Job 19. Yet is there a drie plague: which I haue sene vnder the Sunne: namely: theydye tept to the harte of him that hath them in possession.

Job 1. For oft times they perish with the great misery and trouble: and if he haue a childe: or a gettyth nothinge. Lyfe as he come naked out of his mothers wombe: so goeth he thither againe: and carrieth nothing awaye with him of all his laboure. This is a miserable plague: that he that goe awaye euen as he came. What helpe hath him then: that he hath laboured in the winde? All the dayes of his lyfe also must he care in the vaine: with great carefulnesse: if he neede and for aye.

Ecclesiastes 12. Therefore thou shalt see a better and a fairer thinge: a man to eate a drynke: and to be refreshed of all his laboure: if he take rest vnder the Sunne: all the dayes of his life which God geueth him: for this is his portion. For vnto whom hee geueth it: God geueth riches: or goodnes: or power: he geueth it him: not to enuoye: to see take it for his portion: to be refreshed of his labour: which is now the gift of God. For hee shall not much haue longer: he shall lyue: for so much as God shall bid him here with gladnesse.

The VI. Chapter.

Ecclesiastes 13. Here is seen a plague vnder the Sunne: as it is a general thinge amonge men: when God geueth a man riches: goodnes: or honoure:

so hee wanteth nothinge of all that his better can desire: yet God geueth him not liue: to enuoye the same: but another man spendeth the. This is a vaine thinge: as a miserable plague. If a man desire an hundred children: a liue many yeares: so his dayes are many: in number: yet can not enuoye his goodnes: because hee desireth: as for him: I saie: that an vniuersally thinge is better: then hee. For hee cometh to naught: and so geeth his waye into darkness: and his name is forgotten: Moreover: hee shall not see the Sunne: and knoweth of no rest: in death: here not ether: Yet although hee liued two thousand yeares: yet hath hee no good life. Come not all to one place: All the labour that a man taketh: is for himselfe: and yet hee desireth is neuer satisfied after his minde. For: what hath hee wonne more: the foule? What hee hath: is the price: that hee knoweth to make himselfe the things: that hee fighteth of the eyes: no better: then that the foule should so departe away. Howbeit: this is also a vaine thinge: as a vaine thinge of minde. What is more excellent: then man? yet can hee not in the later: geeth the victory of him: that is mightier ether: A vaine thinge: is it to talke out many wordes: but what hath a man done?

The VII. Chapter.

Ecclesiastes 14. O who knoweth what is good for man? A young man: all the dayes of his vaine lyfe: which is liue: a shadowe: O who will sell a mans: what shall happen after him: under the Sunne? A good name: is more worth: then a precious ornament: and the dayes of searh: is better: then the dayes of heath.

It is better to go into an house of mourning: then into a banquet house. For there is the ende of all men: and hee shall in liuinge: take it to be better. It is better to be seie then to laugh: for when the countenance is in heauy: the heart is sorrowfull. The better of the wife: is in the mourninge house: but the better of the foule: is in the house of mourning. It is better to be seie: to beare the chasteninge of a wise man: then to beare the songe of fools. For the laughinge of fools: is like brackeing of a borne: which is vnder a post. And that is but a vaine thinge.

Who so doeth wronge: maketh a witte man to go out of his waye: and will throwe a steele here. The ende of a thinge: is better: then the beginninge. The patient of spirit: is better: then the

the eye minded. Be not hastily angry in thy mood / for wrath resteth in the bottom of a foule. Saye not thou: What is the cause that the dayes of the olde time were better / then they that be: nor saye that were no wise question. Wisedome is better then riches / yet much more worth then the eye sight. For wisdome descenderh as well as money / and the excellent knowlege and wisdomes groweth hys unto him that buyeth in possession. Considre the worke of God / how that no man can make the thinge cleaerly / whiche he maketh crooked. He will the name of prosperitee / and remember the name of myffortune: for God maketh the one by the other / so that a man cannot fynde no thinge els.

C These two thinges also haue I considred in the name of wine: that the iust men perissheth for his riches / as fishes sake / and the vngodly leueth in his wickednesse. Therefore se thou mych to righteous not ouerwisly / thar thou perissheth not: for neither to vngodly also not to foolish / as thou sayest before the time. It is good for the to take hold of fishes / and not to let them go out of thy hands. For he that feareth God / shall escape them all.

1 King 10 Wisedome giveth men courage vnto the Eccl 10 10 as a wyse / when tyn mighty men of the eye: * for Eccl 10 11 if there is not one ruste upon a seeth / that doeth Eccl 10 12 hurt: a good and syneth not. Take not hede vnto a Eccl 10 13 very worde that is spoken / lest thou heare thy Eccl 10 14 seruante curse thee: for thine owne better knoweth / that thou the silt also best offe tyme Eccl 10 15 speakest such by other men. All these thinges Eccl 10 16 haue I proued because of wisdom: I for I Eccl 10 17 thought to be wyse / but he wente farther fro Eccl 10 18 me then he was before: yet / and so sepe that

B I mighte not reach vnto her. I applyd my mynd also vnto knowlege / and to kepe out science / wisdomes and vnderstanding: to know the foolys benefite of the vngodly / and the certoure of bringe faulke. I And I found / that a woman is bettere then death: for she is a very ancke / her bettere is a net / and her handes are thorne. Whos pleaseth God / shall escape from her: but the synner wil be taken with her.

Ps 138 He holdeth fast the preacher. This haue I diligently searched out and proued / that I mighte come by knowlege: which as yet I fynde and fynde not Among a thousand men

I haue founde one / but not one woman as amonge all / of this only haue I founde / that God made man iust and right: but they fele thursif forsynes / where as no man hath vngodly and vnderstandinge / to geue aunswere thereto.

The VIII. Chapter.

Wisedome maketh a mans face to shine / X
But maketh puttyth it out of fauour. Pro. 10. 6 Kepe the hings commaunded me: I warte the in the sorb that thou best made to God. Be not hasty to go out of his sight / and se thou continue in no euill thinge / for whosouer it pleaseth him / that death be. Like as when a hange greueth a charge / his commaundment is mighte: I can so / who may saye vnto him: what dost thou? Who so keepeth the commaundments / shall fele no harme. But a wise mans heere discerneth name and maner. For every thinge wyl haue opportunitie a iudgement / and this is the thinge that maketh man full of carefullnes and sorrow. And why: a man knoweth not what is for to come. For who wyl tel it him: whether is there any man that hath power ouer the spere: or kepe full the spere / no: no haue any power in the name of death: It is not he also that can make an ende of the dayes / neither may vngodly be a salmer him that maketh wylch.

1 All these thinges haue I considered / and applyd my minde vnto every worke that is vnder the sunne: howe one man hath knowe shynge vpon another to his owne harme. For I haue asene h vngodly thought to their graues / and fallen downe from the hie and glorious place: in so much that they were forgotten in the eye: where they were had in so hie and great reputation. This is also a vain thinge. Because now that euill wordes are not hastily punished / the harte of man gaurth himselfe ouer vnto wickednesse. But though an euil persone offend an hundred times / a haue a longer life: yet am I sure / that it shal go well with them that feare God: because they haue bym so feare their reio. I game / as for the vngodly: it shal not be well with him / neither shal he prolonge his dayes: but euen as a haue so shal he be that feareth not God.

1 There is there / manye wronge cases: there be I iust men / vnto whom it happeneth / as though prince doun as it were with a medicine. To norther plague is there which I haue sine vnder the Sunne; namely the ignouance that is commonly amonge princes: in that a foule sinners in great dignities; and the ruder are set doun: Benefits: I see seruantes ryde vpon horse fores; and princes goinge vpon their feete as it were seruantes. I see the that they gather vpon a prince; shall sell them himselfe: and who so becom keep doun the hebrers a serpente shall bite him.

Who so remoueth stones; shall haue a wayll vntill; and he that be woth wood; shall be hurt with it.

B When an yonge blont; and the poppe noe

The. XL. Chapter.

Ende thy water ouer the waters; a thou shalt thou fynde them after many year res. There is a wate amonge seven of eyghthe; for thou shalt fynde what musere shall come vpon yon carth. When the cloudes are full; they pouere out vnto vpon the carth. And when tree fallth; whether it be toward the South shall not reape. How like as thou knowest not the waye of the winde; / nor how the bones are fylled in a mothers wombe: Euen so thou knowest not the worke of God; which is the workmaster of all.

Lette noe thou therefore with thy hande to souer thy side; whether it be in the mor ninge or in the eueninge; for thou knowest not whether this or that shall prosper; / and of they both call it to be better. The lighte is sure; and a pleasaunt thinge is it for the eyes to looke vpon the Sunne. If a man lyfe many yeares; a he be glad in them all; let him reioyce the dayes of his benefite; which shall be many;
and when they come; at thynges shall be many.
Be glad then (O thou yonge man) in thy youth; and let thyne herte be merry in thy yonge dayes; folowre the wayes of thyne

I am blacke: O ye daughters of Ierusalem: Iken Iken as the renies of the Cedar tree/ and as the hanginges of Salomon: but yet am I sayre and will fauoured with milk. Marraill not at me that I am so blacke/ and why? the Sunne hath shyned vpon me. For what my mothers children had euill will at me/ they made me this typer of the vngayre. Thus was I faine to tepe a vngayre/ whiche was not myne owne.

I will drinke my wyne and my mylke / casto ye feredo) drinke a be mercy / o ye beloued. Wo I was a slepe / and my heere was hanged / I herde the voyce of my beloued / when he knocke. Open to me (sayd he) O my sister / my spouse / my dore / my dearling: for my heade is full of dew / and the lockes of my heere are full of the myrror droppe.

B I haue purged my cote / whom can I doo as a gayn: I haue washed my feet / how shall I style them a gayne. But when my loue put in his hande at the hole / my heere was moued to worde hym: so that I stode vp so open vnto my beloued. My heere doo droppe as Myrror / as the Myrror ranne downe my fingers vpon my feet. My cote doo / when I had opened to my beloued / he was departed / & gone his waye.

How like as a foie / when he spake / my heere could no longer ceasayne. When so now I sought him / but I could not fynde him. I cried vpon him / neuertheless he saye: we me no aunswere. The V. Chapter.

Wherewithal I saye my beloued I frende a songe of his vineyard. My Ierusalem beloued frende hath a vineyard in a verye fine / a sefull pleasaunte goodly. The bruches geueth and theire walled rounde about / and planteth it with Ierusalem goodly grapes. In the myddes of it buildeth he a towre / a made a wynepress therein. And afterward wyl belecte the shoud bringe him grapes / or he broughte forth thornes. I there you now my cause / O ye Ierusalem of Ierusalem a whole Iuda: Iudge I prout you betwixt me and my wyne garding. What more coulde haue ben done for it that I haue not done.

¶ Wherefore thynketh it greiue thornes / I saye where I ledde to haue had grapes of it. Well I shal tel you how I wylde with my vineyard: I wyl take the hedgs fram it / that it maye perishe / and brake downe the walles / that it maye be modern vnder foot. I wyl laye it wayle / yett shall neyther be troffed nor troffed / but beare thornes and beare. I wyl also for yd be the cloudes / that they shall not rayne upon it. As for the residue of the Lozde of hostes / he to the house of Israel / and all Ju-dwell upon the earth aloner. The Lozde of hostes couneth me thus in myne eare / That not many greater and more gorgeous houses be so wast / that no man shall dwell in them.

And ten sters of wyne shall geue but a Quarre / and thyrtye bushels of sode shall geue but thre.

Wo be unto them that saye openly to vse them selves in dyoness / and yet at nighte are more suspicious with wyne. ¶ In whose conscience are bagges of lutes / tabrettes a pipes / and nyne. But they regard not the woode of the Lozde / and consider not the operation of his handes. ¶ Therefore cometh my folk also in captiuite / because they haue no vnderstana thyrty pyde shalbe marred for thyrtye. Therefore gaue they hell / and openeth her mouth narulous wyde / that payde / boalyng and mys-fende in to it.

B ¶ Thus shall man haue a fall / he shalbe broughte lowe / a the high lode of the poude maner / they will make haye now / and go forth with his wyne / that we maye see. Let the counsaill of the holy one of Israel come / and they maye nghtrah we maye frowent.

¶ Wo unto them that eate mel good / and lyge darfness / that make sowes swete / and swete sowes. ¶ Wo unto them that are wyse in theyr owne syght / and thynke them selves to haue vnderstandinge. ¶ Wo onto them that are cunninge men to suppe ouer wyne / and experte to seare vp dyoness. ¶ These geue sell pence with the vngodly for rewardes / but condemne the rest cause of the ryghteous.

¶ Therefore as sye theye vp chyrstrame / and as the flammie colsumeth the stubble / thus so / when theree is to ful / their dyoness shall varye awaye like dust on smoke. For they be synt / sawe of the Lozde of hostes / and blaspheme the woode of the holy in face of Israel.

¶ Therefore as the wrath of the Lozde kindled also against the people / a he shal be the hande at them / yet / he shall myte so / that the pylles shall tremble. And their castles shall lye in the open stretes lyke myte. ¶ Thus all thus / the warde of God shall not cease / but he shall and a steech he had our wyde. ¶ And he shall geue a token onto a strange people / and call vnto them in a farre countre / and beholde / they shall come hastily with pyde. There is not one faynte nor feble amonge them / neither a slowghyng nor slouery pafone. There shall not one of them geue of the gyde from his loynes / nor loose the lader of his shure. Their arrows are sharp / as the bowes bent. Their bowes hooses are lyke flyng / a theow cartwheles / lyke a stony wynde. Then crye to as it were of a Lyon / and the roaringe of them lyke Lyons whelpes.
They shall roare / and haue vp the praye / and no man shalbe conuerse / gette from them. In that daye theye shalbe feare upon them as Wherefore the Lo:de sayeth as sone as I haue performed my whole worke vpon the Hill of Zion and Jerusalem / then will I also visite the noble and stout kynge of Assiria / with his wife and child / as he standeth thus in his owne conceit: This do I knowe the power of mine owne hande / and knowe my wisdom: for I am wise / I am that remove the landes of the people / I robbe their princes / and lyke one of the woithies / I visite them from their feare.

My hande hath found ouer the basties of the people / as it were a nest. And lyke as egges / that were layde here and there / are gathered together: So do I gather all countrey. And there is no man that barre be so bolde / as to couch a fetter: that barre open his mouth / or ouer whisper.

But heere the gre: booke is selfe / againste him that heerehether with: or doeth the same make any crafyng againste him that ruleth it: That were euen life / as if the rod did crafte it selfe againste him / heareth as one as though he did / should magnifie selfe / as who saye: it were no wood. Therefore shall the Lo:de of hostes sende him pouertie in his eyes / and burne vp his power / as he were with a fyre.
But the light of Israel shall be that fyre / and his Sanctuary shall be flaine / as it shal kinde and burne vp his thornes and thiers in one day: yea / all the glorye of his woodes and fel-ds shall be consumed with hotte end soule. As for him selfe / he shall be as one cheerd awaye. The trees also of his felde shall be of such a nūbe / that a childe maye till them.

Three & veyse shall the remnaunt of Israel / and such as are escaped out of the house of Ia-cob / seke narrowe comforte at him that smoethens. Such shall comforte them / like with saub fulness and reueth in the Lo:de / the holy one of Israel. The remnaunt / yee / and the posteritye of Jacob / shall conuerse vnto God the myghty one. For though thy people o Israel be as the sande of the seay / yet shall the remnaunt of them onely conuerse vnto him.
Therefore is the iudgemente of him that roometh in cyghbofnesse / and therefore the Lo:de of hostes shall perfectly fulfill the thynges that he hath determined in the iud-icia of the whole worlde. Therefore thus saith the Lo:de God of hostes: Thou my people that dwellest in Zion / be not afrayde for the kynges of the Assirians: He shal wagge his staffe at the see / and beate the with the rodde / as the Assyrians vnto somtyme: But sone after shall my wrath and my indignacion be fulfilled a gainste their blasphemies. I will reouer the Lo:de of hostes shall prepare a scurge for hym. Like as was the pumpement of Nabon vnto the mounte of Ar-bath. And he shall lyfte vp his rodde ouer the see / as the vnto somtyme ouer the Assyrians. Then shall his furthen be taken from thy shoulders / and his yocke from thy necke / yee / the same yocke shal couerthe for every fauultie. It shal come to Tyre / and go thowre towarde Nigron. But at Ninneue shall he muster his hostes / and go ouer the feilde. Gaba shall be their resting place / & bama shall be a tabe / Gaba Gaba shall be a tabe. The voice of the nyrk of the hostes to vnto the Galim / shall be vnto Lars and to Anathoth / which also shall be in trouble. Madmana shall tremble for feare / but the cincture of Gabim are many / yet shall be remayne at God that daye. And that shall be lyfte vp his hande againste the mounte Zion / and againste the hill of Jerusalem. But the Lo:de God of hostes shall take awaye the proud / and shal therewith feare.

He shal be vnto the proud / and shal be mynded. The thornes of the wood shall roe ouer our waye / and Libanus shall haue a myghty fall.

And thus shal he make a waye for his people / that conaynerth from the Assyrians/ vnto as he happened to the Israelites / what tyme they departed out of ⁊ lande of Egipte.

Exo. xij b The Lorde also shall cleue the tunges of ⁊ Egiptians / so that a myghte wnde shall be lyft vp bys hande ouer Calus / a shal smite his senen threames / a make men go ouer the flood. And thus shal he make a waye for his people / that conaynerth from the Assyrians/ vnto as he happened to the Israelites / what tyme they departed out of ⁊ lande of Egipte.

The XII. Chapter.

So ⁊ then thou shalt say: ⁊ O Lorde/ ⁊ I thank thee/ for thou waste displeasid at me/ but thou hast refreyned thy wrath/ and hast mercy vpon me. Beholde/ God is my health/ in whose truste/ a sin not strayed. ⁊ For the Lorde God is my strength/ a my pietye/ he also shall be my refuge. Therefore in soye shal ye drawe water oute of the wellles of the Saunoure/ and then shall ye say: ⁊ Let us geue thanks vnto ⁊ Lorde/ a call vpon his name/ and declare his countnesse amonge the people / and kepe them in remembrance/ for his name is exaltes. O sing pietyes vnto ⁊ Lorde/ he doeth great thynges/ as in to know in all the world. Crie out/ a be glad/ thou shalt welles in Sion/ for great is thy pietye/ the holy one of ⁊ Isac. ⁊

The XIII. Chapter.

Letus to the heavy burthen of Babylon/ ⁊ which Esay the sonne of Amos bid. ⁊ Make some tokens to ⁊ the pilles/ call vnto them/ holde in youre hande that the pines may go on at the doore. For I wil sende for my vberus/ and my graunces (saith ⁊ Lorde) in my wrath I wil call for such/ as triumphe in my glorye.

⁊ With that/ me thought I heide in the mountaynes a noyse/ lise as it had bene of a greare people/ and a rustlinge/ as though the kingdomes of all nations had come to gether/ (And ⁊ Lorde of hosties was the captayne of the whole armye) as they had come/ not only oute of farre countnes/ but also from the endes of the heaume. Euen the Lorde himselfe with ⁊ ministers of his wrath/ to visite the whole lande.

⁊ Nowne therfore/ so ⁊ daye of the Lorde is to ar haue/ and cometh as a destroyer from the almighty. Then shall all bandes be leuen/ yuone/ and all mennes barres shall ruse/ and they shall stande in feare/ carefullesse/ and so some shal come vpon them / a they shall haue paine / as a woman ⁊ mannysh with dylde. ⁊ One shal eate the abo/bes of another/ a theyr faces shal burne like the flaine.

⁊ So / the daye of the Lorde shal come terrible/ full of indignation and wrath/ to make ⁊ lande wast / and to rote out the iunice therof. For the flares/ and planetes of heauen shal shall not give their light / & the Sunne shall be quenched in the rying / and the Moone shall not shine with his light. And I will punish the wickednes of the world / and the synnes of the ungodly / saith the Lord. The hye flames of the proud wyl I take away / & I will lay downe the boasting tyrantes. I will make a man weaker the fyne golde / and a man to be more worthy the a golden wedg of Ophir. Moreover I wyl so hate the heauen / that the earth shall remoue out of her place.

Thus shall it go with Babylon / in the wrath of the Lord of hostes / in the voye of his fearful indignacion. And Babylon shall be as an hunted or chased doo / as a stocke without a shepherde. Every man shall turne to his owne people / and sye he come in to his owne Lande. Who so is founde alone / shall be shoothrowe: And who so gather to gether / shall be destroyed with the sword. Their child:en shall slayne before their eyes / their houses spoiled / and their wyfes rauished. For I shall bring up the Medes against the / which shall not regarde slauer / nor be desirous of golde. Then shall you ge into bowes & Knypes & siniter. The Medes shall have no pync upon women with child / and their faces shall not spare the children. And Babylon / that glory of Kingdomes and strength of the Chaldees honour: shall be destroyed / euen as Gad destroyed Sodom and Gomorra. It shall neuer be more inhabited / neyther shall there be any more dwelling there / from generation to generation.

The Arabians shall make no mencions thereof / neither shall the shepherdes make their folds: there any more: but wyde steales shall be there / and the houses shall be full of greate Dulces. The steales shall wel there / and Arab shall rauine there: The hie Dulces shall ere in the palayces / one after another. And Arabians shall be in the pleasurc parkes / and as for Babylons syment as handes / a her daies may not be longe absent.

The XIII. Chapter.

3 But the Lord wil be merciful vnto Jacob / and wil take vp Israell againe / and set him in their owne Lande. Strangers shall cleue vnto them / and get them to the house of Jacob. They shall see the people / and say for home with them. And the house of Israel shall haue them in possession for seruauntes / as mayden in the lande of the Lord. They shall take those prisoners / whose captiues they had bene afore: and rule those that had oppressed the. When the Lord now shall bring the to egypt / in the nauarick / care / and hard bondage: that thou walt laden withall: then shall thou see this mortgage vpon the hyng of Babylon / and say: Some happereth it that the oppositer leueth it: If the golden tribute come to an end: Doubte the Lord hath stak the staffe of the ungodly / and the ceptre of the lordly. Which when he is wrought / smytheth the people with durable strokes / and in his wonders he persecuteth them / and remembereth the continually. And therefore the whole world is now at rest and quietnesse / a min singe for soye.

Ye / euen the fyre trees and edes of Libanus reioyce at thy fall / saying: Woe that thou art layd downe / there com no mo vp to destroy vs. Hell also remembereth at thy commyng. Al mighty men and princes of the earth / slayde forth before the Almightie of the earth / stande vp from their seates / that they maye all come after another / syng and speake vnto the. Art thou wounded also as we: arte thou become like vnto vs: Thy pompe and thy pride is gone / downe to hell: Maourdes shall be layd vnder the / and women shall be thy courtinge.

If howe eere thou fallen frō heauen / as Lucifer thou saye: me: myng chylde: hast thou gotten a fall euen to the ground: / thou that Cuot wylt stonding. Thydeste sūdūde the people: And yet thou thoughtest in thine heart: I will climme vp vnto heauen / and make my seate aboue the sterres of Heben / I wyl sit vpon the glorious mount to ward the North / I wil climme vp aboue the cloudes / and wil be like the highest of all. Therefore I saye that thou shalt be brought downe to the vpe of hell. They that see the / shall narrowly loke vpon the / and say: I can not thinke in them selfe / saying: For this be mā that thought all landes in feare / and made the Kingdomes afraid: For this be that made the world in a manner wast / and layde the cytyes to the ground: whiche haue his prisoners go downe.

The suburbs also of Bersibon were made wayl / and the pyrites of the Berns he bewed downe the vineyards of Sidma / which were planted with noble grapes / and spide unto Jazer / and went vnto the cube of the Besere / whos diuidenten sterched their selves forth beyonde the see. Therefore I mourned for Jazer / for the vineyards of Sidma with greate sorrowe. I poured my teares vpon Bersibon and Ekale / for all their songes were layde downe in their harvest / and gatheringe of theye grapes: Myrrh and chere was gone out of the felde and vineyardes / in so muche that no man was glad nor songe. There write no reader into the weynegesse / thre merry chere was layde downe. Wherefore my belly rembled / as it had bene a lute. / for Moabhs felicitie myn inward members / for the diuice walkes fast. For it happened thus also: when Moab sawe that he was turned vnto downe / he write vp an hie into his Caneary / so make his place there / but she might not be driped. This is the deuise whiche the Loide toke in haire at that tyme agaynst Moab. But nowe the Loide seeth thus: In the yere shall the power of Moab with their poinpe / which is great / be ministred / like as the burthen of an hreed struunct / and as for the remnauns of them / they shall be like then a scawe / and not reioyced muche more.

The XVII Chapter.

This is the heauy burthen vpon Damasco. Arpaldr. Damasco shall be no more a citie / but an heap of broken stones. The citie of Aroer shall be wast. The citie shall be thorn / a woman shall fraie the way. Esay. Damasco shall be no more a citie / a Damasco shall be no more a Kingdome. And as for the glory of the remnaunc of the Sidma / it shall be the glory of the childen of Israel / saith the Loide of hosties. At that tyme also shall the glory of Jacob be very poore / and his samelone. It shall happen to them / as when a sheard is in harvest / which cutteth his hand full with the sickle / when one gathereth the sheaves together in the vale of Arphaim / there remauneth yett some steele out. It shall be one that chere on olive tree / it shall be two on the olive tree / a about in the toppet a foure or fyue in the diuidenten. Thus saith the Loide God of Israel hath spoken.

Then shall man conuert a game to his moke / a turne his eyes to the holy one of Israel. And shall not turne to the altiers that are the worke of his owne hand / neither shall he loke vpon grouce / a magis / whiche his synners haue wroughte. At that tyme shall their stronge cities be desolate / like as were once the forsake plowes a coine / whiche they forsoke / for feare of the childen of Israel.

Thus shall the Damasco be desolate / because thou hast forgotten God thy sauour / a hast not called to arme me vnto the rote of thy strenght. Wherefore thou hast alle a face a face plene / a graued a strange braunch. In the yere when thou thyddell plant it / it was graue / a gaur sone the fruit of thy febe: But in the yere of harvest / thou shalt see an heap of stones and miserie.

Wo be to the multitude of muche people / that ruste in hie / thre see / and to the heap of folle / the cenne our all hie great waters. For though so many people increas / as the flowing waters / and though they be armed / yett they ste farre of / and vanise awaye like the dust with the wynde vpon an hill / and as the whyle wynde thow / a some. Though they be fearfull as nyght yett in the morninge it is gone with them. This is their poeyon that do no harme / and the heritage of them that robbe vo.

The heavy burden upon the valley of Vision.

What haste thou there to / or / thou dymestell vp in to the house toppe / or thou come of miracles / wondrous and wofull / synges / thy flaine me are neither killed with swerde / nor dead in batayle : for al thy captiues gaue them to thei heretic from the ordinaunce / yee / they are altogether rydden awaye / and sted fast of. When I perceived that / I sayde / I ce wae no labour / that I maye wepe by night. Take no labour / to be comforte me / as touching the destruction of my people. For this is the daye as / Lord of hostes / when he will plague / treade downe / and wete out the valley of the side / and breake downe the walles with such a crack / that it shall geue a founde in the mountaimes.

B The walmes to ke the quincers to carre and hoies / as the walles were bare from harness. Thy goodly valleys were full of charrence / the boile me made them so nece to besige the gates. Then was the conuenge of Iuda put from thence / and this was the feire / yee of the tynde house. There shall ye see the ristes in the wales of the Tene of Sion / wherof there shalde many. It shall guide together the wakers of the lowe people / and tel the booke of Jerusalem / and breake off some of them to kepe the walles. And ye shal make a pyt betwixte the twyne walles of the water of the olde poole / and nothing regarde him / that toket in hyde and neede it. And as it shalme nunc that the Lord of hostes cal men to weppynge / in dreynge / to balynesse / and painne on of sacke clothe. But they to fulfyll they lust and wofulnesse / slaughter open / they fill shepe / they care not for man / and durst he write. Her woe can and synke / to knowe we shal dye. ye / of rhyas wofulnesse of yours shalbe rennesed / ye must dye for it. This hath the Lord God of hostes spoken.

This sayeth the Lord God of hostes / Gain to the treasury vnto / I Sobia the gas / I am / uenoure / and fore vnto hym : What halte a thou here so do / and fro whence comest thou / that thou hast made the a groue here : For he had caused a costly combe of stone to be made for hym selfe / and a place to lyc in to be herene out of a rocke. Beholde / the Lord shal cast the out by violence / he will wete the of another fashion / and put vnto the a fassidre clothe. He shal carie the in to a farrer countre / like a ball wbe by a hande. There shal thou bye / there shal the pompe of thy charrence haue an ende / thou villaine of the booke of the Lord : I wil thine out of thyne office / as put the from thine estate.

After this wil I cal my seruant Ezechiel / the sonne of Helia / and a tye him with thy coate / and gyde him with thy gyble / and I wil geue thy power in to his hande. He shalbe a father of the cinesins of Jerusalem / and of the kynred of Iuda. I wil also laye the keye of Sion / and he shal open his shoulde : and it shal be open / as mans shal shire : as the do stou / no man shal open. I wil fasten him to a nayle / so that he shal be the place of the neede / byc farrfulness. And he shal be vnto / glorious throne of his fathers house. They shal benge vnto hym all the glory of hys fathers house / of the chydren and chydren / all apparell fmal and great / all instruments of measure and mystice. This shall come to passe / when the Lord of hostes / shal wben the nayle / that is fastened to / place of the highest farrfulness / shalbe pluckt off / and when the weyghte that danager upon it / shal fal be broken / and he wnt in paces / for the Lord hym selfe hab sayde.

market of all people. Sidon is forty year/yeer/and all the power of the see complainerh /and sayeth: O that I had never trayled with Chylochath I had neuer borne any/that I had neither nauised boye/ nor brought vp doughter.
As for an Egyptian percerueth in/ the will be as for as Tyrus is self. Go ouer the see/Menuey thard med in the Zlea. For not that y glorious cite/ which hath bene of lōge antiquitye/ whose nauies dwellinge be faire of/ so nauies be so greatly. Who hath deuyed in the rings upon Tyrus/ the crone of all cines/whose maiestantes and captaines were the best and principal of the world: Euen the Lord of hostes hath deuyed it/ that he maye put doune all pompe/ and mynyshe all the glory of the world. So showe thy lande/ o thou daughter of the see/ as men go ouer the water/ and there is not a gyble more.

Isaiah
23. 1. c

Thus the Lord hath crouched the kinge domes/ and hath taken in hande against that myghte Canaan/ wote it out: hath stretched out hye hande ouer the see/ and sayde: Fram henceforth shall thou make no more mynyshe vpon daughter Sidon/ for sidon shall be put doune of the Tyrens. Stande vp therfore/ a go where the enemye will carye the/ where thou shalt also haue no rest. Beholde/ for thine example: The Caldeas were such a people/ that in mā was like them/ Assis build ed them: he set vp his castles and palayces/and hied them doune agayne. And therfore in iurneye/ shippes of the see/ for your power shall be shewen doune.

After that shall the seuentye yeeres of Tyrus/ euen as lange as this kynges life was/be forgotten. And after seuentye yeeres/ it shall happen to Tyrus/ as with an harlot y playeth vpon a lute. Take thy lute. Take men to be/ and go aboute the cite/ thou art yet an vnknowen wenche/ make passyme with dyuers balletes / where by thou mayest come into acquaint-saunce. Thus shall it happen after seuentye yeres. The Lord shall visit the cite of Tyrus/ and it shall come agayne to her maiestantye/ and shall occupye with all the king-domes that be in the world. ¶ But all the occupieng and mynynges/ shall be halowed vnto the Lord. For then shall they laye vp no rhyng behinde them nor upon heapes: but the maiestantye of Tyrus shall belonge vnto the crone of the Lord/ to the feedinge and sustayninge of the hungrye/ and to the clothyng of the aged.

Beholde the Lord shall make a plague vpon the world/ he shall make the face of the earth desolate/ and scare aboade the inhabitours thereof. The he shall the prest be as y pleth the maste as the firstaunt/ the same life warder/ the seller like the byer like that lordsh vpon vsur/ the him that boweth vpo ofurye the credence as the viter. See/ miserably shall the world be trayled a chiant destroyed.
For the Lord hath so determined in him self.
The earth shall be heavy and vteray. The face of the earth shall perishe a sal awaye/ the proude people of the world shall come to nauygh/ for the earth is couerped of her iudgements.

For whyrthys have oftendyde I have/ I haue the ordinaunces/ a inside the entelsting estimates of none effecte. And therfore shall the cite be denaure the earth: for thy that bend theron/ haue synned. Wherefore they shall be dumy/ and those that remaine/ shall be very fewe. The furte wyne shall inuene/ the grapes shall be weake/ and all that haue benemity in here/ shall sighe. The mynyshe of benemity shall be layde doune/ the chere of the wysful shall ceasse/ and the pleasure of lutes shall haue an ende/ there shall no more wyne be dronke with myth/ the byer shall be better to the than dymke in/ the wretched cines shall be broken doune/ all houses shall be shant/ that no man maye come in.

In the streets shall there be lye up a crye/ because of wyne/ all men chere shall vanishe a waye/ and all ioye of men shall passe. Solomon shall remayne in the cite/ and the gates shall be mynyshe with waynysse. For it shall happen vnto all landes and to all people/ life as when a man smyth doune the values/ eho are left vpo y tree/ as stekes after grapes/ where the wyne gatherynge is out. And thofsame that remayne/ shall lye vpo their woye/ and be glad/ a shall magnifye the glory of the Lord/ euen fro the see/ and prayse the name of the Lord God of Israel/ in the valles and Landes/ Where heire songe singe to the puffed of the righteous/ from al the eubres of the world. Therefore I muste speake: O my psj and snare. Who so escapeth the terrible crye / shall fall in to the pyt. And if he come out of the pyt / he shall be taken with the snare. For the windowes above / shall be opened / and the founteyne of the earth shall issue.

The earth shall geue a great cracke / it shall haue a foie curre / and take an horrible fall. The earth shall slacke like a drunken man / and be as in a way like a tent. Her mensures shall be so because upon her / that she muste fall / and neuer off up againe. As these are one / so the Lord will iustice together the hit booste above / and the finges of the world upon the earth. These shall couple together as p. s. foure be / and shall be in one weede / a punished innumerable dayes. The Moone and the Sunne shall be asumed / when the Lord of hostes shall rule them at Jerusalem upon the mount Sion before / and with his excellent counsaill.

Luce xxiij.

The. XXV. Chapter.

The Lord / thou art my God / I will praise / and magnify thy name. For thou bringest marvelous thynges to passe / according to thine olde conuysa / truly a fidelsly. Thou makest of stones / capes of stone / a of head cenes / whose walls. The palaces of the wicked destroyest thou out of the one / that they shall neuer be builded againe. Therefore / very rude people must magnify the / and the cyces of the cruel / they shon must feare the. For thou art the poore mans helpe / a strength for the meadfull in thine neede. Thou art a defence againste euil / againste / a shewde againste / heate. But vnto thy presumption / thou art like a stronge tree / thy rynde / that casteth downe / the boasting of the wysed / thou kepiest men from deare with the shadewe of the cloudes / thou curst of the braynde of the ruyne.

Thou shalt be the Lord of hostes / that once prepare / a cast / for all people upon the hill. A plenteous / costly / pleasant / cast / of far and widd / castles / of strete and moost puce thynge. Upon the hill shall be take away the hyde wale / bar haung / before the face of all people / and the ouer / where with all Gemles are covered. Tho for deary / he shall vnto /

The Lord God shall wipe away the remembrance from all faces / and take away the confusio of his people / & showe the whole and world. For the Lord himselfe hath s. y. e. it. As the same time shall be s. y. e. it. our God / in thome we put our trust / and the earth bealed so. This is the Lord / that we haue waited for / let us enoyce and blise in his saluation. For the hande of the Lord resteth upon this hill. But Moab shall be shewen downe vnder him / like as the straw is troden vnder feet in a doyle hill. For he shall stretch out his hande upon him / like as a swimmer doeth so swimme. And with the power of his handes shall be cast downe his pyt pompe. As for his stronge holdes and hys wallen / he shall barre them / cast them downe / and sell them to the grounde in to dust.

The. XXVI. Chapter.

Then shall this songe be soung in the lade of Juda. We haue a stronge ciue / wal / no rickes and the ordinaunce shall spee so. Open shall the gates / that the good people maye go in / which labourerth for the ciue. And thou / which art the doer / a hall the matter in h. d. e. shall proude for peace. Then the pace / that Rome men hope for in the. Hope styll in the Lord / for in the Lord God is our resting strength. For they / in is the that bringeth lowe the che / minded / casteth downe the proud cyces. He casteth them to the grounde / euen in to the mye / that they maye be troden vnder the feet of the simple / and with the stepes of the poore. Thou / Lord / casteth downe the path of the ghyuous / which hee in by / wher the waye of the righteous be right. Therefore / Lord / we haue a respecte vnto / waye of thy iudgement / thy name and thy mercynance / enoyce the soule. Thy soule shall affere the all the nyght longe / and my minde hasteth to the. For as fast as thy iudgement is knowne to the world / the the / reues of the earth / is seene righteous. But the rnygob / though he haue receued grace / yet learneth be noe righteous / but in that place where he is punished be / and searche wate the glory of the Lord.

valley/it shall happen vnto hyen/as to an vineyard/fruit before 3 parasell come. Whiche as soon as it is senct/is by and by deuoured/so eue it come well in a mans hande.

And then shall the Lorde of hostes be a ioyfull exouit/and a glorious gastande vnto the remnant of his people. Vnto the lowly/he shall be a spere of iudgment: and vnto them that vyre arraye the enemyes fowt he the gates/he shall be a spere of strength. But they go wronge by the reason of tyme/they fall and flacker because of stronge vynts.

Wherfore heare the woide of the Lorde/ ye mokers that rule the Lorde's people/whiche are Jerusalem. For ye comfote your selfe thus. 7 Tush: deary and we are at a port: and as for hell / we haue made a condicion wth u: that though there beate our any foia plague / it shall not come vpon vs. For wth disceate will we scape / and wth hymblence will we defende our selfe. Therfore thus sayeth the Lorde God: 7 Erholde / I will laye a stene in Synon / a greate ston / a costly corner ston for a sure foundaion: that who so puteth his trust in hym/ shall not be confounded. Rightheousnes wyl 3 set vp agayn in sh balance/ and iudgement in the weyghte. 7 The tempest of hysle shall take awaye foure tynge / that yehane to disceate wth hall: and the ouerflowing waters shall beate doune your stronge holdes of dissimulation. 7 Thus the appointment that ye haue made wth vntith / shall beate awaye: and the condicion that ye made wth hell shall nos stande. When the geardes struction goeth thowre / a shall all to reade you / 7c shall take you quyte awaye before it. See it shall go forth early in the morninge / and continue onely that daye and that night. And the very feare onely shall reach you wthin ye heareit. For the bedde shall be so narrowe / that a man can not lye vpon it. And the coveringe to small / that a man maye not weade himselfe theren. 7 For the Lorde shall stype forth as he byd vpo the mount / 7c shall take on as he byd in the Dale of / Whiche maye be made bunge forth his douces / his stoundinge / 7c shall be full of his woike / his troude shall weke. And therfore make no iudgement / that your captiuitie intertace: for 3 haue heede 3 Lorde of hostes seye / that there shall come a soden destruction / and plague vpon the whole earth. Take heede / a heare my voice / pander and marke my woide wel. Forth not the house ande man cur in due stacion earnestly to ho lende / he moureth and plo weth his grounde to sowe. And when he shall made it playne / he sowe it wth siche as eaynyn. He sowe it the wheate and barley in these place. 7 Thum and Me also in they place. And that he maye do it ryght / his God teacheth hym and strength hym. For he reaseth north the synde out wth a wayne / mythe bunge he be the cart here and there onely the comyn / but he is offe the stricke one wth a flayle / and the comyn wth a rad. So for the wether / he gryndeth it to make breade therof / In as much as he can not bunge it / it passeth wth treadynge. For neyther the bunning that the cart whyle make / nor his bestes can grinde it. This and such like thinge come of the Lorde of hostes / whiche is inueniuous in counsill / and great in ryghteousnesse.

And therein rodder whiche the Lord wyl sende vpon hym/ shal moue the whole foundacion/with romprete/ with noyse of warre and battall to despoyle. I for: he hath prepared the fyre of payne fram the beginning/yea/ vnto the daye also. This hath he made depe and wyde/ the north syde therof is fyre and woode innumerable/ whiche the brach of the Lord synnderth/as it were a marche of byrmyste.

The XXXI Chapter.

WHOMEN them that go vnto mounte Egipte for helpe/ and trust in houses/ and conser-uare them selfe in charrettes / because they be many: and in bastimen / because they be cushy and stronge. But they regarde not the holy one of Israell/ and they aske no question at the Lord. Where as he neuerthelisse/plagureth the wiked/ and yett goeth not from his roide/ when he sleepech forth/ and takech the wicerye againste the hauibolde of the fro-wede/ and againste the helpe of cuell woer-men. How the Egiptians are men/ and not God: and their houses fleshe/ and not spere. And as sones the Lord Egiptians sure his hande/then shal the helper fall/ and he that shoulde haue bene helper/ and shall cleaue the veshayed: for thus hath the Lord spoken vnto me. I see as the Egiptians are / Egiptians whiche reareth vpon the praye that he hath gonne/and is not of sayde / though he multitude of shepe haue come oute vpon him/ myther as a shepe for all the shepe of them. So shal the Lord of hosties come vnto you from the mounte Zion/ and defende his hyll. Lyke as thydes floure aboute they nestes / so shal the Lord of hosties sepe/ saue/ defende/ and delauer Ierusalem. Therefore ye children of Israell/ vnto a gayne ye as ye haue receaded in your goyngs backe. I for in that daye eury man shal taste oute his doole of sylur and golde/ whiche ye haue made with youre synful handes. I for also shal be slaine with the sward/ not with a mans swerde. A swerde shal because him/ but not a mans swerde.

And he shal fle from the slaughter/ and his seruauntes shal be taken prisoners. He shall go for feare to his strongholde/ a his punce shall fle from his badge. This hath the Lord spoken/ whiche high durneth in Chariand his sye in Ierusalem.

The XXXII Chapter.

WHOLDE the kyng: shall gouerne after the rule of righteousnesse/ and the punce shal rule accordinge to the bulwarke of quiete. He shal be wroth men/ as a defence for the wynde/ and as a refuge for the tempeste/lyke as a ryuer of water in a drye place/and as the shadowe of a greete rocke in a dye lande. The eyes of the synges shall not be vayne: and the eares of them that heare/shall take vidence hebe. The herte of the warye shall come to knowlege/ and the vnpayntinge shal speake plainly/ and the flincher. Then shall the nygards be no more colde gentles/ nor the dwike lyherall. But the dwike wyl be churlyshlye quyned/ and his herte wyl worken all and playe the pyrate/and imagine abominacione againste God/to make the hungrye loner/ and to wrethede the myke from the dwike. These are the prylous weapons of the covetous/ these be his shamefull counsaile: that he maye siglye the poore with descafull wretches/ yea/ vnto there as he shoulde geue sentence with the poore. I for the liberal pynnesse magnifyeth boneste rynges / and cometh up with bonesty.

Vnto ye and vble cytyes / harden vnto my voyce. Ye careles cytyes/ make my wrogreate hyppie saye. For the Lord shall be our captaine: the Lord shall be our lawe: geues / the Lord shall be our King: and he him self shall be our Saviour. There are the coades / so layde aboade / that they can not be better: The masse set up of such a saluon / that no banner nor sicke hangeth theron: But there is heald great spayle: / lame men runne after the pipe: There iseth no man that sayeth: I am sicke: but all end to take awaye from the people that weel there.

The XXXIII. Chapter.

Come ye Heithen and heare: take heede ye people: Heften thou eath: and all that is therein: thou rounde compass: and all that groweth thereupon: for the Lord is angrye with all people: / and his displeasure is kindled against all the multitude of them: to curse them: and to laye them. So that their name shall be cutt out: / and they: badges synners: that enuie the very hills shall weep with the bloud of them. / All the starres of heauen shall be consumed: / and the heauen shall folde together: / like a scroll: / and all the starres thereof shall fall: / like as the leaues fall from the wynde and wynges. For my swearer: sayeth he: I shall be thard in heauen: / and shall immediatly come downe vpon Ibienna: / and vpon the people whom I haue cursid for my vengeance.

B And the Lordes swordes shall be ful of bloud: / and he ruste with the same: and flouds of flambes and goates: / with the fauour of suerous of the waters: for the Lord shall kill a greate multitude in Ibienna: / and in the laide of Ibienna: / There shall the vniuerses fall with the bulles: / that is with the grauntes: / in their lande shall be washed with bloud: / and their grounde corrupte with fauour.

Unto the elcke: / Eion: shall come the daye of the vengeance of God: / and the pece: / which so thine owne iudgements shall be recompensed: / By floudes of bloud: / euened to pythe: / and thine eare to thine shane: / and then with that the laide be binded: / so that sefol not be quenched: / Saye not mighte: / But smoke cuer more: / and so saye to lye wastie. / And no man shall go thowen: / thy laide for uer: / But Delicence: / floudes: / greate Dulce: / and Rauens: / shall haue in possession: / and weel throu.

For God shall speede oure the syre of Ibienna vpon us: / and weyc it with the floudes of empines. / When Kinges are callid vpon there: / shall be none: / and all princes shall be away. / There is that growe in their palaces: / newles: / and thilke in their stronge holdes: / that the dragone maye haue their pleasure theron: / and that they maye be a ouere for the synners: / There shall straunge: / vdures: / and monstrous bestes meete one another: / and they wyde hope compass to gether. / There shall be lamia lye: / There shall be lodginge: / There shall the bedde: / bogge: / guide: / wygge: / be thire at home: / and thinge forth his yongence: / There shall thre come together: / each one to his lyke. / There shall shewe the scripture of the Lord: / and ridee. / There shall none of those thinges be left: / There shall not one: / (no: such lyke) / saye. / For what his mouthe comendeth: / shall make: / Each his spere gather together: / or fully: / lath: / vpon whome foure the sat fall: / so to whom he beareth: / he with the synners: / shall possess the inheritance: / from generation to generation: / and weel therein.

The XXXV. Chapter.

I will longe afoze this / wene Ezechias dead of Amos came outo hym / and sayde : Thus comin aound the Lordde : See thine house in order / for thou must dye / a / shall not escape.

Then Ezechias turned hys face towards the wall and prayd vnto the Lordde / and sayde : Remembre Co Lordde / that I haue walkt before the in truely and a stedfast betwixt / and haue done the thinge that is pleasant to the.
And Ezechias wepte sore. Then sayde God vnto Esay : Go and speake vnto Ezechias.
The Lordde God of Dauid thy father sine vnto the this wyde : I haue bidde thy prayer and considered thy teares : I shall be pardon. peace ino vnto thy lyfe / and deliuer

Hearre now therefore / thou wysfull / what I say to carelesse / a spirite thou in thine heart: I am alone / and without me is there none I shall neuer be wedowe / nor desolate againe.
 And yet bothe these thinges shall come to the vpon one daye in the enuellinge of an eye.
 Namely / wedowehead and desolation. They shall myschely fall vpon the / for the multitude of thy wretches / and for the great heape of thy countreie. For thou hast comforted thy self in thy discaufidence / and hast sayde: I no man can hurt me. I haue owne wysdom and cunningge

113. Reg. 19. To be straggling. Afterwarde by the kinge of the Assyrians appoynted the for naughte. And now what profit is it to me, saith the Lord. What my people is richly caried awaye, and brought into beuaines by their euillnes. In my name euill shall be spoken: saith the Lord.

114. Reg. 19. B. But that my people maye knowe my name, I my selfe will speake in it. Beholde here am I. Who haue beuifull see the site of the Embrassment, haue brought the message from the mountain, a proclamer shall bring to the good rynges, and preachers health, saith onto Sion: Thy God is the kinge. Thy watchmen shall lift up their voice, with loude voice shall they preache of him: for they shall see him present, when the Lord shall come againe to Sion.

115. Reg. 19. C. The glad thou desolate Jerusalem, and reioyce together, for the Lord will restore his people, he will restore Jerusalem. The Lord will make bare his holy arme, and there it shall be in the sight of all the Gentiles, and all the endes of the earth shall see the saving health of our God.

116. Reg. 19. D. Awaye, get you out from thence, touch no vncleane thinge. Go out from amonge such. And be cleane, for that beare the vessel of the Lord. But ye shall not go out with scoldon, nor make hayste as they that he awaye. For the Lord shall go before you, and the God of Israel shall kepe the waye.

117. Reg. 19. E. Beholde, my seruante shall beale myselfe, therefore shall he be magnified, galed a greatly honoured. Like as the multitude shall reuolue upon him, because his face shall be desolated, and not as a mans face, and his beuill life no man: I will be the multitude of the Gentiles, I will be unto hym, and the Gentiles shall be unto hym, and the Gentiles shall be unto hym, and the Gentiles shall be unto hym.

118. Reg. 19. F. Beholde, my seruante shall beale myselfe, therefore shall he be magnified, galed a greatly honoured. Like as the multitude shall reuolue upon him, because his face shall be desolated, and not as a mans face, and his beuill life no man: I will be the multitude of the Gentiles, I will be unto hym, and the Gentiles shall be unto hym, and the Gentiles shall be unto hym.

119. Reg. 19. G. Beholde, my seruante shall beale myselfe, therefore shall he be magnified, galed a greatly honoured. Like as the multitude shall reuolue upon him, because his face shall be desolated, and not as a mans face, and his beuill life no man: I will be the multitude of the Gentiles, I will be unto hym, and the Gentiles shall be unto hym, and the Gentiles shall be unto hym.

120. Reg. 19. H. Beholde, my seruante shall beale myselfe, therefore shall he be magnified, galed a greatly honoured. Like as the multitude shall reuolue upon him, because his face shall be desolated, and not as a mans face, and his beuill life no man: I will be the multitude of the Gentiles, I will be unto hym, and the Gentiles shall be unto hym, and the Gentiles shall be unto hym.

125. Reg. 19. N. Beholde, my seruante shall beale myselfe, therefore shall he be magnified, galed a greatly honoured. Like as the multitude shall reuolue upon him, because his face shall be desolated, and not as a mans face, and his beuill life no man: I will be the multitude of the Gentiles, I will be unto hym, and the Gentiles shall be unto hym, and the Gentiles shall be unto hym.

126. Reg. 19. O. Beholde, my seruante shall beale myselfe, therefore shall he be magnified, galed a greatly honoured. Like as the multitude shall reuolue upon him, because his face shall be desolated, and not as a mans face, and his beuill life no man: I will be the multitude of the Gentiles, I will be unto hym, and the Gentiles shall be unto hym, and the Gentiles shall be unto hym.

He shall be the most simple a despised of all, who shall see hath good experyence of sinners infirmities. We shall reioyce him so simple a soyle, that he shall be our face for him. Whom because of a trust, he shall only toke my our infirmities, and beareth our paine: we shall iudge him, as though he were plagued, and cast downe of God, though he be not with standing, he shall be wounded for our offences, a sinners for our wickednesse. For the paine of our punishment shall be laid vpon him, a woe his stripes shall we be dealt.

As for us, we go all easy, like shepe, every one turneth his owne way. But he shall be plagued, and shall not open his mouth. He shall be led as a shepe to the slaughter, yet shall he be as a lambe before the shearer, and not open his mouth. He shall be as a shepe, whose cause not perdy, without any iudgement. Whose generation yet no man maye number, when he shall be cut off from the groude of the living. Whose punishment shall go vpon him, for the transgression of his people.

His graue shall be againe him, with the condemned, and his cristenen with the heathen. Where as he shall neuer violente nor vnght, neither hath there anye discreasfulnesse in his mouth.

It pleased the Lord to smite him with infirmities, that when he shall be made his soule an offeringe for sinne, he might be a longe lastinge seke. And this seruice of the Lord shall prosper in his hande. With reuoyce and laboure of his soule, shall he optaine greaite riches. In his rightous seruantes shall with his wisde iustitice, and shal be the multitude, for he shall beare awaye their sinnes.

Therefore will I greeve him, the multitude for his paine, a be shall vnder the stronge spoyles, because he shall greeue our his soule to death, and shall be reckoned amonge the transgressours, who be neuer belist shall take awaye the sinnes of the multitude, and make intercession for the midones.

Beholde, my seruante shall beale myselfe, therefore shall he be magnified, galed a greatly honoured. Like as the multitude shall reuolue upon him, because his face shall be desolated, and not as a mans face, and his beuill life no man: I will be the multitude of the Gentiles, I will be unto hym, and the Gentiles shall be unto hym, and the Gentiles shall be unto hym.

de: Be not ashamed: for thou shalt not come to confusion. For thou shalt forget the shame of thy youth: and thou shalt not remember the disho-nour of thy weoldowheade. For he that made thee shall be thy Lord/ and thow hand (whofe name is the Lord of hosties) and thine auuenge shall be euē the holy one of Iherusalem: the Lord of hosties: the whole worlde. For the Lord shall call thee / beinge an vnsolate forrowfull woman/and as young wyfe: that hath throken

B I will while haue I forsake thee/ but with great necessitye shall I take thee vp vnto me. When I was angry/ I hid my face from thee for a little season/ but thow waste in relasunge goodnesse: that I pardon thee/ sayeth the Lord of hosties. And this must be vnto me as the water of thee: For syke as I haue swaine/ that I will not change the water of thee any more vpon the worlde: So haue I sworn/ that I will neuer be angry with thee/nor repoude thee: The moueraunce shall remoue/and the vntyngon shall vntyngon: my louinge kindnesse shall not remoue/ and the bande of my peace shall not fall vnto thee from thee/ saith the Lord of hosties: in euery luyte.

C Behold thou poore/ vnto a despyred: I will rike thy wallen of precious stones / and thy founndes of Saphires/ thy windowes of Cristall/ thy garnes of fyne cleare stone/ and thy borderes of pleasaunt stones. Thy child shall all be taught of God/ I will geue them pleasurous of peace. In righteuousnesse shall thou be grounded / and be farre from oppression/ for thee which thou dost nat be afraied/ neither for hinderances: for I shall not come vnto thee.
Behold/ the alraunt that was farre from thee/shall dwell with thee: he that was soueraine a stranger: vnto thee/ shall be ioyned to thee. Behold: I make the smith that smytheth the coole in the fyre/ a be maketh a weapon after his bandy wyll. I make also the worker to the smyth: but of the weapons that are made agaynst thee/ shall not passe. And as for all ungiue that shall resist thee in iudgement / thou shalt ouercome them/ and condemne them. This is the heritage of the Lord of hosties: a the righteuousnesse: that they shall haue of me/sayeth the Lord.

The LV Chapter.

Come to the waters al ye that be thursty / and ye that haue no money. Come/ saye ye maye haue to eat. Come/ saye ye maye without any money/ as money wyll. Where fore ye saye you your money/ for the thing that seyth not/ a spende your labour about the thing that satisfieth you not: Dute better rather vnto me/ and ye shall eate of the best/ in your house/ that haue bee pleasure in plenteousnesse. Encline your eares/ to come vnto me/take heede/ and your soule shall lyue. For I will make an euery luyte conuener with you / and euen the sure mercies of Dauid.

Behold: I shall geue him for a wytnesse among the folk: for a prince and captaine vnto the people. For thou shalt call an vnknowyn people: and a people that had no knowledge of thee/ shall runne vnto thee: because of the Lord de thy God/ the holy one of Israel/ whiche glorifyeth thee. Behold the Lord while he may be founde / call vpon him while he is nye.
Let the vngodlye man forsake his waye/ and the vntyngon a his vntygonaunce / a turne agayne vnto the Lord: for he be merciful vnto him: as saith the Lord: for he is ready to forgie.

So: thus sayeth the Lord: My thoughtes are not your thoughtes/ and your wayes are not your wayes: But as farre as the hea-uens are higher then the earth/ so farre are my wayes creede yours/ and my thoughtes vnto you: And like as the rayne a snow come vnto Daal/ and folowe such thinges as shall bunge them no profit.

Wherefore I am constrained (sayeth the Lord) to make my complaint vpon you a vpon youre children. Go into the stre of Egypt/ and loke well: sende vnto Cedar/ take diligent heed: and se whether such thinges be done there/ whether the Gannle them selfe beare so falsly and vntrewly with their goddes as I (which yett are no goddes in dede) But my people hath grent out their but honoure/ for a thinge that maye not bepri them.

Bralloune (so yr becaute) beafrayde/ and abashed at such a thinge/ saith the Lord. For my people hath done two evils. They haue forsake me the wellle of water of life/ a diggeng out them pities/ yett vnto and brate pines that holde no water. In Irael a wonder seruants/one of the householde: Why is he the so spoeled? Why do they coare and crye then vpo him as a Lyon: Why iude made his lande wast?
His curre are so burnt op/ that there is no midrelling in them. See/ the children of Ephand Capthans haue defiled thy nest.

Commith no crime vnto the/ because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God/ because since he led the by the waye: And what hast thou now to do in the stre of Egypte? to drinke soule water: Whyther/ what makst thou in the waye to Assiura/ to drinke water of founteines? Thine owne wickednesse shall reprove the/ and thy ninges a waye shall condemne the: that thou must knowe and vnderstande/ howe evil and burnell a thinge it is/ that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God/ a not feared him/ sayeth the Lord God of hosties.

I haue reuer bioken thy feet of albe/ and dirtten thy bandes/ yett sayest thou. I will be come free/ as a bullocke/ as a hart/ thou runnest aboute vpon all hie hillis/ a amouge al grene trees: where as I planted you of noble grapes and good rootes. I haue set thou tueted them into a byrre/ vnto wastell/ and I haunge grapes. In a thou so foue/ that thou thoughtest thou wast free/ with thurs/ a makest thy selfe saouer with thy fere/ singlinge herbe of Baudy: yett in my sight thou art slayid with thy wickednesse/ saith the Lord thy God.

Waye nowe: I am not reuicam/ and I haue not folowed the gooddes. I like vnto thine owne wayes in the woodes/ vnto in the dennes: so shalt thou knowe what thou hast done. Thou art like a swift Bionnary/ that goeth easily by waye: and thy waytonnes is like a wilde Ass: that vnto the wilderness/ a that snosteth a bloweth at the wil. Who can tame the? All they that se the/ shall vnto faryle/but synde the in thine owne vnclennes. Thou kepest thy fote from makest/ and thy rhyde from the: and thynkest thou in thy selfe/ that I will take no saouer: I will loue the: straunge goddes/ and hange vpon them.

Like as a shepherde is taken with the hede/commeth no shame/ euen so is the hauf of Iracke come to confusion: the comon people/ the kinge and rulers/ their pities and prophetes. For thy saye is a foel: thou art my fary-

I yett/ they haue turned their backe vpon mi/and not reuer. But in that time of thar trouble/ when they saye/ stande op/ and help me/ I shall aunswere the: Where are now thy goddes/ that thou hast made the? byd them stande op/ and helpe the in the tyme of neede?
For loke howe many canis thou hast/ to Iu-dith/ as many goddes hast thou also.

Wherefore the will ye go to lawe with me/singe yr all are synners agaynst me/ sayeth the Lord. It is but lye labour/ that I singe youre children/ for they errecau no my correction. I your owne swarde destryoye/ a youre prophecie/ like a deuouringe Lyon. It ye be the people of the Lord/ then hearken vnto his woide: Am I then become a wilde-ness vnto the people of Irael/ in a lande that hath no light? Wherefore sayest my people the: we are fallen of/ and we will come no more vnto the? Soch a mardyn forget her rays me/ as a byrde her slom after/ And doest my shouldest I call me father onely / and not to benefit from me.

¶ Quellke as a woman sayeth her loue / so are ye vnfaithfull vnto mee / as ye house of Israel / sayeth the Lorde. And because the voyce of the children of Israel was herde on euery side / weeping and wayling: for they haue desyred their waye / and forgotten God their Lorde.

¶ O ye flourishing children / turne agayn / saying: for we are thine / for thou art the Lorde our God: And so shall I heale your backslidings: The hills fall / a all the hie pyre of mountaynes / but the saluacion of Israel standeth onely vpon God our Lorde.

¶ Confusion hath deuoued oure fathers / so haue from oure youth vpon: yete there theye and bullockes / their fannes and daughters. So do we also flie in oure confusion / and shame couereth vs: for we and oure fathers from oure youth vpon into this daye haue synned agaynst the Lorde our God / and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lorde our God.

The III. Chapter.

¶ O Israel / if thou wilt turne the / the turne vnto mee / sayeth the Lorde. And if thou wilt put awaye / by abominacions out of my sight: thou shalt not be moued: And shalt swaie: the Lorde iureth in truth / in equite and righteousnesse: and all people shall be runnablen and ioyfull in hym. For thus sayeth the Lorde to al Iuda and Ierusalem: plow your new lande / and sowe not amonge the thornes.

¶ He circumcised in the Lorde / and cut awaye the foreskinne of yourernes / all ye of Iuda / and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem: I shall my indignacion burst: not onelye this / and synke / so that no man maye nether be because of the wickednes of youe ymaginations.

¶ I shall in Iuda and Ierusalem / crye out and speake: blowe the trompettes in the cite: crye that euery man maye heare / and saye: What doth you together / and we will go into stronge citties. Set vp the token in Zion / speake you / and make no censur: for I will dunge a greate plague / and a greate destruction from the North. For the spoyle of the Gennesse is broken up from his place / as a Lyon out of his denne: as he maye make the lande wast / and destroye the ctyes / so that no man may dwell therein. Wherefore crye youe selfe aboute with sackcloth / mourne and weep: for the fearefull warch of the Lorde shall not be with-drawen from you.

¶ These same sayeth the Lorde: the heere of the kinge and of the princes shall be gone / he prynces shall be sloued: as the prophetes shall be for strayed. Then sayeth the Lorde God: I will thus saye: because I haue people and Ierusalem / sayinge: ye shall haue peace / and nom the forwardes goeth choise their lyfes: Then I shall be sayde to the people and to Ierusalem:
I haue comen a woman wynde from the North I shall be sayde to the people / but neither to fanne / nor to cleane.

¶ After that I shall come comen vnto me a strige wynde / and then will I also geue sentence vpon you: for ye haue comen aboute like as a cloud / and his charcetes are like a storme wynde: thus saye I in swifthe the North
I shall be sayde to the people and to Ierusalem:
I shall be sayde to the people / but neither to
fanne / nor to cleane.

¶ For a voyce from Dan and from the hill of Ephraim shall crye out / and tell of a destruction. Beholde the North saye: Ierusalem warmpinge / and preach vnto her / that her destroyers are commynge from faire coun-tree. They will the ctyes of Iuda the same also / they shall geue them warninge in euery place / like as the watchmen in the cite. For I shall be sayde to the people / and to Ierusalem:
I shall be sayde to the people / but neither to
fanne / nor to cleane.

¶ Thy wayes and thy thoughtes / haue id broughte the vnto this / this is thine owne wickednesse and disobedience: that hath post and fluy. I shall be sayde to the people / and to Ierusalem: I shall be sayde to the people / but neither to fanne / nor to cleane.

¶ They crye murmur vpon murmur / whole Iude shall perishe: Immediately my rentes were destroyed / a my hanginges in Ierusalem of an eye: How longe shall I be the toke of warre / and beare the noyse of the trumpets?

D Newerthles / this shall come upon them / because my people is become foolish / and hath utterly no understanding. * They are ashyblen of foolishness / and without any discretion. * He do curl / they haue wit ynough: but to do wyls they haue no wisdom. I haue looked vpon the carth / and se / it is a wyfde and voyde. I looked toward heauen / and it had no strength.

E beholde the mountaines / and they trembled / and all the hylls were in a feare. I looked about me / and there was no body / and all the bydes of the oyle were awaye. I marked wyls / and the plowed filde was become wastyl / yee / all they: cytes were broken downe as the pres-fence of the Lorde / and indignation of his warre.

E For thus haue the Lorde sayde: The whole lande shalbe desolate / yee wyl I not then bene done. And therefore let the carth moune / and let the heauen be so fary about: for the synge that I haue purposed / and taken vpon me / to do / shall not repente me / and I will not go from it. The whole lande shall sic for the noyse of the horsmen and bowmen: they shall sunne in deserts / and woobes / and clymie upon the stony coctes. All the cytes shalbe voyde / and no man dwellinge therein.

 What wile thou now do / thou beinge destroyed: * For: though thou clostest thy selfe thou payntest thy face with coloure / yee shalt then ashyment thy self in voyne.

For those that burthen boue bene thy greate sauoures shall abhorre the / and go aboute to slaye the. For thus saynt I: I haue a noyse / like as it were of a woman that synge / or ane labouer of her self: whyle: Euen the voyce of the daughter Sion / that saileth out her armes / and sayneth / saynynge: Wher is me /

The V. Chapter.

Jer. 14. 7
E Beholdow Jerusalem / beholde and sit like a woman / for shee is also trishen / if ye can finde oute man / hat doeth equal and righte or that labourer to be sayntfull: and I shall spare hym / saynt the Lorde. * For though they can saye: the Lorde thyer / yee do they swaie as discaue: Weter as thou to Lorde lokest only vpon saynt and trust.

Thou hast seyn god the: but they toke no re-penance: thou hast correcte them for amon-demens / but they refused thy correction. They made their faces harder then a stone / a wylde not amende.

Therefore I thought in my selfe: pradiens nre they are so simple and foolish / that they vnderstande nothinge of the Lorde: way / and iudgements of oure God: * Therefore wyl I go into their heade and rulers / and telle with the: they knowe the waye of the Lorde / and the iudgements of our God. But they ashyment: haue broken the yoke / and burst the bandes in sonder.

Wherefore a Lyon out of the wood shall burst them / and a Wolfe in the euenynge shall destroye the. The cat of the mountaine shall yelawnyng: by their carnes / to traue in prece all them that come theout. For their offensa ces are many / and their departinge awaye is greate.

Shoulde I then so: all they haue mercy vpon the: they children haue forsaken me / and sworn: by them that are no goddes. And al-be: they were bounde to me in marriage / yee they fell to abouury / and banued barlotas houses.

In the beyre of vncleanty luff they are become like the fleisch boyse: / every man nerye as bys myghbour wife: * Shoulde I not correcte this / saynt the Lorde.

Shoulde I not be auenged of euery people / that ashyment vnto the: * Clymie vpon thine wallis / beate them downe / but destroye them not vnto: cut of their bandes / because they are not the Lorde.

For vnfaithfully hath the house of Israel forsaken me / saynt the Lorde. * They haue renied the Lorde / and saynt: not be.
 * I wyl / there shall no any fortuue come vpon you: shall se nyther swaie no bime get. * As for the remaininge of the prophete they take it bus for vayne: yee there is none of the: / whi ch will tell them / that such thynges shall happen vnto them.

Wherefor thou saynt the Lorde God of hostes: because ye spake such wylde / be-after / whome they soughte and worshipped.

 They shal neuer be gathered together / nor buried: but shal lye vpon the earth / w^{ch} they spake and bespunge.

¶ And all they that remayne of this wretched generation / shal besyde other to the then to lye: where soeuer they remayne / and where as I feare them / sayeth the Lorde of hostes.
 This shall thou saye vnto the also: Thus sayeth the Lorde: Wo men fall for they ayele not vp againe: And turne they so ferre awaye / that they neuer conuert: Wherfore then is this people and Ierusalem gone so ferre backe / that they turne not againe: They are cur the longer the more obstinate / and wil not be conuerted.

¶ For I haue lofed / and considered: that there is no man that speaketh a good worde: there is no man / that maketh repentance for his synne: that wil make an say: wherfore haue I done thus: But euery man / as soone as he is turned backe / unneeth sayeth shal lye a wyde boose in a detayll. The Straite knoweth his appointed name / the Turnebowde / the Swalow and the Crane / consyde the tyme of their waye: that my people will not knowe the tyme of the punishment of the Lorde.

¶ Howe Barreie sayeth then: we are wyl / we haue the lawe of the Lorde amonge vs:

¶ For from the lowest vnto the hieft / they followe all shamefull: and from the prophet vnto the priest / they shal all wylde. ¶ The wylde / they shal the burte of my people wylde wyde wyde / sayng: I peace / peace / wher there is no peace at all.

¶ For shame / howe abhominable thynges do they: and yet they be not ashamed: yet they knowe of no shame.

¶ Wherfore in the tyme of thy visitation / they shal fall amonge the dead wyde / sayeth the Lorde.

¶ Moreover / I wil gather them in / sayeth the Lorde. No that there shal not be one grape vpon the vyne / neither one figge vpon a figge tree: and the leaues shal be plucke of.

¶ Then wil I cause them to wepene / and say: why prolonge you the tyme: Lette vs gather one selfe together / a go into the strong citty: wher shal we bein safe. For the Lorde our God hath put vs to silence / and greuen vs water myke: we shal go to synke / because we haue synned against him.

¶ We looked for peace: and we saye not the better: we waited for the tyme of shal lye / and lo / there is nothinge but trouble.

¶ Then shall the noise of his hoyses be heere from Dan / the whole land shal be afraid: as the mynging of his stronge hoyses: for they shall go in / and because the lande / wil shal in it: the citty: and that that shal therein. ¶ Moreover / I wil sende Cockes and serpentes amonge you: whiche wyl not be charmed: and they shal byt you surely the Lorde.

¶ Sometime come vpon me / and braunne vnto my beere: for lo / the voyce of the crying of my people is heere from a fere countrey: Is not the Lorde in Sion: Is not he King in Ier: Wherfore then haue they greued me / shal the Lorde say: with their ymages and scolythe strange fashions: The百姓 is gone: the Sonnes haue an ende: and we are not helped. I am sore rebid: because of the burte of my people: I am heauy and abancommandeth: Take heed for your selves / that ye take no burden upon you in the Sabbath: to bring in either the gates of Jerusalem: shall bear no burden also out of your house in the Sabbath: Ye shall do no labour therein: but halow the Sabbath: / as I commanded your fathers. Howbeit they obeyed me not: neither hearkened they unto me: but were obstinate and stubborn: / and neither obeyed me: nor received my correction.

Nevertheless if ye will hearken (saith the Lord) I will take no burden into the city: neither shall I bring in the gates upon the Sabbath: If ye will halow the Sabbath: / so that ye do no work therein: then shall there go down the gates of this city / kinges and princes / that shall see upon the face of David: They shall be carried upon charrettes: and ride upon horses: both they and their princes: / yee / whole Juda and all the officers of Jerusalem shall go here: show: / and this city shall ever be the more inhabited: There shall come men also from the cities of Juda: from about Jerusalem: and from the laude of Ben Jamin: from the plaine fields: / from the mountaine: / and from the wilderness: which shall bring burnt offerings: sacrifices: oblations: and incense: and offer up thankesgivinge in the house of the Lord. The XVIII. Chapter.

This is another communication that God had with Jeremy / (singe).

3 While I go downe in the porters house: / where shall I tell the more of my mynde: / when I came to the porters house. I founde him makinge bus wolle upon a wheel: The vessel that the porter made of claye / dwelt among his handes: So he beganne new: / and made another vessel: accordinge to his mynde. Then sayde the Lord: thus unto me: I maye not do with you as this porter Esai. xii. b doeth. O ye house of Israel: saith the Lord: Rom. c. Behold ye house of Israel: are in my hand: / Jerusalem as the claye in the porters hande.

When I shall in hande to rote out: / to brise Ege. xviii. c. Troye: / or to wast awaye any people: or kingdome: if that people (against whom I have thus sayde) shall be destroyed: I conuert from their wickednesse. Immediately I repent of the plague that I thought to bringe upon them. I Against Jer. xv. When I shall in hande to build: / or to plant: a people: or a kingdome: if the same people do euil before me: / and heare not my voyce: Immediately I repent of the good that I thought to do for them.

Speake now therefore unto Iuda: / and to them that dwell at Jerusalem: Thus saith the Lord: Behold: / I am doinge a plague against you: / and am callinge a thinge in bidde against you.

Therefore let every man mine from his: / one shall not wage: / take upon you the thinge that is: / good: / and do right. But they saye: No more of this: / we will followe our owne imaginations: / and do every man accordinge to the wilfulnessse of his owne minde.

Therefore thus saith the Lord: Ige amonge the heathen: / if any man hath verbe such horrible thinges: / as the daughter of Israel hath done: / shall not the snowe (that melteth upon the stony rockes of Libanus) moisture the fields: / Or maye it (spunges of water) be so greene againe: / that they runne nomore: / great haynes: / nor make fruitfull: / But my people hath so forgotten me: / that they have made sacrifices unto vayne goddes: / And while they followed their owne wayes: / they are come out of the high waye: / and gone into a forsway: / not wised to be woden. Where I showe they have brought their lande into an everlastinge wilderness: / and skorne: / So that whose ever shall sayle there by: / shall abhorre: / as a wagger the heathen: / With an East wynde will I scatter them before their enemies: / And when they be destroyed: / I will turne my backe upon them: / but not my face.

Then sayde they: I come: / let vs imagine Jer. xl. b somethinge against thyse Jeremis: / yee: / thyse byd you: / the priestes: / so whom the lawe was committed: / the Senauro: / that were the wyse and increasing) but I Magor (that is fearful and afraid) Dury where. For thou sayest the Lord beholds: I will make thee afraid, thy self/and all that sauaue thee: which shall perish with the sword of their enemies / euen before thy face.

And I will geue al Iuda vnto the power of the King of Babilon / which shall carie some vnto Babilon prisoners / and laye some vnto the sword. Moreover / al the substance of the land / all their precious and glorious vessels / all their riches / and all treasure of the Kinges of Iuda / will I geue into the hands of their enemies / which shall spoyle them / and carie them vnto Babilon. But as for the Courte / thou shalt be caried vnto Babilon with all thine household / and to Babilon shalt thou come / where thou shalt dye / and be buried: thou and all thy fauourers / to whom thou hast preached lies. O Lord thou hast made me wake / but thou restest me / and hast made strange agayne. Till the daye longe am I wept / and laughed to some of every mans breath: I haue now preached linge agaynst malicious Tyrans / and shewed them of their steurman. I sat the which cause they call the word of the Lord: in my tearys / and take me out to the rest.

Wherefore I thought from henceforth not to speake of him / nor to preach any more in his name. But the waike of the Lord was a very burninge fire in my hart and in my bones / which when I wolde haue stopped / I might not. For why / I haue so many deuisions and blasphemies / yea / euen of myne owne companions / and of such as were conuersaunte with me / which wente aboute to make me afraid / sayinge vpon him. let vs go vpon him / to feare him / and make him holde his tongue: but theye ouercome him / and be awinged of him.

But the Lord shode by me / like a mighty giante / the which my perserences fell / and could do nothinge. They shalbe for comforted / for they haue done vnto selfe / they shall haue an euil thinge shaine. I did not / O Lord / do hostiles / thou righteous searcher which knowest the reyne / and the very bowels: let me see them punished / for vnto the I committe my cause.

Singe vnto the Lord / and praise hym / for he hath deliuered the soules of the oppressed / and the habde of the violent. I cursed be the daye / wherein I was borne: on happy be the daye / wherein my mother brought me forth. Cursed be the man / that brought my father the Kinge: so make him glad / sayinge: thou hast gotten a sonne. Let it happen vnto that man / as to the times / to which the Lord returned vs: when he was longe berde the wretched rumoure of them. I desired to see me not as a sonne as I came out of my mothers wombe / and desired my mother was not my greue for selfe / that the birth might not haue come out / but remeyned still in her. Wherefore came I forth of my mothers wombe? To haue experience of labour and sorrow / and to lede my life with shame.

The. XXI. Chapter.

These are the wordes that the Lord spake vnto Jeremy / what tyme he was in the firste yeare of the soueraynetye of Sedechias King vnto him Dauid the sonne of Necho / and Sapphaas the sonne of Maasias / sayinge: I receiued sayllat the Kinge of Babilon the Kinge of Babilon desired the soules of the Kinges of Iuda / and I will deale with vs / accordinge to his mercifulnesse power / and take him from vs.

Then spake Jeremy: O Lord I haue answered. Thus saeth the Lord God of Israel: behold / I will turne backe / I will reape that ye haue in your hands / wherein ye fight agaynst the Kinge of Babilon and the Elders / which beseege your rounde aboute the walke: and I will bringe the together / vnto the middell of this cite / and I my self will fight agaynst you / with an outstretched hand / and with a mighty arme in great displeasure and terrible wrath: and will smyte them that dwell in this citie / both men and cattell shall dye of the pestilence.

And after this I sawe the Lord: I shal deliuer Sedechias the Kinge of Iuda / and his seruants / his people / and such as shall be in the cite / from the pestilence / sword / and hunger: into the power of the Chaldeans: as for the Kinge of Babilon / vnto the hands of their enemies / into the hands of those that shalbe vpon their lyfes / which shall smyte the with thy sword: they shall not pittie thee: they shall not spare them: they shall haue no mercy upon them.

And vnto this people thou shalt saye: Thus saith the Lord: I beholde: I heare before you this way of lyfe and death: Who so abyder in this cite: shall perishe: they which swearede: with hunger: or with pestilence. But who so goeth ouer to holde on the Eldrees parte: that besegge it: he shall saue his life: and shall mynne his soule for a pray. For I haue set my face against this cite: saith the Lord: to plague it: and to destroye it. It must be giuen into the hands of the kinge of Babylon: and be burnt with fyre.

And vnto the house of the kinge of Juda: saye thus: Heare the woide of the Lord: Co thou house of Sion: for thus saith the Lord: I will minister righteousnes: and thus some deyr uer the oppresse: from violent power: neuer my terrible wrath breake out like a fyre: and burne: so: heere ma maye quinde it: because of the wickednes of your ymaginacions. Beholde: saith the Lord: I will come upon you: that dwell in the vallies: rectes and felde: and saye: I will make vs afraid: and who wil come into our houses: for I will visit you: saith the Lord: because of the wickednes of your inuencions: a well fensible such a fyre in your wood as shall consume all that is aboute you.

The XXXI. Chapter.

Thus saith the Lord also: Go downe into the house of the kinge of Juda: and speake there these woides: and saye: Heare the woide of the Lord: thou kinge of Juda: that sittest in the high seat of Sion: thou and thy seruantes: and the people: that go in and out at this gate: thus the Lord: commanbeth: Steps equite and righteousnesse: Vlyer the oppressed from the power of the violence: do not greue nor oppresse the stranger: the fatherlesse nor the widowes: and shed no innocent bloude in this place.

And if ye spe the things so faith fully: then shall there come in a set dose of his house: things to be corrected: and ryde upon horses: both they a chire seruantes: a their people. But if they wil not be obedient vnto these commandemens: I I sweare by myne owne self: saith the Lord: thus house shall wastle. For thus saith the Lord: I will spoile upon the kinge house of Juda. I haue set the head: as Gelachias in Labanue: What wilt thou say of this? Thus saith the Lord: I will beate also: that no man shall dwell therein: I will prepare a destroyer with his weapons: for the: to burne downe the spical Cedreces: land to cast them in the fyre.

And all the people that go by this cite: shall speake one to another: I Wherefore hath the Lord done thus vnto this noble cite? Then shall it be answered: because they haue broken the conuenaunt of the Lord their God: and haue worshipped and serued straunge goddes. I I haue not cure the dead: and he that is not yet for them: but he that is for them: he shall parteh away: for he commeth not agayne: and syth his name cometh nomie. In thus saith the Lord: as touching: Sion: the soune of Iosias kinge of Juda: which reigned after his father: and is carried out of this place.

He shall neuer come thider agayne: for he shall ye in the place: where vnto he is led captiue: and shall be this lade nomie. I Wo worth he: that buildeth his house with vnrighteousnes: and his parles with the good: that he hath gotten by violence: which neuer recompenseth his neyghbours laboure: nor payeth him his hinc. He sithen in him self: I will C builde me a wyde house: a glorious parles: He cansthe wyndowes to be betwen them: a the sunnes and ashes maketh by it: Cedar: a payment them with Zenob: Christ: I thou strange: now: I thou proudest me to: with my: thy Cedreces?

Wd not thy father eate and vynte: and prosper wel: as long as he dealt with equite and righteousnes: For: whi be helped the oppressed and poore: a their right: then prospered he well.

Item wherere came this: but anly because he had me before his eyes: saith the Lord: Cedreces: as for thine eye: and thine hinc: they loke upon conent: iustice: to feed innocent bloude: do wronge and violence: I And wherfore: thus saith the Lord: against: Sion: the soune of Iosias kinge of Juda: I shall not neare: for him: Co they vlc to do I also shoud: I alas sister: Neither shall they say unto hym: Alas spales for that noble pounce. But as an asse shall he be sharyed corrupte/ and be cast without the gates of Jerusalem.

E Clymyn vp the hyll of Libanus to thou daughter Zion/ lift up thy voyce upon Dauid/ since from all partes: for all thy towers are destroyed. I gawe the mourninge/ whyls thou wast yet in prosperitee/ But thou saydest: I will not weare. And thus maner haste thou woldst feare thy youth/ & thou woldst neuer heare my voyce. All thy hydemens tholda thyen with the wynde / and thy besyngnes shalbe carried awaye into captiuitie: Then shalt thou be thought to spaine and confusion/ because of all thy wickednesse: thou shalt dweldest vpon Libanus/ and makest thy nest in the Cedre trees. O how grieuous thyl mourninge/ when thy foete come conpiter / as on a woman maunyinge with childer.

* As truly as I lyeu (sayeth the Lorde) the kyngs of Iuda were the signes of my right hande/ yet wil I plucke hym af: And I will graue the into the power of them that seek to slay the / and into the power of them that thou fearest/ into the power of Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon/ and into the power of the elders. Moreover / I will sende the / a thy mother that bare thee/ into a straunge lande / where ye were not borne / and there shall ye be. But as for the lande that ye will desire to returne vnto/ ye shall neuer come at it agayne. This man Jeremoas shalbe like an ymage robbed and come in peeces/ whiche pleaseth no man/ for all his apparell. Wherefore saye he and his feis shalbe some awaye/ and cast out into a lande / that they knowe not.

E Thou earth/ earth/ earth/ beare the woide of the Lorde: Whye this man amonge the euillwares / for no prosperitee shall this man haue all his life longe. Therefore shall ny of his feis be so happy / as to lye vpon the seat of Dauid/ and to beare rule in Iuda.

Therefore/ howe wil I veyle the wickednesse of youre ymaginations / sayeth the Lorde: And wil gather together the remanence of my flocke/ from all landes that I had shuren them vnto / and will bringe them agayne to their pastures/ that they may growe and increace. I will se shepherdes also ouer them which shall sde them. They shal no more feare and vnderfeare/ shal none of them be losse/ sayeth the Lorde. I Beholde/ the tyme cometh (sayeth the Lorde) that I will carye vp the righteous bande of Dauid/ & whiche shal beare rule/ and vjuste matters with wysdoms/ and shall see vp quyre and righteousnes agayne in the earth.

In hye tyme shal Iuda be saued/ as I sece of shal well touchen fore. And this is the name that they shal call him: turn the Lorde your righteous maker. And therefore be holde/ the tyme cometh (sayeth the Lorde) that a shal no more be sayde: The Lorde lyeth/ whiche broughte the children of Israel oute of the lande of Egypte. of the deserte are dryed vpp/ by the waye that men take / in wicketd / and there gouernauntes do nothinge like the holy woide of the Lorde. For the prophetes and the priestes them selfe are polluted vpon the / and there wil be no more holie I founde in my house / sayeth the Lorde. Wherefore/ howe waye shalbe sheperry in wickednesse/ where they maye sinke and fall. For I will bringe a plague vpon them/ when the yeare of their visitacion / sayeth the Lorde. I haue sene sely amonge the prophets of Samaria; they preached for Baal and vscaue my people of Israel. I haue feole also amonge the Prophets of Ierusalem soule aduotery / w^{ch} presumptuous lyes. They take the most shamefull necy by the hande / floutinge them selfe so that they can not reuence from their wickedness. At these w^{ch} they are vsyne are vnto me as Sodom / and as the inhabytours of Gomora.

Jer. 23. 16 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord of hostes concerninge the prophetes. Beholde / I will fede them with wormwood / and make them thynke the wear of gal. so: from the prophetes of Ierusalem is the sickenesse of Ierusalem come into all the lande.

Jer. 23. 17 And therefore the Lord of hostes geueth you this warning: I heare not the wordes of the prophetes / theye preache vnto you and vscaue you: for theye speake the meaning of their awne herte / and not oute of the mowthe of the Lord.

Jer. 23. 18 They saye vnto Iacob that vsyrp me: The Lord hath spoken in Tulse / ye shall prospere y^e dwel. And vnto all them that walke after the luste of their owne herte / theye saye Tulse / thece shall no misfortune happen you. For who hath spoken in the counsaill of the Lord / that he hath herde and vnderstande / what he is aboute to do: Who hath marked his Seruyce / and herde it: Beholde / the stormy wynder of the Lord / that is his indignacion / shall go forth / and shall fall vponne upon the heade of the vngodly. And the wrath of the Lord shall not turne againe / until hee persouare / and fulfill the thought of his herte.

Jer. 23. 19 And in the latter dayes ye shall knowe his meaninge.

Jer. 23. 20 I haue not sene these prophetes / I sayeth the Lord / and ye: they ranne. I haue not spoken to them / and yet theye preached. But of theye had conuained in my counsaill and herde my wordes / theye had turned my people from their euill wayes / and wicked imaginations. I Am I then God that stretch out the heuyns / w^{ch} is nyce at hande / or not that as I saye of: sayeth the Lord. Make any man byde him selfe so that I shall not see him:

Jer. 23. 21 I sayeth the Lord. I do not I fulfill becauⁿ I shall see / and earth / sayeth the Lord. I haue herde

Jer. 23. 22 well enough what the prophetes saye / that preache lyes in my name / sayng: I haue sene / and / I haue sene. Some langes will this continue in the prophetes hertes / to sell lyes and to preache the crasty fantasy of their owne herte: Whose purpose is to w^{ch} the people saye: I saye: I do not make my name soug^t my name / as their fathers do: y^e when Baal come vp. The prophetes that haue vscaue / let him tell us: and he that vnderstandeth my wordes / let him speake v^{nto} us fully.

For what hath chaffe and vnto us do together / sayeth the Lord. Be not my deulse a syce / sayeth the Lord / and lyfe an himer / what the earth she harde none: Therefore thus sayeth the Lord. Beholde / I will vnto the prophetes / that shall make my wordes p^{ro}phesy from every man. Beholde / here am I / sayeth the Lord. I haue sene the prophetes / that take vpon their tongues to speake. The Lord hath sayde it. Beholde / here am I / sayeth the Lord. I haue sene those prophetes / that barre prophesy lyes / and vscaue my people with their vnaynes and miracle / w^{ch} me I neuer sene / nor com maunded them. They shall do this people great harme / sayeth the Lord.

If this people / or theye any prophet or p^{ro}ph^{et} see / and saye: what is the burthen of the Lord: Thou shalt see vnto the: what burthen: Therefore w^{ch} I call you from me / sayeth the Lord. Because ye youre slyce are a burthen. And the prophetes / p^{ro}ph^{et} / or people that v^{er}sh this terme / the burthen of the Lord / him wil I visite / and his house also.

But thus shal ye saye / every one to another: What auerred hath the Lord geuen: or what is the Lordes commaundment: And so for the burthen of the Lord / ye shal speake none of us: for every man owne worde to his burthen / because ye haue altered the wordes of the Lord / sayeth the Lord of hostes ouer God.

Thus shal every man face to the prophetes: what auerred hath the Lord geuen: the Lord / what sayeth the Lord: And not once to name the burthen of the Lord. Therefore thus saith the Lord. For somuch as ye haue s^{er}id thus / I will come / the burthen of the Lord / where as I now / w^{ch} I stand / I will vnto you / for I will ad you to speake of the Lordes burthen.

Chap. XXIII

I The Lorde showed me a vision: Behold/there shode two manndes of figges before the temple of the Lorde/after that Nabuchodonosor King of Babilon had ledde away captive Ichonias the sonne of Joachim King of Judea/the mighty men also of Judea/with the workemasters and cunninge men of Jerusalem/Babilon. In the one mannde were very good figges/euen like the chose that be first ripe. In the other mannde were very naughty figges/ which might not be eaten/they were so euill.

Then saide the Lorde vnto me: what wilt thou Jerems? I sayde: I figges/ whereof some be very good/ & some so euill/ that no mā maye cate them.

Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto me/after this maner: Thus saith the Lorde the God of Israel: like as thou knowest the good figges/ so shall I knowe the men ledde away out of Judea/whome I haue sene out of this place into the lande of the Caldees/ for their proficte and I will see myne eyes vppon them for the best/ for I will bringe them again into this lande: I will buyde them vp/ & not steale them downe: I will plante them/ & no rite them out. And I will geue them an heart to knowe me/ howe that I am the Lorde.
They shall be my people/ & I will be their God/for they shall returne vnto me in their whela borne.

And like as thou knowest the naughty figges/ which may not be eaten/ because so euill: Euen so will I/ saith the Lorde/ let Be-dashas the Kinge of Judea/ & eue all his synners/ and the residue of Jerusalem that re-mayne ouer in this lande/ and them also that dwelle in Egypte/ to be wept and plagued in all Kingdomes and sondes. And will make them to be a ceptise/ & a common bywood/leachinge floeces/ and shame in all the places/ where I shall feare them. I will soude the sheards/ & bringe and pessence amonge them/ unlll I haue cleane consumed them out of the lande/ that I gaue vnto them and their fathers.

The xxx. Chapter.

I Sermons that was geuen vnto Jerem vpon all the people of Judea: In the fourth yeare of Joachim the sonne of Josias Kinge of Judea/ that was in the first yeare of Nabuchodonosor Kinge of Babilon. Whiche sermons/ Jeremy the prophet made vnto all the people of Judea/ and to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem/ in this maner:

From the first yeare of Josias the sonne of Amos Kinge of Judea/ vnto this present daye/(that is euill year) the worde of the Lorde be hebb bene commeth vnto me. And for I haue spokene vnto you/ I haue cryen vt early/I haue geuen you warninge in season/ but ye wolde not heare me: I though the Lorde had sent his seruants/ & all the prophetes vnto you as in season: yet wolde ye not obeye/ ye wolde not enclayne your eares to heare.

He sayde: I auerit agayn/ eueny man from his euill waye/ and from youre wicked imaginacione/ and so shall ye dwell for euer in the lande/ that the Lorde promised you & youre fouefathers: And gaue after straunge gods des/ serue them not/ worship them not/ and angre me not with the workes of youre han-des: then will not I punishe you. Wherefore he/ ye wolde not heare me/ (saith the Lorde) but haue desired me with the workes of youre hands/ to youre owne great harme.

Wherefore thus saith the Lorde of boos hee: Because ye haue not desired vnto my people/ & I will sende out/ and call for/ all the noble that dwell in the North (saith the Lorde) and will perpaye Nabuchodonosor the kinge of Babilons ten seruants/ and will bringe them vpon this lande/ & vpon all that dwell therein/ and vpon all the people that are about them/ and will vnterly raze them out. I will make of them a wilderness/ & a moching/ and a continuall deserte.

It is no wonder/ I will take from be the voice of gladnesse and solace/ the voice of the shewegram/ and the shewe the voice of the enoyne-red/ with the cressence: and this whole land shall become a wilderness/ and they shall serue the sayde people/ and the Kinge of Babilon/in this wise

these ten years and ten. When thou shalt see these years and ten. I will visit also the wickedness of the King of Babylon and his people / saith the Lord: yet and the land of the Caldees / and will make it a perpetual wilderness / and will fulfil all my words upon that land / which I have denounced against it: yet all these things written in this booke / which Jeremy hath prophesied of all people / so that they also shall be subdued unto severall nations and great Kingdomes: for I will recompence them / according to their deeds and works of their owne hands.

 Psa. lxxv. 8

For thus saith the Lord God of Israel spoken unto me: Take this wine cuppe of indignation from my hande / that thou mayest cause all the people (to whom I sende thee) for to drinke of it: when they have drunken thereof / they may be madde / and out of their wits / when the sword cometh that I will sende amonge them. Then toke I the cuppe from the Lords hande / and made all the people drinke thereof / unto whom the Lord had sent me.

Jer. i. 2

But first the crie of Jerusalem / and all the crie of Juda / thine Kingdomes and punes: to make thee desolate / wast / despoiled / and cursed / according as it is come to passe this day. Yet and Pharao the King of Egypt / his servants / his pynners / and his people altogether / shall be one with another. And all Kingdomes of the lande of Eufrates / the Philistines land / Hecan / Gizz / Hecan / the remnant of Moab / the Edomites / the Moabites / and the Ammonites: all the Kingdomes of Eurus / and Edon / the Kingdomes of the Isles / that are beyonde the sea: Seidon / Thema / Bus / and the spauen / Simaues / all the Kingdomes of Arabia / generally all the Kingdomes that dwell in the beere: all the Kingdomes of Sumer / all the Kingdomes of Elia / the Kingdomes of the Medes / all Kingdomes toward the North / whether they be farre or nye / every one with his neyghboure: yet and all the Kingdomes that are vpon the whole earth: The King of Seidon / saye he / shall drinke with them also.

And saye thou unto them: this is the commandment of the Lord God of hostes the God of Israel: drinke and be dronke / steeve and fall: that ye neuer trye and that shew

the sword / which I will sende amonge you. But if thou wilt not receive the cuppe of my hande / and drinke it / then shall I sende the sword / saith the Lord: of hostes shall I drinke it / yet / and thou shalt drinke it / I begynne to drinke the wine / that my name is given vnto / to drinke ye then / that I will leave you vpon my sword: ye shall not go ayre: for why: I call for a sword vpon all the inhabitants of the earth / saith the Lord of hostes.

Therefore sell them all their wares / and saye vnto them: The Lord God will crye from amonge / and let his voyce be heard from his holy habitation. With a greates noise shall he crye from his court: againe. He shall geue a greates voyce / like the grape gatherers / vpon all them that dwell on the earth: as hee the thereof shall be vnto the indignity of the world. For the Lord hath a wadding to geue vpon all people / I will holde his court of iustice with all flesh / and punish the vngodly / saith the Lord.

For thus saith the Lord of hostes: Beholde / a miserable plague that goe from one people to another / and a greates stormy water shall arise / from all the ends of the earth. And the same daye shall the Lord him self slaye them / from one ende of the earth to another. There shall no more be made for any of them / none gathered vp / nor buried: but shall lie as dounge vpon the ground.

Howe / as ye sheperdes be care: spynce theyoure flocks with afflic / or ye ramme of the flocks: for the tyme of youre slaughter is fulfilled / and ye shall fall like owles cunningly made for pleasure.

The sheperdes shall haue no waye to scape / and the rammes of the flocks shall not scape. Then shall the sheperdes crye bitterly / and the ewmes of the flocks shall mourne: for the Lord shall consume their pasture / and their fildes shall be dead because of the horrible wrath of the Lord. They shall forsake their foldes like as a Lyon: for their landes shall be waste / because of the wrath of the Westron / and because of his fearefull indignation.

Psa. 137

Again the beginning of the reign of Zoa-2 Shim the sonne of Josiah kynge of Judah came this woide from the Lo:de / sayinge.
 Thus sayeth the Lo:de: I woude in the court of the Lo:des house / and speake vnto of them / whiche ouer the ciues of Iuda came to be vsurp'd in the Lo:des house / at the woide that I haue commaunde h to say: Take that thou seest opene out woide backe / if (pretendunt) they wil hearken / and turne e-uery man frant by a wicked waye: that I may also repente of the plague / whiche I haue determined to bringe vpon them / because of their wicked inuention.

And after this manner shalt thou speake vnto them: Thus sayeth the Lo:de: if ye will not obey me / to walke in my lawes / whiche I haue giuen you / and to heare the woordes of my seruantes the prophetes / whome I sent vnto you / sayinge vp continually and wil sadinge: If ye wyl not folowe them / (I saye) then wyl I do in this house / saith the Lo:de vnto Silo / and wyl make the saynt to be abhorred of all the people of the earth. And the iustices / the prophetes / and all the people herde 3 Jeremy preacheth these woordes / in the house of the Lo:de.

Now when he had spoken out all the woordes / that the Lo:de commaunded him to preach vnto all the people / then the iustices / the prophetes / and all the people saie bolde vpon him / and sayd: thou shalt dye. Some hercell thou be so bold / as to saye in the name of the Lo:de: it shall happen to this house as it hath vnto Silo: and this enue shall be so wast / that no man shall dwell therein:

And when all the people were gathered aboute Jeremy in the house of the Lo:de / the iustices of Iuda herde of this rumoure / and they came some ouer the fynge palence into the house of the Lo:de / and set them 4 Thence before the threwe porte of the Lo:de.
 Then spake the iustices / and the prophetes vnto the rulers / and to all the people these wordes: This man is worthy to dye / for he hath preached against this cite / as ye your selfe hear herde with youre eares.

Then saide Jeremy vnto the rulers and to all the people: The Lo:de hath sente me to preach against this house / and against this citie / the woordes that ye haue herde: I thinke for a while your wayes / and your abuses mentes / and the aduersities vnto the voyce of the Lo:de your God: so shall the Lo:de repente of the plague / that he hath deuised against you / vnto as for me: I am in your handes / do with me as ye thinke expedient and good.

 But thus shall ye inuenise ye put me to death / if ye shall make your selues / this cite / and all the inhabitants thereof / guilty of innocente blood.
 For this so of a truth / that the Lo:de hath sente me vnto you / to speake all these woordes in youre eare.

Then saide the rulers and all the people vnto the iustices and prophetes. This man may not be condemned to death / for he hath pre-ched vnto vs in the name of the Lo:de our God. The rulers also of the lande tolde vp and saide thus vnto all the people: We haue salem shall be an heape of stones / and the hill of the Lo:des house shall be named in an hye wood. Syd Ezechias the kynge of Iuda / and the people of Iuda put him to death for this.

 He verely thus rather feared the Lo:de / and made their prayer vnto him. For the whiche cause also the Lo:de repented of this plague / that he had deuised against them. Should we not be such a shameful vnder against our selues?
 There was a prophet / altho that preacheth sufficely in the name of the Lo:de: called Vnao

Then Joachim the kynge sente seruantes

The XXVI. Chapter.

In the beginninge of the reygne of Zaababim the sonne of Josias kynge of Iuda came this word vnto Jeremy from the Lorde / whiche saith thus vnto me: Make the Garter and chaynes / and put them about thy necke / and sende them to the king of Egipt the kinge of Moab / the kinge of Ammon / the kinge of Ierusalem / and to the kinge of Edom: and therby the messengers / which shal come to Ierusalem vnto Sedechias the kinge of Iuda / and byd them saye vnto these maisters: Thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel / speaketh vnto youre masters:

Wherefore will ye make this thinge to be destroyed: But if they be true prophetes in verye thinge / and if the worde of the Lorde be committed vnto them / then let them p'ceade the Lorde / of hostes / that the remnauns of the ornaments / which remaine yet in the house of the Lorde / and in the house of the kinge of Iuda / and at Ierusalem / be not carryed to Babylon also: for thus hath the Lorde of hostes spoken concernin ge the pylles / the lauer / the fraze and the residue of the ornaments / that are remayne in the cite / whiche Nabuchodonosor the kinge of Babylon toke not / when he carryed awaye Iechonias the sonne of Zaachin kinge of Iuda / with all the power of Iuda and Ierusalem / from Ierusalem vnto Babylon / captiue.

Yet / thus hath the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel spoken / as touching the residue of the ornaments of the Lorde / house / of the kinge of Iuda / house and of Ierusalem: They shal be carryed vnto Babylon / and there they shal remaine / vntill I visit them / saith the Lorde. Then will I bringe them hither againe. And this was done in the same yere: even in the beginninge of the reygne of Sedechias kinge of Iuda.

Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Jeremy / sayinge: Sende wode to al them that be in captiuitie / in this maner: Thus hath the Lord spoken concerninge Semia the Uchalanite: Because that Semia hath propheted vnto you without my commissio

 Lord.

The XXX. Chapter.
 These are the wordes that the Lord spake vnto Jeremy sayinge: Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel: Write vp gently al the wordes that I haue spoken vnto thee in a booke. For so the terme cometh (sayeth the Lord) that I will bypne agayn
 the

the prisoners of my people of Israel and Iuda / sayeth the Lord: For I will restore them vnto the lands / wher I gaue to their fathers / and they shall haue it in possession.

Againe / these wordes spake the Lord / concerninge Israel and Iuda: Thus saith the Lord: We heare terrible crye / fraie and disquietnesse. For wher doeth this signifie that I se? Namely that all stronge men / yea / every man his hande vpon his loyne / yea a woman in the payne of her traualle. Who enee theras a man traualle with child: Enquire therefore / and se. Fe. / all their faces are mattayous pale.

¶ And Jacob shall nurse a gayne / he shall be in rest / haue a prosperous life / and no man shall make him afrayed. For I am with the / he helpe the / sayeth the Lord. And though / I shall vnto all the people and Iudge whome I haue feared the / yet will I not destroye the / but conuert the / and that with discretion. For I knowe / thou art in no wise / without faulte. Therefore / saith the Lord: I am sory for thy hurt and woundes. There is no man to inble with thy cause / or to hynde vp thy woundes / there maye no man helpe the.

¶ All thy louers haue forgotten the / and care nothinge for the. For I haue giuen the a cruel stroke / and chastened the / congly: and that for the multitude of thy mildees / for thy synnes haue had the ouerhande. Why makest thou mane for thy paine? I my self haue pitty of thy sorrowe / but for the multitude of thy iniquities / I haue done this vnto the.

¶ And therefore / all they that deuoure the / shall deuoure / and all thine enemies shall led into the captiuitie. All they that make the way / shall be waded / them selfe / and all those that cabbe the / will I make also to be robbed. For I will geue the thy heale agayne / and make thy woundes whole / saith the Lord: because they created the / as one putt awaye and despised / Zion.

For thus saith the Lord: Behold / I will set up / I Jacobs tentes againe / and defende his dwellinge place. The cite shall be builded in her olde sitate / a the house shall haue thine right foundacion. And one of them shall go thence / and be the voyce of ioye.

I will multiplie them / and they shall not ouer his herze to come vnto me / saith the Lord: / and no man shall subdue them. When children shall be as ofore tymes / and thine congregation shall continue in my sight. And all those that rege them / will I vnto.

I I captiue also shall come of them / and a prince shall sprunge oue from the myddest of them: whom I challenge to my selfe / a he shall come vnto me. For what to be / that geueth ouer his herze to come vnto me? saith the Lord: / he shall be my people also / a I will be your God. Behold / on the other side shall the way of the Lord / breake out as a storme / and thence / as a mightie wynde / and shall fall vpon the heades of the vnghodly.

The terrible displeasure of the Lord: shall not leaue of / will be hane done / and pishurmes the inent of his herze / which in the daye of thy daye ye shall vnderstande. In the same tyme / saith the Lord: shall I be the God of all the generacions of Israel / and they shall be my people.

The XXXI. Chapter.

Thus sayeth the Lord: I The people of Israel which escaped in the wildernesse / from the sword / founde grace to come into the land. Euen so shall the Lord now also appeare vnto me from fraie / and saye: I haue loued the with an euersinginge loue / therefore do I speake my merry before the. I will reparate the agayne / as thou thoughtest of Israel: that thou mayest be full and sure. Thou shalt take thy whettes agayne / a go forth with the / the dance.

Thou shalt plante vnto agayne vnto the hills of Samaria / and the grape garberers shall

Eſa. li. a And when ſeuen yeares / the watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim ſhall crye: Triſte / let vs go vp vnto Zion to oure Lorde God / for thus ſaith the Lorde: Reioyce with gladneſſe becauſe of Iacob / crye vnto the heade of the Gentiles ſpeak out ſpunge / and ſaye: The Lorde ſhall reſcuer his people / the remnant of Iſrael / and make them whole. Beholde / I will bringe them agayne from out of the flounglande / and gather them from the embes of the woilde / with the bynde and lame that are amonge them / with the women that be greate with childe / and ſuch as be alſo detruered: and the company of them that come agayne / ſhalbe greate.

They departed from hence in beautieſſe / but with ioye will I bringe them hither agayne. I will lede the by the ryuers of water in a ſtraight way / where they ſhall not ſtumble:

Eſa. lxxi. a Thou ſhalt be Iſraels father / and Iſrahelims mother ſhalbe my ſkilldome.

Heare the woide of the Lorde Coſy Gentiles: preach in the Ales that he ſaith of / and ſayde that hath feared Iſrael / ſhall gather him together agayne / and ſhall kepe him as a ſhepheard kepe his ſheepe. For the Lorde ſhall reſcuer Iacob / and rydde him from the hande of the violent. And they ſhal come / and reioyce vpon the hill of Zion / and ſhall haue plentyfullneſſe of goodes / which the Lorde ſhall geue them: namely / wheat / wyne / oyle / yonge ſhepe / and calves. And their conſcience ſhalbe as a welltreued garden / for they ſhall nomore be hungrye.

E Then ſhal the mayde reioyce in the dance / ſee both yonge and old ſilken / for I will nurre them ſo into gladneſſe / and will comforte them / and make them ſyfull / euen from their berres / I will poure plentyfullneſſe vpon the berres of the purſes / and my people ſhalbe ſaiſted with good thinges / ſaith the Lorde.

Iere. li. c Thus ſaith the Lorde: The voyce of beautie / weeping and lamenation came vp into becauſe: euen of Rachel mourninge for her chyldren / and wolde not be comforted / becauſe they were awaye.

Math. li. c But now ſaith the Lorde: leaue of ſorrow weeping and crying / wipeth thoue eyes from teares / for thy labour ſhalbe rewarded / ſaith the Lorde. And they ſhall come agayne out of the lande of theyr enemies: Dec / euen thy poſterite ſhall haue conſolation in this / ſaith the Lorde: that by thy ſeruant ſhall come agayne into their owne lande.

Mouours / I herde Ephraim / that was led awaye captiue / complain on this manner: O Lorde / thou haſt reioiced me / and thy challynge haue I receaued as an vntained caſe. I comerte thou me / and I ſhall be conuerted / for thou art my Lorde God. Yee / as ſone as thou reuertiſt me / I ſhall reioyce in my ſelf / and when I vnderſtande / I ſhal ſmyce vpon my thye. For vnto thee I haue committed ſhamefull thinges: O let my youth beare this reproche and conſuſion.

Ypon this complain / I thought thus of my ſelf: tes noe Ephraim may beare ſonnet: I ſe not the childe / with whom I haue had all myſch and paine: for ſence the tyme that I fyrſt committed with him / I haue him euer in remembrance: therefore my very harte diſtured me onto hym: gladly and loyngly will I beate mercy vpon hym / ſaith the Lorde. Wher the watchmen / piouſe teachers that ſe thyne herre vpon the right waye that thou ſhouldeſt walke / and rure agayne: O thou daughter of Iſrael / turne agayne to theſe cures of thyne. How longe wilt thou goe aſtraye / o thou ſturdyng daughter: for the Lorde will woeke a new thyng vpon early: A woman ſhall compoſe a man.

So ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael: I wil come hither / that when I haue brought Iuda out of captiuitie / theſe wordes ſhalbe heard in the lande of Iuda and in his cities: The Lorde / which is the ſaye / I hys gouerne of rightuouſneſſe / make the fruitfull / o thou boyſe both: And when I ſhall dwell Iuda and all her cities / the ſherberds and houſholders men: for I ſhall fede the hungry ſoule / and reſtrefe all faynte herres. When ſhalt I herde this / I came agayne to my ſelf / and muſt like as I had bene waled out of a ſweete ſlepe.

Behold / ſaith the Lorde the God of Iſrael: I ſhall ſende the voyce of Iſrael / and the houſe of Iuda with me / and with euel. I ſhall come hither / the like as I haue gone aboute

2. 1. 1. b 1 Behold/ the daye come (sayeth the Loz-de) that I will make a new conuenaunt with the house of Israel/ and with the house of Juda: not after the conuenaunt that I made with theyr fathers/ wher I toke them by the hande/and ledde them out of the lande of Egypte: which conuenaunt they brake/ wherefore I pursued them thus/ sayeth the Lozde: But I shal b 2 shalbe the conuenaunt that I will make with the house of Israel after those dayes/ sayeth the Lozde: I will plante my lawe in their inward partes of them/ and write it in their heertes/ and wilbe theyr God/ and they shalbe my people.

2. 1. 1. c And from thence forth shall no man teach his neyghboure of his doynge/ a saye: I knowe the Lozde: But they shall all knowe me/ from the lowest vnto the highest/ sayeth the Lozde. for I will forgive them misdoynge/ and will neuer remember theyr synnes any more. Thus sayeth the Lozde: / which gaue the Sunne to be a light for the daye/ and the Moone and sterres to shyne in the night: which moueth the see/ so that the floudes thereof ware: this name is the Lozde of hostes. Like as this ordinance shall neuer be taken out of my sight/ sayeth the Lozde: So shall the rite of Israel neuer cease/ but alwaye be a people before me.

2. 1. 1. d Moreover/ thus sayeth the Lozde: like as the braue in a boue can not be measured/ and as the foundacion of the earth beeth wyse not by sondryng out: / So wil I also not easlye ouer-come the whole side of Israel/ for that they haue conuyned/ sayeth the Lozde. Behold/ the daye come/ sayeth the Lozde/ that the cite of Jerusalem/ shall be enlarged from the tower of Branant/ vnto the gate of the conee: wall from thence vnto the dyke of the byssage toward the East/ where are the Sanctuary of the Lozde also shall be. And when it is no waye buyde/ and sit vp of this fashion/ it shal neuer be broken/ nor cast downe any more.

The XXXII. Chapter.

2. 1. 1. a These wordes spaketh the Lozde vnto Jeremy/ in the fourth yere of Sedechias kynge of Iuda/ which was the thirtieth yere of Nabu-chodonosor/ wher mynstrale the kynge of Baby-lone booste layed siege vnto Ierusalem. But Jeremy the prophet laye doune in the contee of the prison/ which was in the kynge of Iudas house: where Sedechias the kynge of Iuda caused him to be layed/ because he had prophesied of this maner: Thus sayeth the Loz-de: / Behold/ I will deliuer this cite into Jeremy the hande of the kynge of Babylon/ which shal take it. As for Sedechias kynge of Iuda he shal not be able to escape the Caldees/ but shal of Babylon/ which shal speake with him mouth to mouth/ and one of they shall take another in the face. And Sedechias shall be carried vnto Babylon/ and there shall he be/ vntill he tyme that I visit him/ sayeth the Lozde. But if thou takest in hande to fight agaynst the Caldees/thou shalt not prosper.

2. 1. 1. c And Jeremy sayde: Thus hath the Lozde spoken vnto me: Behold/ I haunte the soules of Sallan/ chyne vnto some shall come vnto the/ and requyre the to redeme the lande/ that is in Anathoth vnto the selfe/ for it/ and to bye it out.

2. 1. 1. e And so Hananet myne vncles sonne came to me in the contee of the prison/ (accordinge to the waite of the Lozde) / a sayde vnto me By my lande/ I praye the/ that thou shal be here in the contee of Ben Jannus/ by hire sake thou shalt righte to loue it out for thy selfe therfor redeme it. The J percurant that they were as the conuendement of the Lozde/ and so I loued the lande from Hananet of An-athoth/ myne vncles soune/ and wyed bym there the money/ euen seuen shekels/ and my siluer pence.

Jer xvii. a 1 I have stande vp early / I haue spoken vnto you / and given you earnest warninge: and yet haue ye not bene obedient vnto me. Pre / I haue sent my seruantes / all the prophets vnto you / I cost vp early / and sent you wordes / sayinge: O turne you / every man fro his wicked waye: amende your lyfes / and go not offre strange goddes / to worshippe the: for I maye continue in the lorde / which I haue geue vnto you / and your fathers / but ye wolde nether heare in / nor folowe me.

The children of Ionadab Rechabs sonne haue fledd fully / to see their fathers commaundement / that he gaue the / vnto his people / is not oddrent vnto me. And therfore thus saith the Lorde of hostes / the God of Israel. Behold / I will bringe in vnto Iuda / a vpon every one that dwelleth in Ierusalem / all the trouble / that I haue sayed agaynst the. 1 For I haue spokē vnto the / but they wolde not folowe: I haue called vnto the / neither thylke / they wolde geue me no aunswece. Jeremy also spake vnto the householde of the Rechabites. Thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel: for so muche as ye haue obeyed the commaundement of Ionadab your father / and kept all his preceptes / and done accordinge vnto all that he hath bidden you: therfore thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel: Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall not fayle / but haue one out of his flocke / to stande alwaye by for me.

The XXXVI. Chapter.

1 IN the fourth year of Iosias the sonne of Josias kinge of Iuda / came the word of the Lorde vnto Jeremy sayinge. 1 Take a booke / and write therein all the wordes that I haue spoken vnto Israel / to Iuda / and to all the people / from the tyme that I beganne for to speake vnto the / in the reigne of Iosias / vnto this daye. 2 When the house of Iuda heard of the plague / which I haue denied for the / they nise peradventure I came vnto them from his wicked waye / that I maye see: for theye offendes and sinnes.

Then vsd Jeremy call Barnub the sonne of Nerias / and Barnub wrote in the booke at the mouth of Jeremy / all the wordes of the Lorde / which he had spoken vnto hym. And Jeremy commaunded Barnub sayinge: I am le / so that I maye not come into the house of the Lorde: therfore go thou thither / and rede the booke that thou hast written at my mouth: blame / the wordes of the Lorde: / and rede the in the Lords house / vpon the fastinge daye: that the people / whole Iuda / and all they that come out of the ciues of Iuda maye heare. Peradventure they wil praye myselfe before the face of the Lorde / and tume every one from his wicked waye. For great is the wrath and displeasure / that the Lorde hath taken agaynst this people.

So Barnub the sonne of Nerias vsd as B euidenge vnto all that Jeremy the prophet commaunded hym / readinge the wordes of the Lorde / out of the booke in the Lords house. And this was done in the fiftieth year of Iosias the sonne of Josias kinge of Iuda in the first month / when it was commaunded / that Ierusalem all the people of Ierusalem / shoulde faste before the Lorde / and they also that were come from the ciues of Iuda vnto Ierusalem.

Then red Barnub the wordes of Jeremy out of the booke / within the house of the Lorde out of the treasury of Gemarias the sonne of Euphan the scribe / which is beside the hyer laste of the newe poze of the Lords house: Jer. xxxv / that all the people might heare. Now when Nuboo the sonne of Gemarias the sonne of Euphan had herd all the wordes of the Lorde out of the booke / he was aduise to the kinge palace into the seides chaumbre / for there all the pyneces were set: Alisama the scribe / Salsas the sonne of Semei / Amathai the sonne of Adbas / Gemacia the sonne of Euphan / Edchias the sonne of Gemarias / with all the pynices. And Nuboo tolde the all the wordes / that he herd Barnub red out of the booke before the people.

Then all the pynices sent Jehubi the sonne of Lathanas / the sonne of Alamas / the sonne of Chusi / vnto Barnub / sayinge. Take in thine hande the booke / and reuert thou hast red before all the people / and come. So Barnub the sonne of Nerias tolde the booke in his hande / a eunie vnto them. And they sayde vnto him: Why come / and rede the booke / that we maye heare also. So Barnub red / that they might heare. Now when they had herd all the wordes / they were abselvd one vpon another / and sayde.

saide vnto Baruch: We wil eern for the kinge of al these wordes. And this examined Baruch sayinge: Til now howe dost thou write al these wordes out of his mouth? Then Baruch answered them: He sape al these wordes vnto me with his mouth/ & I alone wrote with his hand/ and wrote them in the booke.

Then saide the prince vnto Baruch: Why weepst thou? and whye the with Jeremy? for that no man knowe where ye be. And they wente into the fuyng to the court. But they kepte the booke in the chaubrie of Elisama the scribe/ and tolde the kinge al the wordes that he mighte heare. So the kinge sent Jehoiakim to fyghe him the booke/ whiche he broughte out of Elisama the scribes chaubrie. And Jehoiakim red it/ that the kyng and al the pryntes/ whiche were aboute him/ mighte heare. Nowe the kyng sat in the winter house/ for it was in the 12. moneth/ and there was a good fyre before hym: And when Jehoiakim had red the 4. or 5. leaues that he had cutt the booke in peeces with a penne knyfe/ and cast it into the fyre vnto the hearth/ vntill the booke was al thynne in the fyre vpon the hearth.

Yet no man was abashed thereof/ or reme his clothes: neither the kyng/ nor his seruautes/ though they heerde all these wordes. Neuertheless/ Elnathan/ Sathanas/ Gamanias/ broughte the kyng/ that he wold not burne the booke: notwithstandinge/ the kyng wold not heare them/ but commaunded Jeremy hel the sonne of Amalech/ Baras as the sonne of Elisama/ and Selamias the sonne of Abiell to laye handis vpon Baruch the scribe/ and vpon Jeremy the prophet: but the Lord kepte the out of sight. After nowe that the kyng had thynne the booke/ and the seruautes whiche Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremy: The wordes of the Lord came vnto Jeremy sayinge: Take another booke/ and write in it all the foure laste sermons/ that were written in the first booke/ whiche Iocachim the kyng of Iuda hath thynne.

And tell Iocachim the kyng of Iuda/ Thus saith the Lord: thou hast thynne the booke and thoughtest within thy selfe: Whye shall I be written therein/ that the kyng of Babilon shall come/ and make this lande wastell/ so that he shall make sorie people and exalt the out of it: Therefore thus the Lord seith of Iocachim the kyng of Iuda: I thete shall none of his generation sit vpon the seate of Dauid. His dead corse shall be cast out/ that the beas of the foye/ and the staffe of the night maye come vpon him: And I will byge the wickednesse of him/ of his seed/ and of his seruantes. Moreover/ al the euill that I haue promised them/ though they haue me not/ will I bringe vpon him/ vpon the citye of Ierusalem/ and vpon al Iuda. Then tolde Jeremy another booke/ and gaue it Baruch the scribe the sonne of Nisan/ whiche wrote threem out of the mouth of Jeremias/ all the sermons that were in the first booke/ whiche Iocachim the kyng of Iuda had burne. And there were added vnto them many mo sermons then before.

The XXXVII Chapter.

Edchias the sonne of Iosias/ whiche Ierusalem made kyng the 13. yeares Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babilon reargyned in the side of Iuda/ in the steade of Iocachim the sonne of Iocachim. But myght he not his seruantes/ nor the people in the lande wold: so beye the wordes of the Lord/ whiche he sape by the prophet Jeremy. Neuertheless/ See Jer. xxi. a hechaas the kyng/ sent Iudah the sonne of sht. a. Selamias and Sopbonias the sonne of Maasias the pesty to the prophet Jeremy sayinge: O praye thou vnto the Lord our God for vs. Nowe Jeremy walked fe amonge the people at that tyme/ and was not put in prison as yet. I Pharosoe he also was come out of Egypte/ whiche when the Caldees that besyged Ierusalem perceaued/ they departed from thence.

Then came the wordes of the Lord vnto Jeremy the prophet sayinge: Thus saith the Lord God of Israel: This man here shall ye graue to the kyng of Iuda/ that sitte you vpon me for conuallill: I B. bolde/ I Pharosoe he also was come out of Egypte into his owne lande: But the Caldees shall come agayne/ and fyghte agaynst this cite/ wynter it/ and set fire vpon it. though ye had slayne the whole hooste of the Caldees: that Besiege you: and every one of the slaine: in his tennerye: shoulde they stande up: and saye: upon this time. Nowe when the hooste of the Caldees was broken up from Jerusalem: for feare of the Egyptians amonge: Jeremy wente out of Jerusalem toward the lande of Beniamin: to certaine houses: nether there amonge the people. And when he came vnder Beniamin pauer: there was a pauer called Ierua: the sonne of Selamias the sonne of Sariasan: which sell vpon him a cote of hye: sayinge: thy mindes is to runne to the Caldees. Then saide Jeremy: This is not for me: I goe not to the Caldees: Vnto wheloe: Ierua wolde not beleue him: but thoughte Jeremy shoulde do for the pauer. Wherefore I paueres were an gnyte vnto Jeremy: causyng him to be beaten: and to be layed in prison in the house of Ionathan the seride. For he was the ruler of the prison. Thus was Jeremy put into the youngion and prison: and so laye there a longe tyme.

Then Sedechias the king sente for him: and calleth him: a geyd him quickly in his owne house: saying: I haue seene thou this vision: that now is in hande: cometh of the Lord: Jeremy answered: yea: that is word: a thou: sayde he: shall be shewred into the kinge of Babilon pauer.

¶ Moreover: Jeremy sayde vnto kinge Sedechias: Whi haue I offended agaynst the: agaynst seruaunt: or agaynst this people: that he haue caused me to be put in prison. Where are youe prophete: / whiche haue propheted vnto you: a saide: that he kinge of Babilis shoulde not come agaynst you: a this lande: And therfore haue now to my loide: i: kinge: let my pauer be accepte before the: / and sende me no more into the house of Ionathan the seride: but I see no other. Then Sedechias the kinge: commaunded to put Jeremy in the youngion: of the prison: and daylye to be giuen him a cote of bread: a cle no dighte meate: vntill all the brade in the cite was eat up. Thus Jeremy remained in the youngion of the prison.

The XXXVIII. Chapter.

¶ Sariasan the sonne of Marbon / Gubolias the sonne of Palsur / Iudal the sonne of Selamias / a Palsur the sonne of Mar-

bon: perceaued the wordes that Jeremy had spoken vnto all the people: namely on this maner: Thus saith the Lord: Who so remayneth in this cite: / that perishe: / whiche with the sword: / with hunger: / or with pestilence: / due who so fallith vnto the Caldees: / shal escape: winning his soule for a praye: and shall liue. For thus saith the Lord: Thus one: no doubt: muste be shewred into the pauer of the kinge of Babilon: and he also shall wyne it. Then saide the paueres vnto the kinge: Whye besede you: let this man be put to death: For thus he visiteth all the handes of the: shuldours: that be in this cite: / with the handes of all the people: when he speaketh such wordes vnto the. This man wold laboure vnto us: for peace of the people: but mischiefe: Sedechias the kinge: custored and said: lo: he is in youre handes: for I maye geue you no charge. There fore they Jeremy: a call him one the youngion of Maldoan: the sonne of Amelch: that dwel in the youngion of the prison. And they lit down Jeremy with cordes: vnto a youngion: where there was no water: but myte. So Jeremy stak faste in the myte. Now when Admelch the Monian: being a chamberlaine in the youngion: came vnto: stode that they had call Jeremy into the youngion: he wente out of the youngion: and spake to the kinge: whiche then far vnder the pauer of Beniamin: these wordes: My loide: the youngion: where as these men melle with Jeremy the prophet: they do him wronge: / Namely: in that they haue put him in prison: there to dye of hunger: / so: there is no more brade in the cite. Then the kinge commaunded Admelch the Monian: and sende: a cote of meate: vnto three men whom the wite: and name up Jeremy: the prophet: out of the youngion: / so he shal be bye. So Admelch take the men with him: and wente to the house of Amelch: and there vnder an aliter: he gaue out of eaggis: / a weerne slouthe: / alle the youngion by: a cordes: into the youngion to Jeremy.

¶ And Admelch the Monian: sayde vnto the people: Jeremy: Woe these eaggis: and slouthe: vnder thine arme holes: / burne them: and the cordes: and Jeremy: bid so. So they threue up Jeremy: with cordes: / and sette him out of the youngion: / and he remembred needed in the fortyeth of the prison. Then Sedechias the king sent and caused Jeremy the prophet to be called vnto him/ into the which enemy/ that was by the house of the Lord. And the king saide vnto Jeremy: I wil see the somwhat/ but hyde nothinge fro me. Then Jeremy answered Sedechias: If I be plaine vnto the/ thou wilt cause me suffice. Whereif I gaur the castle/ thou wilt not followe me. So the kynge saide an oother sentence vnto Jeremy/ sayinge: As truly as the Lord lyueth/ that made vs the soules/ I wil not slaye the/ nor geue the into the handes of them/ that sith after thy life.

Then sayd Jeremy vnto Sedechias. Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel: I feare the that thou wilt go forth vnto the kynge of Babylons princes/ thou shalt saue thy life/ and this time shall not be thine/ yett both thou and thy house/ shall escape with your lyfe. But if thou wilt not go forth to the kynge of Babylons princes/ then shall this cite be deliuered into the handes of the Caldees/ whiche shall set fyre vpon it/ and thou shalt not be able to scape them. And Sedechias saide vnto Jeremy: I am afrayde for the Ierusalem/ that I see/ he will be Caldees/ lest I come in their handes/ and so they to haue me in venison.

But Jeremy answered: No/ they shall not betraye the: Wherfore vnto the voice of the Lord/ I beseeche the/ which I speake vnto the/ so shall thou be well and saue thy lyfe. But if thou wilt not go forth/ the Lord hath tolde me thus plainly: Behold/ all the women that are left in the kynge of Judas house/ shall go out to the kynge of Babylons princes. For they thinke that thou art descaued: and that the men in whom thou hiddest put thy trust/ haue gotten the vnto/ and for thy fire fall in the myx/ and gone their wayes from the. Therefore altho they see with their charyen shal sit vnto the Caldees/ and thou shalt not escape their handes/ but shalt be the kynge of Babylons prisoner/ and this cite shall be burnt. Then sayd Sedechias vnto Jeremy: loke that no body haue any of these wordes/ and thou shalt not dye. But if the princes perceaue that I haue talked with the/ and come vnto the/ sayinge: O speake/ what saide the kynge to the:

hyde ite not from vs/ and we wil not put the so deare. Tell us/ we praye the/ what said the kynge to the: Then thou geue the this answer: I haue humbly besought the kynge/ that he wold let my lie non: as in Jonathans house/ that I dye not there. Then came all the princes vnto Jeremy/ and sayd vnto him: And be tolde them/ after the maner as the kynge had sayd. Then they helde their peace/ for they perceauid nothinge. So Jeremy abode still in the fortyeth of the prison/ vntil the daye that Ierusalem was wourne.

The XXXIX Chapter.

Howe within the cite of Ierusalem was taken/ for in the 13 party of Sedechias kynge of Iuda in the tenth moneth/ came Nabuchodonosor the kynge of Babilon and all the hostes/ and besiged Ierusalem. And in the 11. yere of Sedechias in the fourth moneth the 13. daye of the moneth/ he brake into the cite. Then al the kynge of Babylons princes came in/ and sat them downe vnder the pance Mergal/ Sarzer/ Samgarn/ do/ Sarfchim/ Rabfacio/ Mergal/ Sarzer/ Rabmag/ vnto al the other princes of the kynge of Babilon. And when Sedechias the kynge of Iuda with his souldiers sawe them/ they fled/ and departed out of the cite/ by night/ vnto the Ieruzen garden/ and thowse the poore that is betwene the two walles/ and so they wente toward the wilderness.

But the Caldees hostes followed fast after them/ and toke Sedechias in the felde of Ieruzen/ and brought him prisoner to Nabuchodonosor the kynge of Babilon vnto Nebelath/ that lyeth in the lande of Sennar/ wher he gaue iudgement vpon him. So the kynge of Babilon caused the children of Sedechias/ and al the nobles of Iuda be slayne/ vnto his face at Riblah. And made Sedechias eyes be put out/ and bounde him with chaynes/ and sent him to Babilon.

Howeuer the Caldees burnt vnto the fifth gate palace/ with the other houses of the people/ and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem. For the remanant of the people that were in the cite/ and sith they were come to helpe them/ was but fewe were left. In the common foue/ Nabuzardan the chiefe captaine caried them to Babilon. But Nabuzardan the chiefe captayne in Masphat/ as hee vnto him: I knowest thou not? Baalis King of the Ammonites hath sent Jsmael the sonne of Narbanaas/ to slay thee. But Godolias the sonne of Ithum be-leued them not. Their sayde Johanna the sonne of Eacia vnto Godolias in Masphat these wordes secretly: Let me go I pray thee/ and I will save Jsmael the sonne of Narbanaas/ so that no body shall knowe it. Wherefor will hee thee as at the Ierusa which refosa vnto the/might be feared/ and the remnaunte in Iuda perishe. The sayde Godolias the sonne of Ithum callt to Johanna the sonne of Eacia: Thou shalt not do it/ for they are bett lier than men saye of Jsmael.

The XL. Chapter.

B Vt in the sixth moneth it happened/ J Jsmael the sonne of Narbanaas/ sonne of Elisama one of the kinges blood/ came with thee three thousand aboute f ftyng/ ten men were freewe with him: vnto Godolias the sonne of Ithum/ to Masphat/ and byd came there together. And Jsmael the sonne of Na-rbanaas with those ten men that were freewe to him/ starte vp/ as Ithum Godolias the sonne of Ithum the sonne of Saphan with the fivee/ and flew by him/ whom the kinge of Babilon had made gouernour of the lande.
Jsmael also slew al the Ieruesans that were with Godolias at Masphat/ and all the Caldees that hee founde there wayngge vpon him.

The next daye after that hee had slayn Go-dolias/ the matter being yet vnknowen/ there came certayne men from Chanaan/ from Silo and Samaria/ in the number of lxxx. which had banner their beards/ rente their clothes/and were all heare/ bringing meate offerings/ a meate in their handes/ to offer in the house of

B Lord/ as Jsmael the sonne of Narbanaas was at Masphat/ weeping to meere the. However hee heard the be cryde/ so hee went to Go-dolias the sonne of Ithum. And when they came in the middell of the citty/ Jsmael the sonne of Na-rbanaas/ with thee that were freewe vnto him/slew them/ as in the middell of the citty. As monge these lxxx. men there were ten/ that iourned Jsmael: Of slays vs not/ for we haue yet a great treasure in the silde/ of wheate/barley/ oyle and honey. So hee spared them/and slew them not with their brethren. Now the tyme wherein Jsmael the sonne of Na-rbanaas of the min/ whome hee slew because of Godolias/ had kinge Ithum caused to be made/ for feare of Baalis the kinge of Israel/and thesame yere Jthum the sonne of Na-rbanaas fill with blame men. As for the remnaunte of the people/ the Iunges/ youngers/ a all the people that were yett lyue at Masphat/vpon whom Nabusaradan the chiefe captayne had made Godolias the sonne of Ithum gouernour: Jsmael the sonne of Narbanaas caried them awaye prisoners/ to ward the Ammonites. But when Johanna the sonne of Eacia/ and al they which had bene captaynes ouer the Iunges/ hostes/ with him/heade of all the wickednesse that Jsmael the sonne of Narbanaas had done: they toke their companions/ and wente out/ so to fight with Jsmael the sonne of Narbanaas/ and founde him by the waterre of Nchim/ in Gabaon/ where when all the people/ whom Jsmael led captaynes/ sawe Johanna the sonne of Eacia/ and all the other captaynes of the hostes/ they were glad. So al the people that Jsmael had caried awaye from Masphat/were brought agayne.

And when they returned/ they came to Johanna the sonne of Eacia. But Jsmael the sonne of Narbanaas fled from Johanna with cyythe of his freewe companions/ and wente to the Ammonites. Then Johanna the sonne of Eacia/ and all the captaynes of the hostes that were with him/ toke the remnaunte of the people/ whom Jsmael the sonne of Narbanaas had led awaye. When hee had slayn Godolias the sonne of Ithum/ whome they also had rescued from him/ whome hee had women a children/ and good men/ whome they had brought from Gabaon/ and wente se. midence/ and sat them downe at Geris Chunkeu/ whiche hee had before Beibeth/ that they mighte go vnto Egypt for feare of the Caldees/ in whome they were afraid/ because that Jsmael the sonne of Narbanaas had slayn Godolias the sonne of Ithum/ whome the kinge of Babilon had made gouernour in Ierusa.

I Go all the rulers/and Johanna the sonne of Carea/Isaiasus the sonne of Ohas came with all the people from the leaste unto the most/ and sayde vnto Jeremy the prophet: I O heare our prynces/that thou maist praye for vs vnto the Loide thy God / and for the remanant/ wherof there be very fewe lefte of many/ as thou sayst vs: that the Loide thy God maye there be a waye to go in and sell vs what we shoulde be. Then Jeremy the prophete sayde vnto them: I haue herde you. Beholde/ I will praye vnto God your Loide/as ye haue requied me/ a lorde what answereth the Loide: he geeth you. I shall certifie you theces/ and kepe narthangs backe fro you. And they sayde vnto Jeremy: The Loide of truth and faithfulness be our receide/that we wyl do all that the Loide thy God commaundeth vs/whether it be good or euill. He wil herken vnto the voyce of our Loide God/ to whome we sende the: that we maye prosper / when we haue followed the voyce of the Loide oure God.

And after this Bayro came the wordes of the Loide vnto Jeremy. Then called he Johanna the sonne of Carea/and all the captiues of the people that were with him: Yet/ all the people fro the least to the most/ and saide war to them. Thus saith the Loide God of Israell vnto whome ye sent me / to lay foull your plaine before him: I If ye will dwell in this land/ I shall giude you vp/ a not breake you downe: I shall plante you/ a not rote you out: for I am pacified/ as concerning the trouble that I haue done to you. Feare not the language of Babilon/ whom ye stand in awe: Whe not afrayed of him/ saith the Loide: for I wil be with you to helpe you/ and deliuer you fro his hand. I will pardon you/ I wyl haue mercy vpon you/ and bringe you againe into youre owne lande.

Euer be dresse/ if ye purpose not to dwell in this land/ nor to followe the voyce of the Loide your God: Whe will saye thus: we will not dwell here / but go into Egypte: wher we shall rest/ for the warre/ beare the nose of Babilon/ nor suffre hunger/ there wil we dwell. Then beare the word of the Loide/ of ye remanant of Juda. Thus saith the Loide of hostes the God of Israel: I If ye do whole purposed to go into Egypte/ and to be there as straungers: the sword that ye feare shall ouercast you in Egypte/ the hunger wherof ye be drede/ shall hang vpon you in to Egypte/ and there ye shall dye. For al they that of set purpose undertake to go into Egypte/ there to cast them selfe of their mist/ shall perishe with the sword/ with hunger/ a with pestilence: not one of them shall remaine/ there that none escape the plague that I wil bringe vpon them.

For thus saith the Loide of hostes the God of Israel/ as my wath and indignacion is come vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem/ so shall my dispiratour go forth vpon you also/ if ye go into Egypte: for eache ye shall crye/ and adbrace/ brought to shame and confusion: and as for this place/ ye shall neuer see more. The Loide forsoydrth you/ as ye remanant of Juda/ that ye shall not go into Egypte. And forget not that I haue warned you earnestly this daye/ els shall ye be gyle your selles. For ye sente me vnto the Loide your God/ and sayde: O praye thou the Loide oure God for vs: and loke what answereth the Loide oure God geeth the: that change vs againe/ and we shall do therer after. Now haue I feared/ and declared vnto your the voyce of the Loide your God/ for the whiche cause he hath sente me to you: I If ye will not followe it / be sure that ye shall perishe with the sword/ with hunger/ and pestilence: eu in the same place/ where your lust was to go and dwell.

The XLIII. Chapter.

Now when Jeremy had ended all the wordes of the Loide God vnto the people/ for their sakes to whome God had sente hym/ Isaiasus the sonne of Ohas/ and Johanna the sonne of Carea/ with all the prynces/ perforce/ saide vnto Jeremy: Thou hast/ the Loide our God hath not sente the to speake vnto vs/ that we shoulde not go into Egypte/ and dwell there: but Darius the sonne of the rae prouoceth the against vs/ because mighte bringe vs into the captiuitie of the Caldees: that they mighte laye vs/ and carie vs awaye prynces vnto Babilon.

So Johanna the sonne of Carea/ and all the the captiuitie of the hoste/and all the people followed not the commaundement of the Lorde De: Clarity: to dwell in the lande of Iuda: But Johanna the sonne of Eaca and all the captiues of the hoste/carried away all the re-maines in Iuda/that were come together againe from the Chanaan among whom they had bene scattered in Iuel in the lande of Juda: Men women/children/the kunge Daughter of the king that Nabuzardan the chiefe captiue had life with Gobolias the sonne of Zicem. They eared away also the prophete Jeremy. Baruch the sonne of Nerias/and so came into Egypt: for they were not obedient vnto the commaundement of God. Thus came they to Eaphra.

B And in Eaphra the woode of the Lorde happened vnto Jeremy/saying: Take greac stones in thine hand/and hyde them in the brick wal/under the gate of Sbarach house in Eaphra: that al the men of Iuda may stand face vnto them: thus sayeth the Lord of ho-lies the God of Israel: Beholde/ I wil send an cal for Nabuzodonosor the kunge of Ba-bilon my seruant/and wil see his face vpon these stones that I haue hyd/and he shal spee his sentie ouer them.

And when he cometh/he shall smyte the lande of Egypt with slaughter/with men/and with the sword. He shal set fire vpon the temple of the Egyptians goddes/and burne them vp / as hee hath done vnto somer. Moreover he shal ceage him self with the lande of Egypt/like as a shepheard pursueth on his cote/and shal depart awaye from thence in peare. The pylers also of the temple of the Sunne that is in Egypt/shal be breake in peeces/and burne the temples of the Egyptians goddes.

The XLIIII. Chapter.

In this is the woode that was shewed to Jeremy/ concerninge all the Ierues/which dwelte in Egypte at Magdall/ as Eaphra:ac Memphis/ as in the lande of Daruce. Thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel: Ye haue seen a misery that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem/ and vpon all the citie of Iuda: so that this daye they are desolate/and no man dwelinge there: a that because of the greac blasphemye/which they committed / to provide me vnto anger: In that they wente backe to do factes/and worshippe vnto straunge goddes: whom neither they/ nor ye/ nor your fathers had know-en. Howbeit/ I sent vnto them my seruants all the prophetes: I sent vnto them: I sent vnto them/ as gaue them warninge: O do no such abominable thinges/ as thinges that I hate. But they wolde not followe nor hearken/so turned from their wickednes/ and to do no sacrifice vnto straunge goddes.

Wherefore my indignation a warre was hynded/and it shal be vpon the citie of Iuda/the sides with the streets of Ierusalem: so that they were made waste and desolate / as it is come to passe this daye. Nowe therefore thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel: Some heppener is / that ye do greac euill vnto youre owne foules/ thus to destroye the men / as women/ children and babes of Iuda: for because of you is life/ because ye made me onto wrath with the women of youre owne handes: when ye offered to straunge goddes in the lande of Egypt/where as ye came to dwell: Thus ye might vnto the people / and that ye might be reuled and shamefully intreated of all nacions.

Ye haue ye now forgotten the wickednesse of youre forefathers / the wickednesse of the kynges of Iuda and their wyues/ the wickednesse theye your selfe/ and youre wyues haue done in the lande of Iuda/ in the one and the lande of Ierusalem?

Ye are ye not say this: Vnto ye fear not neither walke ye in my lawe/ and in my commaundementes / that I haue graue vnto you and youre forefathers.

Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde of ho-lies the God of Israel: I am indignantly dyspleasid and determined to puny the you / and to cast out al Iuda: be for the remaines of Ierusalem purpously wente into Egypt/ there to ease them of thier misery: I will take them/for they shal al be destroyed. In the lande of Egypte shall they perishe/ theyng confounde with the sword/ and with hunger. For from the lest vnto the moste they shal perishe with the sword/ and with hunger. Moreover/they shal be rayled / abused / shamed / and confounde. In I wil visit them that dwell in Egypte/

Jer. xxxij. Egypte/as I haue visited Ierusalem with the sword/with hunger and with pestilence: So shall none of the remanent of Iuda/whiche are gotten vnto in Egypte/shall be left to come againe into the lande of Iuda: although they thinke to come thither againe:/and so dwell there: for none shall come againe:/but such as are fled awaye.

Then al the men which knewe that their wifes had offered vnto strange goddes/ and a great faul of wifes that sode there/ye/ and al the /oyle that dwelt there in Egypte in the sixe / Jamiro/aun/ward Jeremy/ and saide: So fo the wordes that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the name of the Lorde/ we will in no wise heare them: but whatsoeuer goodd out of our owne mouth that wil we do: We wil do sacrifice/and offre oblatione vnto the

Jer. vj. b Queene of heauen: like as we and oure forefathers /oure kinge and oure heade had done in the citie of Iuda/ and in the streete and sitche of Ierusalem. For then had we plentifulnesse of viales/then were we in prosperite/and no misfortune came vpon vs.

v. Mac. i. b Thus eno we left of to offre/ and to do sacrifice vnto the Queene of heauen/ we haue had stracnes as sal thinges/ and perished with the sworde and hunger. Leste of al/when we women byd sacrifice/ and offered vnto the Queene of heauen/ vnto we make her colles/ a pause vnto her Bankeffingnes/ to do her seruise without oure haushandes wylle?

Then saide Jeremy vnto all the people/ to the men / to the women / and to all the folke/ whiche had geuen hym that answere: Whyd not the Lorde remembre the sacrificie that ye/ your foefathers/ your kinge and rulers/ (with all the people) haue offered in the citie of Iuda/ in the streete and lande of Ierusalem/ and hath he not considered this in his mynde? In so muche/ that the Lorde might no longer suffer the wickednesse of your inuentione/ and the abhymnable thinges whiche ye did? Is not your lande desolate a word/ye/ and abbarred/ so that none dwelt therein any moie/ as it is come to passe this daye?

id. re. i. vj. b Jer. ij. c. ij. c. Bar. vj. a Whyd not all this happen vnto you / because ye made such sacrifice/ and sinned against the Lorde? Ye haue not so word been voice to walke in his lawe/ in his ordinancie and statutes.

Ye/ this is the cause/ that all myssfortune happened vnto you / so it is come to passe this daye.

Nowe/ Jeremy spake vnto all the people as to all the women: Heare the wordes of the Lorde all Iuda/ye that be in the lande of Egypte: Thus saith the Lorde of hosties the God of Israel: Ye and your wifes haue spoken with your owne mouth/ the thinge that ye haue fulfilled in dede.

Yet thus haue ye saide: We wil not saile/ we wil do the thinge that pleaseth vs: we will do sacrifice and poiere out Bankeffingnes to the Queene of heauen. Purposely haue ye set up your owne good meaninge/ and hath ye fulfilled your owne inente. And therefore/ heare the wordes of the Lorde al Iuda/ye that dwell in the lande of Egypte.

Beholde/ I haue sowne by my great name/ I haue sowne the Lorde/ whiche my name shall not be recheared/ thowse any mans mouth of Iuda/ in all the lande of Egypte/ to saye: The Lorde God liueth/ for I wil ward to plague them/ and not for their wealth. And all the men of Iuda that be in the lande of Egypte/ shall perish with the sworde and with hunger/ and they be utterly destroyed.

Nevertheless/ those that shal awake for the succour/ shall come againe into the lande of Iuda/ but there shall be very fewe of them. And al the remanent of Iuda/ that are gone into Egypte/ there to dwell/ shall knowe whose wordes shall be founde true/ thowse as myne. Take this for a token/ that I wil visit you in your place/ saith the Lorde/ and that ye maye knowe/ howe that I (without doubt) will perforce my purpose vpon you to punish you. Beholde/ saith the Lorde/ I wil destroye Pharaos Ophum kinge of Egypte into the hande of his enemies/ that site after his lyfe/ thowse as I gaue Sedechias the kinge of Iuda into the hande of Nabuchodonosor kinge of Babilon/ which sought after his lyfe. The XLVI. Chapter.

Here foloweth the wordes of the Lord to the prophet Jeremy: which he spake vnto the gentiles. These wordes folowinge preceaded he to the Egyptians / concerninge the booke of Pharaos Uelcho king of Egypte: whiche was in Charnio beside the water of Euphrates: whas ym as Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon stee him / In the fourth yeare of Iosiah the sonne of Josias kinge of Iuda.

Thus saith the Lord God: yee go forth to fight: yee haueisse your houses / as yet your selves vpon them: yee see your saluacion fast on: yee bringe forth speares: yee secure your swerdes: and put on your best places.

But alas: howe happeneth it that Ife you so afrayd: why shyneth yee backe: wherefore are your worshipes laine: yee / they runne so fast awaye / that none of them loke behinde hym. Fearfullnes is fallen vpon every chone of them: as the Lord. The highest of stee shall norste awaye: and the towres shall not stand.

B Towarde the North by the water of Euphrates they shall stande and fall. Due what is herbe that steeleth vp / as it were a floude rannig: as ragginge like the streames of water: It is Egypte that ryseth vp lyke the floude: and casteth oure the waters with so greaue mysse.

For they saye: We will go vp: and will couer the earth: we will vilroye the cunes: with the shee: we will sheren. Get you to house backe: roll forth the charrettes: come forth ye worshipers of Molans: yee Libans with your bulwikes: yee Libans with your bowes: So shall this daie be: onto the Lord God of hostes / a daye of vengeance: / he maye cauge bym of libanemico. The foward shall be ouer: / yee shall be sanctid and barbed in their bloudes: for the Lord God of hostes: shall come a layne: offingge towarde the North: by the water of Euphrates: So vnto Caladans: and bringe triacke vnto the daughter of Egypte.

Butt sayne shall thou go to sinners: for thy wounde shall not be stoppid. The Goyes shall heare of thy shame: and the lande shall be full of thy confusion: for one firinge: man shall floume vpon another: but then should they nor fall together.

These are the wordes that the Lord God spake to the prophet Jeremy: concerninge the booke of Nabuchodonosor: the kinge of Babylon: whas was to destrye the Lande of Egypte: Prouaue thou the Lande of Egypte: and cause it to be proclaymed at Migdal Menephis and Taphnis: a saye: Stande still: make the reb: / for the swerde shall consume the rounde aboute.

Howe happeneth it that thy mighty worshipes are fallen: why shod they not stande: Euen because the Lord ihust them downe. The slaughter was greaue: for one fell cutt fill vpon another. One tread vpon another: vnto let no go againe to oure owne people: and to oure owne natural countrys: from the swerde of oure anemic.

Get enen then: O Pharaos kinge of Egypte / the ryme will bringe sedition. As truly as I liue: sayeth the Kyng: / whose name is the Esa phis: a Lord of hostes: he shall come as the mount and the Lande of Chanaan: as it shal: ife shod in the see: O thou daughter of Egypte: make ready thy gear to flye. For Memphis shall be voyde: and desolate: / so shal none man shall dwell therein. The Lande of Egypte is like a goodly saye call: but one shall come oure of the North: to dulle her forward. Her waiged sondres: that be woth her: are like fat callis.

They also shall be a waye togerthe: and nor abyde: for the voye of the slaughter: and the ryme of their viluacion: shal come vpon them. The ene of their enemies shall make a noyse: u as the

And they shall cut down her wood (saith the Lord) without any discretion, for they shall not remember then the presboppers / so that noman shall be able to till them. The daughter of Egypte shall be confounded / when she shall be deliuered into the handes of the people of the Moab.

E Moise ouerthrew saith the Lord of hooft / ready the God of Israel: B. holde / I will vynt that restless people of Alexandria / Pharao and Egypte / yett both their goddes and their cingnes: cutt Pharao / and all them that trust vnto hym. Yett / I will deliuer them out of the handes of thise / that seke after their lyues. Namely / into the powce of Nebuchodonosor: the kinge of Babylon / and into the powce of the seruantes. And after all these thinges shall be inhabited as afore tyme saith the Lord.

Thc. XLVII. Chapter.
2 These are the wordes that the Lord spake vnto Jeremy the prophet agaynst the Philistines / before that Pharao smote the cite of Gaze. Thus saith the Lord: B. holde / the ce shall waders aryse out of the Moab: and shall growe to a great floud / cminge ouer and coueringe the lade / the cines / and them that dwell therein.

And the men that dwell in the lade / shall mourne at the noyse and clamour / of these stronge barred horses: at the haullinge of their charrettes / and at the cminge of the waders. The sarches shall walke to their chyldren / so feable and weep shall they: banded be at the same tyme / when they shall be there: to despoyle the whole lande of the Philistines: he shall make wast both Ty. B. Sidon / and all other that are swaine vnto them.

For the Lord will distroye all Palestina / and the other lics: that be decayed from the countrie. Baldwin sic come vpon Gaze / destruction with her other vallyes shall sepe her peace.

How longe wilt thou staye / O thou swerde of the Lord: Turne againe into thy sheeth / este: and leaue of: this voyce can it ceasse / for the Lord hath sife hard giuen it a charge agaynst the Philistines / and sayed it up againe the cines of the see coast.

The XLVIII. Chapter.
2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes God of Israel: I will distroye Moab: for it shall be layed wast / brought to confusion / and taken. For the stronge cite of the Moab / Caracotham shall be brought to shame and Captiuitie. Moab shall not be bad in her name: Wicked counsaill shall be taken vpon Hesebon. Come / O shall they saye / let us reue then our: that they maye be nomie amonge the cines of the Centre: yett they maye nomie be thought vpon: Thus it shal be orde / shall perforce the. A noyse shall crye frome Hoonan: they greoue waillinge a destruction as Moab made desolate.

And this are the wordes in all the cines: As I goinge up vnto Eubith there shall arise a leuence: as a boune towards Hoonan: there shall beede a cruel a drabye ente: Wit you amerciaue youe lites: and be hysc ento the heeh on t midwintere. I for becauf thou hast trusted in thy stronge holdes: a treasure / thou shalt be taken. Hoonan with his prestes and penices shall goe a weere into captiuitie.

The destroyer shall come vpon all cines: none shall escape. The vallyes shall be destroyed: and the felde shall be layed wast: lize as the Lord hath vtterincd.

Thus a token vnto Moab: that she get her awaye speedely: for her cines shall made so be slayd: that no man shall dwel therein. Cursed be he that doth the moike of the Lord: ney legendre / and cursed be he that keepeth bakke his swerde from beddinge of bloude.

with her treasure. She was neuer yet put out of one vessel into another (that is) she neuer came away into captiuitie thereof her last remaners by hir sauour to not yet chaunge.

But lo! the tyme cometh (sayeth the Lorde) that I shall sende her messengers to reuise her vp to prepare and season her vessels: yett her ranker bee raiuell and shate to and fro. And Moab shalbe abandoned of Chamos like an Istraell was abandoned of Bechel/wherin she put her trust.

Wherefore do ye thinke thus: ye are mighty and stronge men of warre: Moab shalbe distressed and her citie denie vp: her chosen yong men shalbe slayne (sayeth) Kings/whose name is the Lorde of hostes. The destruction of Moab commeth on apace/and her fall is at hande.

All her neyghbours shal mourne for her/ and all they that knowe her name / shall saye: How happened it/that the stronge shal and the goodly rod is thus broken? And thou daughter Sibon/come downe from thy glory/ sit in pouerte. For he that distroyeth Moab/shal come vp to the also/and brake downe thy stronge holdre.

And thou that dwellest in Zoer/get the to the strete/a lofe about the: age thy that are fled and escaped/and saye: what thinge is happened? Moab is confounded and ouercome.

Mourne and crye/tell it out er Arnon that Moab is distressed. And misery shall come vpon thy playne londe. Namely vpon Holon and Zoar: vpon Mephai and Sibon/ vpon Urbo and the house of Orplaham/ vpon Cartharim and Bethgamul/ vpon Bethneon and Carath/ vpon Dofra and all the citie in the lande of Moab/ wherher they be sette at neare.

The paine of Moab shalbe forgotten/ and her sorre broken/ saith the Lorde. Make her forgotten/ for she magnified her selfe about the Lorde/ that men maye slappe their handes at her voyce/ and that she also maye be laughed to scorn. O Istraell/ shal thou not laugh him to scorn/ when he is taken amonge theste? Yee/ because of thy wordes that thou hast spoken against him/ shou shalt be wyuen awaye. Ye Moabitars shall leaue the citie/ and dwell in rockes of stone/ and become like Deuoe that make their nestes in holes. That is: Moab shal payde/ she haue herbe of Esau/ but she is verye hie myuded. In one be the stone nestes/ her booslinge/ her arrogancye/ as the pybe of her stomacke/ saith the Lorde. For: her seruises maye neyther uphold her/ it shal not fede. Therefore shall these mourninge be made for Moab/ and every man shall crye for Moab sake: lamenters shalbe made to the men that stande vpon the wall. So will I mourne for the also (saith) and for the/ O thou vineyard of Sydam.

Thy wyne bransards that come ouer/ shall be and the bransards of Iezel/ but vnto the feet of the vesterpe shall beate into thy barnell and grapegarberinge. With and chaite shalbe taken awaye from the tymbre side/ and thou the whole lande of Moab.

There shalbe no swete wyne in the presse/ treader shal haue no stomacke to reuise/ because shalbe none to crye vnto him: which aforetyme were herde from Bethson to Ailale a Zoar/ which lifted vp their voyce from Zoar vnto Bazonaim/ that bullocke of the yeare olde. The waters also of Chemis shalbe dryed.

Moreover/ I will make Moab reuise/ saith the Lorde/ from the offerings and reuise that she hath made vnto her goddes in the place. Wherfore my herie mourninge for Moab/ shalbe a rounde playnge/ an heay soung: and for the meane sake of the backe/ wail/ my herie mourninge shal/ euen as a pyre that pisseth a delifull songe: for they shalbe verye sware and distressed.

All beebes shalbe shourn/ and all beebes clipped of all handes bounde/ and all loynes gyrded aboute with sackcloth. Vpon all the house of Moab/ here shalbe mourninge: for I will brake Moab/ like an vnprofitable vessel/ saith the Lorde. O how fearful is her/ O how mourninge shalbe: O how doeth Moab hange downe her beede/ and is abandoned? Thus shall Moab be a laungringe flocke/ and habenderson of all them that be rounde aboute her.

For thou saith the Lorde: Beholde/ the beest enemye shall come thence/ as an Eagle/ and spredde her wynges vpon Moab. They shall chynne ouer/ I will not a/ as mynie/ I flourishe holdre. Then the myghy men here/ as Moab/ u g shalbe habitation there. Beholde / like as the Lyon asmeth up from the pleasant meadows of Jordan; onto the grene pastures of Arah: so will I brye him / I will make him unneagaing her. But who is the yonge man that I will adeu her to? Who is like unto mee? What is he that will sturue with mee? What shepherde may stand in my hande?

O Therefore heare the counsaill of the Lord/that he hath taken upon him: a his purpose that he hath buydd upon the cines of Cheman: The leefe of the stocke shall reare them in pecca / alose what saye thynge they haue; they shall make it wast / and them selfes also. The noyse of their fall the earth shall quake / the crye of their voice shall heere vnto the ead feere. Beholde / I enemye that come and flye vpon hader; like as were an Eagle / a spide his wynges vpon Bofia. Then shall the heetes of the wouthies in whom be an the berne of a womā treuchinge of chylde. I vnto Damascus / Bemat and Arphad shall come confusion / for they shall heere euel rydingen. they shall roffed ro and fro / like the fire that can not stand still. Damascus shall be strayde / and shall flye / remblinge shall come vpon her. Soiree and payne shall ouerwale her as a womā trauelinge of chylde. But ho woulde so we: syppfull and glouous one be forlaen: Heare the voice: her yonge men shall fall in the stretes / and all her myn of warre shall take awaye in, that synne / saith the Lorde of hostes. I will finde a sye in the walles of Damascus / which shall consume the palace of Bemat.

E I As for Cedar and the kyngdome of Bofia/whome Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon inuade doun: the Lord hath spoken thus vpon them: Arise / and get you vp vnto Cedar: Destroye the people toward the East.
Their tentes and their stockes shall they take awaye / their hanginges and their vessels.
Theyr camels also shall they carrye awaye with the. They shall come aboute the on euery syde with a fearful crye.

Sie / get you foure awaye / trepe into cam-thare / may dwell there: O ye inhabytours of Bofia / saith the Lorde: for Nabuchodon-nosor the kyng of Babylon hath holde a counsaill concerninge you / and concluded his decaye agaynst you: Arise / and get you vp agaynst vnder the carelesse people (saith the Lorde) which haue norythe gaine no de-rebores / and char dwell not together. Their camels shall be stolen / and the voyces of their cattel dryuen awaye.

Whosoever / these that he hauen will I seare to wards all the wyndes / and brynge them to destruction: Yee: a that shal be their owne familiers / saith the Lorde. But all shall be a dwellinge for Sagon / and an interlastinge wilderness: so that no body shall dwell there / and no man shall haue thers his habi-tacion.

These are the wordes that the Lord spake to the prophet Jeremy / concerninge Elam: / on the beginninge of the reigne of Sedechias kyng of Iuda. Thus saith the Lorde of hostes: Beholde / I will breake the betwe Elam / and raise awaye thar strenght / and vpon Elam I will brynge / foure wyndes from the foure quarters of heauen / and will seare them agaynst the same foure wyndes. And there shall be no people / but some of Elam shall flye vnto them.

For I will cause Elam to be afrayed of their enemies / and of them that seke thers lyfe: and will brynge vpon them the indignacion of my wrath / saith the Lorde. And I will persecute them with the furcade / so longe till I haue broughte them to naught. I will see my searce in Elam / I will destroye both the synges and the pynces from thence: saith the Lorde. But in proue of synne / I will brynge Elam out of captiuite agayne / saith the Lorde.

These wordes that the Lorde spake vnto the prophet Jeremy concerninge Babylon / and the lande of Caldees: Preach amonge the Gentiles / saye vnto the herde / make a roster: one out / trepe no silence: but saye: Babylon shall be wonne / I will be consumed / I and Merodach shall be ouercome.

Yee: their goddes shall be brought to shame / and their ymagens shall stand in feare: for out of the North there shall come a people / agaynst her / which shall take her lande / so wast / that no body shall dwell therein: noryth ninn nor beall / for they shall flye and departe: for reuice.
In those dayes and at that tyme (saith the Lorde)

Babylon.

The Prophet Jeremy.

Jer. xliij. b 3 po. xliij. a
ps. b Broken / therefore are they out of their wittes T But I solemnly to Babylon fall & destreye A house for her / being plasters for her wounds desirif the maye peradventure be healed againe.
 We wolde haue made Babylon whole / I saye they / but she is not recovered. Therefore wil we let her alone / and go every man into his owne countrey. For her judgement is come into heauen / and is gone up to the cloudes. The Lorde hath brought forth our righteousnes. And therefore come on / we wil seeke Sion / I wolke of the Lo- rde our God.

Judi. ii. c
ij. Reg. xi. c
 Of late / sharp the arrowes / a fill the quyvers T for the Lo- rde shall raise up the spirit of the Kinge of the Midde / which hath already a destroye Babylon. This shall be the vengeance of the Lo- rde / and the vengeance of his temple. Hei up telens upon the wal-les of Babylon / make youe wech strange / for your watchmen in aray / yet / holde praye warding : as yet / for all that shal the Lo- rde go forth with the dryng / which he hath taken upon the city dwell in Babylon.

Jer. lxxv. a Amos vi. b and Wis. a O thou that dwellest by the great waters / o thou that hast so great treasure / and thyne / thyne ende is come : and the recknyng of thy wynginge. T The Lo- rde of hostes hath sworn by him self / that he wil ouerwhelme with his iuge / grethoppers in number / which with a iouge / shall crie. Alarum / Alarum / agaynst the. T Yet / euen the Lo- rde of hostes / that with his power made the earth / with his wisdom prepared the rounde mede / a wish his discretion spied out the heauens. As soon as he lech his noye be herd / the waters in the eye were feared : T He streachth up the cloudes from the endes of the earth. He m-neth the lightynnes to rayne / he bringeth the wyndes out of their secret places. By the reason of wisdom all men are become foolish.

Jer. lxxv. b Confounded be all the castles of synners / for the thinge that they make / is but decaye / and hath no breath. Vayne is it / and weedy to be laughid at : and in the tyme of visitacion it shall perishe.

Jer. lxxv. c Baruc vi. a Confounded be the portion of Jacob is none which he hath made al synners / whose name is the Lo- rde of hostes / he is the rodd of his enbracement. Thou hast sayd my wrapens of waters / and yet hast thou the I haue feared the nations and synngemes : Thou hast haue I feared hoise / and hoise men / yet / the chereties / as such as sat upon thee. Thou hast I haue feared man and woman / olde and yonge / habiler and mayden. Thou hast I haue feared the shepherde / and his flocke / the hois-bondman and his carrell / the pynner and the ruler. Therefore will I rewarde / I one of Babylon and all her crysyns / the Caldees / with all the well which they haue done onto Sion.

 See / that ye your selfe shal se it / sayn the Lo- rde. By the / I come vpp the / thou non-some hall saye / I / Lo- rde / I / thou that destroyest all landes. I will stretch out my hande ouce the / and cast the doune from the stony rockes and wil make the o brente hill / so that ney the comes flower / nor pin narles / nor foundacions stoues / shal be left. Any more out of the : but wast and desiere shal thou be for euer / sayn the Lo- rde.

Jer. lxxv. c
 See up a roff in the lande / blowe the trompettes among the Berthens / ponde / the nations agaynst her / all the synngemes of Ire-saul / Menne and I feared agaynst her : mine bre oute / Ephraim agaynst her / bringe as grete a feare of hostes agaynst her / as if they were grethoppers. Deuare / agaynst them the people of the Medes / with their ringes / pynnes / and all their chiefe rulers / yet / and the whole lande / hath vnder them.

The lande also / shal shalke as he afrayed when the voice of / Lo- rde / shal come forth agaynst Babylon : so make / lande of Babil / so wast / that no man shall dwell any more therein. The wofulnes of Babylon shall leaue the bayarils and kepe them selfe in strange holdes / their strength hath failed them / they shal be like women. Their dwellinge place / shal be burnt up / their barres / shal be broken. One pursuauit shal meete another / yet / one post shall come by another / to bringe the Kinge of Babylon / to dinge / that his ende is taken in an euery fynde / the fowde occupied / the fennes burnt up / and the landes / a sore afrayd.

For thus sayn the Lo- rde of hostes the I God of Israel / The daughter of Babil / hath bene in her tyme / like as a shefflinge floure / but shortly shal her haruist come. I habudobono / for the Kinge of Babil / hath deuourde and destroyed me / he hath made in an empye rife.

the keyes of the citty. He toke out of the citty a chaine of iron which was a capaine of the sculdices/a feuen men that were the Kinges seruantes/which were founde in the citty: a Cherite a captaine that used to mustre the men of warre: with xij. men of the cōmme that were taken in the citty. These Nabuzaradan the chiefe captaine toke / and caried them to the Kinge of Babilon vnto Reblathai: and the Kinge of Babilon caused them to be put to death at Reblathai: he lande of Gemarh. And thus Iuda was ledde awaye captiue out of his owne lande.

This is the summe of the people/whome Nabuchodonosor ledde awaye captiue.

¶ In the seventh year of his reignes/he caused a waye of the Ierero/the chonlande the citty and cawntie. In the xviij. year Nabuchodonosor came awate from Jerusalem/egge hane xviij. and xxxij. persons. In the xxviij. year Nabuchodonosor Nabuzardan the chiefe captaine toke awaye seuen hundred xlv. Ierero prisoners. The whole summe of all the prisoners is foure thousande and six hundred. In the xxxij. year after that Ioaquim the Kinge of Iuda was caried awaye in the xxv. daye of the xaxth moneth / Luthmrodach Kinge of Babilon the same year that he raygned gaue Ioaquim the Kinge of Iuda his pardon / and lette him oute of prison / and spake louingly to him: And set his crowne aboue the crowne of the other Kinges that were with hym in Babilon. He chaunged also the clothes of his prison / yee / and he yed eate with him all his life longe. And he had a continually youngen geuen hym of the Kinge of Babilon/ewery daie a certayne thinge as he would him / al the daies of his lyfe / vntill he yed.

The ende of the prophete Jeremy.

The Lamentations of Jeremy.

And it came to passe (after Ierusalem was thought into captiue) a Jerusalem desolous: if Jeremy the prophete set weeping / mourning a makinge his moene in Ierusalem / & he an heauy heart he sigged a sobbing saying:

The first Chapter.

Alph. K

How sorely the citty is desolous / that for sometime was full of people: how is she becomee like a widow: how is she becomee like a desolous / whiche was the ladye of all nations: How is she thought vnder tribute: that ruled all landes.

Verb. D

She weepeth sore in the night: so that she seere runne downe her cheeks: amonge al her iourneys there is none that comforte her any comforte: yee / her ioye friends abhorre her / and are becomee her enemies.

Timel. X

Iuda is taken prisoner / because he was desolous: for seruinge so many strange gods: as he dwelleth now amonge the Heathen. She synnerh no rest: all they that persecuted her / toke her / and so she dwelleth amonge hea captiues.

Salub. V

The seruantes of Sion mouene / because no man in commonh more to the solemnite festiue. All her gates are desolous / her wayes make lamentation / her maidens are carefull / and so her selfe is carefull becaus she is desolous.

Re. N

Her enemies are fallen vpon her heade / & haue put her to shame: for the Lord hath chastened her because of her greate wickednesse: her children are ledde awaye captiue before her enemies.

Dau. V

All the seruantes of the daughter of Sion are weep. Her pueres are becomee like a widow: she feede no pasture. They are diuuen awaye before.

Before their enemies/so that they haue no more power.

How dooth Jerusalem remembre the name of her misery a disobedience/yea the ioye and pleasure that she hath had in times past: saying her people to thoughte youne shew me the power of thy enemy / for there is no man for to helpe her: her enemies stande lookinge at her/ and laugh her Sabbath dayes to scorne.

Ecclij. 1

Jerusalem I sayed cure more and more/ therefore to be come in weeye. All they that had her in honoure/ despise her: for they haue sene her falsshinesse. Yet she is high/ and is ashamed of her selfe.

Her wylde is desol'd/ she rememberd not what shee folow: therefore is her fall so greua/ as there is no man to comforte her. O Lord/ consider my trouble/ for myne enemy hath the upper hande.

Job. 1

The enemy hath put his hande to all the precious thinges that she had/ yea/ euen before her eyes came the Vrythen in and out of the Sanctuary: I whome thou (newerthelesse) haste subydden to come within thy congregation.

Eccij. 2

¶ All her people sife their bread with heavynesse/ as ife what precious thinge every mā hath/ thus groweth by for meate to saue his life. Consider O Lord/ and se/ howe wyle I am become.

Lamed. 3

O ye all that goe forby/ beholde and se/ if there be any sorrow like vnto myne/ wherewith the Lordē hath troubled me/ in the daye of his fearful wrath.

Mem. 1

The yocke of my mansgreshon is come at the last/ with his hande hath he taken it vpon/ and put it aboute my necke. My strengthe is gone: the Lordē hath desyrued me in o those handes/ wherout I can not quyte my selfe.

The Lordē hath destroyed all the mightye men that were in me. He hath proclaym'd a fast to slaughter all my best men. The Lordē hath troden downe the daughter of Judah/ as it were in a wyne presse.

Zin. 1

Therefore do I wepe/ and myne eyes shall be out of water: for the comforter wher shoulde I requyte me/ farre fro me. My children are giuen awaye for wypp: the name hath gone the our hande.

Phe. 1

Etion casteth out her hande/ and there is no mā to comforte her. The Lordē hath laide the enemies rounde aboute Jacob/ and Jerusalem is as it were a menstruous woman/ in the middell of them.

Sade. 1

The Lordē is righteous/ for I haue not wronged his countenance vnto anger. O take heed a lye people/ and consider my heauynesse. My maidens and my yongemen are ledde awaye into captiuitie.

Zoph. 1

I called for my louers/ but they begyled me: for my purses and countspies/ but they perished/ euen while they soughte for meate/ to saue thye life.

Ree. 1

Consider O Lord/ how I am troubled/ my wounde is desyrued/ my hearte melteth aboute in me/ I am full of heauynesse. The firee hath burnt me without and within/ I am lyke vnto death.

Sin. 1

They heare my mourninge/ but there is none that wil comforte me. Al myne enemies haue heede of my trouble/ as are glad therof/ because thou haste done it. But thou shalt bunge saith the time/ when they also shall be lyke onto me.

Thau. 1

For thou shalt come all their aduersites/ thou shalt plucke the waye/ euen as thou hast plucked me/ because of al my wickednesse. For my sorrowe is very greate/ and my hearte is braue.

Eccl. 44

Alep. 2

I Shall not weep for the Lord barefaced For the daughter of Sion so sore in his wrath:
 For the honour of Israel he hath casten downe from heauen vpon the earth: Howe happened this that he remembred not his owne forehead when he was on gyp 2

Jer. vi. 4

Ps. xlviii. 4

The Lord hath cast downe all the glory of Jacob without any fauour: All the strong places of the daughter Juda hath he broke in his wrath: and shewen them downe to the ground: her kingdome and her princes hath he suspended.

Gimel. 1

In the waite of his indignation he hath broke all the haire of Israel: he hath withdrauen his right hande from the enemy: yee / a flame of fyre is kindled in Jacob / a hath consumed vp all countre aboute.

He hath bene his borne like an enemy: he hath assailed his right hande as an aduersary: and eury thinge that was pleasaunt to se / he hath smiten it downe. He hath pouced out his wrath like a syre / into the tabernacle of the daughter Sion.

E. 1

The Lord is become like as it were an enemy: he hath cast downe Israel and all his place: yee / all his stronge holdes hath he destroied / a filled the daughter of Juda with much forrewe and heauynesse.

Vau. 1

Her tabernacle which was like a garden of pleasure hath he destroyed: her solempne feastes hath he put downe. The Lord hath thought in so to passe / that the hye solempne feastes a Sabbathes in Sion are cleue forgotten. In his heauy displeasure hath he made the kinge a prisoner to be despised.

Jer. vi. 4

Zain. 1

The Lord hath forsaken his owne altar / as it were with his owne Sanctuary / a hath giue the walles of their towres into the hande of the enemy. Their enemies made a noyse in the house of the Lord / as it had bene as a solempne feast here.

The Lord thought to breake downe the walles of the daughter Sion: he spied out his hime: a there was not in his hande: in he had besleped them. Therefore inourne the turrettes and the broken walles together.

Teth. 1

Her pines are cullen downe to the ground / her barres are broken a smite in sonder: Ther kinge a princes are caried awaye to the Genetles: They haue neither lawe nor prophete / nor yet any visior from the Lord.

Iod. 1

The Senators of the daughter Sion sit vpon the grounde in silence: they haue shrowed as they vpon their heades / and giued the filkes with sackcloth. The maydens of Jerusalem hainge downe their heades to the grounde.

Kaph. 1

Myne eyes begynne to fayle me tharowe we haue founde and sent it.

Dee. D

The Lord hath fulfilled the thinge that he was purposed to do: and performed what he had sayed longe ago: he hath destroyed / and not spared. He hath caused them aduersary to triumphe ouer the: and set vp the horn of thine enemy.

How good is the Lord vnto them that put their trust in him/and to the soule that sereth after him?

How good is it with sinlesse to wayte/ & tate for the saluation of the Lord?

How good is it for a man to take che yoke vpon him from his youth vp?

The IIII. Chapter.

Verse. 1.

Howe is the golde become so dimmet Howe is the goodly coloure of it so fou chaunged; and the Iones of the Sanctuary thus scattered in the corner of euery street:

Verse. 2.

The children of Sion that were alwaye in honour; and clothed with the most precious golde: howe are they nowe become lyke the earthen vessels which he made with the pot ters handes:

Verse. 3.

The Lamyes giue their yongrones sucke with bare breasts: but the daughter of my peo ple is cruel / and dwelleth in the wilderness like the Estriches.

Verse. 4.

The tongue of the sucking childen cleue to the rofe of their mouthes for very thirst.
The yonge children are dead / but there is no man that geueth it them.

Verse. 5.

They that were wonte to saye Vnto us / praise in the streets: they that ofore were daughtre vp in purple / make nowe mudy of dung.

Verse. 6.

The synne of the daughter of my people is become greater then the wickednesse of Sod ome: that soberly was desceyced / and nowe is ten with hundred.

Verse. 7.

Her abstinence / or fastes / where whyn ne then she shewe or miste they: coloure was freche as of the Corall / they beayre lyke Sapphyre.

Verse. 8.

But nowe these faces are very blacke: In so much that they shouldest not knowe them in the streets. Their synne cleaueth to theys bones / It is withered and become lyke a dye stocke.

Verse. 9.

They that be slayne with the sword / are dapperd as in such a daye of hunger / and pre uide awaye fawny thinge for the frutes of the felde.

Job. 1.

Thu. 7

Thy sinne is wel punished O thou daughter Zion: he shall not suffice the to be cared away any more. But thy wickednesse O daughter Edom shall be as yet / and for thy sinne sake he shall lede the into captiuitie.

The V. Chapter.

¶ All to remember (O Lord) what we haue suffered / consider a feour confusion. Our chertianitie is turned to strangers / a our houses to the aleuantes. We are become carefull and sacherisse / and oure moithers are as the wydowes. We are fayne to drinke oure owne water for mooney / and oure orene wood must we buy wth money. Our needes are vnder persecution / we are weery / we haue no rest.

¶ Afote tyme we yelded oure selues to the Egyptians / a now to the Assyrians / onch that we might haue died through. Our fathers

¶ (which now are gone) haue sinned / and we must beare their wickednesse. Struanen haue the rule of vs / and no man deliuereth us out of their bandes. We must get our hyunge wth the parrell of oure lyfte / because of the dooure of the wilderness.

¶ Our tyme is as it had bene bren in an oven for very feare hunger. The wyfes are rauished in Sid / and the maydens in the ciues of Iuda. The princes are hanged up wth the bande of y^e enemies / they haue not spared the olde sage men / they haue taken yongmen by the heins them / and the boyes are hanged up upon trees. The elders sit no more vnder the gates / a the yonge m² see no moie playing of musick. The soye of oure heries is gone / oure mery quere is turned to mourninge. The garden of oure brade is full of alow / y^e herer we sinned for sin.

¶ Therefore oure heries is full of bewyngnesse / and oure eyes dyment: because of the hill of Zion that is destroyed / In so much that the force runne vpon it. But thou O Lord what remayneth for mee more / and thy feare woode without ende: wherfore wilt thou still forget vs / and forsake vs for longer? O Lord Turne Jer. xxxi. 4 thou vs onto the / and so shall we be turned. Renewe our dayes as in old tyme / for thou hast now banished us a longe yough / a bene fore displeasid at vs.

The ende of the Lamentacions of Jeremy.

The Prophet Ezechiel.

The first Chapter.

¶ I chailed in the xxx. yeare of the fifth daye of the fourth moneth / I was amonge the pisoners by the ryuer of Eobar: where the heauens opened / and I sawe a vision of God. Now the fifth daye of the month / made full the fifth yeare of tyme Iodanem captiuitie. In the same tyme came the woode of the Lord vnto Ierusalem the fornt of Buzi p² / in the land of the Caldees by the water of Eobar: I there the bande of the Lord came vpon him. And I looked: and beholde a stormy wynde came out of the North with a greiue cloude full of fyre: which with his glistre lightened all round about.

¶ And in the midst of the fyre it was all cleare / and as it were the likeness of foure beastes / w^{ch} were fashioned like a man: s² wings / ninge / that eury one had foure faces a foure wynges.

B Their legges were straight / but their feet were like bullocks feet / and they gished as an had bene fyre foured metall. Under their wynges upon all the foure corners / they had mene handes. Their faces and their wynges were towardes the foure corners: yet were the wynges so / that one euer touched another. When they went / they turned the not about: but eche one went straight forward.

Ez: ch. v. b

A Upon the right side of these foure / were their faces like the face of a man / and the face of a Lyon: But upon the left side / they had the face of an ox / and the face of an Eagle.

Their faces also and their wynges were spred out about: so that two wynges of one touched euer two wynges of another / with the ches tres they concealed their bodies. Eury one when it went / it went straight forward.

Ez: ch. v. c

C Where as he spied led him / whither they went / it turned not abouteun their goinge.

The fashion and countenance of the beastes was like hore coales of fyre: eue although but nynges and faces had bene amonge the beastes: and the fyre gain a gishre / and out of the fyre thare wente ligheninge. When the beastes wente forward and backward / our welsd haue thought it had lighned. I know when I had well considered the beastes / I sawe a wrofe of wheles upon the earth / with foure faces also like the beastes.

D The fashion and worke of the wheles was like the ste. The foure wheles were ioyned and made to lye upon: as it had bene one wchle manother. When one went forward / they went all foure / and turned the not aboute in their goinge. They were large / great / and hard to lye upon.

Their bodies were full of eyes rounde aboute theat all soue. Wher the beastes wente / the wheles wente also with them: And when the beastes left the felde / from the earth / the wheles were lift vp also. Wher so euer the fyre wente / thare wente they also / and the wheles were lift vp and followed the: the fyre of life was in the wheles. When the beastes wente forth / stode still / or lye them felde up from the earth: then the wheles also wente / stode still / and were lift vp / for the bery of life was in the wheles.

About euer the heades of the beastes there was a firmament / which was fastned as it had bene of the moost pure cristall / and thare was spred out about upon their heades: vnder the same firmament were their wynges layed abroad: one towarde another / and two wynges covered the body of eury beast: And when they wente forth / I herke the noyse of their wynges / like the noyse of greute water: as it had bene the roye of the greute God / a rushinge together as it were of an host of me. And when they stode still / they layd doune their wynges: Now when they stode still / and had leuen doune their wynges / they thended in the firmament that was about their heades.

About the firmament that was ouer their heades / there was the fashion of a ste: as it had bene made of Saphir. Upon the face there sat one life a man: I behelde him / and he was like a cleare light / as it had bene all of fyre thorn from his loynes upward.

And when I beheld upon him vnder his loynes / me thought he was like a fyre myghe fyre / that gareth light on eury side. For the steem a gishre that lighned counde aboute / was like a fyre / wher in a came daye appeareth in the cloudes. Euen so was the similitude / wher in the glory of the Lord appeared. When I sawe it / I fell upon my face / and beckened vnto the roye of him that spake.

The II. Chapter.

A Ben sarde he vnto me: Stande vp upon I daye fyre. O thou sonne of man / and I will talke with the. And as he was communinge / with me / the spere came into me / a fyre vpon my faces / that I sawe the thynge that he sard vnto the. And he sarde: Beholde / thou sonne of man / I will sende the to the churche of Israel / to thise runnagates and oblitrate people: for they haue calen pacie agaynst me / and are runne awaye fro me: they thry and they fourbarbers / vnto this daye.

Ez: ch.

For I will sende vnto a people that haue rough vyrgins / a shil stomacke: vnto whome thou shalt saye on this maner: Thus seide the Lord God hun self / haue spoken / I / when her they be obediēt / no / for it is / a forwarde / hoil / spred / they they maye knowe yee that there hath bene a prophet amonge them.

B Therefore (thou sonne of man) feare them not / neyther be afrayd of their wordes: for they shall rebell againste the / and despise thee. Yee / thou shalt dwell amonge scorpions: but feare not their wordes: be not abused at their scoke: for it is a frowarde householde.

Se that thou speake my wordes vnto them / whether they be obedient or not / for they are obstinate. Therefore (thou sonne of man) obeye thou all thynges / that I saye vnto the: and be not thyng sufficered / like as they are a sufficered householde. Open thy mouth / and eate that I geue thee.

So as I was lofingge vp / beholde / there was sent vnto me an hande / wherein was a closet / & betwixt the hande opened it before me / and it was written within and without / full of carefull inourninges: also and wo.

The xliiij. Chapter.

A Then sayde he vnto me / thou sonne of man / I teache thee what soueraine it be: Yee / wate that closed doke / and go thy waye / and speake vnto the childre of Israel. So I opened my mouth / and he gaue me the doke: for so eate / and sayde vnto me: Thou sonne of man / thy belly shall eate / and thy bowels shall be filled / with the doke that I geue thee. Then dyd I eate the doke / and thus was in my mouth sweeter then hony.

And he sayde vnto me: * Thou sonne of man / geue the sonne vnto the house of Israel / and shewe them the wordes that I commaunde the: for I sende the not to a people that hath a steeung / vnto women / or haue speech: / but vnto the house of Israel: / Not to many natioues / which haue diuers speaches and heide languages / whose wordes thou vnderstandest not: / I teache the / if I sende the to those people / they wold folowe the: / But the house of Israel will not folowe the: / for they wil not folowe me: / Yee / all the house of Israel haue their foreheades and harden the.

Beholde therefore / I wil make thy face precariously againste their faces / and harden thy foreheade againste their foreheades / so that thy foreheade shall be harder then an / Adamaunt / or slymstone: / that thou mayest feare them the lesse / and be lesse astroyed of them: / for they are a frowarde householde.

He sayde moreover vnto me: / thou sonne of man / take diligence the with the carco / so the wordes that I speake vnto the / fulfill them in thee here: / and go to the pysonnes of they people / speake vnto them / and saye on this maner.

Thus the Lozde God hath spoken: / When thou se here / or heare not / vnto the / the spirit toke me vp. / And I heede the noyse of a greare rustlinge and ramingge of the most blessed glory of the Lozde / out of his place.

I heede also the noyse of the wynges of the heauens / that rustled one against another / yee / and the railinge of the wykes that were by them / which rustlinge and noyse was very greare.

Now when the spirit toke me vp / and I rose / I caried me a waye / I wrote with an heauy and xij. b. and a fowefull mynde / vnto the hande of the Lozde / comforted me right sore.

And so in the beginninge of them on the xviij. I came to the pysonnes / / that was called / Psittaria / by that water of Cobas: / and remained in that place where they were: / and so continued I amonge them seuen dayes / beyng very sore.

And when the seuen dayes were expired / the Lozde sayde vnto me: / Thou sonne of man / I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: / therefore take good heed to the wordes of my mouth / and geue them warninge: / as my commaundement.

If I saye vnto the: / come outtinge / vnto godly man / that / without doubte / he shall see / and thou geuest him not warninge: / nor speakest vnto him / that he maye turne from his euill waye / and so he lue: / Then shall the saint vngodly man / dye in his owne vngodlynesse: / but thou shalt be blamelesse: / I require of thyne hande / teache the / if thou geue warninge vnto the wicked / and he yet forsake not his vngodlynesse: / the shall be dye in his owne wickednesse: / but thou shalt be discharged thy soule.

Now / if a righteous man go from the / he shall be righteous: / and do the thinges that are encl: / I wil laye a stumblinge blocke before him: / or he shall dye: / because they haue not geuen him warninge: / Yee / dye shall be in his owne synne: / so that the veru / which he doth before / shall not be charged vpon: / but heo liuende will ken your gods cast downe taken awaye / your temples layde euen wth the grounde / your owne wofulnes coted ouer. Your slayne men shall lie amonge you whar ye moste leane to knowe howe that I am the Lorde.

These that amonge you haue escaped the sword / will I leaue amonge the Gentiles / for I will feare you amonge the nations. And they that escape from you / shall thinke vpon me amonge the Heiden / where they shalbe in captiuitie.

So for that without and vnfaithfull heart of theis / without they runne awaye frome. I will diseafe it / yee / and put out the eye of they: that committe fornication wth their Idols.

Then shall they be ashamed / and displeasid wth their selfe / for the wickednesse and abominacion / which they haue done: and shall keane to knowe howe that it is not in wayne / that the Lorde speaketh to daunge such misseis vpon them.

The Lorde sayd moe couer vnto me: Emptie thine handes together / and stanpe wth thy feet / and saye: Wo vnto all the abominacione and wickednesse of the house of Israel / because of them / they shall perishe wth the sword / wth hunger / and wth pestilence. Who so is a sacerot / shall dye of the pestilence / he that is a hande / shall dye wth the sword: and the other that are besieged / shall dye of hunger.

Then will I chastise my wofull displeasur vpon the. And so shall ye keane to knowe / that I am the Lorde / when your slayne men lie amonge youe gods / and aboute youe altars / vpon all hie hills and toppes of mountaynes / amonge al greene trees / amonge all theis: Okes: cun in the places / where they dyd sacrifice to all thes Idols. I will strech myne hande ouer vpon them / and will make the lande waste: So that it shall lie desolate and voyde / from the wildenesse of desolous founte / vpon all thes habitacions: to keane theis for to knowe / that I am the Lorde.

The. vii. Chapter.

The worde of the Lorde came vnto me on this maner: The I call vpon sonne of man. Thus sayeth the Lorde God vnto the lende of Israel: The ende cometh / yee / wchly the ende cometh vpon the fourte cor ner of the earth.

But now shall the ende come vpon the: for I will sende my wrath vpon the: and wil punyssh the accordinge to the wayes / that were the after all thy abominaciones. Myne eye shall see / but reuente the / accordinge to the wayes / and declare thy abominaciones. Then shall ye knowe that I am the Lorde.

Thus sayeth the Lorde God. Beholde / our ruyne and plague shall come after another: the ende is here. The ende of I saye. What waye is this / that is come alreadye / where is come agaynst the that dwelleth in the lande.

The tymer is a hande / the daye of sedition is hecd by / and no glad ndinges vpon the mountaynes. Therefore / I will shortly poure out my fure displeasur ouer the / and fulfill my wrath vpon the. I will wch the after thy wayes / and recompence the all thy abominaciones.

Myne eye shall not pnye the / neyther will I spare the: but reuente the after thy wayes / and shewe thy abominaciones: to leaue you for to knowe / howe that I am the Lorde: that sayeth. Beholde / the daye is here / the daye is come / the houre is runne out / the rodde flourisheth / wofulnesse wch grene / malicious violence is growen vp / a the vngodly wagen to a stoffe. Yet shall thece no compynie be made for them / nor for the trouble that shall come of these thinges.

The tymer cometh / the daye draweth nyer. Who so buyeth / let him not reuente: he that selleth / let him not reuente: for the trouble shall come in the myddest of all rest: so that the seller shall not come agayne to the byce / for myner of the deeth shall issue. For the mistan shall come / so greatly ouer all theis / that not be binbred: No mans also wch his wickednesse shall be able to saue his owne lyfe.

The compynie shall ye blowe / a make you all ready / but no man shall goe to the battail / for I am wroth wth all the whole multitude.

The frearde shall be without pestilence and hunger with in: so that who so is in the fildes / shall be slayne wth the frearde: and he that is in the cite / shall perishe wth hunger: and dwelle

And such as escape and flye from amonge them / shall upon the hills / like as the bouen in the fild: they cure one shalbe strayed because of his owne wickednesse.

All handes shalbe latten dounce / and all price shalbe vntill as the water: they shall t'gyde the silke with sackcloth / feare shall fall upon them. They that are shalbe confounded / and they that had balde they: silver shall be in the street / and they: golde shalbe despised: / And they: silver and golde maye not redyme them in the daye of the fearefull wrath of the Lorde.

They shall not faste theye hungry soules / ney theye fast theye name belies ther with: For it is deceit in theye owne decey: theye were their wickednesse because theye I made them not only easily weale for their pompe & pryde / but also abhominable ymagis and Idols: for this cause will I make them to be abhorred. Manouer / I will geue it into the handes of the steallers to be spoyled: and to the wicked for: to be obeyed and they shall destroye it.

My face wil I turne from the: my necessary shalbe defyled: for the these shall go into it / and suspence it: I wil make cleane riddance / for the lande is whole defyled with vngheuous iudgement of innocent bloude: and the cur is full of abhominacions.

Wherefore / I will bringe the moost cruel tyrannies from amonge the Chetym / to take theye houses in possession. I will make the pompe of the pride as ceasse / and they shall rise in their Sanctuary. When this trouble cometh / they shall see peace / but they shall haue none. One mischief and foore shall followe another / and an rumoure shall come after another: / They shall theye see wisdom in vaine at theye prophetes. The lawe shalbe gone from the prestes / and wysdome fro the elders. The singe shall inourne / the puner a shalbe clothed with beautytie / and the handes of the people in the lande shall tremble for feare: I will do vnto them after their owne wayes / and accordinge to that theye were iudgementes will I iudge them: to haerne them for to knowe what I can do the Lorde.

The VIII. Chapter.

It happened / that in the sixte yeare / the fifth daye of the sixte moneth I saen my house / and the loibes of the counsaill of Iuda with me: and the bande of the Lorde God fell vpon me.

And as I led vp / I saue as it were a likeness of offe from his house / thynwardes / and from his house / outwardes / it byned many a loun cleare.

This similitude stretched out an hande / Eze. vii. and toke me by the heere locke of my head / and he and the spere lift me vp betwixt haue and earth: and God brought me in a vision to Jerusalem / into the counte of the inward porte that lech towarde the North: there stode an ymage / with whiche he that hath all thinges in his power / was very weate.

And beholde / the glory of the God of Israel was in the same place: as I had seene Eze. i. i. as I was in the fild. And he sayde vnto me: Thou sonne of man / lift vp thine eyes / and loke towarde the North: / Behen lift I vp myne eyes towarde the North / a beholde: Beside the porte Northwardes / there was an altare made vnto the ymage of p'rouocation / in the very entreinge in.

And he sayde further more vnto me: Thou sonne of man / stieff thou what thest do: Swast thou the great abhominacions that the house of Israel cometh in this place: / whiche oughte not to be done in my Sanctuary:

But turne the aboute: / a thou shalt see yet greater abhominacions. And with that he brought me to the counte gate: / and when I lofed / beholde / there was an hole in the wall.

Then saide he vnto me: Thou sonne of man / digge thou the wall beholde / there was a doore. And he sayde vnto me: go thy waye in / a lobe what wicked abhominacions theye do there.

So I receiued and saue: and beholde / there were all maner ymagis of womens and bestes / all Idols and abhominacions of the house of Israel / paynted every thinge rounde aboute the wall.

There stode also before the ymages / Exo. xviij. b / lorde of the counsaill of the house of Israel: and in the myddell of them stode Num. xi. d / Jaazania the sonne of Saphan: / And every one of them had a censure in his hande / and out of the innerce there went up a smoke / as it had bene a cloude.

Ez. 30. 6.

¶ So when I have scared them among the Hevren / and srowed them in the lande: they shall knowe that I am the Loide. But I will leaue a litle numbre of them / from the streake of hunger and pestilence: to tell all their abominacions among the Hevren where they come: that they maye knowe / how that I am the Loide.

¶ Moreover the worde of the Loide came unto me sayinge: Thou sonne of man / with a feat full rembling of thale thou cast thy bread / with carefullnesse: a sowe thale thou vyntest thy vine. And unto the people of the lande / speake thou on this maner: Thus saith the Loide God / to them that dwell in Ierusalem / to the lide of Israel. Ye shal eat your bread in sorrowe / and vyntest your water with heavynesse: Yet the lande with the fulnesse thereof shal laye waste / for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein: And the cities that now be well occupied / shalbe voyde / and the lande desolate: that ye maye knowe / how that I am the Loide.

Ez. 31. 1.

¶ Yet came the worde of the Loide unto me againe sayinge: Thou sonne of man / what maner of thy worde is that / which ye use in the lande of Israel / sayinge: Cuse / I sayng that the dayes are / so flacke in commynge / all the visonaires of none effecte: Tell them therefore / thus sayeth the Loide God: I will make that theye be / to couse / so that it shall nomore be continually used in Israel.

But saye this unto them: The dayes are at hande / that every thinge which hath bene propheted / shalbe fulfilled. There shall no vison be in daye / neither any prophete saye amonge the children of Israel: for thus I the Loide / thus speake it: and whatsoever I the Loide speake in / shalbe performed / and not be flacke in commynge.

¶ Yet even in your dayes / O ye forwarde holders / will I beuse some thinge / a thinge to passe / sayeth the Loide God. And the worde of the Loide came unto me sayinge: Beholde / thou sonne of man: The house of Israel sayen / this maner: Cuse / as for the vison that he hath seene / it wil be many a daye come to passe: For so sake of yet / the thinge that he propheted. Therefore say unto them: Thus saith the Loide God: All my wordes / shal nomore be flacke. Loke what I speake / the same shall come to passe / sayeth the Loide God.

The XIII. Chapter.

¶ The worde of the Loide came unto me / sayinge: Thou sonne of man / speake prophete against those prophetes that preach in Israel: and saye thou unto them their prophete out of their owne beris: Heare the worde of the Loide / thus saith the Loide God: I Doe be unto those folishe prophetes / that followe their owne sprete / as a spale where they se nothinge. O I feard / they prophetes are like the fozze upon the eye / which: for they stande neere the goppe / neither make they an hedge for the house of Israel / that men mighte abyde the perill in the daye of the Loide. Vaine thinges they se / and tell lyes / to maintain their preachinges veris. The Loide / saye they / hath spoken it / when in very deede the Loide hath not sent them. Vaine visions have ye seene / and spoken false prophetes / when ye saye: the Loide hath spoken it / where as I never seide it.

Ez. 33. 1. 13.

Ez. 33. 1. 4.

¶ Therefore / thus saith the Loide God: Because your wordes be vaine / and ye seeke lyes: Beholde / I will upon you stretch the Loide God. Myne handes shall come upon the prophetes / that lyeke out vaine thinges / and preache lyes: he shall not be in the counsaill of my people / nor wante in the boke of the house of Israel: neither shall they come in the lande of Israel: that ye maye knowe / howe that I am the Loide God. And that so / this cause it / they have deceaved my people / I and colde them of peace where no peace was. One firste with sp / a wal / a they dawte it with louse clawe. Therefore tell them whiche wordes it with no unpremed matter / that it shall fall. I for there shall come a great storme of rayne / and a great stonice shall fall upon it / and a foue storme of wind shall beate it / so shal the walke come downe. Shall it not then be layde upon you / where in nowe the monice / that ye have bid it withall: Therefore thus saith the Loide God: I will beate out in my wordes / I displeasure with a storme wynde, so that in my anger there shall come a mighty storme of saynes and hale stones in my wrath to destroye this ball.

Am.

As for the wall that ye haue builded with untemperd mortar / I will breake it downe / and make it quen with the grounde / so that the foundation thereof shall renouge / it shall fall / yea / ye your selfes shall perish in the midst thereof / to learne you for to knowe that I am the Lord.

Ann lan

Thus will I persecute my wrath upon this wall / and upon them that haue builded it with untemperd mortar / and then will I saye vnto you / The wall is gone / and the doores are awaye. These are the Prophecia of Israel / whiche prophetic vnto the cite of Ierusalem / and take oute visions of peace for them / where as no peace is / sayeth the Lord God. Wherefore / o thou soune of ma / set thy face against the daughters of thy people / whiche prophetic oute of their owne hearts / and sayeth thus sayeth the Lord God. Do the vii to you / that some pillows vnder all arme holcs / and bolsters vnder the heades / both of yonge and olde / to each soule this ball. I for when ye haue gotten the soules of my people in your captiuitie / ye promise them lyfe / and vnboure me to my people for an handfull of barley / for a peece of bread / when ye kill the soules of them that dye not / and promise lyfe to them that liue not. Thus ye dissemble with my people that beleuech your lyce.

Ez. v. 6.
Ez. v. 7.

Wherefore / thus sayeth the Lord God. Behold / I will also vps the pillows / vnder which ye each the soules in syenge / then will I take from your armes / a linc the soules / so that ye each in syenge. Your bolsters also will I care in peeces / and deliuer my people out of your handes / so that they shal come none in your handes to be specked / aye shall knowe that I am the Lord. Crye that which your lyce ye discomfote the hearts of the righteous / wherin I haue not / is / for the.

Ez. vii. 1.

For so much as I ye courage the hande of the wicked / so that he maye not turne from his wicked waye / and lyue / therefore shall ye spyce out nomic panick / no prophetic your owne gessing / for I will deliuer my people out of your handes / that ye maye knowe / howe that I am the Lord.

The. XIII. Chapter.

There I resoued vnto me terraynes of the Elders of Israel / and sae vnto me. Then came the word of the Lord vnto me / sayinge. The bones of man that I met beareth / I dole in their burne / and go purposely vpon the stonning blocke of their owne wickedness / howe darre they thin are / counsell at me. Therefore speake vnto them and sayeth thus sayeth the Lord God. Every man of the house of Israel that beareth his doles in his heart / purposinge to stamble in his owne wickedness / cometh to a pappe / to enquire any thing at me by him / vnto that man will I be the Lord / my selfe / give aunsweere / according to the multitude of his doles / that the house of Israel maye be feared in their owne hearts / because they be elene gone from me / for their doles sake.

Wherefore / tell the house of Israel / thus sayeth the Lord God. I be conuerted / for sake your doles / and turne your faces from all your abhominacions. For every man / where ther be of the house of Israel / or a stranger / that seoureth in Israel / whiche departeth frome / and carrieth doles in his owne wickedness / and cometh to a prophete / for to ase counsell at me / thus sayeth vnto that man / I the Lord / geue aunsweere by myne owne lyfe.

I will for my face agaynste that man / and will make him to be an example for other / yet / and a commaundment / and will rote him out of my people / that he maye knowe howe that I am the Lord. And if that prophete be deceaued / when he telleth bym a word / that I the Lord / my selfe / haue deceaued / that prophete / and will stretch forth myne hande vpon him / to rote bym out of my people of Israel / and they both shal be punished for their wickedness.

According to the synne of bym that are / shall the synne of the prophete be / that the house of Israel be led no more from me / thus we reuerence / no more desyred in their wickedness / for that they maye be my people / and their God / sayeth the Lord God. And the word of the Lord came vnto me sayinge. Thou

The XVIII. Chapter.

And the word of the Lord came onto me on this manner: What means ye by this edmon upon pierber / that ye rise up the side of Israel saying: The fathers haue care foure grapes / and the childrens teeth are set on edge. Truly as I saye / sayeth the Lord God / ye shall use this by wordenomein Israel.

Scholders / all soules accuynne. Like as the fathers is in synne / so is the sonne mine also. The soules that synners / shall dye. If a man be godly / and do the thinge that is equal a right / he careth not upon the wylles: he liueth not his eye up to the Idols of Israel: he visiteth not his neyghbours wife: he medleth with no mens houses woman: he graueth no body: he curseth his better / his pledge agayne: he careth not of any mans good by violence: The parents his meate with the byrgy: he closeth the naked: He lendeth nothinge upon vsury: he taketh usurye out: he withholdeth his hande from doinge wronge: he hanbleth faithfully betwixt man and man: he walketh in my commaundementes / and feareth my lawes / and perforemeth them faithfully: Then is a righteous man / he shall surely lyue saith the Lord God.

If he now get a sonne that is a murdurer / a shedder of bloude: if he do cure of these thinges: I though he be not all: he careth not the wylles: he visiteth his neyghbours wife: he graueth the poore and needy: he robbeth a spoiler: he curseth not the better his pledge agayne: he lieth up his eyes vnto Idols / and medleth with abominable thinges: he lendeth vpon vsury / and taketh an ouer: Shall this man lyue? He shall not lyue. Wenge he hath done all these abominacions: he shall dye: his bloude shall be vpon him.

Now if this man get a sonne also / that keepeth all his fathers synnes which he hath done: a father / neyther hath such like: I namely: he careth not upon the mounchaunce: he lieth not his eyes up to the Idols of Israel: he visiteth not his neyghbours wife: he curseth no man: he feareth no mans pledge: he neyther spoiler: nor robbeth any man: he dealeth his meate with the hunger: he closeth the naked: he op-presseth not the poore: he receaueth no vsury: / B not any thinge cure: he feareth my lawes / and walketh in my eain maundementes: This man shall not dye in his fathers synne: but shall lyue without fault. As for his father: because he oppressed and spoiled his brother / and vnder wickedly amonge his people: he is dead in his owne synne. And yet saye ye: Wherefore shoulde not this sonne beate his fathers synne? Therefore / because the sonne hath done equite and right / hath kept all my commaundementes: and done right: therefore shall he lyue in vnde.

If the same soules that synners / shall dye. The sonne shall not beare his fathers offences: neyther shall the father beare the sonnes offences. The righteousness of the righteous shall be vnto him self / in the wickednes of the wicked. But if he be godly a will turne away from all his synnes that he hath done: and feare all my commaundementes / and do the thinge that is equal and right: Doubtes he shall lyue: and not dye. As for all his synnes that he dyd before / they shall not be thought vpon: but in his righteousness that he hath done / he shall lyue. If for I haue no pleasure in the death of a sinner / sayeth the Lord God / but rather that he conuerse and lyue.

Igainst if the righteous a turne away from his righteousness / and do iniquite / according to all the abominacions that the wickedness doeth: shall he lyue? All the righteousnes that he hath done / shall not be thought vpon: but in the faulte that he hath offended withall / and in the synne that he hath done he shall dye.

And yet ye saye: What is the waye of the Lord? He is not indifferent: He are the feet vnto house of Israel: So not my waye right: Where not your waye rather wicked? When a righteous man turneth a waye from his righteousness / and medleth with engobles: he must dye therein: Yet / for the righteousness that he hath done / must he dye. Agayne: When the wicked man turneth away from his wickednesse: that he hath done / a doeth he the thinge which is equal and right: he shall lyue: his soule alyue. For in forme as he committed him self / and turned him from all the engob-lynes that be hard used / be shall lyue and not dye. ¶

And yet I sayeth the house of Israel: Tush / be waye of f. The Lord is not equal: Are my wayes vnright / or ye house of Israel: Are not your wayes rather vnright: As for me / I will iudge every man / accordinge to his wayes. O ye house of Israel / sayeth the Lord God.

¶ Wherefore be educted / and turne you cleane from all your wickednesse / so shall there no synne be vpon you. Call awaye from you all your vnghodlynesse that ye haue done: make you new heires and a new spere. Wherefore will ye dye: O ye house of Israel: * strange I haue no pleasure in the death of him that dyeth / sayeth the Lord God: Turne you then / and ye shall lyue.

The XIX. Chapter.

Qui moure thou for the paines of Israel / and saye: Wherefore laye thy mother: & Lyonsse amonge the Lyons: and nourish her yongens: amonge the Lyons whelpes: One of kee whelp. is he brought vp / and it became a Lyon: & he cetered to speake / and to denounce folk. The Guben heede of him / and to kee him in their netes / and brought him in cheyna vnto the lande of Egypte.

Nowe when the time came that all her hope and comfort was awaye / she toke another of her whelpes / and made a Lyon of him: which came amonge the Lyons / & became a fauce Lyon: wanted to speake / and to denounce folk: he besought his wyues / and made there vnto a weale: It is so much that the whole lande and every thynge therein / were vnto the desolation / as the voice of his roaringe.

Then came the Gubens together on enery syde out of all countrees against him / layd they nettes for him / & toke him in their nettes.

To they bounde him with charnes / and brought him to the kinge of Babylon: which put him in prison / that his voyce / should not be heard vpon the vniuersitye of Israel. As for thy mother / she is like a yene in the bloude / plained by the water syde: her fruite and beynches are growen out of many waters / her stalkes were so stronge / that men might haue made staves thereof for officers: she ceter so be in her stalkes.

¶ O when men sawe that she exceeded the best and multitude of beebiranches / she was reared out in displeasure / and cast downe to the grounde: The kall wynde dyed vp by fruite / her stronge stalkes were broken off / withered and beate in the fyre. But now she is planted in the wilderness in a drye & shurthe grounde. And there is a fyre gone out of her stalkes / which hath beate vp her biranches and beate fruite: so that she had none stronge stalkes / to be staves for officers: This is a pituous & miserable thynge.

Eze. XX. Chapter.

In the viij. yere the x. daye of the v. Mo. of Ieruch / it happened that certayne of the elders of Israel came vnto me / so to as they came sail at the Lord / and sat the thron by me. Then came the word of the Lord vnto me on this maner: Thou some of man / speake to the elders of Israel / saye vnto them: Thus sayeth the Lord God: Are ye come hither to see any thynge of me: To truly so I thine / sayeth the Lord: I will giue you no answeere. With thou not repute them / (Thou some of man) with thou not repute them: Shew them the abhominacions of their fathers / and ed them. Thus sayeth the Lord God: In the xij. yere when I toke Israel / I lift vp myne hande vpon the syde of the house of Jacob / and swered my self vnto them in the lande of Egypte: Yet / when I lift vp myne hande ouer them / and swerde I am the Lord your God / euen in the daye that I lift vp myne hande ouer them / to dunge them out of the lande of Egypte / vnto a lande that I had poudred for them / which flourish with mycke and heire / and is a pleasant lande / amonge all other: They sayde: I will them. I call awaye every man the abhominacions that be hard before him / and I will not your fyre with the Idols of Egypte / for I am the Lord your God.

But they rebelled against me / and wold not followe me / to cast awaye every man the abhominacions of his eyes / and to forsake the Idole of Egypte. Then I made me to pour my indignacion ouer them / and to sacrifice my wrath vpon them / yee euen in the mybbell of the lande of Egypte. But I wold not do it for my name sake / that it should not be blasphowed before the Egyptians / amonge whom they indignation poued oute vpon you: and will bringe you into the wilderness of the people: and there will I reason with you face to face. Like as I punished your fathers in the wilderness: so will I punish you also / sayeth the Lorde God. I will bringe you vnder my iurisdiction / vnder the bande of the conuenaunt. These things are also: and the transgressours will I take first amonge you: and bringe them out of the laude of youre habitation: as for the lande of Israel / they shall not come in: that they maye knowe / howe that I am the Lorde.

So now then (sayeth the Lorde God) ye house of Israel / I will cast awaye / and destitute euerie man his Idols: then shall ye heare me / and nomore blasfeme my holy name with youre offerings and Idols. But vpon my holy hill: that is upon the hill of Israel shall all the house of Israel / and all that is in the lande / worshippe me: sayeth the Lorde God: and in the same place will I saue the re: a there will I require youre heauens offeringe / and the sacrifice of youre oblations / with all youre holy things.

There shall ye eate to remembre: amee youre owne wepe / and all youre ymaginations / wherein ye haue bene defiled: and ye shall be displeasid with youre owne filth / for all youre wickednesse: that ye haue done. This ye shall knowe / that I am the Lorde: when I entreate you after my name: not after youre wicked wayes / nor accordinge to youre corrupte woises: o ye house of Israel / sayeth the Lorde God.

The XXXI. Chapter.

The woide of the Lorde came to me / sayinge: Thou sonne of man / set thy face toward Jerusalem / speake agaynst the Seneues / and prophete agaynst the lande of Israel: saye to the lande of Israel: Thus saith the Lorde God: Beholde / I will vpon thee / and will drawe my swearde out of the sheath / and eate out of the bosh of the righteous / and the wicked. Ceinge then that I will rote out of the bosh the righteous / and wrefe / therofe shall my swearde geue out of his sheath: agaynst all flesh from the North to the South: that all flesh maye knowe howe that I the Lorde haue drawen my swearde out of the sheath / and I shall not be put in egeyne.

 The XXXII. Chapter.

Ez. xlv. c. The woide of the Lord came vnto me / sayinge: Thou sonne of man / thus were two women that had one maiche: These were they were yonge / I beganne to place the barloten I in Egypte. There were their bethes build / and the pappes of their maydenhaide destroyed. The eldest of them was called Oula / and her yonge sister Doliba. These two were myne / and bare sonnes and daughters.
 Their names were Samaria / and that was Oula: and Jerusalem / that was Doliba. So for Oula / she beganne to go a whoringe / wher I had taken her to me. ¶ She was set on fire vpon her louers the Assyrians / which had to do with her: euen the pynnes and lodes / that were vnto in cossis aray: saye yonge men / lusty rydres of bestes.

These two women / the eldest / she fled vnto the yonge men of Assyria: / yet / she was made vpon them / and vnto her self with all their Idols. ¶ Theyr craftes for fro the furnacion that the vld men of the Assyrians: set in her yowth they laye with her / they build the house of her maydenhaide / and poured their whodome vpon her. ¶ Wherfore / I besyde her in the haue of her louce / turn the spians whome she so laued. These discomered her forme / and her finnes and daughter / a streer her with the sword: An euell name gaue her of all people / and they punished her.

B Her sister Ooliba sawe this / and destroyed her self with inordinate loue more then she / a greued her sister in whoredome: she loued the Assyrians / which also laye with her / namely / the pinnets and greare lordes that were clothed with all maner of gownde apperall / all luby boynt and faire yonge perionce. Then I sawe that they both were vexed alike. But she increased still in whoredome / for when the same men paynted vpon the wall the ymage of the Caldees / set forth with fresh colours / with faire gyrdles aboute them / and goodly donerces vpon they: beades / and ringe of life pinnets / after the maner of the Babylonians and Caldees in that same land / where they be donet / Immediately / as soon as she sawe the / she bent in loue vpon them / and sent many saungers for them into the lande of the Caldees.

Now when the Babylonians came to her / they laye with her / and despyled her with their whoredome / and so was she pained with the. And when her lust was abated from them / she shewd a / her whoredome and shame was discovered / and sent: then my heart forsoke her like as my heart was gone from her sister also. Yet she travailed: and her whoredome cure the longer the more / and remained the Bayes of her youth / whereon she had played the harlot in the lande of Egypte: she bent in lust vpon them / whose self was like the field of asse / and their seede like the seede of horse. Thus thou hast renued the synfullnesse of thy youth / when thy luers would thy pappe / and married thy bedde in Egypte.

C Therefore / Ooliba / thus saith the Loide God: I will raise up thy louers / with whom thou hast committed thy lust / against thee / a gather them together beside aboute the / namely / the Babylonians / and all the Caldees: Decub / Chos / and Coa / with all the Assyrians: all yonge and faire louers / pinnets and lordes / knyghtes and gentelmen / with all good boyntes: they shall come vpon the with horses / charrettes / and a greare multitude of people: which shall be harnessed aboute / on every side / with best places / shylbes / and helmettes: I will punish the before them / see / they them selfe shall punish the / accordinge to their owne iudgement. I will put my gownde vpon thee / so that they shall deale cruelly with thee. They shall cut of thy nose and thine eares / and the remnant shall fall thowen the sword: they shall carry away thy finnes and daughter / and the residue shall be burnt in the fyre. They shall stripe the out of thy clothe / and carry thy costly iewels away with them.

Thus will I make an ende of thy synnes: I will punish thee / which thou hast brought out of the lande of Egypte: so that thou shalt weene thyne eyes nomore after them / and call thy mynde nomore vpon Egypte. For thus saith the Loide God: Beholde / I will deliuer thee into the handes of them / whom thou hast hated: / even into the handes of them / with whom thou hast fulfilled thy lust / which shall deale cruelly with thee. All thy labour shall they take with thee / and leave thee naked and bare / and thus the shame of thy synnes / whoredome shall come to light. All these thinges shall happen vnto thee / because of thy whoredome / which thou hast vnto amongst the Genuines / with whom I dole thou hast despyled thy self. Thou hast walked in the waye of thy sister / therefore will I geue thee the beccupps in thy hande.

Thus saith the Loide God: Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cuppe / both drinke a farre fouer te de to the botome. Thou shalt be laughed to scorne / and had as greatly in derision as is possible. Thou shalt be full of drunkenesse / and sorrowe / for the cuppe of the sister Samaria is a cuppe of destruction: an waye stunge: the same shalt thou drinke / and suppe it: thou shalt be drugged / yet thou shalt care vpon the rotten peeces of it / and so care in mine beccles: For when I have spoken vnto the Loide God.

Therefore thus saith the Loide God: For so much as thou hast forgotten me / and called me a synne / beare now thine owne synne / and whoredome. The Loide sayde more vnto me: Thou sonne of man / wilt thou not reioyce Ooliba / and Ooliba? Where then thou shalt be harnessed aboute / on every side / with are in it / out after wyther: there neede no loynes be cast theofore / for the bloude is yet in it.

 Vpon a playne dyse stonke hath I set it and not vpon the grounde/ that it might be covered with dust. And therfore haue I letten her poure / her bloude vpon a playne dyse stony rocke/ because it shoulde not be hid/ and that I mighte bunge my wrothfull indignacion and vengeance vpon her.

Wherfore/ thus saith the Lorde God: O/wo be vnto that bloodye: thy tyme is come I will prepare a haape of woode / bece thou the bones together / kindle thou the fyre / kindle the shef / let all the wold sudder / that the bonis maye be sucke out. Moreover / set I post empyty upon the eadde / that it maye be warme / a the mee all faste: that the frysh and custynne maye be consumed. But it wil not go of / there is so much of it: the rustynesse must be brenout. Thy falsheynes is ad hominable / for I haue stened the / but thou woldst not be cleid.
 Thou canst not be poured fro thine wickednes / all I haue poured my wrothfull indig-nacion vpon the. Euen I the Lorde haue dyed: I see it is come therto al ready that I will do a. I wil not go backe / I wil not spare / I wil not be intreated: but accordinge to thy waye and ymaginacions / thou shalt be punyshed / saith the Lorde God.

And the moode of the Lorde came vnto me / sayinge: Thou sonne of man / behold / I will take awaye the pleasure of thine eye with a pliguis / yet shalt thou mytter mourninge neiwepe / not water thy chekes thefore: thou muste mourne by thy selfe alone / but ife no deadly lamented. Soide on thy bones / a put an thy face upon thy forehead nor thy feet: and eate no mourning bread. So I spake ento the people by me in the morning: and as even in my fe by day: then upon the next morrow: I did as I was commaunded. And the people sayde vnto me: wilt thou not tell vs what these signifieth: which thou doest? I answered them by the wordes of the Lorde: came vnto me saying: Tell the house of Israel thus saith the Lorde God: Beholde: I will sus-pende my Sanctuary: euen the glory of your power: the pleasure of your eyes: and the thing that ye love: your finnes and vngodly-nes: whome ye haue left: shall fall from you the swerde.

¶ Like as I haue done so shall ye do also: Ye shal not hide your faces: ye shal eate no mourning bread: your bonnetes shall ye haue vpon your heads: and shooes vpon your feet: Ye shall neither mourne nor weep: this in your finnes ye shalde know full: and one expiate with another. Thus Ezechiel vs your shewtolen. For like as he hath done: so when this commeth: ye shal do also: that ye maye learne to knowe that I am the Lorde God. But beholde: O thou sonne of man: In the daye when I take from them their power: they saye and denoure: the luste of their eyes: the burden of thyng: Bodys: namely: their sonne and vngodlynes. Then shall there one escape: and come vnto thy fe: to shewe the. In the daye shall thy mouth be opened to him: which is respecteth thou must speake: and be named Domine. Yet: and thou shalt be their strength: in that they may knowe: howe that I am the Lord.

Ch. XXXV. Chapter.

¶ The wordes of the Lorde came vnto me: saying: Thou sonne of man: set thy face against the Ammonites: prophesie vpon the and saye vnto the Ammonites: Heare the wordes of the Lord God. Thus saith the Lord God: For so muche as thou shalt eate ouer my Sanctuary: the Lande: I will eate it: I will sus-pende ouer the Lande of Israel: I will eate it: the name of Israel: see: and ouer the house of Judah: I will eate it: because they be not yet returned: I will deliuer the to the people of the East: that they maye haue the in-possession: the Lande: as I haue said: and howe from the. They shall eate thy fruit: a sincke up thy mylke: as for Kabah: I will make of it a stall for camels: and of Dimon a sheppolder: and ye shall knowe: that I am the Lorde.

¶ So thus sayeth the Lorde God: In so muche as thou hast clapped thy hand beside: and stamped with thy feet: yet: inough in thine hand ouer thy Lande of Israel: with thyng: beholde: I will stretch out mine hand ouer the alps: and deliuer the to be spoiled of the Heberns: and rote the out from amonge the people: and eate the to be destroyed out of all landes: yet: I will make the to be delayed with: that thou mayest knowe: that I am the Lorde.

¶ Thus saith the Lord God: For so muche as I Noab and Bar do saye: as for the house of Iuda: it is but life as altho: Gentiles be: For so: yet therefore beholde: I will make the eies of Iuda: as a Noab weaponlike: and take awaye their strength: the eies and chief castles of their Land: which are the pleasures of the countie: The namely: Beth Besmorah: Basithon: and Caribbaim: these will I open vnto them of the East: that they maye fall vpon the Am-monites: and will geue the the in possession: so the Ammonites shal nomore be had in reueruance amonge the Heberns. Euen thus wil I punish Noab also: that they maye knowe howe that I am the Lord.

¶ Moreover: thus sayeth the Lorde God: Because that I Edom hath augmented: and as I said him sette vpon the house of Iuda: therefore: Thus saith the Lorde: I will reach out my hand my hande vpon Edom: and take awaye man and best: out of it. From Thannun vnto to Dedan: will I make it desolate: they shal be slaine: with the swerde. I will eate my people of Israel: will I change me againe vnto Edom: they shall handle him: accord-dinge to my wrath: and indignacion: so that they shall knowe my vengeance: sayeth the Lorde God.

¶ Thus saith the Lorde God: For so muche as the Philistines haue despised my name: I will take vengeance: with thyng: full of fles: and of an obiect: which thou hast set to despoyle: therefore thus saith the Lorde God: Beholde: I will stretch out my hande hande ouer þe Philistines / a Destroye the Destroyer / a cause alle the remauns of the see coast to perish. I great vengeance wil I take vpon them; and punisþ them cruelly: that they maye knowe / howe that I am the Lorde / which haue auenged me of them.

The XXV. Chapter.

And it happened that in the xiij. yere / the first daye of the month; the woide of Lorde came vnto me; sayinge: Thou sonne of man / because that Tyre hath spoken vpon Ierusalem. Thus saith the Lorde God: I wil destroye my belly ful. Yee therefore saye to the Lorde God: Beholde O Tyre; I wil pouer thee; I wil bringe a great multitude of people against the / like as when the see tryeth his routes. These shall beate the wcelles of Tyre; and cast downe her towres: I wil scrape the gronde from her; and make her a bare stone; yee; so the waenge place; where the fishers hange vp their nettes by the see side. Euen I haue spoken it / sayeth the Lorde God. The Gentiles shall spoyle her / her daughter vpon the fildes; shall perish with the sword; that they maye knowe howe that I am the Lorde.

And thus saith the Lorde God: Beholde; I wil bringe babilon / a chubodone nose; which is the Kinge of Babilon / a Kinge of Kinges; from the North; vpon Tyre; with bowes; sharrowes; shot; and with a greate multitude of people. Thy daughter that are in the land; shall he slay with the sword. But against the he shall make bulwarkes; and graue vp towres; aboue the; a life vp his shield against the. His Kinge; and his all; armies shall be prepare for thy walles; and with his weapons shall hee come thy towres. The dust of his bowes shall couer the; they shall be so many; thy walles shall shake at the noise of the bowmen; darters; and whelkes; when hee cometh to thy portes; so me hee into an open cire. With þe bowes of his bowes; hee shall be made downe all thy streets.

He shall slay thy people with the sword; and hee shall pouer the pilces of thy strength. Thy wall shall wince; thy ciues; and spoyle thy machaundise. Thy walles shall they beate downe; / a Destroye thy houses of pleasure. Thy stones; thy symbols; and foundations; shall they cast in the water. I thus wil I bringe the melody of thy songes; and the voice of thy minstrelly; to an ende; so that they shall nor more hee. I will make a bare stone of the see; / a vengeance place for nettes; so that they shall be builded againe. For euen I the Lorde haue spoken it; saith the Lorde God; / thus haue spoken the Lorde God spoken concerninge Tyre. The Lorde haue moued at the noise of thy fall; and at the crye of the floure; that shall be murdered in the. All Kinges of the see; shall come downe from theys seates; regall; they shall laye awaie their robes; / and put of their costlyi clothinge; yee; with trauelinge shall they be clothed; they shall sit vpon the ground; they shall be afrayed at thy suddaine fall; and be chasted at the.

They shall mouere for the; and laye vnto the: I O thou noble cire; hast bene so greatly occupied of folde; thou hast bene the strongest vnto I see; thine inhabitors; of whom all men feare in feare: Howe are thou now so wretchedly destroyed; Now at the nme of thy fall the inhabitors of the see; and the Lorde them selves shall stande in feare at thine ende. For thus saith the Lorde God: when I make þe a desolate cire; as other cires be; that no man recollect in; a wbe I bringe the see vpon the; that grete waters maye couer the: Then wil I cast the youne out of them; that be; de men the pyre; into a people that hath bene longe dead; and set the in a land; yee; that search; like the olde world; eresse; with them which goe downe; there greates; so that none shall be made in the. And I wil make the to be no more in honoure; in the lende of the; yuinge. I will make an ende of the; and thou shalt be gone. Though thou be sought; for yee; shall thou nor be founde; for euer more; saith the Lorde God.

The XXVII. Chapter.

And the woide of the Lorde came vnto me; / sayinge: O thou sonne of man; make a lamentable complainie vpon Tyre; and saye vnto Tyre; which is a pille of the see; that occupieth with muche people; and many floures; thus speaketh the Lorde God: O Tyre; thou hast said; I am a noble cire; by buildere are in the middest of the see; and thy buildere haue

The XXVIII. Chapter.

The worde of the Lorde came vnto me/sayinge: Thou sonne of man/tell I prayce of Tyre: Thou sayest the Lorde God: Beccause thou hast a proude heart/and hast said: I am a God/I haue my seat in the middest of the see: like a God: where as thou art but a man and not God:/and yet standest in thine own conceit/that thou art God: Behold/thou thinkest thy selfe wyser then I sa-ieth: that there is no secretes byd from the-with thy wisdom and thy vnderstanding/thou hast gotten the great wealthesse:/and gathered treasure of siluer and golde. With thy great wisdom and occupynges/hast thou increased thy power/and because of thy great riches thy heart is proude.

Therefore thus saith I Lorde God: So so much as thou hast lift vp thine heart/as though thou werest godlike: hold/I will bring enemies vpon thee/when the tyranies of the Heathen: these shall haue ouer thee swar-de vpon thy beauty and wysdomes/and shall despise thy glory. They shall castle the vaine of the pyre/so that thou shalt dye in the myddell of the see/as they that be slayne. Let thy selfe knowe that thou art but a man/and not God: in the handes of them that slay the.
Dye shalt thou/when as the vaine conceits in the bowdes of the enemy: for I my selfe haue spoken vnto/that the Lorde God.

Moreover the worde of the Lorde came vnto me sayinge: Thou sonne of man/make a lamentable complainte ouer the synge of Tyre/tell him: Thou sayest the Lorde God: Thou art a cite of a hye ciuill/ full of wisdom and excellent beauty. Thou hast bene in the pleasur garden of God: thou art decre with all maner of precious stones: rubys/Topas/Chrysolit/ Iuyne/onyx/ Jasper/ Saphire/Smaragd/ each vnder a golde. Thy beauty as the holes that be in the/ were see forth in the bay of thy creation. Thou art a saye Cherub/stretchyd wyde out for to eauer.

I haue for the vpon the holy mounte of God/there hast thou bene/and walked among the saye glisteringe stones. From the tyme of thy creation thou hast bene night eyes: lens/ my wickednesse was a sounde in the. The cause of thy greute marchaundise/ thy heart is full of wickednesse/and thou hast offendid.

Therefore will I castle thee from the mounte of God:/ I will coueringe the Cherub/ and de-stroye the among the glisteringe stones. Thy heart was proude in thy saye beauty/ and therefore thy beauty thou hast desired thy wisdom: I will cast I vnto thee to the ground/ that in the sight of Kinges. Thou shalt despych thy Sanctuary/ with the great wickednesse of thy vntowenaua occupynges. I will bringe a fyre from the myddell of the/ to consume the: and will make the to ashyra/ in the sight of all them that looke vpon the. All they that haue bene acquainted with the amonge the Heathen/ shall be abashed at the: sayng: thou art so cleue thoughte to naughte/ a committest no more vp.

And the worde of the Lorde came vnto me sayinge: Thou sonne of man/ set thy face against Tyre/ Prophete against and speake: 3rd 44 Thou sayest the Lorde God: Beholde a Citie 3rd 44 whom I will vpon the/ as yet me honoure in the that it maye be knowen/ howe that I am the Lorde/ wher I punish beca/ a yet me honoure in the. For I will sende pestilence/ and bloude sheddinge/ in the streets/ so that those which be slayne with the swerde/ shall ye counte as house in the myddell of the/ as they that knowe/that I am the Lorde. Shee shall nomore be a pye in the/ nor an burninge tree/ into the house of Iherusalem/ nor vnto them that ye counte aboute her/ and hate her: and they shall knowe/ that I am the Lorde.

Thou sayest the Lorde God: wher I gather the husbandholde of Iherusalem/ together be againe/from the nations amonge whom they be scattered: in that I be sanctified in the/ in the sight of the Gentiles: as they shall weel in the land/ wher I gave to my seruants Iacob. They that shall safely the can/ build houses/ and plant vineyardes: they shall they well therein/ when I haue punished all those/ that despise them rounde aboute: and then shall they knowe/ that I am the Lorde thy God.

When the xl. yeares are expired / I will gather the Egyptians together againe out of the nations / amonge to home they were scattered / and wil bringe the presence of Egypte againe into the lande of Darbures their own nation countie / so that they may be there a lowly smal Kingdome: yee / they shall be the smallest.

amonge other Kingdomes / as they create the selfe about the Gentien: so: I will so mysse them / that they shall namour rule the Gentien. They shall not more be an hope vnto the house of Israel: neither prouoke them any more to wrath: neither / so cause them turne backe / and to solowme them: and they shall knowe / that I am the Lo:de God.

In the xxxv. yeares / the full daye of the first month / came the worde of the Lo:de vnto me / sayinge: Thou sonne of man / Nabuchodonosor / the Kinge of Babilon hath made his hooste / with great trauaile and labour to come before Tyre: that everye hyde maye be sold: and everye shoulder bare. Yet hath Tyre greuen neither him nor his hoost / any reward / for the great trauaile that he hath taken there. Therefore thus saith the Lo:de God: Be bold: I will giue the lande of Egypte vnto Nabuchodonosor / the Kinge of Babilon: that he maye take awaye all her substance: cobbler her robbetrees / and spoyle her spoiles / so paye his hooste their wages: with all / I will giue him the lande of Egypte / for his labour: that he take for me before Tyre. With same time wil I cause the house of the house of Israel to growe south / and open the house of Israel amonge them: that they maye knowe / howe that I am the Lo:de.

Whereof the worde of the Lo:de came / I vnto me / sayinge: Thou sonne of man / prophete and speake / thus saith the Lo:de God: Mourn / we weep / thus saith the Lo:de: so come the dark daye of the Gentien: the house is at hande / the swerde cometh vpon Egypte. When the wounded men fall vnto in Egypte / when her people are taken awaye / and when her foundations are destroyed / the Mo:riane lande / Lybia and Lybia / all their roman people / and Eub / and all that be confederate vnto them / shall fall with them / so that the swerde.

Thus saith the Lo:de: The maineyners of the lande of Egypte shall fall / the pyde of her power shall come vnto / ceter vnto the source of Cyrene shall they be flayn / vnto the swerde / saith the Lo:de God: amonge other other desolate countries they shall make desolate / and amonge other waste cities they shall waste. And they shall knowe that I am the Lord / when I finde a hye in Egypt / and when all her helpes are destroyed.

At that time shall my saungers go forth from me / shippes to make the easteleste Nations afraid: and soweres shall come upon the in the Bay of Egypt / for doubtles it shall come. Thus saith the Lord God: I will make an ende of the people of Egypt / because the hande of Abudodonoforsyng of Babilon. He and his people with him / yee / and the cruel tyrants of the Heathen shall be brought so theyre the lande. They shall sower one their swordes upon Egypt / and fill the lande full of slainnesse. I will drye up their founteyns of water / and fill the lande into the handes of weyld people. The lande and all that is therein / I will destroye them / the enemies. When I the Lord have saide it.

E And thus saith the Lord God: I will destroye the Idols / and bringe the ymages of Noph to an ende. There shall nomore be a prince of Egypt / and a fearefulnesse will I finde into the Egyptian lande. As for Dariusus / I will make it desolate / and fynde a hye in Joan Alexandria will I punish / and poure my wrathfull indignacion upon Sin / which is the strength of Egypt. All the substance of Alexandria will I destroye / a fynde a hye in Egypt.

Sin shall be in greate beautie / Alexandria shall raze out / and Noph shall have sayle forre. The bestemen of Schopis / a Bubastis shall slayne with the sword / and eared awaye captiue. In Tophis the Pye shall be / when I shall there the captiue of the lande of Egypt / and when the pompe of her prynces shall haue an ende. A cloud shall couer her / and her stronges shall be ledde awaye into the captiue. Thus will I punish Egypt / that they maye knowe / howe that I am the Lord.

D It happened in xi. yeare / upon the tenth daye of the first moneth / that the Lordes word came vnto me / sayinge. Beholde / thou sonne of man / I will breake the arme of Pharao King of Egypt: and lo / it shall not be founde vpon the head / nor in the hand / nor in any place of layed vpon it / for to ease it / or to make it so stronge / as to holde a sword. Therefore thus saith the Lord God. Beholde / I will vnto Pharao the King of Egypt / a staffe his staffe of arme / for so it but a broken one. I will smyte the swordes out of his hande.

As for the Egyptians / I will scatter them amonge the Heathen / a sowere them in the landes about. Again I will strengthen the arme of the King of Babilon / a gentylis my sword in his hande: but I will breake Pharaos arme / so that he shall holde it before him preciously / like a wounded man.

Yee / I will stablish the Kinge of Babilon / a arme / the oemes of Pharaos shall fall / vnto that it maye be knowen / that I am the Lord / which gentylis the Kinge of Babilon my sword in his hande / that he maye sware it out vpon the lande of Egypt: that when I scatter the Egyptians amonge the Heathen / and stowe them in the landes about / that they maye knowe that I am the Lord.

The XXXI. Chapter.

D Occurren happened in the xi. yeare the firste daye of the third moneth / that the wordes of the Lord came vnto me / sayinge. Thou sonne of man / speake vnto Pharao the Kinge of Egypt / a to all his people: Whome art thou lyke in thy greatness? Beholde / Asfur was hys a Cedre tree vpon the mounte of Libanus / with sayre & amoydes: so thicke that he gaue shadowe / and shot out very hye. His rapps reached vnto the cloudes. The waters made him greace / and the depe sea hym vp an hye. Rounde aboute the roces of him ranne these fountes of water / he sente out his hyle rymers vnto all the roces of the silde. These waies hys then all the roces of the silde / and thosome the multitude of waies that he sente from him / he captiued many and longe distanced. All folowes of his made their nestes in his shadowe / vnder his shadowe gentled alle the bestes of the silde / a vnder his shadowe dwelid all peop. Saye and steinfull was he in his greatness / and in the lengthe of his shadowe / for his roces stode besyde greate waters: no Cedre tree myghte byde him. In the pleasaunt garden of Ged / there was no fyre tree / he shadowe / vnder the pleasaunt trees were nolye the bowes runne like oyle / saith the Lorde God: whē I made the lande of Egypte desolate / and when the countrey with all that is therein shalbe laide wast: and when I bringe them wilde Beest in it: that they may knowe / that I am the Lorde. This is the mourning: that the Daughters of the Hierichsal make: See a satarie and lamentation shall they take up upon Egypte and all her people / saith the Lorde God.

In the 34. yeare / the 30. daie of the moneth came the word of the Lorde vnto me saying: Thou sonne of man. Take vp a lamentacion vpon the people of Egypte: / and cast them downe: see / and the mighty people of the Ieribin also: euen with them that dwell vnder: and with them that goe downe into the graue. Downe (how faste souerē thou be) and laye the with the vncircumcised. And those that he slayeth with the sword: / shall they lye. The sword is greeued already: he shalbe vnto foure and all his people. The mighty warrior and his helpers: / that he gone downe and lye with the vncircumcised: and with them that he slayeth with the sword shall speake to him out of the hell.

Thus is there also with his company / and their graues rounde about: which were slain and slayd with the sword: whose graues lye beside him in the lower pyrie. His commons are buried rounde about his graue: also other wounded and slaine with the sword: which men also: runne through the fiere into the lande of the lyinge.

Eze. xlij. f.
Dan. viij. a

There is I Elans also with all his people: and their graues rounde about: which all deynge wounded and slaine with the sword: are gone downe vncircumcised vnder the earth: which neuertheless sometime thoughte feare in to the lande of the lyinge: for the which cause they beare their shame: with the other that be gone downe to the graue.

That burst all in greeue them and all they people: amonge them that be slaine. These graues are rounde about all them: which be vncircumcised: and with them that be slaine howe the sword: for they saye that in times past they made the land of the lyinge afraid: they must now beare their owne shame: with them that goe downe to the pyrie: / and lye amonge them that be slaine.

There is I Nefsch also / and Tubal / a theie people: and their graues rounde about. These all are amonge the vncircumcised: / and them that be slaine with the sword: because a foine time they made the lande of the lyinge a fraud.

Shoulde not they then lye also amonge the wounded: and vncircumcised: Giantes which with their weapons are gone downe to hell:
whose swordes are laid vnder their brades: whose wickednesse is upon their brades: / Because that as traitours / they haue thoughte fiere into the lande of the lyinge: See / amonge the vncircumcised shalbe thou be destroyed: a sleepe with them that prisede thowme the sword.

There is the lande of I Edom with her kinges and princes also: which with their flint grife are layed by them that were slaine with the sword: see / amonge the vncircumcised: / and the which are gone downe into the purgation: there be all 3 princes of the North with all the Sidonians: / which are gone downe to the slaine.

With their fiere and strenght they are come to confusion: and lye there vncircumcised: / amonge those that be slaine with the sword: / and beare their owne shame: with them that be gone downe in the pyrie: I tell when Pharao seeth this: he shalbe confounded out of his people: that is slaine with the sword: both Pharao and all his hoste: / saith the Lorde God. For I haue gaine my fiere in the lide of the lyinge: But Pharao and all his people shall lye amonge the vncircumcised: / and amonge them that be slaine with the sword: saith the Lorde God.

The XXXIij. Chapter.

As I came / the word of the Lorde came vnto me sayng: Thou sonne of man: Speake to the children of thy people: and tell them: When I sende a sword vpon a lande: / if the people of the lande take a man of their countrey and set him to be their watchman: come the same man: when he seyth the sword: come vpon the lande: shal blowe the trumpet: / and warne the people.

If a man now beare the nase of the trumpet: and will not be warned: and the sword come and

and take him away: his bloude shall be upon his owne head: for he herde the sounde of the trompe/ and wolde not cōfesse/ therefore his bloude be upon him. But if he will receaue warninge/ he shall saue his life. Agayne/ if the wardman se the sword come/ and shew it not with the trompe/ so that the people is not warned/ if the sword come then/ a take any man from amonge the/ the same shall be taken awaye in his owne synne/ but his bloude will I requere of the wardmans hande.

B And now/ O thou sonne of man/ I haue made thee a wardman vnto the house of Israhel: that wher as thou hearest any thinge out of my mouth/ thou mayest warne them on my behalfe. If I saye vnto the wicked/ thou wilt saye/ I shall surely dye: and thou giuest him no warninge/ that he maye be ware of his vngodly waye: thou shalt the wicked dye in his owne synne/ but his bloude will I requere of thy hande. Heuethis/ if thou warne the wicked of his waye/ to turne from it/ where as he yet wil not be turned from it: thou shalt be dye because of his synne/ but thou shalt be saved thy soule.

Therfore/ O thou sonne of man/ speake vnto the house of Israhel/ I saye thus: Once of fence and synne/ he vpon vs / and we be couped: in thys/ howe should we then be restored vnto life? Will theym: I As truly as I liue/ saith the Lorde God/ I haue no pleasure in the death of the wicked/ but rather desire that the wicked turne from his waye and liue. Turne you / turne you / for your vngodly wayes/ o ye of the house of Israhel. O where will ye dye?

O thou sonne of man/ tell the children of israhel people: I The righteousnesse of the righteous shall not saue him / when he seeth hee euery waye vnjustly: Agayne/ the wickednesse of the wicked shall not hurt him / when he seeth hee commeth from his vngodlynesse.

And the righteousnesse of the righteous shall not saue his life/ when he seeth hee sinneth. If I saye vnto the righteous / that he shall surely liue / also he shall to his owne righteousnesse/ and so sinneth/ then shall his righteousnesse be nomie thought vpon/ but in the wickednesse that he hath done/ he shall dye.

Agayne/ if I saye to the wicked/ thou shalt surely dye: and so he turne from his synnes/ a so the thinge that is lawfull and right: In so much that the same wicked man curth the pledge agayne/ and saith that he hath taken awaye by robbery/ & will not in the common demerits of life/ and doeth no wronge.

Then shall he surely liue/ and not dye. Yet/ the synne that he had done/ shall not be thought vpon/ for in so much as he doeth now the thinge that is lawfull and right/ he shall liue. And yet the children of the people saye/ Cursed is the waye of the Lorde: is not right/ where as their owne waye is rather vnright.

When the righteous turneth frō his righteousnesse/ and doeth the thinge that is wicked/ he shall dye therfore. But if the wicked turne from his wickednesse/ doinge the thinge that is lawfull and right/ he shall liue therfore. I saye saye: I the waye of the Lorde is not equal. O ye house of Israhel/ I will iudge euery one of you after his wayes.

In the xij. yeare/ the wayes of the x. month of our captiuitie/ it happened vnto me one which was fled out of Ierusalem/ came vnto me / & sayd: the euill is destroyed. Now the hande of the Lorde had bene vpon me / the euening afore thou wast / which was cleped / came vnto me / and had opened my mouth vntill the morninge that he came to me: Ie / he opened my mouth / so that I was vnto domme. Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto me / and sayd: Thou sonne of man / seest thou that I haue drest in the wastylle lande of Israhel/ saie: Abraham was buye man / and he had the lade in possession: now are we many / and the lande is gotten vnto possession also. And therfore tell them:

Thou saiest the Lorde/ I In the bloude haue I ye eaten / your eyes haue ye liff vp to Idols/ & haue shed bloude: shall ye then haue the lande in possession?

Ie leane vpon your seruantes / ye make abhominacions/ euery one desyleth his neyghbour vnto his neyghbour: shall ye then possesse the lade? Saye thou thes wordes vnto them: I thus saie the Lorde God: As truly as I liue / all ye that dwell in this wilderness / shall be slayne with the sword: what is it vpon the fild / will I geue vnto dralles to be deuoured: where as be in stronge holdes / and vnto / shall dye of the pestilence. For I will make

Therefore thus saith the Lord God vnto to them: Beholde / I will fence the fat shepe from the lean: so fo muche as ye haue shee the weake shepe vpon the sydes and shoulders / and ruine vpon them with your hounds / so longe till ye haue vnto theye feared them abroode. I will helpe my shepe / so that they shall nomore be spoiled: yee / I will discerne one shepe from another. I will raise vp vnto

I Daud / he shall fede the / and he shall be the shepheard. I the Lord will be their God / and my seruauit Daud shall be their p. mee.
Euen I the Lord haue spoken it.

Moreover / I will make a cōuenant of peace with them / and theye all shall dwell vnto land: so that they maye dwell safely in the wil-dernes / and slepe in the woodes / Wood fournace and prosperitie will I geue them / vnto all that be cōuind abaynt my hyl. I prospertye shall shewe a cōuēt will I sende them in due season / that the tree in the wode maye bringe forth their frutes / & the grounde bee increace.
They shall be safe in their lades / and shall knowe that I am the Lord / which haue broke their yoke / and deliued them out of the handes of those that helde them in subiection.

They shall nomore be spoiled of the hey-den / nor deuoured with y beasts of the lade: but safely shall they dwell / and no man shall fearc them / I will set vp an excellent plant for them / so that they shall suffre nomore hunger in the lands / neither deere the repose of the heyl: any more. Thus shall they vnderstande / that I the Lord their God am with them / and that theye / euen the house of Israel / are my people / euen I the Lord God. Ye men acc-the Lord: God: Stringe ye be washed and trahed doun on every syde / and become a possi-sion vnto the residue of the Gentiles / which haue brought you into mens mouths a vnto an euil name amonge the people: Therefore heare the word of the Lord: God: ye mountayntes of Israel: Thus saith the Lord: God vnto the mountaynes and hilles / valleys and Vallies / vnto the wydes wildernesses and desolate places / which are spoiled / and haden derision on every syde / amonge the residue of the heethen: For thus saith the Lord: God: In the daye I will againe the residue of the Gentiles / and Ezechiel 37:21

 a gap in all the Edom: which haue taken in my lade vnto the silkes for a possession: which also reioyced from this whole herce with a despi-refull stomack: to resist / and to spoyle it.

B Prophecy therfore vpon the laide of Israel / speake vnto the mountaynes and hilles / vnto the valleys and dales: thus saith the Lord God: Behold / thus haue I accused in my ierously and terrible wrath: for so much as ye haue siffred reproche of the heathen / therfore thus saith the Lord: God: I haue sene / that the Gentiles which lye aboute you / shall beare your confusion them silkes. And as for you / mountaynes of Israel: ye shall shute out your euil things / and bringe forth your frute vnto my people of Israel / for it is harde by that it will come.

Ezechiel 37:3
 I come vnto you / and vnto you will I reuene / ne that ye maye be filled and for-wite. I will sate you with people / which shall be al of the house of Israel / the cities shall be inhabited / and the decayed places shall be repaired againe. I will prouide you with much people and cattell / which shall increase a bringe frute. I will restore you also to your old estate / and then you more kindness the cure ye had before: whereby ye shall knowe / that I am the Lord: Your people will I send vnto you / to my silkes of Israel / which shall haue the in possession / and shall be their inheritance / so that they shall nomore be without them. A Ezechiel 37:4
 I againe thus saith the Lord: God: for so much as they say vnto you / that you are an eater up of mens / a wasiler of thy people: therefore thou shalt reuene / and restore the people any more / saith the Lord: God. And I will not suffice the / for to heare thine owne confusion amonge the Gentiles from henceforth.

 Thou shalt not beare the reproche of the naci-ons: no: cast out thine owne people any more / saith the Lord: God.

Moreover / the word of the Lord came vnto me / sayinge: O thou sonne of man / when the house of Israel dwelth vpon their owne grounde / they despised them selves with their owne waies and ymaginations: that in my sighte there were was like the wickednes of a men: as a woman. Wherefore I poured my wrathfull displeasure vpon them / because of the bloud that they had shed in the land / and because of their Idols / wherewith they had defyled them selves. I feared the also because of the heathen / so that they were sro-wed aboute in the land: Accordinge to their wyces and after their owne iudgements / so I punished them.

I knowe wher they were gone vnto the Grethen / and came in amonge them / they dishonoured my holy name: so that it was sayde of them: See this the people of God / and must go out of their owne land: Then spake I my holy name / whiche the house of Israel had dishonoured amonge the Gentiles / to whom they came. Therefore / all the house of Israel thus saith the Lord: God: I do not thinke for your sakes / O house of Israel / but for my holy names sake / which ye dishonoured amonge the heathen: when ye came to the heathen / I will halowe my great name / againe: which amonge the Gentiles is not spoken of for ye your selfe: I haue dishonoured it amonge them. And the Gentiles shall knowe / that I am the Lord: when I shall be honoured in you before their eyes / saith the Lord: God.

As for you / I will take you first amonge the heathen / I gather you together out of all countries: and bringe you againe into your owne lande. Then will I prouide cleare water vpon you / and ye shall be cleare: Ye shall also in all your cleanness see all your Idols / that I shall I will reuene also / and I will geue you / and a new spirit: and I will put into you. As for the stout heart / I will take it out of your body / and geue you a fleshy heart. I will geue you my spirit: and you shall reuene / and I will cause to walke in my commandments: and ye shall be reuene / and I will geue you / and I will fulfill them.

And so ye shall dwell in the lande that I gaue to your forefathers / as ye shall be my people / and I will be your God: I will helpe you out of all your iniquities / I will call for the come: and will increase it / and will let you haue no hunger. I will multiply the fruite of the trees / and the increase of the selde for you / so that ye shall haue no more reproofe of hunger amonge the Heathen. Then shall ye remember your owne wicked wayes / and your magnificacions / which were not good: so that ye shall not be ashamed at your owne selves / for reason of your synnes / and abominacions.

f But I will not do this for your sakes / sayeth the Lord God: but ye are sure of it. Therefore saye house of Israel: he hath asumed of your sinnes. Therefore saith the Lord God: what tyme as I shall cleanse you from all your offences / then will I make the euill to be occupied against / and will expiate the place that be desolate. The desolate lande shall be buylded agayne / whiche afore tyme laye wast / in the sight of all them that write by. Their shall be sayde: This wayll lande is become like a garden of pleasure / and the wayde / desolate / and high in doune cities / are now stronge and sensid agayne. The which is due of the Heathen that he cometh aboute you / shall knowe that I am the Lord / which repaie that was buylded downe / and planis agayne that was made wast. When I the Lord haue spokn / and will do it in dre.

Thus saith the Lord God: I will yet once be founde agayne of the house of Israel / and da thus for the: I shall increase them as a flocke of sheepe. Like as the holy flocke / and the flocke of Ierusalem are in the shepheardes pasture: so shall also the wilde wasted cotes be filled with flocke: of sheepe: and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

3 The behoude of the Lord came vpon me / and eaced me out in the spere of Ierusalem / and let me downe in a playne side that laye full of bones: a by led merounde aboute by them: and beholds: the bones that laye vpon the selde / were very many / and many laye drye also. Then sayde he vnto me: Thou sonne of man: thus saith the Lord God: these bones are many: thus saith the Lord God: O Lord God!

those that are dead. And he sayde vnto me: Prophete thou vpon these bones / and speake vnto them. Ye saye bones: here the word is of the Lord. Thus saith the Lord God vnto these bones: Beholde / I will put breath into you / that ye maye liue: I will geue you synewes / and make flesh growe vpon you / and couer you ouer with skynne: and so geat you I both that ye in myselfe / and knowe that I am the Lord.

So I prophesied / as he had commaunded me: And as I was prophesyinge / these came to me: and a great motion / so that the bones ranne euery one to another. Now when I had seld / beholde / they had synewes / and flesh growe vpon them: and aboute they were couered with skynne / but there was no breath in them. Then sayde he vnto me: Thou sonne of man / passe thy spirit toward the mynde prophete / and speake to the wynde: Thus saith the Lord God: Come to thou saye: from the foure wyndes / and blowe vpon these flaines: that they maye be restored to life. So I prophesied / as he had commaunded me: Then came the breath vnto them / and they eceasid life / and stood vp vpon their feet: / a maruailous loue great foite.

Moreover he sayde vnto me: Thou sonne of man / these bones are the whole house of Israel. Beholde / they saye: our bones are drye / and our hope is gone / we are cleane cut of: Therefore prophete thou / and speake vnto the. Thus saith the Lord God: Beholde / I will open your graues / O my people / and take you out of your sepulchres / and bringe you into the lande of Israel agayne. So shall ye knowe that I am the Lord: when I open your graues / a dunge you out of them. My spere also will I put in you / and ye shall liue: I will set you agayne in your owne lande / as ye shall knowe that I am the Lord: which haue sayde it / and fulfilled in dre.

The word of the Lord came vnto me / sayinge: Thou sonne of man / take a stick and write vpon it: vnto Iuda and to the chydren of Israel his companyons. Then take another stick / and write vpon it: vnto Ioseph the sticke of Ephyraim / and so all the house hold of Israel bys companyons. And thou shalt be both these together in thine hande / so shall there be one street thereof. Now if the children of thy people say unto thee: wilt thou not shewe us what thou meanest by these? Then give them this answer: Thus saith the Lord God: Behold: I will take the sheefe of Joseph/ which is in the bande of Ephraim/ and of the tribe of Simeon byo followers/ and will put these in the sheefe of Judah/ and make the one sheefe: and they shall be one in my bande. And the more they were upon thou wylst/ shall thou haue in thine bande that they maye see/ and thou shalt see vnto them:

Thus saith the Lord God: behold: I will take awaye the children of Simeon from amonge the Hebrewes/ vnto whom they be gone/ and will gather them together on curry fode/ and bringe them agayne into their owne lande: yee/ I will make one people of the in the lande/ upon the mountayne of Israel/ and they all shall haue but one kinge. They shall not more be two peoples from henceforth/ neyther be divided into two kyngdomes: they shall also despyse the false doctrine with their abominacions/ Soles and all their wicked doynge.

I will helpe the out of all their wicked plannes/ and herein they haue synned: and will save eleaseth. In that they shall be my people/ and I their God.

And my seruants/ shall be their kinge/ and they all shall haue one shepheard only. They shall walke in my lawes/ as my edwardmentments shall theye both sepe. I will dwell in the lande/ that I gaue vnto Jacob my seruants/ where as your fathers also haue dwelt. I will dwell in the same lande/ shall theye their children/ as their children dwell for euermore: and my seruants shall be their recourching paine. Moreover/ I will make a bande of peace with them/ which shall be vnto them an euellashinge conuenance. I will make the also/ and multiple them/ my Sanctuary will I set amonge the for euermore.

They dwellinge shall be with the yee/ I will be their God/ as theye shall be my people. Thus he: He hath also shal knowe that I the Lord am y holy maker of Israel: whi my Sanctuary shall be amonge the for euermore.

I Will the word of the Lord came vnto me/ sayinge: Thou sonne of man/ turne thy face toward the chieff pinnar at Mesoch and Tubal: prophete agaynst byrm/ and saye: Thus saith the Lord God: I will bringe thee out of Mesoch and Tubal: behold: I will bringe thee out/ and will turne the aboute/ and put a byr in thy chawce: I will bringe the forth and all thine boosle/ both horse and bestine/ which be all weapened of the beste fashion: a grete people that hidde altogether their faces/ theye also and freache: the Perses/ Aithians and with them the Lybians which all bare shoydes and helmets: Somer/ and all his boosles: the house of Togomoa out of the North quarter/ and all his boosles/ yee/ and much people with the.

Ex. xxxij. b
Joan p. d

These prepar the/ sit thy self in at the all thy people/ that are come vnto the by boosle/ as be thou their defence. After many dayes thou shalt be visited/ and in the latter season thou shalt come into the lande/ which hath bene destroyed with the sword: a note is spiritus shed agayne with diuers people yd mountayne of Israel/ which haue long ly wayst. Yee/ they be brought out of the naacoms and vnto all set. Thou shalt come vp like a stormy wyther to couer the lande/ as a storme/ a dark cloud: thou wylt all thine boosles/ as a grete multitude of people with the.

Moreover thou spech the Lord God: Behold: I will bringe thee many thinges come in to thy mynde/ both thou shalt imagine thy chawce/ and saye: I will put 100 yonder playne lande/ sayinge theye lie at ease/ and dwell so safely/ for theye dwell all without any walles/ theye haue neyther barres nor doores: to spoyle the/ so I obde them/ to lay hande upon them/ to be inhabited with certnesse agaynst that people/ as gathered together from amonge the Hebrewes which haue gotten canell a good/ and dwell in the myddell of the lande. Then shall Gaba/ a Seran and the margarites of the Persis with all their wourde/ saye vnto the: Art thou come to robbe? He shal: thou gatherest thy people together/ because thou wilt spoyle the to take: flure and golde/ to carry awaye canell and good: and to haue a great prey.

Therefore/ thou sonne of man/ thou shalt prophete/ and saye vnto Gog: Thus saith the Lord God: In that daye thou shalt knowe

The Prophet Ezechiel.

Lorde God: Speake vnto all the fooles and euery bynde/ yee/ and to all the wilde beastes of the fild: beape you together/ and come gather you rounde aboute vpon my slaughter: that I haue slayne for you: euen a greace slaughter vpon the mountaynes of Israel: I care flesh/and vyntle bloude. Ye shall eat the flesh of the vyntles/ and vyntle the bloude of the punceo of the lande: of the wethere/ of the lambe/of the goate/ and of the oren that be all slayne at Bajan. Eate the fat youre belly full / and vyntle bloude / till ye be dronke of the slaughter / which I haue slayne on you. Fill you at my table with hairee and steege boium: wch captaynes and all men of warre / saith the Lord God.

I will bingie my glory also amonge Gentiles / that all the Children maye see my iudgment: that I haue kept / and my hande which I haue layed vpon them: that the house of Israel maye knowe / how that I am the Lord God from that daye forth. And Gentiles shall knowe / that wher as the house of Israel were led into captiuite: reuice for thre wekednes sake / because they offended me:

For thv which cause I byd my face fro them/and deliuered them into the handes of their enemies / that they myghte all be slaine with the sword. According to thre vnderleesse and enshynful dealinges / so hate I entre-ued them / and byd my face from them. Therefore thus saith the Lord God: Now wil I bringe againe the captiues of Iacob / and haue mercy vpon the wilde house of Israel / and be gloues for my holy names sake. All their confusion and offence that they haue done against me shall be iefen awaye: and so safely shall they dwell in their lande / that no man shall make thm afraid. And when I haue brought them againe from amonge the people / when I haue gathered them together out of their enemyes landes / and am piayed in them before many Gentiles: then shall they knowe/that I am the Lord their God / which suffered them to be led into captiuite amonge the Gentiles / but now haue broughte the againe into their owne lde / and not left one of them vnder.

After that wil I byd my face no more fro them / but wil poure out my spere vpon the house of Israel / saith the Lord God.

The XL. Chapter.

IN the xxx. yere of oure captiuite / in the 2 begynninge of the yere the 5. daye of the month that is the first yere / after that the enemy was smytte downe: the same daye came the hande of the Lord vpon me / and caried me forth: euen into the lande of Israel broughte he me / in the visions of God: and set me downe vpon a mannyous he mountaine / wher vpon there was a buyldinge (as it had bene of anne) ward the South.

Ther he raiod me / a brybde / there was a man / whose similitude was like bialse / which had a chede of flax in his hande / and a meete cobbe also. His shoo in the dore / I sayde vnto me: make the wch thine eyes herde to wch thine eares / and sullen it in thine heare / wher thence I shall shewe the / for to the intent that they myghte be shewed the / these are thou broughte hither. And wharsoeuer thou seest/thou shalt declare the vnto the house of Israel throv.

Beholde / there was a wall on the outsyde rounde aboute the house: the meete rodde / that he had in his hande / was 6 cubites lode and a sparre. So he measured the bredth of the buyldinge / which was a meete rodde / and the heygth also a meete rodde. Then came he vnto the wall dore / and wente vp the staires / and measured the passie of the dore: wherof euery one was a meete rodde thre. Every chambie was a meete rodde longe and broade: betwene the chambiers were six cubites. The passie of the dore within the porte was one meete rodde. He measured also the porte of the entrance dore / which conteyned a meete rodde.
 The measure of the dore that con-teyned eght cubites / and his pillers two cu-bites: and this entrie stode in wate.

The chambies of the dore wall wode / were the one euery six cubite broade and longe. The pillers also that stode of both the sydes / were of one measure. After this he measured the wy-deth of the dore: which was 6 cubites / and the heygth of the dore six cubites. The edge before the chambies was one cubite broade vpon both the sydes / and the chambies six cubites wyde of euer syde. He measured the dore from the rygge of one chambie / to another / whose wydeth was xxx. cubites / and one

one boxe flobe against another. He made pillars also of fynerme wood round about the court boxe. Before the inward porte unto the four corners of fynerme wood were fyne cubites. The chambers a thry pillars within coude aboute unto the boie had fyde wyndowes: So had the four entrees also / whose wyndowes were rounde aboute within. And upon the pillars there stode Saccres.

¶ Then brought he me into the four court / where as were chambers a paved worke / made in the four court rounde aboute xxx. chambers upon one paved worke. Now the paved worke was a longer besyde the boies / a that was the lower part of worke. After this he measured the breadth from the lower boxe / unto fynerme wood of the outside / which had an hundred cubites upon the East and the North parte. And the boie in the inner most court towards the North / measured he after the length and breadth by the chambers also on either syde / with his pillars and four entrees / which had in the measure of the fyne wood. His height was fyne cubites / the breadth xxx. cubites: his wyndowes and portches with his Saccres / had such like measure as the boie toward the East: three where he stepped to go up upon / and the portche before the North / the boie of the fynerme wood stode straight over against the boie that was towards the North east. From one boie to another he measured an C. cubites.

¶ After that he brought me to the South side: where there stode a boie toward South whose pillars and portches he measured / which had the fyne measure / and with theye portches they had wyndowes rounde aboute / like the fyne wyndowes. The height was fyne cubites / the breadth xxx. with stepped to go up upon: his portche stode before hym / with his pillars and Saccres on either syde. And the boie of the fynerme court stode towards the South / with he measured from one boie to another an C. cubites. So he brought me into the innermost court / whose the boie of the South stode: which he measured / and it had the measure aforesayde. In like manner his chambers / pillars / and four entrees / had such the foresayde measure also. And he had with his portches rounde aboute / winds were of fyne cubites bye / and xxx. cubites broad. The portches rounde about were xxx. cubites long / and v. cubites broad: a his portche reached unto the innermost court: / upon his pillars there were Saccres / and in stepped to go up upon.

¶ He brought me also into the innermost court upon the East syde / and measured the boie according to the measure aforesayde. His chambers / pillars and portches had such the same measure as the fyne had: a with his portches he had wyndowes rounde aboute. The height was l. cubites / the breadth xxx. cubites. His portches reached unto the innermost court / his pillars also had Saccres on either syde / a with stepped to go up upon. And he brought me to the North boie / and measured it / which also had the foresayde measure. His chambers / pillars and portches had wyndowes rounde aboute / whose height was l. cubites / and the breadth xxx. His pillars stode towards the innermost court / a upon them both were Saccres / and in stepped to go up upon. There stode a chamber also / whose innermost was at the boie pillars / and there the burnstoffinges were washed.

¶ In the boie portche there stode on either side two tables for the slaughter: to lay the burnstoffinges / synstoffinges and expiatory offinges thereupon. And on the outside so men go forth to the North boie / there stode two tables. Four tables stode on either side of the boie: whereon lay tables / whereupon they slaughtered. Four tables were of breuen stone for the burnstoffinges / of a cubite and a halfe long / and broad / and one cubite bye: whereupon were layd the vessels and ornaments / which were used to the burnt and flayne offinges / which they were slaughtered. And within there were boxes four / of silver broad / slender rounde aboute / to hang flesh upon: a upon the tables was layd the offinging flesh. On the outside of the innermost boie were the synstoffing chambers / in the inward court beside the North boie over against the South. There stode one also beside the East boie Northward.

¶ And he sayde unto me: This chamber on the South stode longer to the pacificke that kept the habitation: and this towards the North.

The temple.

¶ Da. 310. A North is the puzles that waye vpon the 4c. 2c. 8. f. Aultar which he the sonne of * Sadoch thus do foruce before the Lorde in steade of the wall of Levit. So he measured 3 forecourt/whiche had in lengthe an C. cubits / and as much in bredth by the four corners. Now the aultar stode before the house. And he thought me to the foerentr of the house / and measur ed the walles by the entee Voie: whiche were fyue cubits longe on eether syde. The thicke nest also of the Voie on eether syde was the cubits. The length of the passage was 33. cu bites / the breadth 33. cubits / and vpon steppes went men vp to it: by the walles also were pil lers / on eether syde one.

The XLII Chapter.

¶ After this he thought me to the temple / in which he measured the postes: whiche were of both the sydes vi. cubits thicke / accordinge to the widenesse of the tabernacle. The breadth of the Voie was . cubits / and the walles of the Voie on eether syde fyue cubits. He mea sured the length thereof / which conyered 31. cubits / and the bredth 33. Then wente he in and measured the Voie postes / whiche were two cubits thicke: but the Voies selfe was 33. cubits / and the bredth of the Voie was vi. cubits. He measured the length and bredth thereof / which were euery one 33. cubits be fore the temple.

And he sayde vnto me: this is the holiest of all. He measured also the wall of the house / whiche was 33. cubits. The chambers that stode round about the house / were euery one fyue cubits wyde / and one stode hard vpon another / wherof there were 33. And these stode postes beneith by the walles round about the house / to boare them vp: but in the wall of the house: they were not faste ned. The fyue chambers were the hye / the wyde / and had steppes thow: were them round about the house. This was it wyde / about / that from the lowell / men might go to the hye / and mydd chambers. I sawe also that the house was very hye / vnde aboute. The foundation of the fyue chambers was a meere adde: that is six cubits. broad. The thickenesse of the fyue wal without / cony ered 33. cubits / and so vid the outward of the chambers in the house.

The Prophet Ezechiel.

¶ Berene the chambers / was the wyde nes 33. cubits / vnde aboute the house. The chamberie Voie stode ouer agaynst the ouer wall / the one Voie was towards the North / the other towards the South: and the thicke nest of the surwall was vi. cubits round aboute. Now the buildinge that was separa ted towards the West / was 33. cubits wide the wall of the buildinge was fyue cubits thicke / round aboute / and the lengthe four score cubits and 33. So he measured the house which was an C. cubits longe / and the separated building with the wall / were an C. cubits longe also. The wydenesse before the house / and of it that was separated towards the East / was an C. cubits.

And he measured the lengthe of the Bui ding before and behind with the chambers vpon both the sydes / and it conyered an C. cubits. The ynnertee temple / the poste of the forecourt / the fyde postes / these they had fyde windowes / a pillers rounde aboute against the postes / from the ground vp to the windowes: The windowes them selfes were syled ouer with boades: a thus was it about the Voie into the ynnest house / and without also: For the whole wall on eether syde / both within and without was syled ouer with greate boades. There were Cherubins and Seracrees made also / so that one Seracree stode ouer betwixt two Cherubins: One Cher ub had two faces / the face of a man looking asyde towards the Seracree / and a Lyons face on the other syde. Thus was it made rounde aboute in all the house: For the Serubins a Seracrees were made from the grounde vp about the Voie / and so stode they also vpon the wall of the temple.

¶ The byssion of the temple were foure squared / and the fashion of the Seracree was / asen as it appeareth vnto me asen in the vision. The table was of wood / the cubits be / and two cubits a long: his corners the length / and the walles were of wood.
 And he sayde vnto me: This is the table / that shall stande before the Lord. The temple and the holiest of all had eether of them two bo which were soldered in one vpon another / on euery syde two. And vpon the Voie of the of Iſrael ſhal nomore deſyle my holy name: neyther ſhall they ſing ſongs / ſhewme theyr whoribome / ſhewme theyr bre place / and thou ſhalt ſee the head bodies of theſe ſinges: whiche haue builded theyr ſpokes in maner hard upon my ſpokes: and their poſſe almoſt at my ſpokes: ſa that there is but a bare wall betwixt me and them.

Thus haue they deſyled my holy name with theyr abominations that they haue committed. Wherefore I haue deſtroyed them in my wrath: But now they ſhall put away their whoribome: and the head bodies of their ſinges out of my ſight: that I maye well amange them for euermore. Therefore ſay thou ſonne of man: ſay thou the houſholde of Iſrael a temple: ſhae they maye be aſhamed of their wickedneſſe: and meaſure them ſelfe an temple theras.

And when they ſe aſhamed of all theyr woikes: then ſhew them the ſourme and ſaſſion of the temple: the commynge in / the goynge out: all the maner and deſcription thereof: ſee / all the ſize and ordinaunces of it: and deſcribe it befor them: that they maye ſee and fulfill all the ſaſſions and cuſtomes thereof.

This is the deſcription of the houſe: Aboute upon the inoure rounde aboute all the corners / it ſhalbe the height of all beholde: that is the deſcription and ſaſſion of the houſe. This is the meaſure of the aulter (after the true cubite) which is a ſpaine longer then another cubite) his bottom in the myddelt was a cubite lōge and wyde: and the ledge that went rounde aboute it was a ſpaine broade. This is the height of the aulter: ſrom the ground to the lower ſteppe / the leighth is two cubites: and the height one cubite: and fro the lower ſteppe to the higher are four cubites / and the height one cubite.

The aulter was four cubites hie / and from the aulter upwarde ſide four homes / and it was ſid cubites longe and ſid cubites broade upon the four corners: the eoueringe of the aulter was. xii. cubite lōge and ſid upon the four corners / and the ledge that went rounde aboute had halfe a cubite: and the ſomone thereof counde aboute one cubite: his ſteppe ſode towards the eaſt. To the queſtion: and to ſpynke bloude: ſhae be of the ſide of the aulter: and ſaith befor me to do me ſerue: laye the Lorde God: Unto theſe greue thou a yonge Bullcke for a ſyn offeringe: and take the bloude of him / and ſpynke his foure homes withal: and the foure corners of the aulter eoueringe / with the ledge that went rounde aboute: then ſhalte thou cleaſe it / and reconle it. Thou ſhalte take the Bullcke alſo of the ſyn offeringe / and burne him in a ſewell place withoute of the Sanctuary.

The nexte daye: take a goat ſock withoute ſtemh for a ſyn offeringe: and reconle the aulter withall: like as it was ordinaunced with the Bullcke. Now when thou haſt made it cleaſe: then offre a yonge Bullcke / withouthe ſtemh: and a ramme out of the flocke withoute ſtemh alſo: Offre them diſore the Lorde: a let the preſt caſt ſalt thereupon: and gate the ſeuen dayes ſhalte thou ſang tuncy that a goat ſock. A yonge Bullcke and a ramme of the flocke: both withoute ſtemh: ſhal they offre. Seuen dayes ſhal they reconle and cleaſe the aulter: and offre vpon it. When theſe dayes are expyred: then upon the viij daye and ſo forth: the queſtion ſhal offre their burnt offerings: and healthfull einge upon the aulter: ſo wil I be mercyfull vnto you: ſaith the Lorde God.

ſaith the Lord God: he thoughte me agayne to the Ierouſalme: and that was ſeuen. Then ſaide the Lorde vnto me: This voide ſhalbe ſtill ſhut: and not opened for any man to go throuwe it: ſerue only for the Lorde God of Iſrael: yet he ſhall go throuwe it: ſhae he be ſhut ſtill. The ſpence him ſelfe ſhall come in: howe that he maye care dead befor the Lorde. The portche ſhall be come in / and there ſhall he go oute agayne. and I will vomit upon my face. So the Lord De spake unto me. Thou soune of musick / sasigne these to all the odinaunces of the Lord Deant all his lawes: ponde well with thine Deant the coming in of the house / and the goyng: fo: th of the Sanctuary / and tel that obshinate beuholdes of Israel. Thus saith the Lord God: My house of Israel: ye haue now Baine ynough with els your abhominacione / seyng: that ye haue brought into my Sanctuary strangers / hauntings encircumcisid beries and fleth: yette thowre my Sanctuary in veselid: when ye offere my bread: fat and bloude.

Thus willall yoore abhominacione ye haue broken my conuenance / and not kepte the holy odinaunces of my Sanctuary: thus sei I of you of my Sanctuary: thus seie your owne myndes. Therefore thus saith the Lord De God: Of all the strangers that dwell as monge the children of Israel: no stranger (whose berre and fleshe is not circumcisid) shall come within my Sanctuary: No / no: the Leuites that be gone backe fro me: and haue breached the people of Israel with erouces: goyng: asie their Idols: therefore shall they beare: their owne wickednesse.
Shoulde they be seand ordaind to ministre vnder the veyce of the house of my Sanctuary: and so to seuerce in the house: to kepe burning: and sacrifices: so: the people: to stand before them: and to serue them: seing the seruer that they do them: in before they:
Idols: and cause the house of Israel to stuble thowr wickednesse.

Reg. 4 f For the whiche cause I haue plucked ouer myne hande ouer them: (seyeth the Lord) / so that now they must beare their owne iniquite: and not to come nee me: to serue me w: theie priestes: ade: in my Sanctuary: & moost holys: of all: that they maye beare their owne burden and abhominacione: which they haue done. Shoulde I seie them to be pouers: of the house: and to all the seruyce that is done therein: But the priestes: the Leuites: the sons of Israel: that kepte the holy odinaunces of my Sanctuary: when the children of Israel were gone: fro me: shall come to che: to do me seruyce: so stande before me: & to offere me the fat a the bloude: saith the Lord God.

They shall go into my Sanctuary: and reuerce: the: my table to do my seruite: / and to wastre vpon myne odinaunces: Now tyme they go in at the veyce of the pynner court: they shall put on linnen clothes: so that no woolyn come vpon them: wchyle they do ser-uyce vnder the veyce of the inner court: and within. They shall haue sack linnen bonnettes vpon their heades: and linnen byssodes vpon their loynes: which in their laboure they shall not put aboute them: And whyle they go: so: th to kepe: me: the surruard court: they shall put of the clothes: wberin they haue ministred: and laye thm in the habitacion of the Sanctuary: and pueno other apparell: lest / they vnhalowe the people with theyr clothes.

They shall not haue their heades: nor mouth the bushe of their beere: but ride: their heedes onely. All the pnestes that go into the ymagis court: shall byrke: no wyne.
They shall marry no wydow: neyther one that is put from her husband: because mayde at the seide of the house of Israel: or a wydow that hath had a pnest before.

They shall serue my people the difference betwene the holy and vnholy: betwene the cleane and vncleane. If any vntowle arise: they shall differce: and gaue seruites: asie my iudgements. My solempne festes: / my lawes and odinaunces shall they kepe: and halowe my Sabbathes. They shall come: at no dead persone: to besyde them: (except it be father or mother: sonne or daughter: brother or sister: or at baly had yet no bon: band) in such thre maye be besyde.

And when he is dead: there shalbe reuerced vnto him: in veyce: and asie go into the Sanctuary again: to do seruites: the hal bring synnoffringe: saith the Lord God. They shall haue an heritage: / yet: my selfe will be there: betwene the: shall ye gene them no poss-sion in Israel: for I am their possession.
The meate offering: synnoffring: and ressus-offring: shall they eate: and entyre beate thinge in Israel: shalbe th: no: the synnoffringe of all the frell fruits: and all frell will offringes shall be pacifces.

Ye shall gaue vnto the pnest also the first-

The XLV. Chapter.

A Penye wynde the lande by the lost / ye shall put of the one partre for the Lord to be holy from other landes / namely xxx. M. meeter oddes longe / and x. M. broad. This shalbe holy / as wyde as this rounde aboute.
 Of this parte there shalbe longe vnto the Sanctuary v. C. meeter oddes in all the four corners / and l. rubyns wyde rounde aboute to the suburbs. And from the measure / namely of xxx. M. meeter oddes longe / and x. M. broad / thou shalt measure / where in the Sanctuary and the holiest of all maye stande.

The residus of that holy grounde shalbe the pynest / which so serues in the Sanctuary of the Lord / and go in before the Lord to serue hime / that they maye haue counsel well in.

As for the Sanctuary it shall stande for te syle / and to the Lentes that serue in the house / there shalbe geuen .xx. bebitacions of the .xx. M. lengthe / and x. M. bredth.
 Ye shall geue also vnto the one possession of x. M. meeter oddes broad / and xxx. M. lages beside the parte of the Sanctuary / that shalbe for the whole house of Israel. ¶ Upon both the sydes of the Sanctuaries parte / and by the cite / there shalbe geuen vnto the pynce wherforer they shoulde agaynste the cite / as far as reacheth Westward and Eastward / whiche shalbe as longe as one pace / from the West vnto the East.

This shalbe his owne lande in Israel / that my pynce / he nomore chargeable vnto my people. And such as remayneth yet ouer in the lande / shalbe geuen to the house of Israel accordinge to their wydes. Thus sayeth the also make a pounce. This is the brauce offerynge / that ye shall geue in the brauce: namely / the xxx. parte of an Epba / out of an Homer of wheat / and the xxx. parte of an Epba / out of an Homer of barley. The oyle shalbe measured with the Bar: then the x. parte of one Bar out of a Eban.

 burnt offeringes / meate offeringes and wynter offeringes vnto the Lord / in the holy daies / newe moones / Sabbathes / and in all the hie feastes of the house of Israel. The synofferinge / meate offeringe / burnt offeringe / and health offeringe shall be geue / to reconcile the house of Israel. Thus sayeth the Lord God: The first daye of the first month thou shalt take a yong bulllocke without blemish / and cleanse the Sanctuary.

So the pynce shall take of the floude of the syn offeringe / and spenke it upon the postes of the altar / with the droppes of the pynce meate. And thus shalte thou be also the seventh daye of the month / for such as haue sinned of generatione / as sayng they can do of the heuen dayes he shall offre eueni daye a bullocke and a carib / that are without blemish for a burnt offeringe vnto the Lord: and an hegate vnto the syn offeringe. For the meate offeringe he shall geue euen an Epba / a bullocke / an Epba / a ram / and an Ox / of oyle to an Epba. Upon the xx. daye of the seuenth month / he shall kepe the heuen daye holv one after another / tuen so the other vj. dayes: with the spofferinge/burntofferinge/meatofferinge/and with the oyle.

The XLV Chapter.

IN this sayeth the Lorde God: the Voie of the yammerer toure toward the East/shal be burnt the vij. moite dayes: But in the Sabbath and in the daye of the new moone/it shalbe opened. Then shal the pynce come vnder the Voie poiche/and stande thir without by the Voie poiche. So the pynce shal offer up his burnt and healthofferinge. And he shal worshippe at the Voie post/ and go his waye forth againe: but the Voie shal notmore be shut all the eveninge.

On the same maner shall the people of the land also do their worshippe before the Lorde: without this Voie upon the Sabbathes and new moone. This is now the burnt offeringe/that the pynce shal bringe vnto the Lorde vpon the Sabbath: sixe lambes withoute stemy/and a ram withoute stemy/and an Ephra for a meatofferinge with the ram. As for the lambe/ he maye geue as many meatofferinge to them as he wil/and an Hin of oyle to an Ephra. In the daye of the new moone/he shalbe a yonge bullocke withoute stemy/ sixe liden and a ram also withoute stemy. With the bullocke he shal geue an Ephra/ and with the ram an Ephra also for a meatofferinge: but to the lambe/ what he maye come by: And euen an Hin of oyle to an Ephra. When the pynces summer/ he shal go vnder the Voie poiche/and euen there he praye forth agayne. But when the people of the land come before the Lorde in the hie solempne feast/ as many as come in by the North Voie to do worshippe / shall go oute agayne at the South Voie. And they that come in at the South Voie/ shall go forth againe at the North Voie. There shal none go out at the Voie where he come in/ but shal go forth righte oute on the other syde/ and the pynce shal go in and oute amonge them.

Upon the solempne and hie feast dayes/ there shalbe the meatofferinge: An Ephra to a bullocke/ and an Ephra to a ramme: and to the lambe as many as he wil/ but euer an Hin of oyle as an Ephra. Nowe when the pynce bringeth a burnt offeringe or a health offeringe with a sic weyl vnto the Lorde/ the East doore shalbe opened vnto him/ that he maye do wryth by a burnt and healthofferinge/ as he doeth vpon the Sabbath: when he goeth forth/ the doore shalbe shut after him agayne. He shall dayly bringe vnto the Lorde a lambe of a yeaere olde withoute blemishe for a burnt offeringe: this shall be do eury moonyng. And for a meatofferinge he shall geue the hie parte of an Ephra / and the hinde parte of an Hin of oyle/ to myngle with the cakes / eury moonyng. Yet/ this shalbe a dayly meatofferinge vnto the Lorde / for an everlastinge obdinauccion: thus shall the lambe/ the meatofferinge and oyle be geuen eury moonyng for a dayly burnt offeringe.

Moreover/ thus sayeth the Lorde God: If the pynce geue a gift vnto any of his sonnes / then shall it be his sonnes heritage perpetuall/ that he may possesse it. But if he will geue one of his seruantes/ some of his heritage / it shalbe his to the 1^{re} yeace: and Leui. 25. b then to reduce agayne vnto the pynce: for Leu. 25. 39. c his heritage shalbe his sonnes only. The pynce also shall take none of the people 4. Reg. 15 b wherebye he maye geue them some of his possession: but to his owne sonnes shall he geue his possession / that my people be not feared abroad/ but that eury man maye haue his owne.

And he brought me throughe the inuance at the syde of the Voie to the habitation of the Sanctuary that longeth to the pynce / a stode toward the North: a byhold/ there was a place vpon the West syde/ then saide he vnto me/ thus is the place/ where the pynces shall dwyll the westpass: and synofferinges / a bafe the meatofferinge: that they neede not beare them into the outward court/ and so to inhonoure the people. So he brought me into the uttermost court / rounde aboute all the four corners. Byhold/ in eury court of the four corners/ there was yet a litle court. Yet in all the four corners of the court / there was made a litle court of 11 cubites longer and 33 cubites broad: these litle courtes were of ane lile measure/ and they were a rygge wyl rounde aboute them all/ four / vnder the which they were barres made rounde aboute.

about. Then saide he vnto me: this is the high way wher the ministers of the house shall goe: it is the flaine of sinners of the people.
The. XLVII. Chapter.

After this he brought me againe before the dore of the house: and he holdeth here gusted out waters from vnder the postes of the house: the flaine of waters for the house shode toward the East: it was a riuie vpon the right side of the house / whiche flieth to the aulter Southward. Then caied he me ouer to the North dore: and brought me forth their roade about by the vnter moile dore: that turneth Westward. There came forth the water vpon the right side. Nowe when the man that had the meeterodde in his hande wrote ouer vnto the West dore: he measured a fift cubite: / and then he brought me thowro the water: turne to the aulter: so he measured yet a thousande: and brought me thowro the water againe vnto the fynes: yet measured he a thousande: and brought me thowro the water vnto the loynes. After this he measured a thousande a gaine: then was it suche a ryuer: that I might not wade: heaue it:
The water was so deepe: that it was needfull to haue firmnes: so: it might not be waded ouer. And he sayde vnto me: hast thou sine these thousande of man: and wylt thou / br drought me to the ryuer: ande againe.

Now when I came thre: there shode many trees vpon eithre side of the riuer bankes.
Then saide he vnto me: This water that flo-weth out towarde the East: / and runneth thou into the playne side: commeth ma-nye: and from the stre it runneth out: / and maketh the waters whole. Yet / all that haue a maue: wher vnto this ryuer commeth: shall recouer. And where this water commeth: there shall manye fruite: for all that commeth to this water: shall be lusty and whole. By this ryuer shall the fruite stande from Engydd: vnto the West: and there shode oute their needes: so: there shall be greate heapes of fruite: like as in the mayne see. So: so: his claye and pures: they shall not be whole: so: why: is halde occupied for salt.

E By this riuer vpon both the sides of the house: there shall growe all maner of fruitefull trees: / whos leaues shall not fall of: / neyther shall their fruite perishe: but euer he ripe as their monethes: so: their water runneth ouer of the Sanctuary. His fruite is good to eate: and his leafe profitable for medicine. This saith the Lord God: Lett vs be the bound-ers: wher our ys shall be: vnto the lande vnto the ryuers of Israel: with the lyne. Darre it indifferently vnto one as vnto another: / of the which lande I spoke vnto your fathers: that it shoulde sal to your entiaunce.

This is the dore of the lande vpon the North side: from the mayne see: as men goe to Sababanimith: / Hamath: / Berotai: / Saba-ram: from the borders of Damascus: and he meth vnto Hajar Tichon: that lieth vpon the cooles of Hauram. Thus the borders from the see south: shall be: Hajar Enan: the boide of Damascus: the North: and the borders of Hamath: that is the North parte.

The East side shall ye measure from He-ueron and Damascus: from Galrad and the lande of Israel: by Jordan: and so south: from the see coast: that lieth Westward: and it shode be it off pcer.

The South side is from Thamar forth to the waters of syre: vnto Cabro: the ryuer to the mayne see: that is the South parte.

The West parte: namely: the great stre from the borders therof: till when come vnto He-marsh: this is the West parte.

This lande shall ye parte amonge you: ac-cordinge to the tribes of Israel: and besides it shode be an heritage for you: / and for the strangers that dwell amonge you: / and begeth children.

For ye shall take them amonge the christian of Israel: like as though they were of your ownch outdoles: and amonge: and they shall haue heritage with you: as in the christian of Israel.

Let it in what time the stranger dwelleth: in the same trybe shall ye geue him his heritage: saith the Lord God.

The XLVIII. Chapter.

Best are the names of the trybes that lye vpon the North side: by the waye of

And next vnto the pines / shall the Levites haue xxx. M. longe and x. M. broade. This shall be an eury syde xxx. M. longe / and x. M. broade. Of this portion they shall set nothing / nor make any permutation therof / lest the chiefe of the landes fall onto other / for it is beloved vnto the Lorde.

C ¶ The other v. M. after the breadth / shal by the xxx. M. shall be common: it shall belonge to the ciety and to the suburbs for habitacion / and the cite shall stande in the myddest thereof. Let this be the measure towards the North parte: v. C. and iii. M. towards the South parte: v. C. and iii. M. towards the East parte: v. C. and iii. M. towards the West parte: v. C. and iii. M.

The suburbs haue upon the cite / shall haue towards the North / L. and iij. C. towards the South / L. and xviij. C. towards the East / L. and xviij. C. towards the West / also L. and xviij. C. So for the residue of the city / that they haue vpon the separated holy ground: namely x. M. towards the East and x. M. towards the West / next onto the holy portion: it and the terrace therof shall serue for their meate that labour in the cite. They that labour for the wryth of the cite / shall maneyne they also / out of what arde so euer they be in Israel.

All that is separated of the xxx. M. longe and xxx. M. broade / on the four partes / that shall ye set asyde for the separated portion of the Sanctuary / and for the possession of the cite. The residue vpon both the sydes of the Sanctuary and possession of the cite / shall be xxx. M. and belonge to the pines / before the place of the xxx. M. vnto the East end / and before the place of the xxx. M. Westward / vnto the borders of the cite: this shall be the pines portion. This shall be the holy place / the house of the Sanctuary shall stande in the myddest. The court / from the Levites and the pines possession / shal lye in the myddest of the pines parte: loke what remaineth betwix the borders of Iuda and the border of Ben Iamin / it shall be the pines.

Now of the other trybo.

From the East parte vnto the West / shall Ben Iamin haue his portion. Vpon the borders of Ben Iamin from the East syde vnto the West / shall Symeon haue his portion. Vpon the borders of Symeon from the East parte vnto the West / shall Iasach haue his portion. Vpon the borders of Iasach from the East syde vnto the West / shall Sabulon haue his portion. Vpon the borders of Sabulon from the East parte vnto the West / shall Gad haue his portion. Vpon the borders of Gad Southward / the coastes shall reach frō the East south vnto the waters of strife / to Gad and to the floude / and vnto the mayne thereof.

This is the lōde wryth his portion / which ye shall distribute vnto the trybes of Israel. ¶ xxx. M. shall be the Lorde G. D. This wryth shall be the possession: upon the North parte: v. C. and iii. M. measure. The portion of the cite: shall haue Daniel abode still vnto the first year of King Cyrus.

The II. Chapter.

In the seconde year of the raigne of King Abuchodonosor / had King Abuchodonosor a dreame / & where thowt his spirit was vexed / and his sleep brake fra him / When the king commaunded to call together all the sojourners / charmers / wizards / and Caldees / for to shewe the king his dreame. So they came / and stode before the king. And the king saide vnto the: I haue dreamed a dreame / a my spirit was so troubled therewith / that I haue cleane forgotten what I dreamed. Upon this the Caldees answered the king in the Syriano speache: O king / God saue thy life for ever. Shewe thy seruantes the dreame / and we shal shewe thee what it meaneth. The king gaue the Caldees their answer / and sayde: Is he gone from me: If ye will not make me vnderstande the dreame with the interpretation therof / ye shal dye / and youre houses shalbe destroyed. But if ye tell me the dreame and the meaninge thereof / ye shall haue of my gifts / rewardes and greates honoure: onely / shewe me the dreame and the signification of it. They answered orgayne / and sayde: the kyng must shewe his seruantes the dreame / and so shall we declare what it meaneth.

When the king answered sayinge: I perceive of a truth / that ye do dur prolonge the tyme: for so much as ye / that the thinge is gone from me. Therefore / ye will not tel me the dreame / ye shall all haue one iudgement. But ye saue n dissensible with vain wordes / which ye speake before me to put of the tyme. Therefore tel me the dreame / and so shal I knowe / if ye can shewe me what it meaneth. Up vpon this the Caldees gaue answer before the king / and sayde: there is no man vpon earth that can tel the thinge / which the king so careth of: Yet there is no other king / since no lord / that can do such thinges as a sojourners / charmer / or Caldeer / for it is a very harde matter that the kyng is queyred. Neither is there any that can certifye the king therof / excepte the godde: whose dwellinge is not amonge the creatures.

En the which cause the king was wroth with great indignacion / and commaunded to ser uice of the wise men at Babylon / and his clamacion went forth / that the wise men shoulde be slayne. They sought also to slay Daniel with his companions. Then Daniel answered Arioch the kinges steward / of the iudgement and sentence that was gone forth already to kill such as were wise at Babylon. He answered and sayd vnto Arioch beinge then the kinges viceroy: Why hard I kinge pleyas me to serue a sentence? So Arioch tolde Daniel the matter. Upon this wrote Daniel vp / and desired the kinge that he might haue leysure to shewe the king the interpretation / and then cannt be home againe and shewd the thinge vnto Darius / & Misack a Darius his companion: that they shoulde desire the God of heauen for grace in this sentence / that Daniel and his fellows with other such as were wise in Babylon / perished not. The was his mystery shewed vnto Daniel in a vision by night. And Daniel prayed the God of heauen / Daniel also cryed loud / & sayde: O that the name of God might be praised for ever a cuer / for wysdome and strength are his owne: I be charyng the Dan. & b hymes and ages: he putteth downe kinges / Luc. i. e he stretcheth up kinges: he giveth wisdom vnto whome he willeth: he openeth the eyes of the wise / Jer xxxv. a and the thinge that is hid in darkness: / for Dan. iii. c the lighte dwelleth with him. I shall the / and b praye the: O thou God of my fathers / that b thou hast lent me wysdome and streng hand / 1. Jo. i. b that thou hast me the thinge that we desired of the / for thou hast opened the kynges matter vnto me.

Upon this wrote Daniel vnto Arioch / & whome the king had commaunded to destroye the wise of Babylon: he went vnto him / & sayde: Destroye not such as are wise in Babyl / but bringe me vnto the king / and I shal shewe the kinge the interpretation. Then Arioch brought Daniel vnto the kinge in all the hall / and saide vnto him: I haue founde a man amonge the prisoners of Iuda / that shal shewe the king the interpretation. The answered the kinge / & sayde vnto Daniel whose name was Balthasar: Art thou he that art shewd me the dreame which I haue had / & interpretation therof? Daniel answered the kinge to his face / and sayde: To for thy feet: for the

and his visage gramine. The ymage heade was of fyne golde/ his brest and nemes of syluer/ his body and loynes were of copper / his legges were of yron / his feete were parte of yron and parte of earth.

This thou sawest/ all / y tyme that / without any handes / here was hewed a stone/ which smote the ymage upon the feete/ that were both of yron and earth/ a brake the to powder: then was the yron/ the eze/ the copper/ & syluer/ a gelbe broken alonge therin peccos and became like the chaffe of corn: hat the wynde bloweth awaye from the southe flower/ that they can not be founde. But the stone that smote / ymage/ became a great mountaine/ which fil-filled the whole earth: This is the dreame.
And now wilt we see the force the kinge what it meaneth.

Dan. v. b

¶ O kinge / thou art a kinge of kynges: for the God of heauen hath geue the a kingdome/ thy decestyng and maistey: and hath deliuered the all thynges that are amonge the chylde of men: the bestes of the felde/ a the foles vnder the heauen/ and geuen the dome-nion ouer them all. Thou art that golde heade.
After the theret shall arise another kingdome/which shalbe lesse then thine. The thyde kingdome shalbe lyke copper: and haue domina-non in all lādes. The fourth kingdome shalbe as stronge as yron. For lyke as yron crusheth and breaketh all thynges: Vnto euen neyion beareth euen thynges: Vnto / so shall it breake

Dome and destroye.

Wher as thou sawest the fete and toes/parte of earth and parte of yron: that is a deu-yded kyngdome / whiche neuer theles shall haue some of the yron grounde mixt with / for so much as thou hast seene the yron mixt with the claye.

¶ Before of the fete that were parte of yron and parte of claye / signifyth: that it shalbe a kingdome partly stronge and partly weak.
And wher as thou sawest yron myste with claye: they shall mingle them selfe with the fete of simple people / a yer not conyng one with another / like as yron will not be soule-red with a possyberde.

In the voyce of these kynges / shall the God of heauen saye vp an / a succedynge kyngdome which shall not peeish/ and his kyngdome shal not be geuen ouer to another people: Yet the fourth shall breake and destroye all these kyng-domes: but it shall endure for euer.

And wher as thou sawest / that without any handes there was cut out of the mount-a stone/ which brake the yron/ the copper/ the earth / the siluer and golde in peeces: that hath the great God shewed the kinge what wil come after this. This is a true dreame/ and the interpretation of it is sure.

¶ Then the kinge Nabuchodonosor / fell vpon his face/ and bowed hym self vnto to Daniel / and commaunded that they shoulde offre meate/ synnges and swete odours vnto him.

The kinge answered Daniel and sayde: Yee / of a reuerby / your God is a God above all godden/ a Lorde above all kynges / and an opener of secretes/ kynges thou canst discouuer this mystery. So the kinge made Daniel a great man/ and gaue hym many and great giftes.

¶ He made hym ruler of all the countreyes of Egipt/Babylonia/ and lorde of all the nobles that were at Babylonia. Nowe Daniel increased the kyng for Syrice/ Mice/ and Abdrnago / so that he made them rulers ouer all the offices in the lande of Babylonia: but Daniel hym self remained still in the court by the kyng.

The. iiii. Chapter.

¶ Nabuchodonosor the kinge caused a golde ymage to be made/ which was in cubite bye

bye / and five cubites thicke. This he made to be set up in the valley of Suran in the lande of Babilonia / and sent out to gather together the Dukca / loydes and nobles / the iudges and officers / the Riches and Wisemen / with all the rulers of the lande: that they might to the dedication of the ymage / which Nabuchodonosor the kynge had set up. So the Dukca / loydes and nobles / the iudges and officers / Riches and Wisemen / with all the rulers of the lande gathered them together / and came vnto the dedication of the ymage / that Nabuchodonosor the kynge had set up.

Now when they stode before the ymage / which Nabuchodonosor set up / he beheld cried out with all his might: O ye people / Fynnedes and unges / to you be it sayde: that when ye heare the noyse of the trumpets / which shall be blowne with harpes / psalteries / symphonies and all maner of musick: ye shall come and worshippe the golde ymage / that Nabuchodonosor the kynge hath set up. Who so then fallerth not vnto and boweth him self / shall euen the same boorde cast into an hote burninge oven. Therefore / when all the folke heere the noyse of the trumpets that were blowne with the harpes / psalteries / symphonies and all kinde of melody: then all the people / Fynnedes and nations fell vnto / and bowed them selves vnto the golde ymage / that Nabuchodonosor the kynge had set up.

Now were there certaine men of Caldea / that were euen then and scrused the Jewes / and saide vnto kynge Nabuchodonosor: O King / God saue / by life for euer. The boordinge kynge hath geuen a commaundement / that all men when they heare the noyse of the trumpets / harpes / psalteries / symphonies / or all the other melodies: shall fall vnto and bowe them selves to worshipe the golde ymage: who so then fallerth vnto and worshippeth not: that hee shoulde be cast into an hote burninge oven. Now are there certaine Jewes / whom thou hast set over the officers of the lade of Babilonia: namely / Sydrac / Misac / and Abdenago. These men / O King / regard not thy commaundment / see they wil not serue thy gods: / nor bowe them selves to the golde ymage that thou hast set up.

Then Nabuchodonosor in a cruel wrath / displeasur / commaundeth that Sydrac / Misac / and Abdenago shoulde be brought vnto him. So these men were brought before the kynge. Then Nabuchodonosor spake vnto them / and sayde: what is Sydrac / Misac / and Abdenago / will not ye serue my gods: or nor bowe your selves to the golden ymage that I haue set up: wil / be ready hereafter / when ye heare the noyse of the trumpets blowne with the harpes / psalteries / symphonies and all the other melodies: that ye fall vnto and worshippeth the ymage which I haue made. But if ye worshippeth not / ye shall be cast immediately into an hote burninge oven. Let it / what god is there / that maye deliuer you out of my handes.

Sydrac / Misac and Abdenago answered the kynge / and sayde: O Nabuchodonosor / we ought not to obteine vnto the inshinantee / for: why are God whome we serue: Nu. xij. 8 is able to kepe vs frome the hote burninge oven: (O kynge) and can right well deliuer you out of thy handes. And though he wil not / yet shall thou knowe (O kynge) that we will not serue thy goddes / nor do reverence to the ymage which thou hast set up. This was Nabuchodonosor full of indignacion / so that the countenance of his face chaunged vpon Sydrac / Misac / and Abdenago. Therefore he charged and commaunded / that the oven shoulde be made futen tymes hotter then it was wonte to be: a spake vnto the strongest men there that were in his hostes: for to bynde Sydrac / Misac and Abdenago / and to cast them into the hote burninge oven.

Some of men were bounde in their coates / hosen / shous / with their other garments / and cast into the hote burninge oven: for the kynge's commaundement was so strage / and the oven was exceedingly hote. As for the men that were Sydrac / Misac / and Abdenago / the flame of the fyre destroyed them. And these three men Sydrac / Misac and Abdenago fell vnto in the hote burninge oven / byng cast bounde.

Then Nabuchodonosor the kynge macuayleth / and stode up in all haste: he spake vnto his counsell / and sayde: Oyd noyse call these three men bounde vnto the fyre: They answered / 23. 14. and

Therefore Balthasar / tell thou me what it signifieth: for so much as all the wise men of my Kingdome are not able to shewe me what it meaneth. But thou canst do it for the space of the holy goddess is in the.

C Then Daniel (whose name was Balthasar) hebe his place by the space of an houre / and his thoughts troubled hym. So the Kynge spake / and sayde: O Balthasar / let me heer the dreame nor the interpretation thereof saie the. Balthasar answered / sayinge: O my Lord / this dreame happen to thine euermore / and the interpretation to thine aduer-saries. As for the tree that thou sawest / which was so greace and mighty / whose heygher reached vnto the heauen / and his brethren all ther woulde / whose leues were saye / and the frute much / vnder the which the bestion of the silde had eue habitacion / and vpon whose braunches the fooles of the ayre byd sye.

Euen thou (o Kynge) art the tree / greace and stronge. Thy greatnesse increaseth / and easeth vnto the heauen / so vouch thy power to the endre of the earth. But where as the Kynge sawe a watche / euen an holy angel threame doune from heauen / and sayde / how vounce the tree / and besleue it / yet leaue the grounde of the rote in the earth / and bynde hym vpon the playne silde with chaynes of yon and stele. The silde wee with the tree of heauen / and his paece shalbe with the beasties of the silde / till seuen yeares be come and gone vpon hym. This (o Kynge) is the interpretation / yet is the vey dreame of him that is here of all / and re couereth my laide the Kynge.

Thou shalt be cast out for men / a thy dwel-linge shalbe with the bestion of the silde / with graffe thale thou be sed life an eye. Thou wilt be met with the tree of the heauen / see / seuen yeares shall come and go vpon the / till thou knowe / that the bestion hath power vpon the Kingdome of men / and gentils the / to whom he byll / it recover / wher as it was sayde / that the rote of the tree shoulde be left full in the grounde since soughe vnto nie / and I was for myne whole vnto the / after thou hast leaned to knowe / that the power cometh from heauen. Wherefore (o Kynge) be content with my counsaill / that thou mayest loue thy syn-nes with rightousnesse / and thine offences with mercy to poore people: for such thinges shall prolonge thy peete. All these thinges touch the Kynge Iabuchodonosor.

So after that moneth / the Kynge waked vp and vounce in the palacye of the Kingdome of Babylon / and sayde: This is the greates cite of Babylon / which I my self / with my power (strength) haue made a Kingde court / for the honour of my mayesty. While these wordes were yet in his kynge mouth / there fell a voyce from heauen / sayinge: O Kynge Iabuchodonosor / to the be it spoken: Thy Kingdome shall departe from the / thou shalt be cast out of this company: thy dwellinge shalbe with the beasties of the silde / so that thou shalt eat grasse lyke as an oxe / till seuen yeares be come / and gone out thence / vntill thou knowest / that the bestion hath power vpon the Kingdome of men / and that he maye geue the / vnto whom it pleaseth him.

The very same house was this matter ful filled vpon Iabuchodonosor: so that he was cast out of mens company / and yd care graffe life an eye. His body was met with the dew of heauen / till his breves were as greace as Egyptians / and his nayles life by deo clawes.

When this tyme was past / Iabuchodonosor lste vp myne eyes vnto heauen / and myne understandonge was restitid vnto me a gayne. Then gaue I thausen into the dust.
I magnified and played hym that lyeth for euermore / whose power endureth alwaye / and hys Kingdome from one generation to another: in comparison of whome / all they that dwell vpon the earth / are to be reputed as nothinge.

The hanbleth accordinge to his will / Df. xxxij.
the powers of heauen / and amonge the imparbitoure of the earth / there is none that maye resiste his hande / or saye what doest thou? Job xij. b. the same tyme was myne understandinge geuen me againe / and I was restitid to the honour of my Kingdome / to my dignite / and to myne owne shape a gayne. My great restore and pience soughe vnto nie / and I was for in my Kingdome a gayne / so that I had yet greater worshipp.

Then byd I Iabuchodonosor / magnifie and praye the Kyng of heauen: for all his woikes are true/ and his woies right. As for hisde I go on proudly / he is able to bring them doune.

The V. Chapter.

Balthasar the kinge made a great banquette to his thousande lordes/ with althefe thousande he made great chere/ and when he was drunken with wyne/ he commaunded to bring him the golde and silver vessell/ which his father Nabuchodonosor had taken out of the temple at Jerusalem: that the kinge and his lordes (with his queene and concubines) might drinke therout.

So they brought the golde vessell/ that was taken out of the temple of the Lordes house at Jerusalem. Then the kinge and his lordes with his queene and concubines dranke out of them. They drinke wyne and prayed their Idols of golde/ silver / copper / yron / woode/and floure.

In a very same hour / there appeared symners/ who had bene of a mans hnde wronge/cight ouer agaynst the candlelike / vpon the plate well in the kinges palace/ the kinge saw the paine of the hnde that wore. Then chaunged the kinge his countenance / and his thoughtes troubled him: so that the wynter of his body shoke/ and his knes stoode one a-gaynst the other. Wherefore the kinge end mirchely/ that by shoulde bringe him char-mes / Caldees and conuicers of secrets. The kinge spake also to his wyse men of Babylon/and said: Who so can rede this wyninge/ a secret me thy playe mityange therof shalbe clothed with purple/ haue a chayne of golde about his necke/ and rule the thirde parte of my kingdome.

Upon this came all the kinges wyse men: but they coude neyther rede the wyninge/ nor stere the kinge what it signified. Then was the kinge sore afraied / in so much that his co-lores chaunged/ and his lordes were sore vexed. So by reason of this matter/ what had happed to the kinge and his lordes/ the queene went up her self into the bancket house/ to speake vnto the kinge / sayinge: O kinge/ God saue the life for euer: Let not thy thoughtes trouble the / a let not thy countenance be chaunged. For why/ there is a man in thy kingdome/that hath the spere of the holy goddes within him/ as it was sent in thy fathers dayes. He hath vnderstandinge and wysdomen lyke the goddes. See/ the kinge Nabuchodonosor thy father made this man chiefe of the forbyssers/charmes / Caldees and deuill conuicers: because that such an aboundance spere / knowlege and wysdome (to espoune his aingis/ to open secretes / and to declare harde doubtres) was founde in him/ euen in Daniel/ whom the kinge named Balthasar. Let this same Daniel be sent for / and he shall tell what it meaneth.

Then was Daniel brought before the kinge. So the kinge spake vnto Daniel/ and sayde: Let thou that Daniel/ out of the prysoners of Iuda / whom my father the kinge brought out of Ieremy: I haue ben drinke of the / that thou hast the spere of the holy goddes/ experience and vnderstandinge/ and that there hath bene greates wysdome founde in the. Now haue thou bene brought me wyse and cunninge charmes to rede this wyninge / and to shewe me the meanyng therof: But they coude not tell me what this matter signified. Then bedde I saye/ that thou canst expounde these things / and declare harde doubtres. Well than / if thou canst rede this wyninge / and shewe me the meanyng therof: thou shalt be clothed with purple / haue a chayne of golde aboute thy necke/ and rule the thirde parte of my kingdome.

Daniel answered/ and saide before the kinge: O I do for thy sweetnes / kepe them to thy self in kei-or gaue thy rynges / to anidder / yett not the illaslesse / I will rede the wyninge vnto the kinge/and shewe hym the interpretation therof. I do send the kinge/ God the best gaue vnto Nabuchodon-nosor thy father the dignite of a kinge / with wealth and honoure: so that all people / were redded and nunges shode in awe and feare of him / by reason of the hie estate that he had sent him. For why/ he stode vnto me wold: he stode whom it pleased him. Against whome he wold/ he set vp/ and whom he wold he put doune. But because his herte was so poude / and his stomacke full vnto vyle fulnesse / he was deposed from his kinge rone / and his mayesty was taken from him.
He was shut out from amonge men / his herte

here was like a beast heere / and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: he was saine to take greesse life an eye / and his Body was white with the dew of the heauen: he knewe of the best had power vpon the Kingdome of men / and receiued ouer them whome he list.

E And thou his sonne (O Balthasar) for all this haste not submitte d thine here / though thou hauest all these things: but haste magnified thy selfe aboue the Lord of heauen / so that the wisdome of his house were thought best for thee: that thou and thy lordes / with thy queene and concubines / mighte vniue wne throuth. And hast payed the Idols of siluer and golde / copper and yron / of woode and stone / which can neither see / nor heare / nor vnderstand. For if the God / in whose hande consisteth thy soule / and all thy waies: thou hast not payed him.

Therefore in the palm of this hande sente himder from him / to looke vpon this wryttinge. And thus is the scripture thus written vpon the Wall: Chelab Pharo / I loue the interpretation of the thinge is thus: Name / God hath numbered the Kingdome / and thought it to an ende. This Chel / Thou art wined in the Sokenet / and art founde in 10 yghte. Pharo / Thy Kingdome is ynter in pieces / and gauen to the Medes and Perses.

Then commaunded Balthasar to clothe Daniel with purple / to haue a dayn of gold about his necke / and to make a proclamacon concerning him / that he should be the ruler of the thirde partie of his Kingdome.

The very same night was Balthasar the Kinge of the Caldice slayne / and Darius out of Media rosen in the Kingdome byng 137. years of age.

Thi VI Chapter.

It pleased Darius to set ouer his Kingdome an C. and 33 lordes / which should be in all his Kingdome aboute. About these he set the pynces / of whome Daniel was one / that the lordes mighte geue accomptes vnto them / and the Kinge to be vnderstand.

But Daniel exceded all these pynces / and lordes / for the spirit of God was pincen in him: so that the Kinge was minded to set him ouer the whole realme. Wherefore the pynces and lordes soughte to pynche out in

Daniel some quarrell agaynst the Kingdome / yet could they fynde none occasion nor faulte vpon him. For why / he was so faithfull / that there was no blame nor dishonesty found in him.

Then sayde these men / we shal geue no quarrell agaynst this Daniel / excepte it be in the lawe of his God. Vpon this wente the pynces and lordes together vnto the Kinge / and sayde thus vnto him / Kinge Darius / God saue thy life for euer.

All the greates estate of the realm / as the pynces / duken / sinour / and iudges / are determined to put out a commaundement of the Kinge / and to make a suretise / namely / that who so werysh any pyncion / yf he of any good or man / with in this rhyne / vnto / excepte it be onely of the Kinge / if same person maye be cast into the Lyons denne. Wherefore the Kinge / confirme thou his statute / and make a wryttinge: that the thinge which the Medes and Perses haue ordainyd / be not altered nor broken.

So Darius made the wryttinge / and confirmed it. Howe when Daniel vnderstode that the wryttinge was made / he wente in to his house / and the wyndowes of his hall towards Jerusalem shode open. There kneed he vpon his knees / in this rymes a praye: there made he his pencon / and prayed vnto God lyke as his manner was to be afore tyme.

Then these men made searche / and founde Daniel makinge his pencon / and prayinge vnto his God. So they came to the Kinge / and spake before him concerninge his commaundement / sayng. O Kinge / hast thou not subscribed the statute / that within 30. dayes who so requyreth his pencon of any god or man / but onely of thy selfe / the Kinge: he shalbe cast into the denne of the Lyons? Thi Kinge: answered / and saide: traueth true. It must be so a lorde of the Medes and Perses / that maye not be broken.

Then answered they and sayde vnto the Kinge: Daniel one of the pynces of Judea (a Kinge) regardeth neither himselfe / the statute that thou hast made: but maketh his pencon / the rhyne a daye. When the Kinge herde these words / he was for grieved / and wolde haue excused Daniel to deliuer him/and put of the matter/unto the Sunne went vnto the element that he might saue him.

These men perceayng the Kinges minde saide vnto him: Knowe this Co syng: In the lawe of the Medea and Perses is/that the common commandment and statute which the King Dan. viij. a maketh may not be altered. Then the King had them byngge Daniel/and they caste him into the Lyons Denne.

The Kinge also spake vnto Daniel/and said: O Thy God/whome thou alwaye seruest/ euen he shal defende thee. And there was broughte a stone/and layed vpon the hole of the Denne: this the King sealed with his owne ringe/and with the signee of his princes: that the Kinges commandement concerning Daniel/should not be broken.

So the Kinge wente vnto his palatye/and kepte him sober all nyght/ so that there was no table spied before him/ neyther could he take any slepe. But beyng in the morn-nyng arise he caule of the wyke/ the Kinge arose/ and wente in all haste vnto the Denne of the Lyons.

There as he came nye vnto the Denne/ he cried with a pitous voyce vnto Daniel: Yet the Kinge spake/ and sayde vnto Daniel: O Daniel/ thou seruaur of the Kinge God:
Is not thy God C whome thou alwaye seruest/able to deliuer the fram the Lyons? Daniel sayde vnto the Kinge: O Kinge/ God saue thy lyfe for euer.

¶ The Kinge sent his aungel/ which bath the Lyons inourde/ so that they might not hurt me: for why: myne vnglynesse is founde out before him. And as for the Co Kinge: I neuer offeinded the.

Then was the Kinge exceedingly glad/and commanded to take Daniel oute of the Denne. So Daniel was broughte oute of the Denne/ and in manner of priete was founde vpon him. For he put his mist in his God.
And as for those men which had accused Daniel/ the Kinge commanded to bringe the/and to call them in the Lyons Denne: thence theye children/ and there theye. ¶ So the Lyons had the malley of them/ and hault all their bones asfunder/ so: euer they came at the grounde.

¶ After this a wrote Kinge Darius vnto all Dan. iij. people/ synnedes and minges: that vnder in

The VII. Chapter.

¶ In the fyfth yeare of Balthasar Kinge of B wispon was in his heade vpon his bedde.

Whiche dreame he wrote/ and the summe of the dreame is this: Daniel spake/ and saide/ I this borne had eyes lyke a man/and a mouth speakinge presumptuous thinges. ¶ I looked vnto the fyrr domes/and sawe the fyrr domes had eyes and a mouth that spake presumptuous thinges/and looked with a geim-ner visage then his fellows.

¶ This borne was lyke the fyrr flame/and wheles as the flouynge fyrr. There sawe we forth a fyrr streame/and wente out from betweene the fyrr domes. ¶ I sawe a thousande floure of fyrr domes ten thousande stode before him. ¶ The iudgement was set/and the doles opened. Then toke I hede thereunto/ because of the voyces of the proude wordes/whiche thus spoke.

¶ I behelde all the bestie was slayn/and his body destroyed/ I and geuen ouer to be burned vnto the fyrr.

¶ As for the power of the other bestes also/it was taken awaye/ but they lyfyn were prolonged for a yere and season. ¶ I sawe in a vision by nyght/and behelde: I there came downe in the cloudes of heauen lyke the sonne of a man/whiche wente vnto the olde aged/

¶ I sawe whome they thoughte hym: Then came before him power and dignite regall/ that all people trybes and rages shoulde serue hym.

¶ This power is an euillastinge power/whiche shall neuer be put downe: and his kingdome shall neuer be corrupted. ¶ My here was vnto/and I Daniel had a troubled space within me/and the visions of my head made me afraid/ vnto I gat me vnto one of them that shode by to knowe the truth/ concerning all these thinges. So he tolde me/and made me vnderstande the interpretation of these thinges.

¶ These foure greate chaces are foure king-domes/whiche shall arysse oute of the earth. These shall take in the kyngdome of the sayntes of the moost byest/and possesse it still more and more for a longe season. After this I requy-red diligently to knowe the truth/ concerning the fourth bestie/ whiche was so faire vnto the other bestes/ as so horrible: whose teeth were of yron/and his nayles of wyre whiche bruiued and destroyed/and stamped the besties vnder his feet. ¶ I desired also to knowe the truth/ so touching the sea.

other whiche came vp afterwaies/ because whose face there fill downe the whiche borne had eyes and a mouth that spake presumptuous thinges/and looked with a geim-

¶ I behelde/and the same borne made battell against the sayntes/ and gat the victory of the sayntes/ the same that the olde aged came/that the sayntes was a gynt to the chiefe sayntes/and in the same that the sayntes had the kyngdome in possession.

¶ He gaunte this sunstre: That fourth bestie shall be the fourth kyngdome vpon earth/it shall be more then all other kyngdomes/ it shall deuoure/ erade downe/and destroye all other landes.

¶ The ten thornes are ten kynges that shall arise out of that kyngdome/ after whom they shall stande vpon other/whiche shall greaue then the first.

¶ He shall subdue the kynges/ and shall speake wordes against the best of all: he shall destroye the sayntes of the moost byest/and thynke that he maye chaunge hym Dan. 8.
¶ They shal be geuen vnder his

¶ But the iudgemente shall kepe/ so that his power shall be taken from hym/ so he shall be destroyed/ and perishe at the last. ¶ As for the kyngdome/ power and all mighte that is vnder the heauen/ it shall be geuen to the holy people of the moost byest/ whose kinge shall be dome to euillastinge/ see all powers shall serue and obeye hym. ¶ Thus ferre extendeth the wordes.

The VIII. Chapter.

¶ In the thide yere of the reigne of Kinge Balthasare/ there appeared a vision vnto me Daniel/ after that I had sine the first. ¶ I sawe in a vision/ and when I sawe it/ I was at Susa in the churche that which lieth in the lande of Elam/ and in the vision/ in the nighte I was by the river of Day.

¶ Then I looked vp/and sawe: and behelde

there stood before the river a ramme / whiche had hoines: and these hoines were hye / the one was hyer then another / and the hyest came ap last. I saw that this ramme pulsed with his hoines agaynst the West / agaynst the North / and agaynst the South: so that no creature mighte stande before hym / nor defende them from his power: but he dyd as him lyst / and wayed greatly. I toke hede vnto this / and then came there an he goat fro the West / vnto the whole carthe / and wounded not the grounde.

This goat had a maruolous goodly hoine betwixt his eyes / and came vnto the ramme that had the two hoines / whome I had sene a fore by the ryuee syde / and ranne fiercely vpon hym with his might. I saw him vnto wyne vnto the ramme / byng very ferasse vpon him / vnto the gaue him such a stroke / that he brake his two hoines.

They the had the ramme so much strength as to stande before hym: but he colde hym vnto: rode hym vnder his feet: and no man was able to helpe the ramme out of his power.

Dan. vii. 4 and vii. 1
Mac. i. 4

The goat wayed exceedingly greafe / and when he was at the seage: his great hoine was broken also. He grew there other foure such lyke in the heade / towards the foure windes of the heauen. Ye / one of the last of these hoines there came vp vnto another horn / whiche wayed maruolous greafe towards the East towards the South / and towards the saynt pleyns lands: It grew vnto the haulte of heauen / wherof he dyd call some vnto the grounde / and of the sturres also / and made the under hee.

¶ Ce it grew vp vnto the pynne of the booshe / from whome the dailly offeringe was sent: and the place of his Sanctuarye carlen vnto. And a certayne season was given vnto it / agaynst the dailly offeringe / because of wickednesse: that it mighte call vnto the vnto the grounde / and so to prosper in all thinges that it wente aboute. Vpon this I herd one of the sayntes speakinge / whiche sayntes saide vnto one that was this question.

Howe longe shall this vision of the sayntes sacrifice / end of the wayfaringe adharma

tion endure: vnto the Sanctuarye and the power shall be the eriden vnder foot: And he answered him: Vnto the ceuentyng and the moneth gotten two thousande and the hundred dayes: then shall the Sanctuarye be clenst agayne.

¶ Nowe when I Daniel had sene this vision / and soughte for the vnderstandinge of it: beholde / there stode before me a thinge lyke vnto a man. And I herde a mans voyce in the ryuee of Oluy / whiche trowd / and sayde: O Gabud mek: this man vnderstande the vision: So he came / and stode by me. But I was afraide at his comynge / and fel vnto vpon my face.

¶ Then sayde he vnto me: O thou sonne of man / make the / in the last tyme shall this vision be fulfilled. Nowe as he was speakinge vnto me / I waked saynt / so that I sancte vnto the grounde. But herke holde vpon me / and set me vp agayne / saynt: So holde / I will shewe the what shall happen in the laste warthe: for in the tyme appointed it shall be fulfilled.

The ramme whiche thou sawest with the two hoines / in the kynge of the Medes and Perses: but the goat in the kynge of Greke lands: the graue hoine that stode betwixt his eyes / that is the pynnal king. But where as a shate / and foure other rose vp in the heade: it is foure kynngdomes / but not so myghty: as it.

¶ After these kynngdomes / whyle in godlynesse is a growynge: there shall arise a kynge of an vnborne last tye / whiche shall waye in vnto the speakinge.

¶ He shall be myghty and stronge / but not in his own strengthe. He shall be vnto aboute measure / and that he goeth aboute / shall prosper he shall slaye the stronge and holy people. And whome he crafnes / shall be: shall prosper in his hande / his herie shall be vnto / a man no one that he put to death in his wickednesse. He shall stande vnto agaynst the pynne of pynnes / but he shall be destroyed without hande. ¶ And this vision that is shewed vnto the / is assured as the ceuentyng and the monynging: ¶ Therefore wote thou vnto the signes / for it shall be longe as it comet to passe.

Upon this was I Daniel very saynt / so that I lay sicke certayne dayes: but when I rose vp / I wrote about the thynges that were / and manerlyd at the vision / in euery bekle / no man knewe of it.

The IX. Chapter.

In the first yere of Darius the sonne of Belshazzarus / I whiche was of the side of the Medes / and was made kyng ouer the realm of the Caldees: Yee / euen in the fyfte yere of his reigne / I Daniel desired to knowe the yearly numbre out of the Bokes / wherof the Lord spake vnto I Jeremy the prophet that Ierusalem should be wast in .y. yeres: and I turned me vnto God the Lord for to praye / and make myne intercession with fasting: sackcloth / and ashen. I prayed for for the Lord my God / and knowledged / sayinge.

O Lord: thou great and frendly God thou that keepst cōnuiaunt and mercy with them / whiche loue the: and vouchy commūndment: I have sinned / we haue offended / we haue becom disobedient: a gone backe: yee: we haue departed from all thy preceptes and iudgements.

We wolde neuer folowe thy seruantes the prophets: that spake in thy name to oure kynges and princes: o oure fathers / and to all the people of the lande. O Lord / righteous: be longed vnto the: vnto us / perseynech not byng: but open shame: as it no come to possib: this waye vnto every man of Iuda / and so thyn that dwel at Ierusalem.

Yee: vnto all Israel: whether they be farre or nye: thou ouste all landes / wher in thou hast strewe them: because of the offences that they had done agaynst the.

Yee: o Lord: vnto us / to oure kynges a pynnes: to oure fathers: as thou to vs all: that haue offended the: with grech of our shame.

But vnto the Lord: oure God: perseynech mercy and forgiveness. In so much / we are gone backe from him / and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord: oure God: as walke in his lawes: / I whiche be layd before us by his seruantes the prophets: yee / all Israel haue conspurred / and gone backe from thy lawes: that they haue not serued vnto thy voyce.

Wherefore the curse and oath / that is writt: O cur. xxxv. ten in the lawe of Moyses the seruante of thou: God: agaynst whome we haue offended: is le. xii. i. poured vpon vs. And he hath performed * Bar. ij. a. his word: a whiche he spake agaynst vs / and agaynst oure iudges: that: whiche we / to bringe vpon vs: such a greate plague: as neuer was vnder heauen: / yf it be now come to passe in Ierusalem. Yee / all this plague / as it is writt in the lawe of Moyses: is come vpon vs. Yee made we not ouer prayer before the Lord: oure God: that we might turne agayn from oure wickedness: / and to be learned in thy serue. Therefore hath the Lord made hast to bringe this plague vpon us: for the Lord: oure God: is righteous in all his wordes: whiche he doth: for: why: we would not haue frōme his voyce.

And now: o Lord: oure God: thou that with a iugly hande: hast thought: why: Bar. ij. b. thou ouste of Egipte: to gerthy: sette vs in: / whiche tēnyeth vs: yee: we haue sinned: xii. i. i.

O Lord: and done wickedly agayn all thy righteousnesse: yee: let thy wrathfull displeasure be turned vnto me: I Beside the: I from thy cite Ierusalem: thy holy hill: And why: for oure synnes sake: and for the wickednesse of oure fathers: to Ierusalem: and thy people: whiche are of all them: that are about vs. Whom thou: O oure God: haue the prayer of thy seruants: / and his intercession: O let thy face: shine vnto thy sanctuary: that is: thy way.

O my God: endene thine care / and beneken: vnto the: rest: for thine owne sake: / and thine eyes: beholde: how we be desolate: / and the cite also: / whiche is called after thy name: / for we do not call oure prayers before the: in oure owne righteousnesse: / no: but only in the greates mercies: O Lord: heare: I O oure God: O Lord: continue: / yee: not ouer lange: but for thine owne sake: / O my God: for thy care: and thy people: called after thy name.

In I was set speakinge at my prayere: / knowledginge myne owne synnes: / and the synnes of my people: / allinge for myne intercession before the Lord: my God: / for the holy bulke: sake of my God: / whiche I was yett sprang in my prayere: / whiche the man: whiche I prayere.

 no more strength wthin me: How maye my lober seruise the calke with my lober: sing there is no strength in me/ so that I can not take my strength: Upon this there toucheth me agayne/ one much lyfe a man/ and comforted me/ saying: O thou man so well belauded/ scarce not/ be content/ take a good bere vnto the/ and strength. So when he had spoken vnto me/ I recourred/ and sayde: Speake on my lord/ for that shall reuifish me. Then sayde he/ know wth thou wherof I am come vnto thee? nowe wyl I go agayne to fighte with the pyntee of the Persie. In soone as I go forth/ so/ the pyntee of Weeldande shall come.
 Neuertheless/ I wyl therre the the thinge that is said noted in the scripture of truth.
 And as for al yonder matters/ there is none that helpe me in them/ but Michael youre pyntee.

The XI Chapter.

In the first yere of Darius of Media/ I stood by hym/ to comforte him/ and to strengthe him: and nowe wyl I shewe the the truth. Beholde/ there shall stande vp yet the Kinges of Persia/ but the fourth shall be sate vnder then they al. And when he is in the chiefe power of his reche/ he shall prouide every man agaynst the realme of Weeldande.
 Then shall there arise yet a mighty Kinge/ that shall rule wth great Dominion/ and to what bym list. And as soone as his Kingdome commeth up/ it shall be destroyed/ and decayed/ and made the four wyndes* of the heauen. They that come after him/ shall not haue such powree and Dominion as he: but his Kingdome shall be feared/ yet/ euen as manye as then those. And the Kinge of the South shall be mightyer then his: thece pyntee. Agaynst him there shall one make him selfe stronge/ and shall rule his Dominion wth great power.

But after certayne yeres they shall be com-ned together/ and the Kinge Southerne of the South shall come to the Kinge of the North/for to make friendship/ but he shall not spealyne the power of the arme/ neither shall he be able to endure thowee his mighte/ but he shall successe as thought here/ yet/ and he that began her/ and comforted her for his tyme/shall be deliuered vp. Out of the boundes of her reche/ there shall one stande vp in his stead: which wth power of armea shall go thowee the Kinge a londe of the North/ and haue him accowntinge to his strength. In for thece thole and pyntee/ wth their castly towres of golde and silver/ he shall carry them awaye captyue into Egypte/ and he shall prouide a garrison the Kinge of the North certayne yere or two. And when he is come into the Kinges realme of the South/ he shall sayne to turne agayne into his owne londe. Wherof his sonnes shall be displeasid/ and shall gather together a mighty greate boole of people/ and one of them shall come/ and go thowee like a waterfoude: then shall be cruell/ and go forth wth despayre/ and boosinge vnto his owne londe.

Then the Kinge of the South shall angree/ and shall come forth to fighte agaynst the Kinge of the North: Yet/ he shall bringe a greate multitude of people together/ and a greate heape shall be pruen into his hande: thece shall be carry awaye wth greate pryce/for so muche as he hath esel/ vnto me so many thousandes/ neuertheless/ he shall not pro-uayle. For the Kinge of the North shall gethier of the name: a greate heape of people then those/ and come forth/ after a certayne tyme and yeres/ wth a mighty boole and exceedinge greate good.

At the same tyme there shall many stande up agaynst the Kinge of the South/ so that the weakest children of thy people also shall exalte them selfe/ (so fulfill the wisdom) and then fall.
 So the Kinge of the North shall come to laye siege/ and to take the stronge citie/ and And the power of them of the South shall not be able to abyde him/ and the best men of the people shall not be so stronge as to resist him. Wherof/ when he commeth/ he shall handle hym as he list/ and no man shall be hardy as to stande agaynst hym. He shall stande in the pleasure of a man/ wth which thowrow him shall be destroyed. He shall see his face wth al his powree to opayne his Kingdome/and to the lyfe is. Yet/ that shall be doo/and geue hym vnto the Southerne/ amonge women/ to besteege hym. But he shall fyghte wther he be opayn his purpose. After this shall be set his face into the flie / and take me of them. A pounce shall stoppe him to do him a shame, they be the confusion that els shall come vnto him. Thus shall he turne a game to his owne lande / stumbe and fall / and be no more founded: so he that came vpon him / and vnd him violence / shall stand in his place / and haue a pleasant kyngdome: and after from hysde he shall be destroyed / and that nye shall in warre not in battayll. In his state there shall arise a vile persone / not bolden woth of a kynges dignite: this shall come in craftely / and apayne the kyngdome with false wordes: he shall fighte agaynst the armie of the myghty (and delioye them) yet / and agaynst the pyntes of the conue nant.

So after that he hath take troce with him / he shall handle deccarfully / that he maye get vp / and ourtcome him with a small floote and so with craftinesse to get him to the far rest place of the lande / and to keale order wylf / then euer his fathers o grounde / as hece vnto for he shall bestrope the thinge that they had robbed and spoyle / yea / all theye substaice: ymagynge / thoughtes agaynst the stronge bolden / and that for a tyme. His power and force shall be leared vp with a great army agaynst the hyge of the South / where sta rowe the hyng of the South shall be moued thyn vnto hawayl / with a greace and myghty horn also. Thei certelies / he shall not be able to stand off: they shall conspyr agaynst him.
 Yet they that eare of his meate / shall hunte him: so that his hooste shall fall on many the slayne vnaue.

These tyme kynges shall mynked to do myghty / and selfe of hys: eat at one table / but they shall not prosper: why / she ende shall not come yet / onto the tyme appointed. The shall be go home againe vnto his owne lande and great good / and set his face agaynst the holy conuenaunt / he shall be duffy agaynst it / a edem retaine home. At the tyme appointed he shall come agaynt / and go toward the South: So shall it happen othe wyse then as the first yet once agayne. And why / the shippes of Cythrin shall come vpon him / that he maye be synken and turne agaynt / that he maye take indignacion agaynst the conuenaunt of holynes / to medle agaynst it. Yet he shall turne him / and shewe such vnto him as leaue the holy conuenaunt.

He shall set myghtye men to vnbaloue the Sanctuary of strengthe / to put vnaue the dayly offeringe / and to set vnto the abhyma ble desolation. And such as heake the con uenaunt / shall be slatte with false wordes.
 But the people that will frome theye God / shall haue the ourhande and prosper. The shall haue vnderstandinge among the peo ple / shall enfourme the multitude: and for a longe season / theye shall be persecuted with swordes / with fyre / with captiuitie / and with the taksuge awaye of theye goodes. Howe when they fall / theye shall set vp with a lytle helpe: but many shall cleue vnto them sa nedly.

Yn some of those which haue vnderstand inge / shall be persecuted also: that they maye be tryed / purged / and discised / till theye me be cause: for evert / a yet another tyme appon ned. The kyng shall see what him / yll / he shall. eale and magnifie himselfe agaynst all that to God. Yet he shall speake marauilous change agaynst the God of al goddes: when on he shall prosper / so longe till the tyme fulfilled: for the conclusio is deused already.
 He shall not regarde the God of his fathers / but his lust shall open women. Yet he shall not care for any God / for he shall magnifie him selfe aboute. In his place shall be wor shipp the myghty Idols: a the God whom his fathers in uere not / shall be honoure with golde and siluer / with precious stone and pleasaunt Jewels.

Thus shall be do / in kyng helpe and succour / at the myghty Idols and strange goddes.
 Such as will cease him / and take bym for God: he shall geue them grete worshippe / a power: see / and make them ladies of the mul trade / and geue them the lande with re wardes. In the latter tyme shall the hyng of the South streue with bym / and the hyng of the North in hys maner shall come agaynt him with charrettes / hoisyns / a with grete

Moab/ and the best of the children of Amm/ which shall scape from his hande. He shall stretch forth his handes vpon the countries/ and the lande of Egypte shall not scape him. For thou art his goinge in/ he shall haue Dominion ouer the treasures of silver and golde/ and ouer all the precious Jewels of Egypte/ Lybia and Ethiopia. ¶ Heere be these the ryme ofe out of I. Well a the North shall trouble him/ for the which cause he shall go forth to the strage and curse a greate multitude. The terror of his palatye shall be pych becompe the two scewps of the hill of the noble Sanctuary/ for he shall come to the ende of it/ and then shall no man helpe him.

The XII. Chapter.

I These rymes will come also/ that the 1 greete Synne Michael/ which stande ouer thy peoples syde/ shall arise vp/ for there shall come a ryme of trouble/ such as neuer was/ sence this began to be any people/ vnto this same ryme. Then shall thy people be deliuered/ yea/ all that that be sauide wyemen in the doke. ¶ Many of the that slepe in dust of the earth shall awake/ some to euerlastinge life/ some to perpetual thame and repose. ¶ The wyse/ which as haue taught other/ shall glister/ as the sye/ ryme of beauen/ and those that haue instructed the multitude vnto godlynesse/ shall be as the starres/ whiche withoute ende.

B And thou O Daniel/ shut vp these wordes/ and scale the doke in the last ryme. Many shall go about here and there/ and then shall knowledge in caec. So I Daniel tolde/ wchholde/ the crosse/ other two/ one vpon this shore of the water/ the other vpon yonder syde. And one of the sayde vn to him/ which was clothed in lynny and stode aboue vpon the waters of the floube: How longe shal it be to the ende of this wonderous wo:ke? Then herde I the man with the lynny clothe/ which stode aboue vpon the waters of the floube: when he vnde vp bye rymbe and left hende onto heauen/ and saue by him which trauch for cure: That it shall last for a ryme/ two tymes/ and half a ryme: and when the power of the holy spirit is cleane scath aboade/ then shall all this thinge be fulfilled.

C I herde it well/ but I vnderstode it not. Then sayde I: O my loide/ what shall happe after that? He answered: Go thy waye O Daniel/ for these wordes shall be closed vp/ and sealed all the last ryme: many shall be purified/ and be tried. But the vngodly shall lyue wretchedly/ and those wretched (as many of the Mat. 24. b as they be) shall haue no wider standinge: as faste as haue vnderstandinge/ they shall regard it. And from that ryme forth the dayly offeringe shall be put daune/ and the abominable desolation set vp/ there shall be a thowlande two hundred and 30. dayes. ¶ Well is him that reueryeth/ and cometh to the thowlande three hundred and five and thirtie dayes. Go thou thy waye now: till it be ended state thy selfe/ a byden thy for/ till the dayes haue an ende.

Therefore haue I cutt downe the prophete/ and leaue them by slayne for my words sake: so that they punishment shall come to light. For I haue pleasure in loyng kindnesse/ not in offeringe. Yee in the knowledge of God misse then in beuifarnesse. But euen like as I Adam yd/ so haue they broke my commandments/ as it me as though. So lead is a cite of wicked doers of malicious people and blood shedders. The multitude of the pestles is like an heape of thores/ must the eere and blood thursty: for they haue wrought abhominacion. Therefore yee shall be in the house of Israel/ there playeth Ephraim the harp/ and Israel is a desyied: but Juda shall haue an harvest for him self/ when I returne the captiuitie of my people.

The VII. Chapter.

When I vnderstode to make Israel reboli/ and the vngenerousnesse of Ephraim and wickednes of Samaria cometh to light/ the go they about with lyra. In home they be theese: and without they fall to rebelling. They reside not in their heres that I remembre all their wickednes. They go about with their owne inventions/ but I see them wretche. They make the kinge and the pinner to haue pleasure in their wickednes and lyra. All these becom in aduertyse/ as it were an oren that baketh heate when he hath left feedinge/ till the hore be leyned. When so garb is this daye with oure kinge and pinner/ so they begynne to be woode deafer/ showe weyne/ they vnto familiarite with synne as becauethem. They with the magnacion of their heres like an oren/ their speeche all the night like the shepe of a bairr/ in the morninge to be as hore as the flame of fyre: they are also greber as hore as an oren.

They haue deuoured their owne iudgement all their kinge are saltye: is there none of the? collets vpon me. Therefore must Ephraim be nupte anenge? Forth. Ephraim is become like a cake/ no man turneth it/ strawe yee haue deuoured his selfe/ yet hee regardeth it not: he wretch full of gray heere/ yet will he not knowe: in y pnde of Israel is wast done by face their face/ yee will they not turne to the Lords: the Gods/ nor see him for all this.

gather you together upon the mountaynes of Samaria: so shall ye see greate murthur / a violent oppression amongst them: for why they regard not the thinge that is so righte / sayeth the Lorde / they gather together, euell gotten goodes / and laye up cobbeyn on theys house.

C Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God: The lande shall be troubled and besieged: and aboute by strength shall be plucked frone the lande: and the palaces cobbet. Thus sayeth the Lorde God an hyrdeman sater: two legges / as a peece of an eare oute of the Lyons mouth: Each is the chyldren of Israel (that dwell in Samaria) hauinge their couches in the corner: and theys beddes at Samaria. No. 10. 11. shall plucke awaye. I haue and score records in the booke of Jacob (saith the Lorde God of hostes) that when I begynne to visite the wickednesse of Israel / I will visite the iustice at Bethel also: that be the bones of the iustice shall be broken of / and fall to the ground.

As for the winter house / and summer house / I will smite them: yea: and the house of yuery see / and many other houses shall perishe / and he beseyged sayeth the Lorde.

The. IIII. Chapter.

Heece this word: o ye fat men that be upon the hill of Samaria: ye that do pouce min wronge: and oppesse the needy eye that seye to youre loodes: bringe hyther / see we synne. Therefore the Lorde hath sworn: By his holynesse: The dayes shall come upon you: that ye shall lye upon speares: and youce posteritee caried awaye in fister panyens. Ye shall get you out at the gappe one after another: and in Hermon shall ye be cast awaye / sayeth the Lorde.

Be came is it Bethel for to worke vngodly synnes: and haue increased youce synnes: as at Galgal. Ye thought youce sacrifices an the mornynge: and youce synnes once the whyte daye. Ye made a thaukoffynge of leuen / ye promised fr willowes / and piodoynd them. Such list had ye: o ye chyldren of Israel: sayeth the Lorde God. Therefore haue I gowen you yde recey in all your citty / and besawenesse of bredden: that youe place: yet will ye not turne vnto me: sayeth the Lorde. Wherefore two / ye saye: wherfore came vnto one so drye was: but they were not fastidied: yet will ye not turne vnto me: sayeth the Lorde.

I haue smitten you with drought and blasting: and like home many aduaries: vines yadde / syngge trees: a olyue tree: ye had the same plucke: hath euen hym up. But yet will ye not turne vnto me: sayeth the Lorde. Desolence haue I sent amonge you: / so I haue in Egypte: your yong: men haue I slayne: the sword: and caused youce houses the selfe captiue: I made the synne: the sature of youce rance: to come up: into your noses: helos: yet will ye not turne vnto me: sayeth the Lorde.

Some of you haue I ourshid: / so I ouerthrewed Sedome: and Gomore: so that ye were as a ston: ye plucke out of the hye. Yet will ye not turne vnto me: sayeth the Lorde. Therefore thus will I handle the agayne: (O Israel) yet / euen thus will I handle the. Make the ready: then to meete by Gods offer: for loke make the mountaynes: be as dayes: the wynd: the shewe: the man: what he is aboute to do: he maketh the mornynge: and the hardnesse: the treadeth vpon the brye: place of the earth: the Lorde God of hostes: his name.

The. V. Chapter.

So their next kynfolke: a the third burne: shall take them: and carry away their bones: and saye unto him that is in the ynnertmost house: so there yett ano by the? And he shall answer: they are all gone: hold thy tongue: (shal be they) / for they wold not remember the name of the Lord.

Behold: the Lord is mynded to smyte the great houses: that they shall decay: and the little houses: that they shall cleave asunder. Who can ruine such houses: or plowe to open vpon the harde rocks of stone? for why? ye haue turned iust iudgemente into vniuersitie: and the firme of rightconnesse into vaine words: ye seeke ye that reioyce in vaine thinges: ye that saye: haue we not openeyd haines in our owne strength: Well: safe bedde o ye house of Israel: saith the Lord God of hostes: I will bringe a people vpon you: which shall trouble you / from the weste that goeth toward the Sea: vnto the East: in the midde.

The VII. Chapter.

A The Lord God shewed me a vision: behold: there stood one tize in the greasse: / tuen whin the euen was shining: / as if the King had clepe his shep. Nowe whin they ended to eat: vpon the graine whyn in the lande: I sayd: O Lord God be mercifull: I beseeche the: who shoulde do helpe vpon Jacob that is brought in lowe? So the Lord is gracious therein: / and the Lord sayde: will it shall not be. To gaue / the Lord shewd me this vision: behold: / the Lord God called the five to punishe the wall: and it deuoured the gate: hee: yett it consumed a parte already. Then sayde I: O Lord God / holde thy hande: for who shoulde do helpe vpon Jacob that is brought in lowe? So the Lord was mercifull therein: / and the Lord God sayde well: it shall not be.

A Now: when he shewed me this vision. Behold: the Lord stode vpon a plattered wall: and I amasias rowell in his hande. And the Lord sayde vnto me: Amasias: what seest thou? I answered: a man: as thou wilt. Then sayde the Lord: I will laye the rowell amonge my people of Israel: and wil not spare them: but the yre bill shall chappele of Isaac: must be lande: / and the church of Israel made desolate: / and so for the house of Jerobaams: I will stande vp against it: with the sword. Vpon this saide Amasias the priest to Beith vnto Jacoboam the Kinge of Israel: sayinge: I Amos maketh the house of Israel to rebel against him: hee shal be cast away: with his wordes. So Amos saith: Jacoboam shall dye: with the sword: / and Israel shal be led away captiue: out of their owne lande. And Amasias sayd vnto Amos: Get thee hence: / for what canst thou do? / and saye into the lande of Iuda: / get thee there: / for here is prophete: there: prophete: / more at Beith: / for in the Kinges chappell: / and the Kinges court.

Amos answered: / and saide to Amasias: I do not saye: / I am neither prophete: / nor prophete: / nor sonne: / but a seer: of cattell. / Nowe as I was breakinge youne molter: / and gettinge after the cattell: / the Lord rofe me: / and sayde vnto me: / So thy waye: / and prophete: vnto my people of Israel. / And therefore: heare thou: / where the wordes of the Lord. / Thou sayest: / ye prophete: / not againste Israel: / and speake: / workinge againste the house of Israel. / Wherefore: then: / sayeth the Lord. / Thy waye: / shall be as the waye of the churche: / for some: / and boughters: / shall be flaine: / with the sword: / and the lande: / shall be manured: / oute with the lynce. / Then thy selfe: / shal be in an vchancelands: / and Israel shal be taken out: / of his owne countrey.

The VIII. Chapter.

A The Lord God shewed me this vision: and behold: there was a maunde: with sommer fruite. / And he sayde: Amos: what seest thou? I answered: a maunde: with sommer fruite. / Then sayde the Lord: vnto me: / the wode commeth vpon my people: / of Israel: / I will not spare them. / In that daye: / shal the songes of the temple: / be turned into sorrowe: / sayeth the Lord God. / Many dead bodyes: / shall ly in euery place: / and be cast forth secretly. / Heare thou: / O ye that oppresse the poore: / and destroye the meane in the lande: / sayinge: / When will this man: / be gone: / that we maye sell vnto: / and the

The word of the Lord came vnto Jonas the son of Amithay sayinge Arise/ and get thee to Niproude vnto thee / how that Thine wickednesse is come before me And Jonas made him ready to the vnto Cherso fram the presence of the Lord/ y gaui hym vnto the Tappes: where he founde a shippe ready fet to go vnto Tharsis. So he payd his fare/ and wente aboard / that he myght go with them vnto Tharsis/ from the presence of the Lord. But the Lord hurled a great wynde into the see/ and there was a mighty tempest in the see: so that the shippe was in jeopardy of goinge in pece. Then manynere wrecchable/ and cried euery man vnto his God / as the goodes that were in the shippe / they cast into the see to lighten it of theire. But Jonas gat hym vnder the bancke/where he layd hym vnto the slombeth.

B So the maister of the shippe came to him and sayde vnto hym: why slombrest thou?
Up, call vpon thy Godis God (happly) will thinke vpon vs: that we perishe not. And they sayde one to another: come / lets vs cast lottes: that we maye knowe for whos cause we are Iosue. vi. c. I thus troubled. And so they cast lottes/ and the lot fell vpon Jonas.

Then sayde they vnto him: tell vs for whos cause are we thus troubled: what is thine o-cupacion? whence comest thou? what countreman art thou? of what nation? He answered them: I am an Hebrue/ and I feare the Lord God of heauen/ which is made both the see and the lande. The were the men creadingly astayed/ and sayde vnto hym: why hiddest thou so? (for they knewe that he was fled from the presence of the Lord/ because he had tolde them) and sayde moreover vnto hym: What shal we do vnto the / that the see maye cease from troublinge vs? (for the see wrought and was troublous) he answered the: Take me/ and cast me into the see / so shall it let you be in rest: for I wote it is for my sake/that this great tempest is come vpon you.

Neuertheless/ the me assured with rowyng to bringe the shippe to lande: but it wolde not be/ because the see wrought for/ and was so troublous agaynst them. Wherfore they crewd vnto the Lord/ and sayde: O Lord/ leaue vs not perishe for this mans death/ neither laye thou innocet bloude vnto oure charge: for thou O Lord/ hast done / euen as thy plea-

So they rote Jonas/ and cast hym into the see / and the see leste agayne. And the men feared the Lord/ exceedingly/ saying / euen

Euen because that my house lyeth so waiste/and ye remaine eury man into his owne house/wherefore the heauen is forbydden to geue it/you any dewe/ and the earth is forbydden to geue you encrease. I haue called so/ vnto the/ upon the lande/ and vpon the mountaynes/ vpon come/ vpon wyne and vpon oyle/vpon eury thinge that the ground bringeth forth: vpon men and vpon cattel/ vpon/ and vpon al handy labourer.

When Zorobabel the sonne of Salachel/ and Zesias the sonne of Josede the hye priefte with the remnant of the people/ heere the voyce of the Lord their God/ and the wordes of the prophet Aggeus (lyke as the Lord their God had sent him) the people had feare the Lord. Then Aggeus the Lordes angel sayed in the Lordes message vnto the people: I am with you/ saith the Lord. So the Lord waked vpon the spere of Zorobabel the prince of Iuda/ and Ag-geus the sonne of Josede the hie priefte her priefte/ and the spere of the remnant of all the people: that they came and laboured in the house of the Lord of hostes their God.

The II Chapter.

When the xxiii daye of the fyre moneth/ in the seconde yeare of Hynge Baruo/ the xxiiij daye of the fyre moneth/ came the wyde of the Lorde by the prophet Aggeus sayng: I speake to Zorobabel the sonne of So labud prince of Iuda/ and to Iesus the sonne of Josede the hye pnest/ and to the residue of the people/ and saye: Who is left among you/ that saye this house is her fyfthe beauty: But what saye ye now by it: To it not in your eyes/ euen as though it were nothing: Unter the feete of good chert/ o Zorobabel (sayeth the Lorde) be of good comfort/ o Iesus thou sonne of Josede the hye pnest: take good heere vnto you also/ all ye people of the land/ sayeth the Lorde of hostes/ and do accordyng to the wyde/ for I am with you (sayeth the Lorde of hostes) lyke as I agreed with you/ when ye came out of the lande of E gypt/ and my spere shalbe among you/ sae ye no.

B for thus saie the Lord of hostes. I yet once more wil I shake heuenn and earth / the se and the drye lande: Yet I will moue all Eberis / and the comforte of all Eberis shall come / and so will I fyl this house with bonoure / sayeth the Lorde of hostes. The glorie is myne / and the golde is myne / sayeth the Lorde of hostes. Thus the glory of the left house shalbe greater then the right / sayeth the Lord of hostes: and in this place wil I gloue praer / sayeth the Lord of hostes.

The xxiiij daye of the xij moneth in the seconde yeare of Hynge Baruo / came the wyde of the Lorde vnto the prophet Aggeus / sayng: Thus sayeth the Lord God of hostes: Ipe the pnestis concerninge the temple / saie: I fone beate I holy the se in his core lappe / a with his lappe / to reu the the chert / potage / myne / oyle / as any other meate: shall it be holy also: The pnestis answered / and sayde: No. Then saide Aggeus: Now if one beynge defiled with a dead carcase / touch any of these / shall it also be unclean: The pnestis gaue an swere and saide: I seche shalbe uncke in The Aggeus answered / and saide: Euen so is the people and this temple before me / sayeth the Lorde: and so are all the wydes of their hands / yee / and al that they offer is unclean: Uu x x b And now I praye you / consider vnto this daye / sayth and how it hath gone with you as for as euery thinge was layd and stoue vnto the north in the temple of the Lorde: that when Aggeus came to a come beate of xij. But helo / here were stoues xiiij. and that when ye came to the wympresse for to poure out / pomes of myrris / there were stoues xij. for I smote you with beate / stoues / and heyle stones in all the labours of your handes: yet was there none of you that wolde turne vnto me / sayeth the Lorde. Consider then from this daye forth / and a fewe / namely / from the xxiii. daye of the xij moneth / vnto the daye that the foundation of the Lordes temple was layd: Marke it well. I Ja not the sebe yet in the barnet haue not the vynes / the figges / the pome granates / and olue trees bene yet vnfructe / full: One from this daye forth / I shall make them to prosper.

Now on the xxiiij daye of the moneth came the wyde of the Lorde vnto Aggeus againe / sayng: Speake to Zorobabel the prince of Iuda / and say: I wil shake both heuenn and earth / and ouerthrow the seate of the Kingdome / yee / and I wil cast the mightie Kingdome of the Eberis. I will ouerthrowe the chertres / and I will shake the se / upon them / so that both house and man shall fel downe / euery man thow his neyghbouse stoue. And so for the / o Zorobabel (sayeth the Lorde of hostes) thou sonne of Salubur / my seruante: I will shake the se / sayeth the Lorde / as thou some time / and make the se as a seale / for I haue defen the se / sayeth the Lord of hostes.

The ende of the prophet Aggeus.

Then answered I / a saide vnto him: What are these two olyue trees vpon the right and left syde of the candlestick? I spake no more: / a saide vnto him: what be these tii. olyue trees: which shal be the two golden pipes: empty them silke into the golde? He answered me: and sayde: knowest thou not what these be? And I sayde: No my lord: Then said he: These are the two olyue branches: that stande before the ruler of the whole earth.

Z I turned me / I sawe myne eyes / and loke'd: a beholde: a strange boke. And he saide vnto me: what saist thou? I answered: I see a strange boke of xx. cubites longe and x. cubites broad. Then saide he vnto me: This is the tree that groweth forth over the whole earth: for all these shal be iudged after this boke: / a all swerours shal be iudged accordinge to the same. I will bringe it forth / I saie the Lo. ofe of booke: so that it shall come to the house of the sberde: and to the house of him that falsly sweareth by my name: / a shall remaine in his house: and consume it with the sberde: / a sberde thereof. Then the aengel that talked with me wente forth: / and sayde vnto me: I sawe myne eyes and se: what thou that goest forth. And I sayde: what is it? He answered: this is a measure goinge out. He sayde more: Euen thus are they that dwell vpon the whole earth: colde vpon. And behalde: there was li'ft vp a talene of leade: / a / a woman saie in the myddell of the measure. And he sayde: This is vii. goshenneth. So he cast her into the myddell of the measure: / and there the sberde of leade vpon into a hole.

Ben. j b

Then lift I vpon myne eyes: / a loke'd: and beholde: there came out women / a the wynde was in their wynges: / a they had wynges like the wynges of a swete: / a they lift vp the measure betwixte the each ead the heauen. And I spake: I to the aengel that talked with me: where be the these beere the measure? And he sayde vnto me: into the lande of Tynear: / a byside them an house: whiche when it is prepared: the measure shal be set there in his place.

The VI. Chapter.

Z I heard I heard me / I sawe myne eyes / a loke'd: and beholde: there came co.

charrenes out fro batwixte two hills: / a the hills were of brasse: / a in the fyfthe chaeret were I reade booke: / a in the secon chaeret were blacke: / a in the thirde chaeret were whyte booke: / a in the fourth chaeret were brasse of vnter colour: and stronge. Then spake I and sayde vnto the aengel that talked with me: / a loke'd: what are these? The aengel answered: / a saide vnto me: I see: a the wyndes of the hea: / a whiche be come forth to stande before the ruler of all the earth. That with I blacke booke went into the lande of the North: / a I whyte folow'd the: / a the speckled booke wente forth towarde the South. These booke were very stronge: / a wente out: and sought to go: and take their way: / a they wente over the whole earth. And he saide: get you hence: / a go thow to I wote. So they wente thow wente the world. Then crede he vpon me: / a said vnto me: sayinge: Beholde: these that go towarde the North: / a shall fill ney worth in the North countre.

And I wode of the Lo. came vnto me: / a sayinge: Take of the pyffones that are come from Babylon: namely: / a Sedar: / a Cobas: / a and Dnas: a come thou the same Dese: / a go into I house of Josias: the sonne of Eopnyas. Then take golde and siluer: / a a mane crounes therof: / a set them vpon the heade of Ihesus the sonne of Josdec the hie prest: / a I spake vnto him: I was saie the Lo. of booke: Beholde: he man whose name is: / a I sawe: and he that shall bringe vp after him: / a shall bulde vpon the temple of the Lo. ofe: / a in he shall bulde vpon the temple of the Lo. ofe. / a he shall beere the pyffes: he shall sit vpon the Lo. ofe: / a he shall and haue the domination.

I wode of the Lo. came vnto me: / a sayinge: I will be also vpon his crone: / a a peaceable counsaill shal be betwixte the bo. And the crone shal be in the temple of the Lo. ofe: / a a remembraunce vnto Selen: / a Eubias: / a Dnas: / a then the sonne of Eopnyas. And in he as be sarre of: / a shall come: and bulde the temple of the Lo. ofe: / a he maye knowe: / a he shall beere the Lo. ofe: / a he shall sit vpon the Lo. ofe: / a he shall beere the pyffes: / a he shall sit vpon the Lo. ofe: / a he shall and haue the domination.

The VII. Chapter.

Z I happened also in the fourth yeare of I strange darwes: / a the Lo. ofe came vnto me: / a sayinge: I will be also vpon his crone: / a a peaceable counsaill shal be betwixte the bo. And the crone shal be in the temple of the Lo. ofe: / a a remembraunce vnto Selen: / a Eubias: / a Dnas: / a then the sonne of Eopnyas. And in he as be sarre of: / a shall come: and bulde the temple of the Lo. ofe: / a he maye knowe: / a he shall beere the Lo. ofe: / a he shall sit vpon the Lo. ofe: / a he shall beere the pyffes: / a he shall sit vpon the Lo. ofe: / a he shall and haue the domination.

came vnto Zachary in the fourth day of the month which is called Caslew: vnder the name of Sarsas and Nogauides / and the men that were with them first vnto Bethel for to praye before the Lord: / and that they shoulde saye vnto the priestes / whiche were in the house of the Lorde of hostes / and to the prophete:

1.12. b Shoulde I wepe in the firste month / and abstine so I haue done now certayne yeares? Then came the word of the Lorde of hostes vnto me / sayinge / I speake vnto all the people of the lande / and to the priestes: and saye when ye fasted and mourned in the v. and iij. month

1.13. a (now this iij. yeares) / yd ye faste vnto me: When ye dyd eate also and drinke / yd ye not eate and drinke for your owne selico. Accordeth to these the wordes / which the Lorde spake by his prophetes afore tyme / when Jerusalem was yet inhabited and wrythy / she and the citie rounde about her: wch there dwelt men / both toward the South and in the playne countries:

1.14. b And the word of the Lorde came vnto Zachary / sayinge: Thus saith the Lorde of hostes: I Egreite true iudgement: shewe mercy and louinge kyndnesse / vnto every man to his brother: So he wydowes / the fatherlesse / the strainger / and gaue no wrong / and let no man synge / and agaynst hym: other in his hand. Whiche thing they wolde not take hede / but turned their backs / and stopped their eares / that they should not heere. Yet they made their bettes as an Adamans stone / left / they shoulde heere the lawe and wordes / whiche the Lorde of hostes sente vnto them in his holy spirit: by the prophete afore tyme.

1.15. b Wherfore the Lorde of hostes was very wroth at them. And this now cometh to passe / that thife a shalpe / which they wolde not heere: men so they cryed / and I wolde not heere / saith the Lorde of hostes / but scattered them / and ge all Gentyles / whom they see we not. Thus the lande was made so desolate / that there traupled no man in it / neyther to nor fro / for that pleasaunt lande was vnto they layed wast.

The VIII. Chapter.

1.16. b The word of the Lorde came vnto me / sayinge: Thus saith the Lorde of hostes: I was in a great glosouy ouer the city / I haue bene very glosouy ouer her in a greyt displeasure / for thus saith the Lorde of hostes: I will turne me agayne vnto Sion / and will dwell in the myddel of Jerusalem: I so cha Jerusalem shalbe called a faithfull / true citie / the hill of the Lorde of hostes / or an holy hill.

Thus saith the Lorde of hostes: There shal yete olde men a women dwell againe in the stretes of Jerusalem: / a yd as go with staue in their handes for very age. The stretes of the cite also shalbe full of yonge boyes and damysle / playinge vpon the strete.

Thus saith the Lorde of hostes: I shalbe the esche of this people: theynke it to be vnpossible in my sight / saith the Lorde of hostes: Thus saith the Lorde of hostes: Beholde / I will vntyne my people from the lode of the East and West / and will bringe them agayne: that they may dwell at Jerusalem. And they shalbe my people / and I will be their God / in trouth and righteousnesse. Thus saith the Lorde of hostes: I will laye my hande be stronge / yete yete now heere these wordes by the mouth of the prophete / which be in these dayes: that the foundation is layed vpon the Lorde of hostes house / that the temple maye be builded. For why? For these dayes neyther men nor cattel cande wyne any thyng / neyther might any man come in and ouer in rest for trouble: but I let euery man go agaynst his neyghbour.

Neuerthelesse / I will now increase the residue of this people / nomerous as afore tyme: saith the Lorde of hostes / but they shalbe a sode as peace. The wyneyard shal geue her fruite / and graue shal geue her increase / and the vine vnto that geue their fruite / and I shal cause the remnant of this people / to haue all this in possession. And it shall come to passe / that I shal see ye we: a cuse amonge the Gentiles. O ye house of Iuda / and ye house of Israel: When so wil I deliuer you / ye shalbe a blessinge: that not but let your hande be stronge.

For thus saith the Lorde of hostes: I haue so I purposed to punishe you / wherfore I haue so your fathers proual: and now will I turne the Lorde of hostes: and spared not: I haue so am I determined now in these dayes / for berde / and the shepe shalbe strated abroad / and so will I turne myne hande to the she-one. And it shall come to pass: (saith the Lord) that in all the lande two partes shalbe reioiced ouer / but the shepe parte shall remaine therein. / And the same shepe parte will I bringe thorow the sye / and will cleanse them as golde in the fyre / and I will cleanse them as golde in the fyre. / And they shall call upon my name / and I will heare them: I will sygne in my people.

And they shall saye / The Lord is my God.

The XIII. Chapter.

Holdeth the daye of the Lord commeth / that thou shalt be spoiled and robbed / for I gather together all the Ghyben to fight against Ierusalem / so that the one shalbe wode / the houses spoiled / and the women veyled.
The halfe of the one shall go awaye into capti-uisme / and the residue of the people shall nor be retred out of the cite.

After that shall the Lord go forth to fight against those Ghyben / as men vsi to fight in the daye of banayl. Then shall his feet stande upon the mounte / that is vpon the East syde of Ierusalem. And the mounte Thuer shall cleue in two / Eastwarde a Westwarde / so that there shall be a greate valley / the half mounte shall remoue towards the North / and the other half towards the South.

And they shall flye vnto the valley of my hil-les / for the valley of the bylles shall reach vnto Ierusalem. / See / they shall see / I like ye and so: the carbunake in the veyne of Ophir. / Hinge of Iuda. And the Lord my God shall come / and all synners with hym. In that daye shall it not be light / but colde and frost. This shalbe that spetall daye / which is knowne vnto the Lord / neyther daye nor nyght: but about the euenyng tyme it shalbe light.
In that tyme shall thre waters of lyfe runne out from Ierusalem / the half part of them towards the East sye / and the other half towards the westwarde / and shall continue both summer and wynter. / And the Lord my self shalbe hynge ouer all the earth.

They tyme shall there be one Lord onely / and his name shalbe but one. Men shall go about the whole earth as vpon a seld / from Gibeon to Ramon / and from the South to Ierusalem. The shalbe sit vpon inhabited in her place. From Ben Sattimo parte / vnto the place of the fyre parte / and vnto the corner parte / and from the tower of Panamuel vnto the hynge of wynter parte. There shall not dwell / and there shalbe none / but Ierusalem shalbe safely inhabited.

They shalbe the plague / whereby the Lord will synge all people that haue fought against Ierusalem / namely / theye selfs shall consume awaye / though they stande vpon theye feet / theye eyes shall corrupte in theye holde / and theye tongue shall consume in theye month.

In that daye shall the Lord make a greate feditioe amonge them / so that one man shall take another by the hande / and laye his hande vpon the hande of his neyghbour. / And I shall synge also against Ierusalem / and the princes of all the Ghyben shall gathered together rounde aboute golde and siluer / and a very greate multitude of elohim. And so shall the plague goe ouer houses / maner / and fildes / and all the bestiall that shalbe in the best / lyke as vnto a plague was.

Every one that remaineth then of all the people / which came against Ierusalem / shall goe up yearly to worshipp the hynge / (even the Lord of hosties) / and to kepe the feast of tabernacles. And loke what generacion upon earth goeth not up to Ierusalem / for to wor-shipp the hynge / (even the Lord of hosties) / vpon the same shall come no raigne. / If the King of Egypte goe not vp and tonie a out / it shall not come vpon them neither.

They shalbe the plague / whereby vnto the Lord will synge all Ghyben / that come not up to kepe the feast of tabernacles. / There shalbe the synne plague of Egypte / and the synne plague of all people / that goe not up to kepe the feast of the tabernacles.

In that tyme shall the rydinge gear of the horse be holy vnto the Lord / and the kelles in the Lordes house shalbe lyke the bestes before the altar: / yea all the bestiall in Ierusalem and Iuda shall be holy vnto the Lord of hoos-tie / and all they that slaye off synners / shall be holy.

The ende of the prophet Malachy.

Here endeth the booke of the prophete.

APOCRIPHA

The booke and treatises which amonge the fathers of olde are not referred to be of like authoritie with the other booke of the Bible/ neither are they founde in the Canon of the Hebrew.

The translation vnto the reader.

These booke (good reader) which be called Apocrypha are not iudged among the doctours to be of like reputation with the other scripture / as thou mayest per-ceiue by S. Ieronyme in Epistola ad Paulum. And the chiefe cause thereof is that there be many places in them/that seeme to be repugnant vnto the open and mo-nyest truth in the other booke of the Bible. Nevertheless / I haue not regarded them together to the intent that I wolde haue them despised / or helde for by / as I shoulde thinke them false / for I am not able to prouice: Yee / I haue not verily / as they were equally conferred with the other open scripture / yme/ place and circumstance in all things considered: they shoulde / maye the same contrary / as the vntually and puerely alledged. As methought A mans face can not be seene so well in a water / as in a saye glasse / maye they as in the shewed places of scripture haue bene considered and myrre with bynd and conuincing opinions of me / which haue call such a myll afore the eyes of the simple / that as long as they be not conferred with the other places of scripture / they shall not seeme otherwise as be understood / than as souereign / as I haue expounded them. Vnto whosoever thou be that readest scripture / let the holy ghost be thy teacher / and let one text expounde another vnto the: As for the dreames / visions and other sentences in the byb seeme thy vnderstandinge / commytre them vnto God / and make no account of them: But let the playne text be thy gyde / and the presence of God / which is the author thereof / shall lede the in al truth.

As for the prayer of Salomon / which thou findest not therein / the prayer of Iudas / and three songs that be and his two fellowes sungen in the synagoge / namely the prayer of Solomon / readest thou in the eighth chapter of the third booke of the kinges / so that it appereth not to be Apocrypham: The other prayer and songs / namely of the three children / haue I not founde amonge any of the interpreters / but only in the olde laryn tongue / which is reported to be of Theodosius translation. Nevertheless / both because of those that be weak and serupulous / and for their sake also that loue so the sweet songs of thanksgynginge / I haue not left them out: to the intent that the one shoulde haue no cause to complaine / and that the other also maye haue the more occasion to giue thankes vnto God in adworship / as the three children had in the synagoge.

Thus be with the. Amen.

his charrett/ but vnderste to fyght against him: & hee sende out vnto y^e woode of the prophete/ which he tolde him one of the south of God/ which picked a battayl against him in the felde of Mesgaddo. And the pyrrico pleased to fenge Zofias. Then subd the kyng vnto his seruantes: Carry me awaye oure of the battayl/ for I am foue wounded. And immediately his seruantes toke him awaye oute of the front of the battayll. Then sae he vp vpon the second charrett/ came to Jerusalem/ byed/ and was burned in hys fatheres sepulchre. And in all Jermy they inuoued for Zofias/ yet/ rulers also with their wyfes made lamentacion for him vnto this day: And thes was yone cite still in Iseal.

¶ These thynges are written in the booke of the storie of the kynges of Iuda: namely/ all the actes and woikes of kyng Josias/ his kynglye power and manlyf/ his vnderstandinge in the lawe of God/ and what he ydo yea/ and thynges which are not written in the

II. RE. 37. 1. Boke of the kynges of Israel and Iuda. ¶ And he xxv. the people toke Iedonias the sonne of Josias his father when he was thie and thine yeaer olde. And he reigned ouer Iseal thre monethes. And he the kyng of Egypte put him youne/ that he should not carye in Jerusalem/ and rayfed vp a rayng of the people: namely/ an hundred talents of siluer/ a one talent of golde. The kyng of Egypte also made Iocachim his brother kyng of Iuda and Jerusalem. As for them of the kynges counsell with the kyng he his selfe and Sarcades his brother/ he toke them/ and caryed them awaye yonnes into Egypte. Fyne and twenye yeaer olde was Iocachim when he was made kyng in the lande of Iuda and Jerusalem/ and he ydo euil before the Lord.

¶ II. RE. 37. 2. ¶ Then came Nabudodonosor the kyng of Babilon came vp/ boande him with bandes of yron/ & caryed him vnto Babilon. Nabudodonosor also toke all the T^empell that were halowid in the temple of the Lord/ and all the i^eu^eles/ & caryed them vnto Babilon/ and thoughte the into his owne temple at Babilon. Of his vnderstande and vngodlines/ it is written in the booke of the actes of the kynges. And Iocachim his sonne caryed in his shadd: He was made kyng thynge cyghrene yeaer olde/ and reigned but thre monethes. And then theye in Jerusalem/ and ydo euil before the Lord. So after a yeaer/ Nabudodonosor sent and caryed him to be brought vnto Babilon with the holy vessel of the Lord/ and made Cedebias his brother kyng of Iuda and Ierusalem/ when he was one and twenye yeaer olde and he reigned eleven yeaer.

¶ And he ydo euil also in the sight of the Lord. ¶ He cared not for the woide: that were present vnto him by the prophete Jeremy at the mouth of the Lord. And were so he had made an oath vnto fenge Nabudodonosor/ he forswore him selfe/ as fel from him/ because a shewe of a hart/ a transgressed at the lawe and ordinaunce of the Lord God of Israel. The rulers also and heade of the people of the Lord ydo much euil/ and became wygly more the the Rechit/ being dyfled in a maner of abominacion: yea/ a dyfled i holy temple of the Lord at Jerusalem. And the God of the father sent his messengers vnto them/ to rurne them backe/ as to all the againe from there synne: for he wold sun haue spared them for his holy tabernacle sake. Vncertainties/ they had his messengers in deson: gloke what God spake vnto the by his prophets/ they made the a spoue of it. This yeaer on so longe/ the Lord was wath with his people for thine vngodlinesse/ and will be caryed the kynges of the Caldees to come vp/ which slew the kyng me with the sword/ yea/ when in the compass of their holy temple/ and spared no body/ neither yeaer nor olde. ¶ He spent a number made no yange misde: they were aduoyced into the power of the kynges of the Caldees/ at the holy vessel of the Lord/ and the kynges measure toke they/ and caryed them vnto Babilon. As for the house of the Lord/ they demise/ and shate vnto the walles of Jerusalem/ for syn upon her towers/ destroyed all her noble buildynges/ and thoughte all to maugher/ and the people that were not slaw with the sword/ by caryed vnto Babilon.

¶ Thus became they the paysones of the kyng of the kyng of Babilon/ yet they were aduoyced/ & caryed for them selfe/ vnto the moor. ¶ Iere. 37. 3. 4. ¶ The of the Lord/ was fulfilled/ i^e to be he and xxx. b city that they make no more in it/ and that they proceed no further with the Ambassage: so in mynde come might be the cause of warre and vsurpation vnto Kinge.

More when Karbunus and Sabellus the sene and the rulers in the lande had red the writinges of Kinge Acacesen/ they gat hym more part/ and came in all the hast to Jerusalem with an host of hoisemen/ and with much people of steemen/ and forbade them to build: And so they left from vsurpation of the Temple/ vnto the seconde year of Kinge Darus.

The III. Chapter.

2 Kinge Darus made a great feast vnto his seruantes/ vnto all his court/ and to all the officers of Media and Persia/ and to all the Deputies and eulers that were vnder hym/ from India vnto Ethiopia/ an hundred and yve. countries. So whā they had eaten and drunken. beinge sensibyl/ and were gone be me againe/ Darus the Kinge wente into his chamber/ layed him doune to sleepe/ and so awakend.

Then ther the yonge men cheepte the Kinge perforce/ and wached his body/ commond amonge them slyce/ and spake one to another: Let euery one of vs saye some thing/ and loke vpon sentence in wyse and meeke recollen than the other/ vnto him that Kinge Darus geue greate gyfte/ and dothe hym with purple: He shal geue him vessels of gold to buyne in/ dothes of golde and courages: he shall inake him a costly charret/ and a dyble of golde/ he shall geue him a lance of wyre slyce/ and a chayne of golde about his necke: he shall be the seconde and principall nere vnto Kinge Darus/ and that because of his wysdomes/ and shall be called the Kinges kyneman.

B So euery one wote his meaning/ / scaled it/ and leryd it vnder the Kinges pelowes/ and said vnder the Kinge arseyd/ we will geue him sure wynges: and loke whose woode the Kinge and his dyble shold be iudged to be the most wysly spoken/ the same shall be the victor. One wote wene to a stronge thinge. The seconde wote: Thi Kinge to stande: The thirde wote: women haue yet more strengthe/ but alke all thinges the truth searely avenge the victory: More when the Kinge was ryzen vpon they toke their wynges/ and vsurued there vnto him/ and so be red thene. Then some he sayd to all his dy chief lordes/ all the Deputies and rulers of the countre of Media and Persia: And whā they were set doune in the counsaill/ the wynges were red before thim. And he commaunded to call for the yonge men/ that they might see dare their accoustices: them slyce by mouth. So when they were sent for/ and came in the Kinge saide vnto them: I see vs and make vs to vnderstande/ whā the thynges are that ye haue wrytten.

Then beganne the first which had spoken of the strengthe of reyn/ and said: O ye men/ wyne to many mans strongth/ outtedmeth them that vnto this deceueth the mynde/ a bangerly beche the poore man in the Kinge to vantage and wanne. Thus sayd he also vnto the sonda and with the fre/ with the poore and chyce/ take away their mind/ standing/ and make it chon carles and myd/ so that none of them remembreth any heuines/ but is dument: It causeth a man to thynke also of the thinge which he doeth/ no honest a good: remembary not that he is a Kinge/ nor that he is in auctour/ a that he bought wario so such thinges. No: coner/ whā men are vnto Kinge/ they forget all frendship/ tell bootherly faultes/ sic a laue: but as soon as they are donen/ they haue aue the heart and wyl slyce: a whā they are layed doune from the wyne/ so ryzen up a game/ they can noe tell what they sayd. And ye maye/ to not wene the strongest: for who wold els take in hāde so to such thinges: And whā he had spokethis/ he helde his mynde.

The IIII. Chapter.

2 Then the seconde which had sayd/ that the Kinge was stronger/ beganne to speake/ Kinge: O ye men/ are not they the strongest and most excellent/ that sounoure the laue a the seer/ all thas in the see in the earth: More is the Kinge lord of all this thinge/ a barb/ Dominion of the all: a lofe/ whā he commaunded/ he a done. If he finde his men forty a warfare/ they go a vantage/ doune hills/ or allis a to wets. They are flain/ and slaye/ other men/ them selves/ a ouerpass/ not the hynges wold. If they get the victory they bringe the hynges all the spoyle. Likewise / the other that be not with warres and hynges winge thus till the grounde when they escape they bringe tribute unto the hynges. And if the hynges alone do that commaunde to kyll they kyll: if he commaunde to forgive / they forgeue: if he commaunde to smyte / they smyte: if he byd theye waye / they theye waye: if he commaunde to buyle / they buyle: if he commaunde to sheale / they sheale: if he commaunde to be commaunde to plant / they plant. The common people and the rulers are obedient unto him. And the hynges in the moone season smite him / and catch an vnter: and take his rest: and kepe they watch rounde e-aboute the hynges / and none of them barre get him out of the waye: so do his owne offices / but must be obedient vnto the hynges of a wold. Judges ye not o ye men / how should not be so fere about / vnto whome man are thus obedient: And when he had spokt this / he helde his tynge. The ruler whose name was Zaiababel / which had spoken of women end of the truth / beganne to saye after this maner: O ye men / it is nae the great hynges / is not the multitude of men / for theye is as wyne that excellith. Who is it then that hath the lordshippe ouer them? Haue not women borne the hynges / and all the peaple that rule these thinges? Haue not women borne them and brought them vp that plant the wyne / whereout the wyne commeth? They make garments for all men / they geue honour vnto all men / and without women can not men lyue. If theye gather golde and siluer and all precious thinges / and se a fayr and wellwoued woman / they leaue altogether / and tuene theye eyes onely vnto the woman / and stape vpon her / and haue more desyre vnto her then vnto the siluer and golde / in any maner of precious thinge. A man leaueh his father that thoughte hym vp / he leaueh his owne naturall countrey / and leaueh vnto the woman: yee / he coopereth his life with the woman: and remembereth neyther father / nor mother / nor countrey. By this then ye muste iudge knowe / that women haue the vni-uersall rule.

swearde and goeth his waye to steale / to kyll / to murder / to seyle vpon the sea / and seyle a Lyon / and goeth in the varrennesse: and when he hath stolen / he createth and robbed / he be-cometh rich: vnto his loue. Agayne / a man leaueh his wyfe better then father and mother: yet many one thece be that renne oute of theye wyte / and become bondmen for theye wyfe for silke: many one also haue perished / and haue bene slayne / and haue synned because of women.

And nowe belese me / I knowe a hynges which is greater in his power / and all landes stande in awe of hym / and no man barre leye hande vpon hym: yet byd I se / that Zaiababel (the daughter of the great hyng Baracuc) the hynges conceyue / sai Beside the hynges vpon the right hande / and to the left of his browe / and feet vnto her own heade / and smite the hynges with her left hande.
 Moreover / the hynges laide open her mouth: if she laughed vpon him / he laughed also: but if she toke any displeasur with hym / the hyng was saine to slatter her and to geue her good wordes: till he had gone her sauoure agayne.

O ye men / are not women then stronger Greater in the earth / in bye to the heauen than these thinges. Then the hynges and the princes laide one vpon another. So he be-ganne to speake of the truth: O ye men / remember women stronger. Greater is the earth / bye to the heauen / as yet is the course of the Sunne / he compasseth the heauen rounde about / and seeth his course agayne to his owne place in one daye. In he noe excellent that heareth this: yee / greater is the truth / and stronger then all thinges. All that earth callith vpon the truth / the heauen prayeth it / all weete / shake and tremble at it / and wish it to not vnto this thinge. Wyne is vnto the hynges / as vnto the truth / women are vnto the truth / as the children of men are vnto the truth / yee / all these wordes are vnto the truth / and the celes no trust in them / in the woman / because she is flatterer / she is vnto a penne. It is for the truth it endureth / and is alwaye stronger / yee / and conquereth / for all that shee woulde vnto it.

no difference betwixt vsch as poore betwixt the myghy or simple / but vsch ryght vnto every man / whether they be calld as gods / and o' them are louyngly dealt / wthal in the world of vs. In the iudgements of vs there is no vntyrannous iudg' / but strenghtyngdom / and pomee and maist' for euermore. Blessed be the God of tructh.

And wroth that he be dede his kinge / a all the people cryed and saide: O woe is the murther / a about all. Then saide the kinge vnto hym: The wath thou wilt / mane then is appoynded in I wryng' / and I shall geue it the / for thou art foude wyser then thy cōpanyons: thou shalt sey nexte me / and be my kynsman. Then saide he vnto the kinge: Remember thy promysse / a w' the Baye whan thou camest to the kinge dome / to buyde up Jerusalem / and to finde agayne all the vessils and Jewels / that were taken awaye out of Jerusalem: which Cyrus spacared / w' he offered in Babilon / a woude sende them agayne. And thy mynde was to buyde up the temple / wch the Edomyens hens / whan Jerusalem was destroyed by the Caldees. This is my O' Kinge / so the thyng that I requyre / this is the maner / wch I desyre and spee of the: that thou p'forme the wore / wch I haue wth thyne owne mouth hoill made vnto the kyng of heauen.

E Then Darius the kynge sate up / and wry-fied hym / and wroite a lener vnto all the debytes and s'ntes / to all the leedes and nobles / that they shoulde conuey him forth / and all them that woude goe up wth hym. He wroite a lener also vnto all the s'ntes that were in Celesyria / a Idemene / and vnto Esbanus / that they shoulde haue redresser from Esbanus vnto Jerusalem / to buyde the cite wall. / For neuer he wroite vnto all the Jewes that were gone out of his realme / and Jewes because of the freedom / that no officer / nor iudger / nor s'ntes shoulde come to them / wch / and that all their lands / wch they had conquered / shoulde be free / and not tributary: And that the Edomyens shoulde geue ouer the citise and villeges of the Jewes / wch they had taken in yere / and that they shoulde yearly geue xx talentes to the buydinge of vs temple / vntil the tyme that it were synished / and to the dayly halowinge of the beuotoffenings as it is commaunded / I ten talentes yearly also: And that all they wch come from Babylon / a buyde the cite / shoulde haue fre ho-ber / they and their wyddes / and all the p'ples.

He wroite the greatesse also / and edifyinge / s ded that the haly garment shoulde be geuen them / wherein they minist' / a he wroite that commaundementes shoulde be geuen to the Leuitee / vntill the daye that the house were synished / and Jerusalem buyded up / and commaunded that all they that wached the cite / shoulde haue their portions and wyddes.

He gaue ouer also all the vessel that Cyrus had spacared from Babilon: and all that Cyrus had geuen in commaundement / the same chaaged he also / that it shoulde be borne a fers vnto Jerusalem. Now whan this yonge man was gone forth / he wended his face towards Jerusalem / and passid the kyng of babilon / and saide: Of the comynh wroty / of the Ecclij. a someth wysdome and eleuatyng / and I am thy seruante. Blessed art thou / wch hast geuen me w' domes / the will I prayse. O Lode / thou God of our fathers.

And so he take the leitte / and wente vnto Babilon: And whan he came there / a the kyng that vnto all his debytes that were at Babilon / and they passid the God of their fathers / that he had geuen them cressyng a liberte to goe vp / and to buyde Jerusalem / and the temple wch is there called after the nome of the Lo- de / and they reioyced wth iustimen-tes and gladness / seven dayes longe.

The V Chapter.

After this / where the principal men of the vylleges chosen in the rybes a kirde / a that they shoulde goe up wth the wytes and chilren / wth their seruantes and marydres / wth all their camels and substances. And Darius the kyng sent wth hit a thousande basmentes to conuey them safely vnto Jerusalem: and when they were glad / playng vs upon instrumentes / and synnyng.

And that are the names of the men / wch wente out of the vylleges accordinge to be rybes. Of s'ide p'ples / the somme of Dhine / the somme of Zaron: Terus the sonne of Zosede: Zosym / somme of 's Zoobabel the sonne

Diosphar the sonne of Nalmom. All these ministered in the Sanctuary, & were seruantes of Salomon: euen in E. and xxxij.

These followinge are they / that came of fro Bethmillai Thelarsa. Whose names were Carnia / and Eterah / and myghenoe the wewe fourth their names and Hinc: doo how they were of Israel: the sonnes of Salarus / the sonnes of Tubai / the sonnes of Itchodocus. Of the priestes that executed the office of the priesthood / and were not founde: The sonnes of Othai / the sonnes of Iehosaf / the sonnes of Abdon / which imaged one of his youges of Bethguel / and were named after him. The writinge of the same kyned was sought in / register of this generation / but it was not founde: and therefore were they forbydden to execute the office of the priesthood. Vnto these syde uehemias / and Ithaias / that they shoulde haue no portion in the Sanctuary / till theye come vp in his priest / that were well instructed in the Lyne charnes and weedy. Of all Israel / the syde seruantes and maydens. the counte xliij. m. ij. c. and xl. Howe were there of seruantes and maydens en. M. in E. and xxxij. Of singinge: men and singinge women: there were ij. c. and two. four hundred / and xxxij. camels. Seven thousande and xxxij. oxen. Two hundred thousande / and xliij. mules. Five thousande and xxxij. asses.

There beides also / and the rulers in the trybes: wher they came to Jerusalem / and wolde bryght and set vp the temple of God agayne in his place / they gaue (after theye had) vnto the temple: the treasure a to the seruice of the Sanctuary: 24 m. poundes of golde / withoute offshire / and an hundred pounde garnance. And so drete the priestes / and the Levites / and the people that came out of Jerusalem / and in the countie there aboute / the singere also / and the porters / every one of Israel in his owne lande.

¶ In the xij. monthe came a reb. the childen of Israel were caryed in at his burysse / they came all with one consent into the countie which was before the East doore. And there stode Iesus the sonne of Josede / a his brother: the priestes / and Jorobabel the sonne of Salarius / and his brethren / sittinge vp an other to offer their sacrifices vpon it / as it was decreed in the lawe of Moyses / man of God.

There came people also of other countires / and the Hebrew out of all landes / to see the aultre in his place / and a freed sacrifices: a burnt offerings vnto the Lord in the morninge. And so theye hold the feast of tabernacles / Two. m. c. lxxij. of Israel. And theye offered them as accordinge was / and made the sacrifice appointed / the offerings: also of the Sabbarbes / and of the new Moone / and all holy feastes. And all theye that were offeringe vnto the Lord / beganne at the new Moone of the fourth month: to offer vnto God / for the temple of the Lord was not yettyld. And theye gaue vnto the meffers / and carpenters / money / materials / and wyte with their selfe. Vnto them of Sydon also / and Tyre they gaue carres / that theye shoulde carry Cedretrees from Libanus to be used and burned / and that theye shoulde make shippes in the haven of Toppa: accordinge: as it was appointed and ordeined / by Cyrus Kinge of the Persians.

And in the second year: they came into the temple of God at Jerusalem. In the seconde month beganne Jorobabel the sonne of Sar / and e. Iahel / and Iesus the sonne of Josede / a the brethren the priestes and Levites / and all theye that were come vnto Jerusalem out of the captiuitie of Babylon / and layed the foundation of the temple of God / in the new Moone of the seconde month in this seconde year: that theye were come into Itewy and Jerusalem. And theye appointed the Levites (that were about 37. years old) vnto the seruice of the Lord: so Iesus and his sonnes / and his brethren all the Levites stode together / and perceiued the same a ordinaunce / in the house of the Leide.

And the priestes stode / and had their garnance and competences / and the Levites / the sonnes of Iaph had euen also / accordinge to the lawe and payes vnto the Lord / accordinge to the lawe. And the Kinge of Israel had ordeined. And the Kinge that theye had sente vnto the Lord: was euer this man: I. Whose name was the Lord / for he is gracious / a his goodness vpon Israel: euen in this tyme. And all the people blew out with trumpets / and singe with loud voyce/passinge the Lorde together in the cooringe vp of the house of the Lorde. There came also from amonge the priests and Levites the rulers and elders/ accordinge to the trybes and synedres (such as had sate the house afore) to the buildinge of this temple very greate ere and greate mourninge/ many also with trompettes and greate voyce/ in so much that the trompettes might not wel be heard for the weepinge and mourninge. For the common people blew goodly upon the trompettes.

¶ Then came the enemies of the trybes of I. Esdr. iij. a Juda and Ben Jamin/ to knowe what shalbe the promysinge and voyce of shewement might be. And they persecuted it was they which were come againe out of captivite/ and wolde buyde the temple a newe waye/ Lorde Gad of Israel. So they wente to Zorobabel and Jhsua/ and to the rulers of the villages/ and saide unto them: Shall we buyde with you also/ for we likewise have herde your Lorde/ and we walke after the same maner/ from the dayes of Ihsazabab the kinge of Assyria/ whiche brought us hither. Then Zorobabel a Jhsua/ and the rulers of the villages of Israel saide unto the: It is not meete that ye should buyde the temple of our God with vs: we our selves alone will buyde unto the Lorde. I. Esdr. iij. a. ¶ It was as Cyrus the kinge of the Persians hath commaunded vs.

But the heathen in the lande layed themselves against those that were in Jewry/ helde up the dyslinge fro them/ layed waste upon them proudly/ floppid such as brought any thinge to the temple/ forbad them to buyde/ and hindered those that made them passage/ that the buildinge shoulde not be finished: also commaunded so longe as kinge Cyrus lived: and so they put off the buildinge for the space of two years/ untill the reigne of kinge Darius.

The VI. Chapter.

¶ On the thirtieth daye of the seconde year of I. Esdr. iij. a. e. of the reigne of Darius/ I Daggus a Sacerd the sonne of Iude prophesied upon the in Agra and Jerusalem/ in the name of the God of Israel. Then Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel/ and Jhsua the sonne of Josede sate up/ and begonne to buyde the house of the Lorde at Jerusalem/ when the prophtes of the Lorde helped them.

At the same tyme came Syennes the vndercheife of Syria a Phoenicia/ with his landelodes and his companions/ and saide unto them: What hath bydden and commaunded you to buyde the house/ to make the safe and all other thinges agayne? And who are the workemen that buyde them? Then the cheife of the elders of the Jewes had fisher grece of the Lorde/ that they wolde not be hit (though they were provoked thereto) but buyde on full/ untill the tyme that kinge Darius was certifiethereof/ and an answer receaved from him. The letter that these men sent unto kinge Darius/ was as after this maner.

¶ Syennes the undercheife in Syria/ and Phoenicia/ and the Iudaites with their companions/ which are head rulers in Syria/ have now sente their salutation unto Darius the kinge. We certifie some lorde the kinge/ that we came into the lande of Jewry/ and wente to Jerusalem/ where we founde them buildinge the greate house of God as the temple/ with greate costly frestone/ and with goodly timber for the walles: yet they make greate hast with the workeland brise one another/ and it cometh forth prosperously in their handes/ and with greater diligence and workshippe is it made. Then asked we the elders/ who had commaunded them to make up the house and the buildinge: and this was the answer/ to the intent that we might certifie the perfectly/ and write unto the/ the names of those that were the rulers of the worke. So they gave us this answer: we are the servants of the Lorde/ which made heaven and earth: and as for this house it hath bene buyded and set up some tyme by the greate and mighty kinge in Israel. ¶. Re. iij. But when our fathers provoked God unto wrath/ and sinned against the God of Israel/ he gave them ouer into the power of Nabodonosor kinge of Babylon/ the kinge of the Iudaites/ which did: burnt the house a burnt Jewes/ and send away the people prisoner into Babilon.

Babyl/ appointed vnto his owne temple: those brought Cyrus forth agayne / and beheld them in Zorobabel / and so Salmansar the vnder kinge / commaunding them that they should bringe thosome ornaments to agayne to Jerusalem into the temple / and to beginne from that year forth / to buyde the temple againe in his owne place. Then Salmansar layd the foundation of the Temple beate at Jerusalem / and enter for heane they buyded / and yet is it not ended. And therefore / O Kinge / if thou thinkest it good / let it be sought in the hyrcanis / a rolle of kinge Cyrus / whiche shalde shew that it is done with the counsaile and consent of kinge Cyrus / and if our lord the kinge be so mynded / let hym write vnto vs therof.

E Then commaunded kinge Darius to seeke Esdr. vi. in the hyrcanis: and so at Egubaino in a lake one in Mediatheore was found such a rolle: In the first yeare of the reigne of Cyrus / the said kinge Cyrus commaunded that the house of the Lorde at Jerusalem should be buyded agayne / and adouers to be made there continually vnto the Lorde / whose height shalbe iiij cubites / & breadth cubit / and foure square with the hieft stone / with a lorte of symble of the same countere / with a new lort / and the expences therof to be gotten of the house of kinge Cyrus. And the ornaments of golde and siluer that Nabuchodonosor toke out of the house of the Lorde at Jerusalem / shalbe brought agayne in the temple at Jerusalem / where they were afore. Synneco also the vnder kinge in Syria and Phenicis / and their companions / and the other that be head rulers in Syria and Phenicis / shall not make nor haue any thinge to do with that place.

E Cyrus also commaunded also that they shall buyde the house of the Lorde whole and haue adouersed them to buyde those that be come out of captiuitie / vntill the house of the Lorde be finished: and out of the tribute and custome that is yearly raised vp in Syria and Phenicis / diligently to geue them a certain summe / to the offeringe of the Lorde: and to bestow to be bestowed vnto Zorobabel the off. that he therewith maye ordaine open / rancones / lambees / and come / salt / wine and oyle / and that continually every yeare: after the expences which the priestes shal be at Jerusalem / shal be made daylye: in the house of the Lorde / that shal be geuen vnto them without failure / that they maye offre sacrifices daylye to the Lord God / for the kinge and for his seruantes: and to praye for their selves. Let it be proclaimed also an euery side / that whosoever shall disobey this commaundement of the kinge / shal be hanged vpon a galow / in stead of his owne good: and al his goodes shal be forsaken vnto the kinge. The Lorde therefore / whose name is there called vpon daye out and daye / all the kinges a people / that be veritable by violence to hinder the same / or to dole vncurrently with the house of the Lorde at Jerusalem: I Darius be kinge haue ordeined / that these thinges shal be done with all diligence.

Then Synneco the vnder kinge in Cilicia and Phenicis / and the other lande holders with their companyes / obeyed the kinge that kinge Darius had ordeined: where they light in the holy wood / in a whyle few helpe with the other rulers of the Trewe. And so the woche of the Sanctuarye were forth prospered / when the Syrians and Zebary people. And they performed all thinges that shew the commaundement of the Lorde God of Israel / and after the deuce of Cyrus / Darius / and Artaxerxes / kinges of Persia.

And thus was our house finished: vnto the xxij. daye of the month Addai in the viij. yeare of kinge Darius. And the childre of Israel the priestes / and the Leuites / and the other that were come out of captiuitie / and such as were toynd vnto them / by accident as it is written in the booke of I Ioseph: And in the vnticeacion of the temple they offered an hundredth oxen / an C. lammen / an C. lambs / an C. goats / for the synnes of all the people of Israel: the number of the tribes of Israel. The priestes also the Leuites / shalde a. and in the iij. daye gathered after the tribes / vntill the xij. daye of the Lorde God of Israel / according to the boke of I Ioseph / and the paxters by I Ioseph.

And the childre of Israel / which those that were come out of captiuitie: vntill the vij. daye of the first moneth / vntill the puisles and the Leuites were sanctified. They that came out of captiuitie were not all sanctified together: but the Leuites were all sanctified together. But so all they that came out of captiuitie killed the Pasche lambe for their brethren for the puisles as for them selves. And the children of Israel that came out of captiuitie and escaped from all the abominations of the Chyren/ sought the Lorde/ and kept the feasts of unleued bread viij. dayes longer/ eating and drinking/ and were more deuoted the Lorde: that the Lorde had turned the wepe of the hyngs of Assyria/ and offered their handes to the worke of the Lorde God of Israel.

The VIII. Chapter.

I In the sixth moneth of the first yere of the first yere of the Persian kinges/ there went vnto him Esdras the sonne of Sacerdos/ the sonne of Azarias/ the sonne of Belpha/ the sonne of Salum/ the sonne of Sadoe/ the sonne of Adabab/ the sonne of Amarias/ the sonne of Azarias/ the sonne of Bocceus/ the sonne of Abisub/ the sonne of Phineas/ the sonne of Eleazar/ the sonne of Azarai the first priest. This Esdras wente vp from Babyls for he had good vnderstandinge in the lawe of Moses/ that was geuen of the Lorde God of Israel to be taught/ and done in Iudee. And the kinge favoured him/ and byd him greate reuoluyte and honour after all his charytes. There wente vp with him also certeyne of the children of Israel of the priestes/ of the Leuites/ of the singes/ of the gouernours/ and ministres of the temple at Jerusalem.

In the viij. yere of the first yere of the first yere of the Persian kinges/ there was in viij. yere of the first yere/ they wente from Babylon in the next moneth of the v. moneth/ & came the hyr waye to Jerusalem after his commaundement/ by the which the Lorde had prospered theyr soueraynes. For in these dayes Esdras get greate influence/ that he should cleare none of the thinges behynde/ which were in the lawe and commaundement of God. And he caught whole Ihesai all night wyllesse and iudgement.

Then came the Secretaries of kinges/ Treasurers/ and deliuered the writings/ that were come fro Babel for the kinges/ so Esdras the priest/ and reader of the lawe of the Lorde.

And this is the copie of the letters Kinge Artaxerxes sendeth his greeting vnto Esdras the priest and reader of the lawe of the Lorde: Of frendshippe and good will I haue asygned and charged/ yf there be any of the Jewes/ of the priestes and Leuites in my realme/ which desireth/ and so content to go with the vnto Jerusalem/ that he maye be so. Therefore yf any be minded to beare my company/ let them come together/ and go with the. Iste as I am content and my. vy. sende my counsaillers: to see what they do at Jerusalem and in Iruys/ and kepe the thinges accordinge as thou hast in the lawe of the Lorde: and to bringe the giftes vnto God the Lorde of Israel/ that I and my frendes haue promysed to Jerusalem/ and all the slyce and golde that is in the countrey of Babylon/ vnto the Lorde of Jerusalem/ which the thinge that is geuen for the people in the Lorde temple at Jerusalem: For that the same slyce a golde maye be gathered/ and vnto Ierusalem/ hope and goeres/ and eche that belonge to the. Iste thinges/ and that they make offer sacrifice vnto the Lorde/ vpon the altar of the Lorde/ which is at Jerusalem.

And wharsoeuer thou and thy brethren will do with my slyce and golde/ that so after thy mynde/ and after the commaundement of the Lorde thy God: and like wyse with all the holy vessels/ that are geuen the for the seruise of the house of the Lorde thy God: and other thinges wharsoeuer is necessary for the worke of the temple of the Lorde/ that shalbe geuen the of mynges treasure/ and like what thou wilt by thurbe/ wilt do with the golde and slyce/ that so after the will of the Lorde. And I Kinge Artaxerxes haue commaunded the slyce of the treasures in Syria/ and Phoenicia/ that wharsoeuer Esdras the priest and reader of the lawe of the Lorde/ wher wyte it shalbe geuen him/ till an C. talents of slyce/ and of golde in like maner. Of some ass an C. maulas/ and till an hundredth bellis of wyne/ wharsoeuer pientreue thinges without number. Let a charge be done after the lawe of the hyghest God/ that the mayn of God arse not in the realme of the kinge/ and of his sonne. I commaunde you also/ that ye require no taxinge/ nor tribute of the priestes/ Leuites/ singes/fyngers / and ministers of the temple / nor of the wytyers / and that no man haue auctorite to make any thynge agaynst them. As for the (C) Esdras / set thou iudges / and arbiters in the whole lande of Syria and Phoenicia / after the wysdome of God / and learne all such as are ignorant in the lame of God thy Lorde: and leaui them that offende agaynst the lame / be quyll fced: whether it be with beary / with paynt / to be condenned in money / or in banlyfde.

Then sayde Esdras the wytyer: Blessed be the God of oure fathers / that hath geuen so good a minde a will vnto the heart of the kynge / so magnific his house that is at Jerusalem / and hath made me to be accepted in the sight of the kynge / of his counsaill / of his seruaunt / and of his nobles. And so I was steeffall in my mynde / accordinge as the Lord my God helpe me / and I chose ou my men of Israel / to go vp with me. I And these are the heades of thei kyndes / and houses of thei fathers that came vp with me from Babilon / out of the Kingdom of Assyria: Of the sonnes of Semaius / Amneus. Of the sonnes of Sarai / Decus the sonne of Lechia.

Of the sonnes of Dhaces / Zachary: a with him there turned agayne an hundred a sifric men. Of the sonnes of the captayne of Moab / Ion / Sarai / and with him ij. c. and l. men. Of the sonnes of Zachae / Zechonias / Zechols / and with him ij. c. and l. men. Of the sonnes of Salamasias / Gosholc / and lxx with him. Of the sonnes of Zaphacia / Saras / Mithel / and with him lxxij. Of the sonnes of Job / Abdian / Zephel / and with him ij. c. and xij. men. Of the sonnes of Dania / Salomath the sonne of Zophias / and with him an c. and lx. men. Of the sonnes of Beer / Zachary / Bedey / and with him ij. c. and viij. men. Of the sonnes of Esdras / Saanues / Ezechan / and with hem c. and xx. men. Of the sonnes of Dancans / those that were the last / and these are thei names: Eliphalam the sonne of Gebel / a Senean / and with him lxx. men. All these called together by the water Ebia / where we synked our tentes thei dayes / and thesa I mustered hem.

I And so: the sonnes of the priestes a Leuitus /

I founde none there. Then said I vnto Eleas / and I Keleam / and Masius / and Melob / dani / and Eliaithan / and Saneas / and Jor / benachen / Emnagan / Zachary / Mosollamum / (these were the leders / and men of experyence) a I gem then worde / that they shoulde come vnto Loddus / which was by the place of the treasury / and, commaunded them that they shoulde speake vnto Loddus / and to his bro / thers / and to those that were in the treasury / so sende vs such men / as might execute þe pre / sence office in the house of þe Lord oure God. And with the mighty handes of oure Lords God / they brought vnto vs men of good ex / peryence / from amonge the sonnes of Moab / the sonne of Leuz / the sonne of Thael / Ser / beam / and the sonne / and his brethren / A / bin / and Am / of whome thei were good / from amonge the children of the sonne of Cananeus / and thei sonnes were ij. m. And of them that stered in the eple / whome Sa / and had obeyned / and the principal men that ministered for the worke vnto the Leuitus in þe temple / ij. c. and xx. men / whose names are all tolked vp in wytyng.

I Then commaunded I a fasting vnto the þe yonge men before the Lorde / that I myght i. Esdr. viij. 4. desire of hem a prosperous iourney / a good waye for vs / yea for vs / for oure children / and for the cattell / because of the laynges waye: and I durst not require of the kynge / his men / and fortynen / to conserge vs safely agaynst oure enemies / for we had sayde vnto the kynge / that the power of the Lorde oure God shoulde be with them / that seke him with thei whole hart. And therefore we besought God oure Lorde / carnely because of thei synnges / and he was mercifull vnto vs / and herde oure prayer. And I separated hem amonge the rulers of the people / and from the priestes of the temple / xij. men / and Debia / and Dania / and reu aken of thei burthen with them. And I wayed them the golde / and the siluer / and all the passly ornaments of the house of oure God / which the kynge / and his coun / saill / and his priuies / and whole Israel had geuen. And when I had wayed it / I gaue them an c. and lxx. talents in syluer / an c. tal / ents of syluer vessels / an c. talents of golde / and of golden vessels / seven tymes twenty /

Azarias. Of the sonnes of Josica / Lymothas / Asinien / Nathanias / Josias / Jedubus / and Elisus. And of the Leuites / Josababus / Samiris and Colmos / Calzeas / Lezeas / Colmas and Elonias. Of the singers of the Sanctuary / Elzarib / Zaccarias. Of the porters / Sallunius and Coldanes. And of Israell / of the children of Soto / Ofy and Reumas / and Weddas and Melchias / Micheles / Leazarus / Zemmelbias and Bannas. And of the children of Solaman / Ebanas / Zabary / Togedinis / Joddis / Leumath and Nabas. And of the sonnes of Zabaim. Eudias / Kisafanus / and Zochias / Larmoth / Sabbis and Lebedias. And of the sonnes of Jedee / Zohannes / Imaniso / Zabdis and Emicus. And of the sonnes of Bannus / Olamus / Malchus / Jedbus / Jafub / Abus and Tecimoth. And of the sonnes of Abdin / Marus and Moissias and Calceus / and Azanas / Maasias / Mathathias / Besil / Bannus and Manasse.

And of the sonnes of Maue / Amos / Azeas / Melchias / Sancias / Demas / Benjamin / Malchus and Marras. And of the sonne of Asid / Carnacus / Mathathias / Bannus / Eliphalech / Manasse / Semy. Of the sonnes of Bannus / Jeremy / Moodias / Abnias / Jedeb / Bancas / Pelaas / Jonas / Larmoth / Misib / Mathaneus / Lehasis / Orzas / Helius / Ermedius / Jambis / and Joseph. Of the sonnes of Abdus / Jedus / Mathathias / Sabadius / Zededa / Sedus / Jesseus and Bancas. All these had taken widdowish women to marriage / and they put them away with theyr children.

The priests and Leuites / and al they that were of Israell / dwelt at Jerusalem and tharowout at the land / in the new moone of the seventh month / and the children of Israell were in their dwellinges. And the whole multitude came together upon the floore at the West side of the holy poire of the temple. And they spake vnto Esdras the hie priest / a rede / that he wolde heyrge the lawe of Moses / whiche was geuen of the Lord God of Israell. So Esdras the hie priest thoughte the lawe vnto the whole multitude / to men and women / and to all priests / if they might heare the lawe / in y new inuoc of the seuenth moneth. And he red in the floore / that is before the holy poire of the temple / fro the morninge earlye vntill the eueninge / before men and women. And they applyed theyr mynde all vnto the lawe.

And Esdras the prieste and redde of the lawe stode vpon a scaffold of wood / whiche was made therfor / and vpon his right hande there stode by hym Mathathias / Sarnus / Znamos / Azarias / Dnias / Orethias / a Balsamus / vpon his left hande stode Saldene / Misael / Malachias / Abusabus / Sabus / Abodias and Zaphary. Then toke Esdras the booke before / whole multitude / for he was the principall / and had in most haunter of them all. And when he had red the lawe / they stode all farrthe vpon upon theyr feet. So Esdras sayed the Lord the most hie God / the Almightye God of heouen. And all the people answered / Amen / and held vpon theyr handes / fell vnto face vpon the earth / and prayed the Lord : Jesus / Beneuen / Saccias / Zabdimus / Acubus / Sababrus / Calitheo / Azanas / Josabus / Znamos / and Philius the Leuites whiche taughte the lawe of the Lord / and ed the laue of the Lord in the congregation / and every man for those besay that vnderstande the lawe. Then spake Mathathias vnto Esdras the hie priest and redde / a to the Leuites that taughte the multitude / sayinge : This daye is holy vnto the Lord / and all they that heere the lawe / wepte. So Esdras sayde : Departe youre wayes then / and eate the drift / and drynke the frentell / and sende giftes vnto them that haue noyng : for this daye is holy vnto / Lord / and be not ye foy. Then wente they thre waye everychone / and Esdras ate and drynke / and wote mery / and sende remainde vnto the that had noyng / that they also myghte eate with gladnesse / for they were exceedingly reioyced / thowme the warden that were red vnto them in the lawe : And so they were all gathered to gether at Jerusalem to hold the feast / accordinge to the commandment of the Lord God of Israell.

still O my people/and take thy rest/ for thy quyetnes is come. I. de thy children O thou good noife stablish their feet: As for the stranunters whom I haue geuen the/there shall not one of them perishe/for I will see them from thy number/soe nat thy selfe.

For when the voye of trouble and beyo-nes cometh/orber shall wepe and be sorrow-full/ but thou shalt be merry and plentifull.
The Scythen shall be gelyous/ but they shall receaued a charge of the Lorde vppon the mount Oreb/ that I shoulde go vnto Isranaught/ and they spoyled the commaundement of the Lorde. And therefore I saye vnto you/O ye Scythen/ that heare and vnderstande: Looke for youre shepheardes/ he shall geue you merit/linge rest/ for he is nye at hande/ that shall come in the ende of the world. Be ready to be receaued of the kyngdome/ for the euerlasting lyfys shall thine vpon you for euermore. For the shadowes of this world/ because thei are full of yare glory. I desire my fa-uour openly/ O because the gyfte that is ge-uene you/ and be glad/ grimage thanke vnto hym that hath called you to the beauty kyngdome. Theye say/ and stande fast: Be bold/ the number of those that be slaine in the scake of the Lorde/ which are departed from the shadowes of the world/ end haue receaued glorious garments of the Lorde. Take thy number O Zion/ and thus up thy purged/ man which haue fulfilled the lawe of the Lorde.

The number of thy children whom thou logest shall be fulfilled. Beside the power of the Lorde/ that thy people which haue been called from the beginninge/ may be halowed.

I Esdras saue vpon the mount Zion a great people/ whom I coude not number. I doe. And they all praised the Lorde with songes of thankesguyng. And in the myddist of them there was a yonge man of an hie stature/more excellent then all they/ and vpon eury one of these heedes he set a crowne/ and was euer higher and higher/ which I manuyed at greatly. So I asid the angell and sayde Ezra/ what are these? He answered and said vnto me. These be they/ that be pure of the mortal clothinge/ and put on the immortall/and haue resyded and knowledged the name of God. Now are they receaued/ and receaue the rewardes.

Then sayd I vnto the angell/ what yange person is it that crowneyd them and geueth them the palmes in theyr handes? He answered and sayde vnto me: It is the sanne of God/ in whom they haue knowledged in the world. Then beganne I greatly to comenda the/ that glode so selfe/ asly for the name of the Lorde. And so the angell sayde vnto me: Go thy way/ and tel my peopl what maner of things/ and howe great wonderes of the Lorde thy God thou hast sene.

The IIII. Chapter.

¶ In the thynne place of the sal of the cite/ I that I beganne to speake these full wordes to the meast herself/ and sayde: O Lorde Lorde thou speakst at the beginninge/ when thou spakest at the beginninge/ when thou plant-

 What man haue I is able to do that? Why re quierest thou such of me? And he sayde vnto him: It were better that we were not at all in that we should lye in wick ednesse / and to suffere / and not to knowe wherefore. He an swered me / and sayde: I wente in a woodes / and the wete wold such a waye and sayde:

Mat. 23 Come let vs go / and fight agaynst the see / for the thynge that I maye deparre a waye before vs / and that we maye make vs yett more woodes.

The floudes of the see also in like maner wold this deuce / and said: Come / let vs go vp / and fight agaynst the trees of the wood / that we maye make oute lande the wyder. The thought and deuce of the wood wold thus cause a no thinge wold / for the fyre came and consumed the wood: The thought of the floudes of the see came likewise to naught / also / so that sande floode up and stopped them.

E If thou wene iudge nowe betwene these two / whome wouldest thou iustlye / or whome wouldest thou eddemne? I answered a said: Woele it is a foolish thinge that they both haue deuyed. For the grounde is geuen vnto the wood / and the see also hath his place to graue his floudes. Then answered he thus a sayde: Thou hast geuen a right iudgement / why iudgest thou not thy selfe also? For I see so the grounde / so geuen vnto the wood / and the see to his floudes: I wene so they that wold vpon earth / maye vnderstande nothinge / but Ioba: he that wold be is vpon earth / and he that wold be lesh about the heauen / maye onely vnder stande the thinges that are about the heauen.

 Then answered I and sayde: I desire that the Lord see me haue vnderstandinge: for it was not my mynde to be curous of the be thinges / but of iude as we doyle medle with all / namely / wherefore that Israel is blasphe med of the heuthen / and for what cause the people / whome thou euer hast loued / do geue ouer to be punished of vngodly notions: and why the lare of ouer sarkes is thought to naught / and the wete in conuentione come to none affere / and we passe awaye out of the wete: so the grethoppers / and ouer life is a very feare / and we are not worthy to apione spee. What wold he do then vnto his name / which is called vpon ouer vs: Of these thing ges haue I eyed question.

D Then answered he me and sayde: The more thou seardest the more thou shalt mar uell / for the wete is hatched fast to passe away / and can not comprehend the thinges that are promised fast righteous in time to come / for this wete is full of vngodlynesse: I. Job. 28 and wretchene.

But as concerninge the thinges wherof thou seest me / I saye all that. The euill is so wold the best wete / that it is no cye came.
 If the euill nowe that is so wold / be not turned ephide / and if the place where the euill so sauen / passe not awaye / then can not the thinge come that is so wold with the good. For the come of euill / soe hath thus so wold in the here of man from the beginninge / and how much vngodlynesse hath he thoughte vnto this tyme / and how much that he yett bringe forth / vntill he come into the deuce?

Wondre me by thy selfe / what the soue of euill / soe our deuce / howe great a barne shal be syde: I answered and sayde: Howe/3 when shall these thynges come to passe?

 Wherefore are our peaces few and euill? And be answered me/sayinge: Hast not thou to much upon the Kyngdome/for thynges to be aboute him is thine vayne/ thou makest to muche a do. Dyd not the foules also of the righte waye are question of these thynges in their holynes sayinge: Howe longe shall I hope of this saluacion? When cometh the fruite of iustice/and my reward? And upon this I answered the a/chaunged ge: we them answered/and sayde: Euen when the number of the sydes is filled in you: for he hath theyed the worlde in the Galatunee in measure and numbre hath he measured the tyme/ and moued it in/only the same measure be fulfilled. Then answered I and sayde: O Lord be Loue/ who are we al of synne/ and for our sake. p. raduicence it is not/ that the barne of the righteous shall not be filled/because of the synners of them that dwell upon earth.

2pac. w. b

So he answered me/and sayde: Go thy waye to a woman with chyldre/ and age her when the hath fulfilled her: nee neches/ if her chyldre shal maye kepe the synn any lon-ge within her. Then sayde I: No Lorde/that can be not. And he sayde vnto mee: In hell the secret places of soules are lyke the praye chamber of a woman. For lyke as a woman that trauaileth/ maketh haill/ when the tyme is necessitee of the brath to be hender: Euen so theye the haill to velyuer/ a that is comend outa her. Take what thou desyrest to se/ he shal shewd the from the beginnunge. Then answered I and sayde: If I haue founde fauoure in thy syde/ and if e be possible/ and if I be more ther/ shew me then / whether thou be moie to come then to passe/ or moie pass then is foete come. What is pass/ I knowe not: what is foete come/ I knowe not.

And he saide vnto me: Stande up upon right syde/ and I shall espyde the synnende vnto the. So I stode/ and beholde/ an whore sunnyng euen wente ouce before me/ and it happened: that when the flume was gone/ by the flume had the vpperhande. After this there wente ouce before me a watery cloud/and wene vnto muche rayne with a flamer and when the stormy rayne was passe/ the whoppes remainyd still. Then sayde he vnto me: lyke as the rayne is moie then the droppes/ and as the sye exceedeth the smoke/ euen so the measure of the thynges that are passe/hath the vpperhande. Then wente the whop-pes and the flume aboute/ and I played and sayde: Maye I lye/ (thyngs) thou? vnyll that tyme? Or what shall happen in those dayes? He answered me/ and sayde: Do for the tokens wherof thou askest me/ I maye tel the of them in a parte: But as touching thy lyfe/ I maye not shew the/ for I am not sint therfore.

The V. Chapter.

¶ Euen the flume concerning the tokens/ I make thes: Beholde/ the dayes shal come that they which dwell upon earth/ shal be taken in a great numbre/ and the waye of the treuch shal be hyd/ and the lande shal be barren from frucht: Thus iniquyte shall haue the v-pperhande/ lyke as thou hast sene now/ and as thou hast heede longe ago. And the lande that thou seest now/ is haue rule/ shal thou spair ly fewe. But if God graunte it/ to lye/ in thou shal se after the thirde trompet/ that the Sunne shal suddenly lye again in 7 nyght/and the Moone the tyme in the voyce/ and stonde shall droppe out of wood/ and the stone shall geue his voyce/ and the people shal be inquiete: and euen he shall rule/ whome they hope not that dwell upon earth/ and the sou-les shall flue/ and the Sodomit/ lyke shal ouer his syde/ and make a noyse in the nyght/which many shall not knowe/ but they shall all heare the voyce thereof.

There shal be a confusio also in many places/ and the sye shal be sente agayne/ and the wyde flottes shal go they waye/ a menstreous woman shal diare monstres/ and salt waters shal be found in the strettes/ one frende shal fyght agaynst another/ then shal all wep and vnderstandinge be hyd/ and put ahyde in theye strette places/ and shal be soughte of many/ and yet not be founde: then shall one righteousnesse and voluptuousnesse haue the vpperhande upon earth. One lande also shall spe vnto the/ and say: Is righteousnesse gone from we the? And u shall saye: No. At the same same tyme shall men hope / but nothinge appaynte: they shall labour / but their wayes shall not prosper.

¶ C For these the such tokens I haue leue / and of thou wilt praye agayne / and wepe as now / and shall suten vayne / thou shalt heare yet greater thinges. Then I wayled / and a fearfulness wente vpon me / all my body / & my mynde was fible and carefull / so that I almost stroued withall. So the aungel that was come to talke with me / helde me / comforted me / and set me up vpon my feete.

¶ C And in the secunde night it happened / that Salarbel the captayne of the people came vnto me / sayinge: Where hast thou denet / and why to thy countenaunce so heavy? Knowest thou not that Itraid committed vnto the / in the lande of their captiuitie? Up then / and cast and forsake us / as the shepherde that lea-ueth his flock in the handes of wicke wolues.
Then sayde I vnto him: Go thy waye fro me / and come noe nye me: and he herde it: and so I sayde / so went he his way fro me. And so I fasted seuen dayes / mourned and weeping / like as Dauid the aungel commended me. And after sixe dayes it happened / the eite thought of my hert were very greuous vnto me / gayne / and my soule receaued the spere of vnderstandinge / and I begane to talke with the moost by ghest aungel / and sayde: O Lord Loide / of eery wood of the earth / and of all the trees thereof / thou hast chosen the one onely vineyard: and of all lades of the whole worlde / thou hast chosen the one pye: and of all floures of the ground / thou hast chosen the one hylde: and of all the shepethes of the see / thou haste filled the one ryuer / and of all buylded tynne / thou hast halowed Sidon vnto thy self: and of all the sules that are created / thou hast named the one vnto: and of all the cattell that are made / thou hast prouided the one shep: and amonge all the multitudes of folkes / thou hast gotten the one people / and vnto this people to whome thou haudest / thou gauest a lawe / that is pra-uisd of all.

¶ C And now O Loide / why hast thou geuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon the one rote / thou hast prepared other / and why hast thou feared thy one only people amonge many: which reade the doune / yet / which haue auer withstande thy promyses / and neuer beleue thy countenaunces / and though thou we-nest enemye vnto thy people / yet shouldst thou puniß them with thine owne handes. Now whan I had spoken these wordes / the aungel that came to me the night before / was sent vnto me / and saide vnto me: Heare me / and heken to the thinge that I saye / & I shall tell þe more.

And I sayde: Speake on my Loide. Then saide he vnto me: Thou art fore vnto a trouled so for Itraile sake. Louest thou the people better the him that made them? And I sayde: No Loide / but of very grete and compassion haue I spoken for my rayne a payne me every houre / because I wolde haue sperituel of the woyde of the moost by ghest / & to sete out parte of his iudgement. And he saide vnto me: that thou maest not. And I said vnto the Loide: Whereunto was I down then? Or why was not my motheres childes then / my graue?
So had I not sene the mysery a trouble of Jacob / and the traucyle of my people of Itrael.

¶ C And he saide vnto me: Vnto me the thin-ges that are not yet come: gather me together the thoppes that are stoned: about me: fe me the floures grene agayne that are withered: open me the thynge that are close: and bring me soun the waites that are shut up. Bewe-me the image of a voyce / and then shall I be-clare þe thing that thou labourst to knowe.
And I sayde: O Loide Loide / who maye knowe these thinges / but he that both not his deuelling with an? Is for me / I am vnwysse: how maye I then speake of these thinges / whereof thou askest me? The sayde he vnto me: like as thou canst. So none of these thinges þe I haue spoke of / thou so canst / thou not haue ouer my iudgements / or in the ende the loue that I haue promysed vnto thy people. And I sayde: Beholde O Loide / yet art thou nye vnto them that haue no end: and what shall they do that haue bene before me / or yet / to be now / or they that shall come after me? And he sayde vnto me: I will by þu my iudgement vnto a rynge. Like as there is no flacknesse of þe laste / euen so is there no flacknesse of the first. So I was vnreced and sayde: I woldst thou nouer these that haue bene made / and that be ny / a that are yet to come. In one that thou might-est þe waye thy iudgement the sooner?

The III. booke of Esdras.

¶ Then answered he me and said: The creature maye not laste above the maker / neyther maye the worlde holde ite at once / shal shalbe created.

¶ And I sayde: How hast thou sayde then vnto thy seruants / that thou hyunge matter hath made the creature / yuange at once / a the creature bare it? euen so mighte it now also beare them that be p'sente at once. And he sayde vnto me: The childer of a woman / and saye vnto her: If thou bringest forth children / why dost thou a not together / but one after another. Praye her therefore / so hyunge fourthen children at once. And I sayde: she can not / but muste do it one after another.

¶ Then sayde he vnto me: Euen so haue I gotten a childer of the earth / for those that be soune vpon it by p'cessie of tyme. For like as a yonge childer maye not bringe forth the thinges that belonge to the aged / euen so haue I ordeyned the worlde which I made.

¶ And I erred and sayde: Saying thou hast now gotten me a waye / I will speake before: for our noyche of whom thou hast tolde me / to yet yonger / a now the daye with me vnto age. He answered me a sayde: Are a woman & beare a childer / a she shall tell the. Saye vnto her: whether as a not they / whom thou hast now brought forth. Like these that were before the / but in less of stature: And she shall answer the: They that be borne in y' youth of strenght / are of our fashion: a they that are borne in y' tyme of age / what childer / shal feyble / are other wyse. Considre now thy frid / howe he ys are less of stature / the thoke he were before you / a so are they that come after you / less then yet / as a creature which now begynne to be old / a haue passed out the strenght of youth. Then saide I: Lord & beside / if I haue founde sauoure in thy sight / shewe thy seruants / by whome thou hast created thy creature.

The VI. Chapter.

¶ When he sayde vnto me: In the beginninge when the grounde was made / before the worlde shode / or euer the wyndes blew / before it thoudred / and lightened / or euer the foundations of Paradyse were layed / before the saye floures were sene / or euer y' moueable powers were stablished / before the innumerable mynstrs of ayngeles were gathered together / or enter the byghness of the ayre were lifted up / afore the measure of the firmament were named / or euer the chennycs in Eion were hoted / or the p'sente yeres were sought out / and as euer the imaginations of them that now synne / were put asyde / before they were sealed / a now garth saye / for a trasoure euen did I confidre and p'ouide all these thinges / and they all were made thow me / a thow none other: by me also they be ended / and by none other.

¶ Then answered I and sayde: which shalbe the parting asunder of the tyme? Or when shalbe the ende of the first / and the beginninge of the secoloweth? And he sayde vnto me: From Abichan vnto Isaac / vnto Jacob and I saw were borne of him / Jacobs hande bride fr: is the bele of E'au: for E'au is the ende of this worlde / and Jacob is the beginninge of the secoloweth. The hande of man betwene the bele and the hande. Or her question / Esdras / saye thou not.

¶ I answered then and sayde: O Lord & Lord / I haue founde sauoure in thy sight / I beseeche the / shewe thy seruants the ende of thy tokens / wherof thou shewest in our part / lest night. So he answered a sayde: vnto me: Stande vpon vpon thy feet / and heare the p'sente voyce and sounde. There shall to me a great motion / but the place wher thou standest shall not be moued: And therefore when thou hearest the wordes / be not asyde: for the ende shall the worlde / and foundation of the earth be vnderstande. And why? y' worde thys of irremedyth and quaryth / for it knoweth thowt muste be chaunged at the ende. And it happened / shew when I had bred it / I stode vpon vpon my feet / and here / and beholde / there was a voyce that spake / and the sounde of it was like the sounde of many waters / and it sayde: Behold / the daye come / that I will begynne to vnto me / and so wyrd them that dwell vpon earth / and will begynne to make inquisition of the / whar they be that haue bene comit with vnto righteousness / and whan the lower ceste of Eion shalbe fulfilled: and whan the wyrd / that that warnish tress / shall be cut / shall then will I do these tokens.

best loide of all thy creatures. Whom come we all, and the people also / whome thou hast chosen specially vnto thy self. All this haue I saide now a litte / for before that I mighte shew thee how this thy worlde is made for oure sake. As for the other people which also come of Adam / thou hast sayde that they are no change / but like a pyrrhe / and hast lightened the abundance of their vnto a thoppe (that falleth) from the rofe of the house.

And now (O Lord) the Scithen which haue cities bene reputed as nothings / haue become to be loides ouer vs / a to deuouce vs: but we thy people T (whome thou hast called to be loides) and he sayde vnto me: O Lord Esdras / a heart the wordes that I am come to tell y. And I saide: speake on Lord my God. He said he vnto me: The see is to bein a wyde place / that it mighte be depe a greate: but the intreaunce is narrow and small like a ryuer. For who wolde go into the see / to lode vpon it / and to saile it? If he wnt not thowm the narrow / how mighte he come into the broad?

Then enoher I enie is buylded and set vpon a broad feld / and to full of all goodes / the intreaunce is narrow and so baine / like as if there were a syte at the ryght hande / an a dype water as it list / as as it were onely one straighte path betwixt them both / so small / that there comde but one man go thre.

If this one now were gyven to an eye / a be wnter wnter thowm this parkous waye / how wolde he recouere his inheritance. And I sayde: This is O Lord. Then sayde he: Euen so is Itael also a porton. And why? for their felde haue I made the worlde / and when Adam was angryd my seruice / then was the ryngie iugyd that was done. Then were the intreaunces of the worlde made narrow / full of fowre and manysle: They acc but few a eucl / full of payre and labour. See the intreaunce of the four worlde were wyde and full / and broughte imm small frute.

If they now which are entred into this worlde / maye noe compendie thesi straighe and a wyne thinges / much lesse maye they chynge and vnderstande the secrete thinges: Why disquessit thou thy selfe / syngie thou art but a corruptible man: And what woldest thou knowe / where as thou art but mortelle. And why hast thou not recouered mo thine here the thinges that is for to come / but that is present.

Then sayde I: O Lord Lord / thou hast obeynd in thy lawe / T that the righteous shoulde inherite thesi thinges / but that the vnfaustfull and engadly shoulde perishe. He answered / the righteous shall suffre straig thinges / and hope: for they: for theye that haue lyued vngodly / and suffred straig thinges / shal not se the wyde.

And he sayde vnto me: There is no iudge aboute God / and none that hath vnderstandinge aboute the Highest. For there is man that perishe / because theye dispise the lawe of God that is set before them. For God hath gyven straig edmandmentis to such as come / that they knowe what they do / and how they shoulde lyue: as if they kepte this / they shoulde not be punyshed.

Heuer helos / they were not obdyent vnto him / but spake agaynst him: imagined wyne thinges / and purposed to synne / and said moreouer: that there was no God / and that God regarded it not. His wayes haue they not knowen / his lawe haue they despysed / and brynged his promyses: in his stonnes and other nauoures haue they not bene faustfull and stoufast / and haue not perfourmid his wordes.

And therfore Esdras / vnto the full / pliny: E to come the empty / empty is. Behold / the tyme shall come / that this toke whiche I haue tolde the / shall come to passe / and the syde shall appear and the earth that now passeth awaye / shall be betwix: a wnter wnter is delayered from the fow sayde eucl / shall be my wnter. For my sonne Itael shall openly declared / wnt those that be with him: and theye that comayne / shall be myc in foule hundred yeres.

After these same yeres shall my sonne Esdras they/and all men that haue lycie/and the world shoulde be turned into the olde silence seuen daies/like an in the iudgements/so that no ma shall remayne. And after seue dayes/ I wolde that yet a wylde nor/shalbe sayd vp/a shall Ire corrupte. And the earth shall restore those that haue slepe in her/ and so shall the dust those that dwell in silences/and the secret places shall deliuer those that be committed onto them. And the moost hyghest shall openly beclare upon the state of iudgements/a all nasty shall vanye the wayes/and longe sufferinge shalbe gasped to gether. But the iudgement shall continue/ the truth shall emayne/ and shen shall wase the seige/ the wyse shall folowe/and the wicked shall be wode/ the righteous nes shall wase/ and the vnghtoufnesse shall beare no cyle.

Then sayde I: † Iudas prayd first for the Sodomites/ and Ioseph for the shepherds that strayed in the wilderness/ a he that came after him for Israel in the tyme of Iudas and Samuel/ and Dauid for the destruction/ a Salomon for them that came into the Tem ple/ Iulian for those that receaued sayne/and for the dead that be myghte lyued. Wo rdias for the people in the tyme of Senna cherib/ and Dauid for eche in like maner which haue prayd for many.

Turne so now/ syngyng I corrupte is growen vp/ a wakenes intreated/ and the righteous haue prayd for the vngedyd/ wherefore shall it not be so now also?

He answered me/ and sayde: This present wonder is not the ende/ there remayneth much honoure in it/ therefore haue they prayd for the wrake. But the hope of some shalbe the ende of this tyme/ and the begynnyng of the miracule that is to come/ where all corrup tion vanyeth/ all vylousnesse is lowd/ all mischaunce is a waye/ righteousness growen/and the earth springe vp. Then shall no man be able to saue hym that is destroyed/ nor to opprelle hym that hath gotten the victory. I answered then/ and sayde: This is my first and last sayng/ that I had better/ nor to haue gyven the earth vnto Adam/ or cle whā I wase greuen hym/ as I praye him that he shoulde not syngie. For what profit is it for men now in this present tyme to lyue in beuynce/ and after death to loke for punishment? O thou God/ what hast thou done? For I thought it was thou that synned/ thou art not fallen alone/ but we all that come of the. For what profit is it vnto vs if there be promysed vs an immortall tyme/ where as we medle with veady wote ke? and that there is promysed vs an curia singe hope/ where as we our selves are cill and vayne/ and that there are layd vp for vs dwellinges of health and freedoms/ where as we be vylous cull? and that the wisshipe of the hyghest is kept to defende them/ which haue led a pacient life/ where as we haue walk ed in the moost wicked wayes of all/ and that shen shalbe shewed a paradys/ whose frute endured for aue/ where in the freedom a me dicine/ where as we shall not go in? for we haue walked in vngle of aunny places: And that the faces of them which haue absteyned/ shall shyne aboute the starres/ where as our faces shalbe blacke and darcke: For whyle we lyued and byd vnghtoufly/ we considered not that we shoulde suffer therefore after death?

Then answered he me/ and sayde: This is the consideration/ and though of the daye/which man hath vngedyd/ that if he be ouer come/ he shall suffice as thou hast sayde. But if he get the victory/ he shall receaue the thinge that I saye. For this is the life/ whereof Ioseph spake vnto the people while he liued/ sayng: I hope the life that thou mayest lyue. Cleue theke/ they beloued him not/ neyther the pro phets after him/ to no man which haue spo ken vnto the/ that be aunny should not reach vnto them in their destruction/ like as thou is for to come our those that haue suffred them selves to be enfourmd in saluacion.

I answered then a said: I knowe Lord/that the hyghest is mercifull/ en that he hath mercy vpon them/ which are not yet in the wrake/ and vpon those also that walke in darket: I that he is pacient alonge suffringe towards those that haue synned in their woe fere/ and that he is liberal to geue where as is requyred/ and that he is of great mercy/ for he multiplier his loynges vnto thes towards those that are present/ and that are pass/ and to thene which are for to come. For if he multiplie not his meerce/ the world shall not be made lyuynge/ with those that dwell there. I ge with also / for if he gaue none of his goodnesse / that they which haue done euill / might be casted / the ten thousande parte of men shoulde not be made lyinge. And if I iudge forgaue not those that be healed with his woide / and if he woulde bestrope the mislande that they wryth / there shoulde be very few left in an unnumerable multitude.

The VIII. Chapter.

AND be answered me sayinge: The most whyghell made thy woide for many / but the woide to come for few. I will tell the a similitude / Aspidias / Ze when thou asest / hearth / it shall saye onto the / In geueth much woide / whereof carthen vessels are made / but lile of us that golde consisteth of.

Then so is it with thy woide of this woide.

Mar. xi. d
and xij b

There be many created / but few shall be persoued. Then answered I and sayde: The swalowe vs the wicke / as thou saule / A creature she vnderstandinge / for thou art agreed to herfen and to geue ears / and wyllinge to prophete / for thou hast no longer space gaue / but only so lile. O Loide / wiler thou not geue thy seruaunt leue / that we maye praye before thee / and that thou maist geue seide vnto oure her / and buyde oure vnderstandinge / that there maye come feare of god that eury one which is corrupte / and beareth the state and place of a man maye lyue.

For thou art alone / and we all are one worke / and the poye of thy bondes / lile as thou hast sayde / and lile as the body is fashioned now in the chylde / and thou geuest the members / and thy creature is persoued in fire and water: a ix. monethes both thy woide iustre thy creature / which is fashioned in her: but the thinge that perserue / and is that to perserue / shall both be kepte together: and whan yme is / the chylde / deliuereth the thinge that is kepte and growen in her.

B For thou hast commaunded the deesse to geue mysef vnto the creature / that thinge which is created and fashioned / maye be needed for a tyme: and then thou disposell and obdurt as vnto thy mercy / bingest it vp with thy righteousness / mostourest it in thy lawe / a resourment is with thy vnderstandinge / mouifest it as thy creature / and makest it lyinge as thy woide. Canst thou then that thou best: yett I lue / which which so great laboure is created and fashioned / that thou thy commaundement / thou candest lyghly obene also / that the thinge which is made / might be perserued.

And thus I spake now of all men in general / as thou knowest: but of thy people for whose sake I am sayng: and of thy inbrauice / for whose cause I mourne / and of Iseal / for whose sake I am wefulle: a for Iacob / for whose sake I am grieved: therefore begonne I to praye before thee / for my self and for Ierusalem / for I see the fall of ye / euen of vs / that will vpon earth. But I haue heide / I swiftnesse of the iudge / which is to come: therefore beare my voyce / a vnto stande my woide / a I shall spake before thee.

This is the beginninge of the woide of Aspidias / wherof he was created: O Loide / thou that dwellest in eternallnesse / whose eyes are left vpon a daye / whose floods are not dryed / whose woide / whose gloie / a mainly maye not be dependend / whose whom the hostles of beauen stande with tremblinge / whose kyngdome is turned in wende a fyre / whose woide is true / whose callinge is steadfast / whose commaundement is stronge / whose ordinance is feared / whose lofe / which is vpon the earth / whose wath maketh the mountains to melt awaye / and whose truth beareth wytnesse: O heare I praye of thy seruaunt / and maifest with thine eares the petition of thy creature.

For whyle I lyue / I will spake: and so lile as I haue vnderstandinge / I will answer. O lofe not vnto the synne of thy people / which serue the in the truth. Haue no respect vnto the wicked stude of the Gentiben / but to the desyre of those that kepe thy commandis with sorrowes. Think not vpon those that haue walked synfully before thee / but vpon them / which trust in thy name / no men thy fear.

Let it not be thy will to bestrope the / which haue had decessly maners / but to lofe vnto them that haue clearly taught thy lawe. Take thou no indignation at them / which are wicke the deesse: but loue them / that always put their trust in thy righteousness and gloie: for we and oure fathers haue all the same sickness and disease / but because of oure synnes thou shalt be called mercifull.

So: if thou hast mercy vpon vs / thou shalt be called mercifull / where as we haue no woke of righteousnes: for the righteous which hauē layed up many good works together/shall out of them receaue rewardes. For what is man that thou shouldst take displeasure at him: Or what is the corruptible mortal generacion that thou shouldst be so rough to woe him?

¶ I of a truth there is no man amonge the that be blame: but he hath dealt wickedly: and amonge the faithfull there is none: which hath not sinned amysse. For in this (O Lord) thy righteousnes a thy goodnes shall be praysed and declared: if thou be mercifull onto the/which are not ryght in good works.

Then answered he me / and sayde: Some thynges haſt thou spokē right: and as endinge unto thy wordes it shalbe. For I will not ve-rely confide the worke of them / which haue synned before they be: before the iudgement: before destruction / I but I will cteyde auct the worke: and thought of the righteous. I wil remembre also thē pynemage: thē holymakinge: and the et woebe. Like as I haue spokē now: so shall I come to passe. For as the housband man soweth much seede vpon the grounde: and planteth many trees: a yet alwaye the thinge that is sowed or plantid is not all fruite safe: nyghte doeth it all take rote: Euen so is it of them that are sowed in the worlde: they shall not all be profecured.

¶ I answered him and saide: If I haue founde grace: wher is thy speake / Like as the housbande mans side persweth / if it receaue not cayne in due season / or if there come ouer cayne upon it: Euen so persweth mā also:
which is receaue vpon thy handes / and is like unto thine owne iniurie: a to thy self: for whose sake thou hast made all thynges: and thykened him vnto the housbande mans side. We not woud at we (O Lord) but spare thy people: a haue mercy vpon thine owne inheritance:
O be mercifull vnto thy creature.

Then answered he me and sayde: Thingones present are for the present: and thinges to come for such as be to come. For thou wastest yet much / seynge thou maicst loue my creature aboute me: I haue oft tyme diuinen aye vnto the / but neuer to the vnrightrous. In this also thou art maruailous before the Hypocrit: in that thou hast humbled thy self: as it becometh the: and hast not regarded thine owne self: that thou art had in such honoure amonge the righteous. Therefore shall greate wechardnesse and misery come vpon the: that in the latter tyme shall dwell in the worlde: for they haue walkt in greate pride.

But understande thou for thy self / and see ouy glory for such as be like thyself: vnto you is paradyse opened: the tree of life is plantid: the tyme to come is preparid: plentyfoulnesse a made ready: a time is buylded for you: a rest is pre-parid: yee / perfect goodnes a wysdome. The rote of euil is marshed from you: and wealnes and more is byd from you: and into hell shal corruption in foregynnes. So tyme a are vnyshed awaye: and in the ende is shewed the treasure of immortallite. And therefore a: if thou no more questions / concerninge the meane aide of them that perishe. For they haue taken liberty: despyed the Hyghell: thought scorn of his lawe: and forsaken his waye.

Whouche they haue trode downe his righteous / I sayde in ther heart that there is no C. 25/ee: and that weynghly for they dye. For life as the thinge I I haue spoken of / is made ready for you: Euen so is thyself and perie pre-parid for the. For it was not his will: that man shoulde come to naught: but they which be created: haue despyed the name of him I made them: and are vnrighthell vnto him: which preparid life for the. And therefore is my iud-gemente now at hande. These rightrous haue I not shewed vnto all men: but vnto fewe: nomely vnto the: and so such as be like the.

Then answered I and sayde: Beholde O Lord: now hast thou shewed me the multitude of the tokens: which thou wilt begynne to do at the last: but at what tyme and when thou hast not shewed me.

Ch. IX. Chapter.

He answered me then a sayde: Measure I thou the tyme diligently in it self: when thou seest that one parte of the tokne come to passe: which I haue tolde the bifore / so shal that understande: that it is very faim tyme: wherein the Hyghell wil begynne to vnto the worlde: which be made. And whā that shalbe sene earthward a vntooure of y people in the worlde: the shal thou wel vnderstande: I I maist hyest spake of these thinges: fro the dayes that I I was ¶ Then let I my thoughtes go / for I was ma and sued me vnto her / and saide a where doste wepest thou / why art thou so soye / and doste amored? And she saide vnto me: Why let me be wyllyng my selfe and take yet more sorowes for I am foyre in my minde / and thoughte very lowe. And I saide vnto her what aylest thou? who hath done any thing to churche me. She saide: I haue bene untru estful and barren / and haue had on house bande thre yeres. And these xij. yeres I do no thinge els save and nighte a al house / but make in payes to the byghst. After thre yeres God herd me thy handmaiden / looked vpon my misery / considered my trouble / and gaue me a sonne / and I was glad of him / so was my houseband also a al my neighbour / and we gaue greete honour vnto the mighty one. And I nourished hym with greete tra uyle. So when he grewe vp / and came to the tyme that he shoulde haue a wyfe / I made a feall.

The X. Chapter.

¶ And it happened that when my sonne wente into his chamber / he fel dauncel and dyed: then euerywhere we alle the lych ters / and all my neighboures rose vp so efore me. The ioke I my rest vnto the seconde daye aright: and when they had al rested / they myght comforte me: I rested also / and rose vp by nighte / a fled a some thir into this field: as thou seest / and am purposed not to come in the tyme / but to remain here / and ney ther to care nor synke / but continually to moure and to fast vntill I dye.

¶ Then let I my meditations and chaunge res fall: that I was in / and spake to her in the spleasure: Thou foolish woman / seest thou not oure becaunesse a mourninge / and what happeneth vnto vs? howe soon oure moche is all to trifull and soye / and howe she so cleene thoughte become a in misery / syng we be all now in becaunesse / a make oure moue / for we be all forwyl. As for the becauness that thou takest / is but for oure sonnes. Demourde the tarye / is the hal al that is to the thoughte by reason / to noure me for the sal of so many that grow vpon her. For from the beginning al we are borne of her / a other shal come: and behold / they walke almost all into destrution / and many of them shal be rated out.

¶ What shoulde then by reason make more mourninge then the that hath lost so greete a multitude: and not thou / whydeste are foyle for one. But if thou woldst say vnto me: My mourninge is not like the mourninge of the earth / for I haue lost the frute of my bo dy: which I haue by becaunesses for eart seedings to the ordinauness of earth onely so that many are gone awaye in her / as it is come to pass: Then saide I vnto her / list as thou best doine with manuaile a for me / vnto the earth also from the beginning / greue her frute vnto man / for him that made her. ¶ And therefore woldste thy sorowe and becauness by thy self / and lost what happeneth vnto the beare it strongly. For if thou woldst list and ende of God so be righteous and good / and reuerent his counsaile in nines / thou shal be commauended them. So thy way then is to the tyme to thy housebande.

¶ And she saide vnto me: that wil I not do / I wil not go in the cite / but here wil I dye.
 So I remoued more with her / and sayde do not so / but the counsaile / a followe me: for how many falles hath thou? Be of good co forse because of the towne of Jerusalem. For thou seest that oure Sanctuary is lated / waite our altar broken / oure temple destroyed / oure playnne of instrumentes and singing layed downe: the thankes / scourges put to silence / oure myrthes vanished awaye / the lighte of oure candlestick is quashed: ¶ The of the educational is taken from vs / al our body thinges are des troyed / a the name that is called vpon oure na me / is honoured / oure childre are put to bounde oure pen sles are burnt / oure Lincos are corne away into captiuitie / oure virgins are defyled / and oure wyfes ranshed / oure righteous men spoiled / and oure widdowes defiled / oure young men are brought in bondage / and oure seldg wretched are become weales: ¶ Thou / what scale is the greatest of al / do laud vnto the worshippe: for the so deliued into the han des of them that haue vs.

¶ And therefore shal of the greete becauness / and put awaye the multitude of sorrowes: that the myghte maye be entred vnto the / and that the byghst maye geue the rest / for thy labour and trauayle. And it happeneth

The. iiii. booke of Est was.

that was I was talking with her/her face did shine and glister so that I was afrayed of her and misde what it myght be. And omme vnto the call out a great voyce/very feareful so that the earth shoke at the noise of her word: and I folede/and beholde the woman appeared vnto me no more: but there was a cene buylding/ and a place was shewed from the grounde and foundation.

Then was I afrayed / and with loud voyce/and sayde: where is God thy aungell? which came to me at my first: for he hath caused me to come in many considraciones and by thoughtes/and myne ende is wnted too euoyuon/and my prayer to rebulke. And as I was speakinge these wordes/he came vnto me/and loked vpon me/and I laye as one that had bene dead/and myne understanding was altered/for he tolde me by the rygth hande/ and comforted me/and set me vp vpon my feete/and sayde vnto me: what ayleth thee? and why is thine vnderstandenge vexed? and the vnderstandenge of thy heart/and wherefore art thou sore? And I sayde: Because thou hast forsaken me: and I haue done T accordinge vnto thy wordes./I wente into the felde/and there haue I sene a thynge/that I am not able to expresse. He sayd vnto me: Stande vp and be mauny / and I shall greue the exortacion.

Then sayde I: Speake vnto me my Lord: Del forsake me not/for I dye in wayne: for I haue sene that I knewe not/and herde that I do not knowe. Wt shall my vnderstanding be decreaced/and my mynde: But nowe I beseeche thee/that thou wilt shewe thy seruante of this wonder. He answered me then/ and sayde: heare me / and I shall enforeme thee/and tell the wherefore thou art afrayed/for the Hyghest hath opened many secretes thynge vnto the.

He hath sene that thy waye is rygth / and that thou talkest sounre continually for thy people/and makst greate lamentacion for Syon: and therefore vnderstande the vssion/ whiche thou sawest / sylete wchyle ago after this maner: Thou sawest a woman mournyng/and thou hast comforted her: Vnto the lesse maner/that thou the lyknesse of the woman no more/ but thou thou ghest there was a cene buylded: and sylete as she tolde the of the fall of her sonne/ so is she the answerer. The woman whome thou sawest / is Syon: and where as she tolde the/that she hath bene thyr: yea: so vnfrutefull and barren / those are the xxx. yeres/wherin there was no offspringe made in her.

But after xxx. yeres Salomon buylded her/and offered/and then siet the Queen a sonne. And where as she tolde the / that she hath byrd hym with labour / that was the buylding of Jerusalem. But where as the sonne dyed in her chamber / that is the fall of Jerusalem: And thou sawest her lyknesse/ how she mouend for her sonne: and what els happened vnto her / I haue shewed the. And nowe God seeth that thou art sore in thy mynde/and suffrest from thy here for her/ and so hath he shewed the her clearnesse/ and the sayntes of her beuty.

And therefore I had the remaine in the felde/where no haue is buylded. For I knewe that the Hyghest wolde shewe this vnto the/ therefore I commaunded the to go into the felde: where no foundation nor buyldinge is. For in the place where the Hyghest will shewe his eyne / there shalbe no mans buyldinge. And therefore feare not / and see not thynge here be afrayed / but go thy waye in/ and se the glorious and sayre buyldynge/ and howe greate it is/ and howe greate thou thyselfe / after the measure of thynne eyne / and then shalt thou heare as muche as thynne eares maye comprehend. For thou art blessed above many othe / and art called with the Hyghest as the sime. But to mooue at myght thou shalt remayne here / and so shall the Hyghest shewe the vssions of bye thus: go/whiche he will do vnto them. ebor: Thus upon each in the lest vane. So I speere therefore mighte as he commaunded me.

The. Xl. Chapter.
Unto sawe I a vison: and beholds/ there I sawe xv. men the see an Egyle / whiche had xx. wynges and the beades: And I saw / and beholds/he sped his wynges ouer all the earth/and al the wyndes of the ay: blew in them/and so they were put to gether agayne. And I beheld/and oure of his fetheres there grewe other sylete contrarye fetheres: the bou des rested The head in the middell was greater then the other two I asked it the residue.

Moreover I sawe that the Angles stode with his wynges/and raygned vpon earth/ and ouer all them that dwel upon the earth/ and I sawe that all things vnder heauen were subiecte vnto him/and no man spake agaynst him/ nor no one crained vpon his earth. I sawe also that the Angles stode vpon his clawes/and gaue a sounde with his feathers/ and a voyce sayinge after this maner: waite we not altogether/ (sleepe every man in his owne place/and watch for a time/ but let the heade be persued at the last I vnderstode this: I sawe that the voyce wente not out of his heade/ but from the middell of his bodye. And I multiplied his contrary feathers/ and beholds/ there were eynghie of them. And I looked/ and beholds/ vpon the eynghie there arose one feather/ and raygned ouer all the earth. And it happened that whan it raygned/ the ende of it came/ and in the place thereof appeared nomoie. So the next fol: wyng stode ap and raygned/ and had a greace tyme: and it happened/ that whan it raygned/ the ende of it came also lyke as the first/ so that it appeared nomoie.

Then came thre a voyce vnto us/ and saide: Heare thou that haste keppe in the earthe so long tyme/ I say vnto the: before thou beginnest to appere nomoie: There shall none agresse the anye vnto thy tyme/ nor not haste the tyme. Then arose the thre/ and raygned as the other thre/ and appeared nomoie also. So wente it with all the residue one after another/ so that every one raygned and then appeared nomoie. Then I looked and beholds/ in pacesse of tyme the feathers that folowed were set vpon the right side/ that they mighte enle alle/ and some of them culd/ but within a while they appeared nomoie: for some of the were set vpon/ but would not. After this I looked/ and beholds/ the f. feathers appeared nomoie and the two wynges: and there was nomoie vpon the Angels bodye. But two beades that rested/ and fixe feathers. Then sawe I also/ that the fixe feathers were pacted in two/ and remained vnder the beade/ that was vpon the right side/ for the saue continued in the place. So I looked and beholds/ they that were vnder the wynges/ thought to set vp them selfe/ and to haue the rule. Then was there one set vp/ but shortly it appeared nomoie/ as the seconde were sooner awaye then the first. And I beholds/ and lo/ the two thought also by their selfe to raygne: and whan they so thought/ beholds/ there waled one of the beades that were at rest/ namely/ it was in the myddell/ forthat was the greater of the two beades. And then I sawe/ that the two beades were filled with hym/ and the beade was turned with them that were by hym/ and ate vp the two vnder wynges that would haue raygned.

But this beade put the whole earth in fear/ and bare euen in euen/ all those that dwel vpon earth with muche labour/ and he had the gouernaunce of the world ouer all the sooles that haue bene. After this I looked/ and beholds/ the beade that was in the myddell/ suddenly appeared nomoie lyke as the wynges: then came the two beades/ whiche ruled vpon earth/ and ouer those that dwelle therein. And I beholds/ and lo/ the beade vpon the right side/ denoured it that was vpon the left side. And I herde a voyce/ which said vnto me: loke before the/ a canstide the thing that thou seest. Then I sawe/ and beholds/ as it were a Lyon that roareth/ runninge happilye oute of the wood/ and he sente oute a mans voyce vnto the Angle/ and saide: Heare thou/ I will talke with the/ and the Angell shall saie vnto the: It is no/ thou that hast the victory of the foure bestes/ in whome I made to raygne vpon earth/ and in my world/ and that the ende of their tyme mighte come thow thou seest.

And the fourth came/ and ournourne all the bestes that were past/ I had power ouer the world with greace/ (as salutes/ and ouer the whole compasse of the earth/ with I moost wretched labour/ and so longe tyme dwelt he vpon the earthe with vertue/ and the earth hath thou wged not with muche. For thou hast troubled the meke/ thou hast burnt/ peareccible and quiet/ thou haste bound/ thou hast destroyed the dwellinge of the/ that thoughte: southe frute/ and haste esse/ thoue the walle of suche as vnd the no harme: Therefore is thy unangious dealinge/ and blaspemye came vp vnto the Hygheste/ as they sayd vnto h mighty. The Hygheste also hath loke d vnto the pouder nemo/ as heholde they are ended/ and theire abhominacions are fulfilled. And ther fore appeare namour: that Zege/ as they bo rrible wringes/ and they wicked sifers/ and they vngracious heade/ and they synfull clawes/ as all they paine bodies: that the earth maye be re freshed/ and come againe to her fill/ wha she is deliuered from thy violence/ and that she maye hope for the iudgement and mercy of him that made her.

The. XII. Chapter.

And it happened vnto the Lyon spake vnto these wordes vnto the Zege/ I sawe and hecolde/ the heade that aske had the upper part appeared namour: neither vnto the four winges appeare any more: that came to hym/ and were set vnto raigne/ as their kingdome was small/ and full of vncure.

And I sawe/ and hecolde/ they appeared namour/ and the whole body of the Zege was drent/ and the earth was in greafe feare. The awake/ I ouer of the traunce of my mynde/ as from greafe faice/ and saide vnto my spere: Lo/ this hast thou gyven me/ in that thou fear chest out the waye of the Hygheste: lo/ yet am I weery in my mynde/ and very weake in my spere/ and lytle strength is there in me/ for the greafe feare that I receaued this myghe te/ therefore say/ I now desire the Hygheste/ that he will comfote me vnto the ende/ and I

B saide: Loide Loide/ if I haue founde greafe before the syghte/ and if I am iustified with the before many ordres/ and if my prayer become vp before thy face/ comfote me then/and sbeve they rescaunt the interpretation and playne v. sence of this horrible syghte/that thou mayest perfectly comfote my soules for thou hast iudged me worthy/ so sbeve me the last of mynta.

And he saide vnto me/ this is the interpre tacion of this syghte. The Zege whome thou sawest come vp from the see/ so the kyngd wiche was sene/ in the vision of thy disci ple Daniel/ but it was not expounded vnto him/ so now I declare it vnto the.

Beholde/ the voyce come/ that thre shall ryse vp a kyngdome vpon earth/ and shall be feared aboue al the kyngdomes that were be fore. In the same kyngdome shall thre kynges caine one after another. For he sene shall begynne to caine/ and shall haue more synne then the other/ and this vnto the sy. wynges signyfy/ whiche thou sawest. As for the voyce that spake/ and that thou sawest go out from the heade. But not from the body. In the se nerth/ that after tyme of that kyngdome/ there shall arise greafe strynges/ and it shall stand in part of salyng/ in vertibels/ it shall not yet fall/ but shall set into his beginninge. And the eyght vnder wynges whiche thou sawest hange vnto the wynges of hym/ so that as in hym there shall arise eyght kynges/ whose synne shall be small/ and then yraue swif and two of them shall decee. One vnto the myddell tyme cometh/ there shall be two kynges in the tyme/ vnto that tyme theygheste to come that it maye be ended/ but two shall kyng vnto the ende.

And where as thou sawest the greafe restyng/ this is the interpretation. In his laffe shall he Hygheste cally vp the kyngdo me/ and call many agayne into them/ and they shall haue the dominion of the earth/ and of those that dwel therein/ with much laboure aboue al those that were before them. There fore are they called the heade of the Zege: four is they that shall dynges/ four is his fედnesse agayne/ and that shall performe/and synn his laffe. And where as thou saw west/ that the greafe heade appeared namour/if thy synneth thare one of them shall dye vpon his bed/ and yet with payne/ for the rea that remayne/ shall stayne with the swarde.
For the swarde of the one shall deuour the other/ but at the last shall be full thare one the swarde hym self.

And where as thou sawest two vnderwin ges vpon the heade/ whiche on the right syde it signyfyeth that it is they/ whome the Hy gheste hath kyng vnto thy synne: this is a small kyngdome/ and full of trouble. The Lian whome thou sawest arise vp oute of the wood/ and roaunge/ and spalyng: vnto the Zege/ as rebuynge him for his vngright cou nesse/ in the wynde/ whiche the Hygheste hath kyng: for them/ and for their wickednesse/ onto the ende: he shall repute them/ and cene them asunder before them. For he shall spe set them lyinge before the iudgemente / and shal rebuke them: for the residue of my people shal be deliuered with trouble: those that be ex-cusede ouer mine endes: and he shal make the ioyful vniuers the cominge of the daye of iudge-ment: wherof I haue spoken vnto the from the beginninge. This is the vicame that thou sauest: and this is the interpretation. Thou only hast bene able to knowe the secretes of the Highe.

Therefore mynte all these thynges that thou hast sene in a booke: and byde them / and each of them the wyse III. the people: whose vicame thou knowest maye comprehend and kepe the secretes. But wayte thou here thy selfe yet seuen dayes mo / that it maye be the wynd the / wharsoeuer it pleaseth the Hy-gheist to declare vnto the: and wch that he wente his waye.

And when all the people pereaused / that the seuen dayes were past / and I not come agayne into the caine: they gathered them altogether from the east vnto the moost / and came vnto me: and sayde: what haue we offended the: and what euill haue we done a-gaynste the: that thou forsakest vs: and styrest here in this place: for of all people thou only arte lefte vnto a grape of the vyne: and so a candle in a darke place: and so an hauen and a shippe persecuted from the tempestes.
Hau we not done aduersitie ynough / but thou miste forsake vs: Were it not better for vs: that we had bene thence with Syon: for we are no better then they that dyed there: and they wept with loude voyce. Then answered I them and sayde: Ye of good com-forte O Israel: and be not heauy thou house of Jacob: for thy byghst hath you in remembraunce: and the myghty hath not forgotten you in remembrance. So for me: I haue not forsaken you: neyther am I departed from you: but am come into this place to praye: because of the mysery of Israel: that I myghte see mercy for the lowe estate of youre Sanctuarie / And nowe go youre waye home euerie man: and after these dayes wyll I come vnto you. So the people wente thery waye into the cyncle: as I commaunded them: but I remayned still in the selde seuen dayes / so the angell bad me: and I am only of the flowers of the selde: and had my meate of the herbes in those dayes.

The XIII. Chapter.

What it happened after the seuen dayes: / What I sawe: and became by myght. And Beholde: there came a wynde from the west: that moued all the floudes thereof. And I leste / a beholde: the man was stronge: and increased with the cloudes of brauen: and when he turned his countenance: sa consider / all the chynges trembled that were sene vnder him:
and when his voyce went out of his mouth: all they thence that heede him: like as the earth when it shaketh the syll.

After these I sawe: and beholde: there gathered together a multitude of men oute of numbre from the four wyndes of the heauen / so fyghte agaynst the man that came ouer from the see. And I leste: and beholde: he graued hym selfe a greate mountain: and flew vp vpon it. But I wolde haue sene the agayne: a place / wherout the hyl was grauen: and I coulde not.

I sawe after these: that all they which came to fyght agaynst him: were sore afraied: and yet durste they fyghte. Neuertheles: when he sawe the fearenesse and violence of the people: he neyther lyste vpon his hande nor helde sworde: / nor any weapon: but onlye as I sawe. He sent ouer of his mouth as it had bene a blast of fyre: and ouer of his lippe: the wynde of the flamme: and ouer of his ronge he caste oute sparkes: and stormes: and they were all mynne together: the blast of fyre: the wynde of the flamme: / and the greate storme: and fell vnto a rushe vpon the people: whiche was prepared to fyghte: and thence them awaye: wherof that of the innumerable multitude there was nothinge sene: but onlye dust and smoke. Wher I sawe this:
I was afraied.

Afterwarde sawe I the same men come to B: and came from the mountains: and callinge vnto him another peesable people: and there came much people vnto him: some were glad: some were sorrowful: of them were thounde: so that they were carried and brought south.

Then was I sike thowghte greate feare: and I waked / and sayde: thou hast sene thy frownde: all thy wondres from the begynninge.

The IIII. booke of Esdras.

gynninge/and hast counted me worthy/that now myght I receaue my prayer: shewe me nowe for the interpretation of this dreame.
For thus I can fynde in my vnderstanding: Wo vnto them that shalbe left in those dayes/and mude more wo vnto them that are not left behynde: for they that were not left were in heauynesse.

Nowe vnderstande I the thynges that are layd vp in the latter dayes / whiche shall happen vnto them/and to those that are not left behynde. Therfor as they come into greater pacela/and many necessitee / lyke as these dreames declare. Yet so it easer / that be whiche suffereth hurt/come in these / then to passe a waye as a cloude oute of the world/and nowe to se the thynges that shal happen in the last.

E Then answered he me/and sayde: The interpretation of the syghes that I shewe the/and I will open vnto thy the thynges that thou hast requyred. For thou haste spoken of them that are left behynde / and this is the interpretation. He that taketh awaye the perill in that tyme/ hath kept hym selfe. They that be fallen into harme/ are sude as haue wokes and sayd vnto the moost myghtye.
Knowe this therefore/ that they whiche be left behynde/ are most blessed then they that be dead. This is the meaninge of the vision.

Where as thou sawest a man commynge vp from the deep of the see/ the same to be whome God the Hychest hath kepte a great season/ whiche by his owne selfe shall vchuer his creature/ and be the order them that are left behynde. And where as thou sawest/ that out of his mouth there came a blast of wind/fyr and storme/ and hore that be lyft vp neer ther towards the weapen / thus that the rust burste in of hym destroyed the whole multitude/ that came to fyght agaynst hym: signifyeth / that the dayes come / when God will destroy them that are vpon the / and in a maner of mynde shall become vnto the/that dwell in the earth. And one shall vntotake to fyght agaynst another / one one agaynst another / one place agaynst another / one people agaynst another / and one realme agaynst another. When this cometh to passe/then shall the toke come/ that I shewe the before: and then shall my sonne be declared/whome thou sawest clymbe vp as a man.

And whiche people heare his voice / every man that in that owne lande leaue the bar-tal/ that they haue one agaynst another / an innumerable multitude shall gathered together/ as they that be willinge to some and to outcome him by fyghting. But he shall stande vpon the topp of the mount Zion.
Then shal the / Zion shal come/ and shal be weld/ theynge prepared and builded for all melyte as thou sawest the byl graue forth without any hande. But my sonne shal rebuke the people that are come for their wickednes/with the tempest/ and for their euil ymagina-tion: as they paynes / with which they shall punished/ as they were vnto the flame: and withen any labour / shal be destroyed/ as by the lawe/ whiche is comparde unto the fyr.

And where as thou sawest/ that he gathered red another peaceable people vnto hym: whiche are the ten trybes/ which were carryd awaye paysoners oute of theyre owne lande / in the tyme of Oseas the kynge: / whom Salma-nasar the kynge of Assyria toke paysoners / and carryd them ouer the water/ and so came they into another lande.

But they gaue them this counsayl/ that they shoulde leaue the multitude of the Gy-ren/ and to go forth into a farther countrey/whose name man fynde vnder: that they myghte there kepe their statutes/ whiche they newe kepte in their owne lande. And so they entered in at the narrowe passagge of the water of Euphrates/ and God shewed to some of them/ and helde still the floods till they were passed ouer: for whome that countrey there was a greate waye/ namely of a yere/ as an halfe iourney/ for the same region is called Acher. Then dwell they there vnto the later tyme/ and when they come fowd agaynst the Hychest/ shal hold still the springes of the streame agayne/ that they maye go thowse/the same sawest thou the multitude in the prace. And they that be left behynde of the people/are those that be founde within my floodes.
Nowe when be destroyed the multitude that is gathered together/ the shal be: whiche people that remaine/ and then shall be the greate wondere.

¶ Then saide J: O Lord/Lorde/become tho: wherefore haue I seie the man comminge vp from the sepulchre of the see:

And he sayde vnto me: Lyke as thou calle neither seest thou nor knowest the thynges that are in the sepulchre of the see: euen so mayest thou not see my (one) of those that be with hym: But in the tyme of the seie. This is the interpre tation of the dreame / which thou sawest / therefor thou onely art here lyghened: for thou hast forsaken thine owne lawe / and ap plied thy wylgenc vnto myne / and soughte it.
¶ The lyfse hast thou dyed in thyfedomes / and hast called vnderstandinge thy mother / and therfore haue I shewed the the treasure of the Byrgell. After this vayne I wyl shew the moie a talk with the moie as large / yee / beauti and wonderous thynges wyl I ve

Then wente J forth into the felde / getting peyfe and shales greatly vnto God / because of his wonders which he did in tyme / and be cause he gouerneth the same / and such as is in tyme / and there J sat by the vaine.

The XIIIII. Chapter.

¶ When the wynde say J sat vnder an Oke tree / then came thre a voyce vnto me out of the bush / and sayde: Esdras / Esdras.
And J saide: here I am Lord / and stode vp vpon my feete. Then spake he vnto me: ¶ In the bushe byd J appeare vnto Mosse / and talked with hym / when my people seued in Egypte / and J seite hym / and led my people out of Egypte / and thought him vpon the mounte Synaie: here J helde hym by my a longe season / and tolde him my wonderous woikes / and shewed him the fretyces of the tymes / and the ende / and commaunded him / sayinge: These woikes shalt thou vclare / and not byde them. And nowe J saie vnto the that thou laye open thine heere the veynces that thou hast seie / and the interpretations which I haue shewed the: for thou shalt be re membred of all / thou shalt be rucned / and re mayne with my counsaill / and with suche as be lyfe the: vntill the tymes be ended. For the wynde hath lost his youth / and the tymes be gyne to wase olde. For the tyme is drawed into twisse partes / and ten partes of it ce gone already / and halfe of the tenth parte:

¶ Yet euenly there that / which is after the halfe of the tenth parte.

¶ Therefore prepare and adde thy house / and refouces thy people: conforste suche of them as be in trouble: and haell none of the despayre euenly go from the mortal thynges: caste awaye the burthen of man: put of the weak nature: laye vp in some place the thynges that are most deuyr vnto the: and haell the to fly from chise tymes: for suche sell and well conesse as thou haste none: seme happen shall they do yet much worse. ¶ For the wasser that the woude and the tyme is the more shall i. Job 4. 8 senne / and wylfedenesse increace / in them that dwell vpon earthe. For the trowth is sted faste awaye / and lesynge is harde to haunde. For none shall see the sygn to come that thou hast seie.

¶ Then answered J and sayde: Beholde Lorde / I will go as thou haste commaun ded me / and refouere the people which are peyfe. But they that shalbe so: me after ward who wyl exhorde or rebuke them?

¶ Thus the woude is seie in Balennes / and they that dwell therein: are withoute lighte for thy lawe is kyled: because no man knoweth thynges that are done of the: for hit shalbe done. ¶ If I haue founde grece before the: sende the holy ghoost vnto me / and I shall wyte all that hath bene done in the world sence the begynninge / which was wyren in thy lawe / that men maye fynde the pact: and that they which wyl lye in the la ter vayne maye lyce.

¶ And he answered me / sayinge: Wo thy waye / gathereth thy people together / and saie vnto them: that they seke the not for thy waye: but take thou gather the manye kynges / reu and take with the: Sarcas / Sabas / Selemas / Echamus and Alshall: these fyue / which are ready to wyte fastly / and come byde: and I shall lyghte a candle of vnderstandinge in thine bette: which shall not be put out: till the thynges be perfourmed: which thou shalt begynne to wyte. And then shalt thou de stace some thynges openly vnto the: perfecter and some thynges shalt thou seue secretly vnto the: wyl. To morowe as this houre shalt thou begynne to wyte.

¶ Then wente J forth / as he commaunded me and gathered all the people together and sayde: Heare these wordes o Israel: Once sa-thers from the Beginning were straungers in Egipte / from whence they were deli-uered / and receaued the lawe of lyfe / whiche they kepe not / whiche ya also haue transgre-sed after them. Then was this lande / and the lande of Sion parted amonge you by the lot to possesse. But youre fathers and your fellowes also haue done vnrightheousnes / and haue not kept the wayes whiche the Highest commaundeth you. And forso muche as he is a righteous iudge / he toke from you in tyme the thinge that he had geuen you. And now are ye here / and youre diuyns amonge you.

Therefore is soe that ye will subdue youre owne vnderstandings / and resourme youre hearte / ye shall be mercifull / and after death shall ye optayne mercy. For after death shall the iudgement come / whan we shall lye a-gayne: and then shall the names of the righteous be manifest / and the names of the vngodly with their workes shall be declared. Let no man therefore come nowe vnto me / nor aske any question at me thes xl. dayes.

So I toke the fyue men / as he commaunded me / and we wente into the felde / and remayned there. The next daye a voyce called me sayinge: Erisas / Open thy mouth / and shew me that thou sayest. Then opened I my mouth / and beholde / and reached me a full cuppe / whiche was full of water / but the capouture of it was lyfe fyre. And I toke it and dranke. And whan I had dronken it / my hearte had vnderstandinge / and wysdome grew in my heart: for my spyte was kepte in remembraunce / and my mouth was opened and shew nomore. The Highest gaue vnderstandinge vnto the fyue men / that they wote the thynges of the night / whiche they vn-derstood not. But in the night they vnder-stood: as for me / I spake in the day / and helde not my tongue by nighte. In xl. daies / they wrote two hundred and foure booke.

And it happened whan the xl. dayes were fulfilled / that the Highest spake sayinge: The fyre that thou hast wyten / speake openly / for the worthy and vnrworthy maye rede it.
But kepe the lxx. last / that thou mayest speake it only to such as be wyse amonge thy people. For en them in the spryng of vnderstan-dinge / the fountayne of wysdome / and the

The. X. V. Chapter.

Beholde / speake thou in the carre of my people the wordes of prophesye / whiche I will put in thy mouth / sayeth the Lord / and cause them to be written in a letter / for it is the truth. Feare not the imaginacions as gainst thees / for not the ansaytfulness of them woulde the that speake against the. For all the vnsaytfull shall lye in they: ansaytfulness.
Beholde sayeth the Lord: I will bringe plagues vpon the world: the swearde / hunger / death and destruction / for wycednes. harsh the vpperhande in all the earth / a they shamefull workes are fulfilled.

Therefore sayeth the Lord: I will holde my tongue nomore vnto their wickednesse / whiche they do so vngodly: for they will I suffre them in the thynges that they woule wrethfull wycedly. Beholde / the inuincible bloude of the troubled cryeth vnto me / and the soules of the righteous crye continually: and therefore sayeth the Lord: I will surely avenge / and reccauce vnto me all inuincible bloude from amonge them.

Beholde / my people is led as a flocke of shepe to be slayne: I will not suffre the crye that well in Egipte: but they shal be cut with a myghty hande / and a freid: aboute comel and smyte with plagues as afore: and will destroye all the lande of it. Egipte shall mourn / and the fountaines of it shall smyte with the plague: and punishmente that God shall bringe vpon it.

They that yll the groundes / shall mourne for their seedes shall be destroyed: the more the blastinge and hale / and an horrible flarre. Water the woulde and thim that dwell there in / for the sword and the destruction shal wreth nye: and one people shall stande vp to fights against another / and streddes in they handes: for men shall be vnto / and some shall be violence vnto other: they shal not gather they kynges and prynces: the wayes of thee voyages and bandinges in they power. I man shall desire to go into the crye and shal not be able. For cause of their pride the cines shall be thoughte in feare: the blisse shall shake / and men shalbe afrayed. I man shall haue no pyre upon his neyghboure / but one shall pounce another vnto battayl / so spoke they goodre / because of the hunger of death / and because of the great trouble.

- Behold / I gather and call together all the fryges of the earth / which are from the vyrgyne / fro the South / fro the East / a Libanus is turne vnto the / and restore the rhynges that they haue gotten them like as they do see this vnto my chosyn / so wil I do also / a recorde pteint in this dosome. These sayeth the Lorde God / My ryght hande shal not spare the synners / and my swerde shall not recassure them / that shed the innocent bloude vpon the earth. The fryns gone out fro his wrath / and hath consumed the foundations of the earth a the synners / like a floure that is kownd. Wo vnto them that shynne / and depene vnto comaindementes / sayeth the Lorde / I wil not spare them. Go your waye ye childre from violence / desyle not my Sanctuary / for the Lorde knoweth all them that synne agaynst him / and therefore vilycteth be them vnto death and destruction. For now are the plagies come vpon the world / and ye shall remaine in them. For God shall not vclurre you because ye haue synned agaynst hym.

E Beholde / an horrible vision cometh from the East / where generacions of Diaggones shal come out / the people of the Arabes with many chariotes / and the multitude of them shalbe as the wynde vpon earth / the all they which beare the rayinge in they: wrath / maye feare and be afrayed: and as the wynde blowe out of the wood / so shall they go out / and with greut power shall they come / and slay: fighte with them / and shall wyffe the poision of the lande of the Assyans.

And then shal the Diaggones haue the vpphande / not remembryng they: byrth / and shall turne aboute swearinge together in greut power / to persecute them. But these shall be afrayed / and fepe silence at they: power / and shall flye / and one out of the lande of the Assyans shall besige them / and consume one of the / and in they: boost shalbe feare a didee / and they: amonge their kynges.

F Beholde / cloude from the East / and from the North vnto the South / and they are very horrible to take vpon / ful of warth and flame. They shall smyre one vpon another / and they shall smyre as the a greute floure vpon earth a theur floure / and the bloude shalbe from the swerde vnto the belly / and the smofe of man vnto a Camelde sterre: And there shall greute fearfidence and seemblinge vpon earth / a they that is the warth shalbe afrayed / and a remblinge shall come vpon them.

And then shall there come greute rayns from the South and from the North / a parte from the West / and from the stormy wynde from the East / a shall blowe the vpp agayne / and the cloude which be rayfed vp in warth / and the floure to cause feare towards the East and Westwinde shalbe destroyed: and the greute cloude shalbe lift vp / and the myghty cloude ful of warth / and the floure / that they maye make alle the earth afrayed / and then they shal brek therein / and that they maye poure out our all places an horrible floure / fyre and hyle / and theynge swerde / and many waies: the all felde maye be full / and all tpyres / and they shall drete downe the trees a wallee / mountaynes and hilles / all trees / wood and f grass of the medowes / and all their frute. And they shall go sleefest vnto Babylon / and make her afrayed / they shall come to her / and besige her / the floure and all warth shall they poure out vpon her.

Then shall the dust and smofe go vp vnto the heauen / and all they that be aboute her / shall bewaile her / and they: that remaine vnder her / shall be struce vnto them that haue put her in feare. And thou Asia that consistest thy selfe vpon the hope of Babylon / keart a worbypp of her persone. Wo be vnto the thou weich / because thou hast made thy selfe vnto her / and hast dect the thyngs in wisdom / that thy: myghte trumpe and please thy louces / which haue alwaye desired to commite whodom with the: thou hast loved the abhominable crite in all her works and intentions.

Therfore sayeth God: I will sende plagues vpon the: whodom / hope / pauerte / hunger / warre and pillence / to wayn the: pouerte with destruction and weach / a the glory of thy power shalbe thyed up as a floure / vnto the heate arsyth that is sent out chy. Thou shalt be free as a poore wyfe that is plagued / and becaen of women: so that the myghty and lowen shall not be able to receaue the. Wolde I so haie the saye the Loide: If thou haddest not alwaie saye my chosen / ealtnage / stroke of thy hande / a fynde ouer theyr deaht / when thou wast dyonken: so foue the beaue of thy countenance.

The reuerde of thy whoedome shalbe recompensed the in thy bofome / therfor shalbe thou receaue reuerde.

A Lyke as thou hast done vnto my dofen (saye the Loide) euen so shall God do vnto the / and shall deliuer the into the plagut.
 Thy chylden shall dye of hunger / and thou shalst showe the swearde. Thy synes shalbe dyken vnto / and all thus. shall perishe with the swearde in thefelde. They that be in the mountayne / shall dye of hunger / a eat their owne flesch / and drynke their owne blynde: for very hunger of bread a thirst of water. Thou vnhappy shalt come thow the see / a receaue plagues agayne.

In the passage they shall cast doune the sayn ains / and shall rote oueome parte of thy laide / and consume the portion of thy glory.
 They shall made the yome lyke floudle / and they shalbe thy fyre / and thall consume the thy ains / and thy laide / thy wood / and thy frute-full: as if they burne up wath the fyre. Thy chylden shall theye eraye captiue: a glofe what thou hellyerth shall spoyle / and marre thy beuty of thy see.

The XVI. Chapter.

When the Babylon and Asia were vnto the Egypte and Syria: gyde your selfe a with clathes of sack and heere / a mounte for your chylden: be loy / so: your vntuon is at hande. A swearde is sent vpon you / a who will turne it bak / a fyre is kindled amonge you / and who will quenche it? Plagues are sent vnto you / and what is he that will dyne them awaye? Maye any man vyue awaye ou hynge Lyon in the wood? O maye any ma quenche the fyre in the stubble / what is he that gyueth a butte? Maye one turne agayne the arrowe that is shot of a strange archer? The myghty Loide sendeth the plagues / a what is he that will vyue them awaye? The fyre is kindled a gone (saye in his wrath) / and what is he that will quenche it? He shall cast lighte-ninges / a who shall not feare? He shall spouder / and who shall not be afayed? The Loide shall thraue / and who shall not vnto be becaen to powder at his pynnce? The earth quaketh / and the foundacions thereof the sic arsyth vp with waues from the vnto / and the floudes of it are vngate / and the fishes thereof also befoe the Loide / and befoe the glory of his power. For stronge is by a ryghte hande that holdeth the bowe / his arrowe that be shuter ar sharpe / and shall not mysse / what theye begyne to be shot into the endis of the world.

Beholde / the plagues are sent / and shall not tynne agayne / till they come vpon earth. The fyre is kindled / and shall not be put out / till consume the foundacions of the earth. Likas an arrowe which is shot of a myghty archer reuenerth a barwarth / euen so the plagues that shalbe sent vpon earth / shall not tynne agayne / Wdome / was to me / who will deliuer me in choie dayes? The begynnyng of sorrowe and greac mourninge: the begynnyng of vnto a greac deaht / the begynnyng of warres / and the power shall ryde in feare: the begynnyng of enies / a they shall rembe euey one. What shall I do in these thynges wha the plagues come? Beholde / hunger and plagut / trouble and anguyshe are sent / as scourges for a moundemen. But for all these thynges they shall noyeme from theyr wickednes / nor be de-maye / vnderfull of the scourges.

Beholde / what so shalbe so good shepe vnto pon earth / that they shall thynke them selfes to be in good case: a euen then shall myschaunce gyueme vpon eith / warres / vnto and greac dyffynces: for many of them that dwell vpon pon earth shall perishe of hunger / and the othe that scape the hunger / shall theye swearde threpe: and the vnto shalbe cast into a vnto and there shalbe noman to conioin them-selfe: for the earth shalbe wayfeth / and the moun-shalbe cast vnto: the earth shalbe no man left vnto the earth / a so for eue. The need shall gyue frute / and who shall plucke the of and gather the? The grace shalbe vnto / a who shall rede them? For all places shalbe desolate of men / so that our man shall vnto to se another: vnto heare his voyce. For of one whelpe cure there shall be

shal be ten left/and two in the felde/whch shal be euen selfe in the thicke busshes/ and in the chiefe of stones: lyke as when there remaine eith of foure olyues upon the olyuetree/ or as when a wyneyarde is gathered/ thre are left in some grasps/ of them that vniuenly fought betwene the vniuersade.

Euen so in thos dayes there shal be the soule left for the that search thre houses with the sword. And the earth shal be left wast/ a the siders of the waste olde: a hee wayes/and all her paths shall growe full of thornes/because no man shall teacyle thre throte.
The vniuersades shall moue hauinge no by-degrees: the womene shall make lamentation/ hauinge no husbands/ thre vniuersades shall inuene/ hauinge no helpe/ of thre bydegrees. In the wastes shall they be fleeing/ and their housbandes shall purysh of hunger. O ye seruantes of the Lord/ heare these things/ and make the. Beholde the worde of the Lord. O receaue it: beholde the plagues thare nye/ and are no leske in rary-ng. Lyke as a teasynging woman/ which the is inuery bright for a soone/ when the bouce of the byth is come/ an houre two or the afore that the paynes come vpon her body/ and when the chyld cometh to the birth/ they saye not the crynginge of an eye: Euen so shall not the plagues be slack to come vpon earth/ and the word shall moue/ and soules shall come vpon it on every hyde.

Euen people/ heare my worde/ make you ready to the battayl: and in all euill be euen as pynne vpon each. He that selleth sic him be as he that synch his waye: a he that buyth/as one that wil leste. Who so occupieth marchandises/ as he that syncheth not: and he that buyth/ as he that shall not dwell therein: he that selleth/ as one that shall not escape: he that syncheth the wyneyarde/ as he that shall not gather the grapes: they that marry/ as they that shall get no chyldren: and they that marry not as the wydowes: and thysore they that labour/ as they that payne. For straun-gers shall reape thre frutes/ and spoyle thre goodes/ and thre vniuersades busshes/ a wale the chyldren captiue: for in captiuite and hunger shall they get chyldren. And they that occupie thre marchandises with robbery/ howe longe seeke they thre chies/ thre houses/ thre possi-sions/ and persons: the more will I punysh them for thre synne sayeth the Lord. Lyke as an whore anywher and honest woman/ who shall eightheous/ as heate iniquite/ when he seecheth her self/ and shall accuse her to her face/when he cometh that defendeth/ which shall make inquisition for al synne vpon earth. And therefore be not ye late thertunto/ nor so howe few thertof/ for of euer it be longe/ inuene shal be taken awaye one of thre earth/ and righteousnes shall caryne amonge you.

Let us the sinner saye that he hath not sinned: for coles of fyre shal burne vpon his brades/whch shall be before the Lord God and his giuyng: I haue not synned. Beholde the Lord knoweth all the works of man/ thre in-ginnacions/ thre thoughts/ and thre deces-t. For he speake but the wordes. Let the earth be made/ as it was made: the becaus it was made/and a was made. In his worde were the farr

The booke of Tobias.

The first Chapter.

Tobias was of the tribe and cite of Apherahy: which lyeth in the bye countie of Galile: about Naoson the waye toward the West: hauinge the cite of Sephet vpon the left side. Though he was tak. in prison: as he was of Salmansar kynge of the Assyrians: in iud. p. 12. werthelca: beinge in captiuitie: he sought not the waye of strucht: In so much that when he sawe he myght gra: he passed it vnto the waye of his felow prynces and bishopp: that went of his kynred. And though he were younger than all they in the myde of the spah: yet he was not bechaue him self as theyd in his wylke. And when all the other went to the golden calice: / which Jerobom the kynge of Israel had made: he was still alone: and all the other companye: / and gaue hym to Ierusalem vnto the temple of the Lorde: / and there worshippid the Lorde God of Israel: / sayeth fully Toffer. In the thirde yeare he ministered all the tribes of Israel vnto the straunges and conuertes. This and thus: / such lye charynges: / he was accordinge to the lawe of God: when he was yet but a yong.

But when he was a man: he toke / out of his owne begate a wyfe called Anna: / and of this hec he begate a sonne: / whome he called after his owne name: / and taught hym from his yere vp to feare God: / and to ceasynge from all synne.

Now when he was with his wyfe: / his sonne: / and with all his kynred: / was come in captiuitie vnto / Elimelech: / what tyme as they all dyd. Gen. 38. the care of the meate of the / Zepher: / he kept his Iudith: / and was in care of his lye in their meate. / And for so much as he was: / myndfull of the Lorde: / in all his here: / God gaue him fauoure in the presence of Salmansar: / the kynge: / which gaue him power to go where he would: / and so had he lyberite to do what him lyst.

So wente Tobias vnto all the that were in prison: / and comforted them: / and gaue them / whelome: / and horacions. / And when he came to Ragoe: / some of the Medes: / hauinge taken the cite of sicut: / of the thynge: / wher with the kynge of Assy had honoured hym: / and sawe a myghte a great / companye of people of his kynred: / some of the / which was of his owne tribe: / beinge in / necessity: / he gaue them the / sayd: / weight of siluer: / vnto an hand: / weight.

After a longe season: / when Salmansar the kynge was dead: / a Sennacherib: / the sonne: / raygned in his steade: / which had the thirde dyn of Israel: / Tobias wente vnto the / out all his kynred: / and comforted them: / and gaue gave of his goodes to every one of them as much as he myght: he fed the hungry / clothed the naked / and buried the dead and flaine / and that diligently.

¶ And when Sennacherib the kinge came agayne and fled out of Jewry / what tyme as Gob pangs / bid hym for his blasphemy / and in his wrath slew many of the children of Israel: Tobias / buried their bodies. But when it was to be the tinge / he commaunded to slaye hym / a take awaye all hys goodes. Wherefore Tobias wryt his wyffes his waye / and was byd naked / for there were many / bound hym. But after this, Saye / the kinge was flaine of his owne / since Then came Tobias agayne to his house / and all his goodes were restored unto hym.

The II. Chapter.

¶ After these thynges upon a solempne daye / of the Lord / Tobias made a good feast in his house / and sayde unto his soune: Go thy waye / a bringe hyther sonis of our tye / such as feare God / / they may make merry wth us. And wha he was gone / he came agayne and tolde his father / that one of the chyldren of Israel laye upon the stre. And immediately he leapt fro his table / left the feast / came fastinge to the dead coase / toke him and bore him puruely into his house / ther whon / Sunne was downe / he myght safely burye him. And when he had byd the toase / he byd care his meate wth moung and keate remembre the wordes that the Lord sayde by the prophet Aime: Yourre byt fastis shall be turned so faste and heauynce.

¶ But wher the Sunne was downe / he wente his waye and buried him. Then all his neighbours reioyced hym / sayinge: It is not longer / since it was commaunded to slaye the because of this manne / a hast faate escaped / the wanger of death / and bucest thou the dead agayne / Wherefore / Tobias feareinge God / imoe then the tinge / toke the bodies of / flaine / byd them in his house / and buried them at mynheight.

¶ It happened upon a daye / that he had buried / dead / and was weary / came home / and layed him doune by the wal and slepe. And while he was a slepe / there fel downe vpo his face warme voyge out of the starowes nest / for that he was blinde. / This venison byd / God suffice to happen vnto him / / the which and x. ii. a came after / myghte haue an example of his paye / Joas. of a cience / like as of holy Job. For in so much as and / he ever feared God / fed his pouth vp / a kepte his commaundementes / he was not heauy agaynst God / that / plague of blinde / faste / ed vnto him / but remained stedfast in / feare of God / a thanked God all / byes of his life.

For like as blessed Job was had in / prison / of henge / euen so was he laughed to scorne of his chere and / insollence / which sayde vnto hym: I wether to thy hope / for the which thou hast done almece and buried the dead. But Tobias rebuted them / and spak: I hope not for / Tob. vii. a for we are the chyldren of holy men / and loke for the lyfe / which God shall geue vnto them / that neuer turne the care behest from him. Anna he wryt / were dayly to the wouringe / waker / and loke wherly winge / she coulde gett with the labour of her hande / she brought it. And it happened that she toke a hyd and brought it home.

And when her husband heed it / he sayde / I loke that it be not stolen / restore it agayne to the owners: for it is not lawfull for us to care: to touch any thinge of this. Then was his wyfe angry / and sayde: How is thy hope become wayne openly / and thy almece / becoms agayne manifest. With this / a sayd like wth dea / byd the cast him in the ceech.

The III. Chapter.

Then Tobias toke it heauily / a with reate / hee be ganne to make his prayer / sayinge: O Lord / thou art righteous / and all thy iudgements are true / / Thy / all thy wayes are / mercy / faithfulness / and iudgement. And now O Lord / be myndful of me / and take no vantage of my sinne / / neyther remember my mysdedes / nor the mysdedes of my chere. For we haue not bene obedient / vnto thy commaundementes / therefore are we spoiled / brought into captiuitie / into death / into / prison / and shame vnto all nations / amonge whon thou hast scattered us. And now O Lord / thy iudgements are greuous / for we haue not bene obedient / to thy commaundementes / neyther haue we wylled innocently before the. And now O Lord / heale wth me: according to thy wyl / and commaunde my spirit to beate are naked with thy clothes. See thy back and wyne vpon the backe of all the righteous/ and be not chary care and banke thereof with the synners. The cure counsaill at the wyse.

Be alwaye thankfull vnto God/ and beseeke him that he will order thy wyces/ and that whatsoeuer thou desyrest is safest in hande/ it maye come apace in hym. I certifie the also my sonne/ that what thou wast yet but a babe. ¶ I beseeched it valentes of syluer vnto Garbriell/ at Ragas a cite of the Medes/ and he hath wunnege haue I by me. And therefore seeke some meane/ how thou mayest come by hym/ and receaue of hym the sayd weyght of syluer/ and geue hym his hand wunninge a gaime.

My sonne/ be not affrayed/ trust in io / we shall see here a good life / but grate good shall we haue if we feare God/ and depaure from all synne/ and so well.

The V. Chapter.

The answered Tobias vnto his father/ and sayde/ father/ all that thou hast commaunded me/ will I do/ and thee diligently. But how I shall require thya money/ I care notcell. Whether shall be knowe me/ nor I him. What cost shall I geue him: And as for the waye thither/ I knowe fiere it. Then his father answered him/ and sayde: I haue his hand wunninge by me / which when thou seest him/ immediately he shall paye the. But go thy waye now/ and get the same faithfull man to go with y/ for an hys/ that thou maist receaue the money/ while I am yet liuinge.

B Then wente Tobias out/ and vpo the thre he founde a saye yonge man standinge/ apparelled vp/ and as it were ont ready to take his iourney. And he knewe not that it was an aungel of God/ but saluted him/ and sayde: From whence art thou/ thou good yonge man: He answered vnto the children of Israel.

And Tobias sayde vnto hym/ knowell thou the waye / that leadeth vnto the countie of the Medes: He answered: I knowe it well/ and all those stretes halle I gone of rymoe / and banckedged with ouer brother Gabdiel / that dwelleth in Ragas a cite of the Medes / which lyeth vpon the mounte of Arbathania. Tobias sayde vnto him: I praye the/ say for me/ till I haue tolde my father these thinges. Then wente Tobias in / and tolde hys father all. At the which his father maruayled / and prayed that he wolde come in vnto him.

Now when the aungel came in / he saluted him/ and sayde: ege be with thes euermore. And olde Tobias a saide: what ioye can I haue / that sye here in Sardinea / and I see the light of brauen: The yonge man sayde vnto hym: Be of good chaire/ God shall helpe the shortly. And Tobias said vnto him: Canst thou bringe my sanna to Gabelus/ vnto the cite of Ragas in Medes: And when thou comest agayne/ I shall paye the thy hys. And the aungel sayde vnto hym: I shall lede thy sonne / and bringe him to Ragas. The Tobias answered him: Tell me I praye the/ of what house/ or of what tye art thou?

The aungel Raphael sayde vnto him: I seest thou after the kind of an hyrlinge / or seest thou a gyde for thy sonne to go with him: But that I made the not carefull/ I am Sannas the soune of greate Banaias. And Tobias answered: Thou art come of a greate kind / but I praye the/ be not displeasid / thec I desyred to knowe thy kind. The aungel sayde vnto hym: Thy sonne shall I lede forth safely / and bringe him whole to the agayne.

Then answered Tobias and saide/ well go on your waye/ a God bein your iourney/ a his aungel beare you company. So when they had prepared all thinges/ that they wolde take with the in their iourney / Tobias had his father a his mothere farewell / and they wente on their waye both together. Now when they were gone/ his mothere beganne to wepe/ and saide: The staf of our age hast thou taken awaye/ and sent him from vs.

Wolde God that money had neuer bene/ for y that thou hast sent him awaye. If we had bene content with our pouerte / this had bene greate reioys vnto vs/ that we sawe oure sone here. Then saide Tobias vnto her: we praye not oure sonne shall come to vs agayne/ seft and sonde/ and thine eyes shall it him: For I trust that the good aungel of God shall beare him company / and order well all the thinges that be doeth: so that he shall come to vs agayne with ioye. At these wordes his mothere leff from weeping/ and helde her in ioye.

The booke of Tobias.

The VI. Chapter.

The angel Tobias wrote on his waye / as a digge followed him / and the first nyght they abode by the water of Egiptis. Then wente he out to wash his feet / and beholde / there came forth an horrible fish to deuoure him. Of whome Tobias was affrayed / and cried with a loud voice / sayinge / Lord be he cometh vpon me. And the euell sayde vnto hym: Take him by the taile / a daine him to the. And he dyd so / and bitt him vpon the taile / and the fish beganne to leape at his feete.

Then sayde the auugel vnto him: Take out the bowels of this fish / and as for the herre / the gall / and the leuer / kepe them by the. For these thinges are necessary and good for medicine. Tobias dyd so / and roasted the fish / and they toke him with them in their iourney: the residue they salde / as much so was sufficient for thim / till they came to Ragaa. The Tobias aske the auugel / and sayde vnto hym: I praye the doe her Zarias / tell me / whether are these thynges good of the fish / that hath bydden my to kepe.

The auugel answered him and sayde: If thou layest a peece of the hece vpon the coales / the smoke thereof dryueth awaye all maner of euell spirits / whether it be from man or from woman / so far from thence forth the same shall come no more vnto them. The gall is good to annoynt it to fraile the eyes withall / where as there is any blemish in thim / so shall they be whole.

E And Tobias sayde vnto him: where wilt thou that we remaine? The auugel answered and sayde: *I there is a nye kinsman of thine / called Raguel by name / which hath a daughter called Sara / a harp neither sonne no: daughter but her. All his good belongeth vnto the / and thou must marry her / and she shall geue thee the wyfe. The answered Tobias and sayde: *In I vnderstande / she hath bene married vnto seven husbaides / and they all are dead: and I haue herde saye / that the euell flew the. I am affrayed hereto / lest such thinges be open vnto me also: which if it come to pass / (kyngs I am the onely sonne of my father and my mother) I should bringe them in their age with sorrow to these graces.

Then saide the auugel Raghuel vnto him: Scare me / and I will tell the / what they do of whome the euell hath power. Tamiis / they shal receaue marriage of such a saluati / that they shal see God out from the and from herbert / and geue them selfe rather euill lust / then as it were an hoise / a misle / which haue no vnderstandinge: vpon fish hath the euell power. But when thou takest her / she come into the chamber / withhold the self from her the dayes / and geue the diligence vnto no thyng / but vnto prayer with her.

And in the firste nyght floure of the fish / and the euell shalbe dryuen awaye. The secunde nyght shalt thou be receauid into the company of the holy patriars. The thirde nyght shalt thou optaine the blessinge of God / so shal he whole and sounde childe shalbe borne of you. After the thirde nyght shalt the mayden in the care of Gods / and more for the desyre of children / the for any fleshy lust / that in the side of Abraham thou maiest optaine the blessinge in children.

The VII. Chapter.

Then wente they into Raguel / which had receauid them ioyfully. And when Raguel looked vpon Tobias / he sayde vnto Anna his wyfe: *How lyk is this yonge man vnto my sister sonne. And wha he had spoken thus / he sayde: whence be ye good berie? They saide: Of the nyght of Nabuth / ouer of the captiuitie of Ninus. Then said Raguel vnto the. Know ye my brothee Tobias: They sayde: yea / we knowe him well. And when he had spoken much good of him / the auugel sayde vnto Raguel: Tobias of whom thou speakest / is thys thyng mans father. Then Raguel bowed him selfe downe / and wepte / toke him aboute the neck / and kysed him / and sayde: *I Gods blessinge be vnto you my sonne / for thou art the sonne of a good vertuous man. And Anna his wyfe a Sara his daughter wepte also.

Now wha they had talked together / Raguel had kyll a wyche / and to make a feast. And when he prayed them to syt downe to dinner / Tobias saide: I will neither eat nor drinke here this daye / except thou first graunte me my portion / a poultice me to geue me thy daughter Sara. Wha Raguel herde this / he was ajoynged / for he knewe what had happened vnto the

the other fouen men, that went in vnto her: and he began to feare, that it should chaunge into him also in lyke maner.

And whyle he stode so in doubt, and gaue the yonge man no answer, the angel saide a newe hym: feare not to geue him thy daughter, for vnto this man that feareth God, / becometh thy daughter as wyfe, the fore might none other haue her.

Then saide Raguel: I doubt not but God hath accepted my prayere and reues in his sight, and I trust he caused you to come unto me for this cause, inuent / the other his daughter of mine might be married in her owne kintred, / according to the lawe of Moyses. And now doubt ye not, for I will geue her vnto to the: So he toke the ryght hande of hys daughter, and gaue her into the right hande of Tobias, and sayd: The God of Abraham / the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob be with you, hope you together, and fulfill his blessing in you. And they toke a letter and made a testyng of the marriage. And then made they merry, and played God. And Raguel called Anna his wyfe vnto hym, / a bad hee prepare another chamber, and thither he brought Sara his daughter, and she wept. Then sayde he vnto her: Be of good chere my daughter, / the Lord of heauen geue thee ioye, for the beautyesse that thou best suffrest.

The. viii. Chapter.

¶ NOW after that they had supped, / they brought the yonge man into her. Then thought Tobias vpon the wordes of the angel, and toke out of his bagge a peece of the leuile of the fysh, and layed it vpon the hore scales. So the angel Raphael toke halfe of the scale, and sente him away, and saund him in the wyldernes of the hyls of Egypte. Then spake Tobias vnto the airghne, and said: O Sara, let vs make our praye vnto God to day, / to morrow, and next morowe: for the the ryghte wyll we reconcele our selues with God: and when the thide holy night is past, we shall soye together in the deuise of marriage. For we are the chyldren of holy men, and we maye not come together as the heathen, that knowe not God.

Then stode they vp with together, and besought God earnestly, that he wolde preserue them. And Tobias sayde: O Lord, be of our fathers / prayd be thou of heauen, in earth of the sea, wylles, a fouldes, / & of all the creatures that be therein. Thou mayest haue the mould of the earth, / I gauest him Adam for an helper. And now Lord, thou knowest that it is no bicause of voluptuousnes, that I take this sylter of mine to wyfe, / but onely for the loue of children, / in whome thy name be blessed for ever. And Sara sayde: haue mercy vpon vs, O Lord, / haue mercy vpon vs, and let vs both come whole and sounde to a good age.

And aboute the ceete trowe, it happeneth that Raguel called his seruantes, / and they went with hym to make a graue. For he sayde: we haue dined vnto hys seruantes, wylles, & the other scull, / and I went in a nyght. Now, when they had made the graue, Raguel come agayne to his wyfe, and sayde vnto her: kende one of thy mayens to loke if he be dead, / that I maye burye him as fore he be lyghte daye.

So she sent a mayden to see, whiche when she came into the chamber, she founde them whole and sounde, / sleeping together. And so she came agayne, and brought good tydinges. Then Raguel and Anna his wyfe, / sayed be the Lord, / and sayd: Praise be the Lord, God of Israel. For it is not happened vnto vs as we thought, / for thou hast bein mercifullly with vs, and put awaye from vs the enemye that persecuteth vs, and hast shewed mercy vnto vnder two sheldes. O Lord, deuis them to magnifye the more perfectly, / and to offere the sacrifice of thy people, / and of thyi brethren: that all people maye knowe, that thou only art God in all the earth.

And immediately, Raguel commaunded his seruantes to fyll the graue, that they had made, with earth, / as it was light, and had his wyfe prepare a feest, / a to make ready all thinges that were necessarye for meate, to such as wente by the waye. He caused two fat kyne, also, and foure wylde be, to slayne, and meate to be prepared, for all hys neighbours and frendes.

And Raguel charged Tobias to remaine with with him two weekes. As for all the good that he had, he gaue Tobias the one halfe of it, and made his wynges, that the halfe which remayned should fall vnto Tobias after their death.

The IX. Chapter.

Then Tobias called vnto hym the angel whome he thought he had ben an angel, and sayde vnto hym: Brother Ananias, I praye þe herle vnto my wybe: If I shoulde geue my self to be thy seruant, I shall not be ferre thy prouyde. Cleues helias, I beseeþe þe that thou wilt take the bealtes and the seruantes, and go vnto Gabdus in Ragas the cite of Medes, and deliuer him his handwritings, and receaue the money of him, and paye him so come to my marriage. For thou knowest thy self, that my father called the Dayes, and if I tary one Daye to longe, he will be for in his mynde. I haue seylt thou home earnestly, Raguel hath enquired me, so that I can not saye hym nay.

Then iske Raphael foure of Raguels seruantes, and two Camels, and wente vnto Ragas the cite of the Medes: and when he had founde Gabdus, he gaue him his handwritings, and receaued all the money. He tolde him also of Tobias the sonne of Tob, howe all thinges had happened, and caused hym to come with him to the marriage. Now when he was in the house of Raguel, he founde Tobias sitting at the table, and he kepte vp, and they bysted one another, and Gabdus wept, and prayed God, and sayd: The blessing of the God of Israel haue thou for thou art the sonne of a right iusteous, and iust man, and of one that searþh God, a geuerer greate almes. And bless thy wyfe, and your parentes, that ye maye fe your children, and your chudrens children, vnto the thiede and fourth generation, and that your side maye be blessed of the God of Israel, whiche raygeueth wybe withoute ende. And when they all had saide Amen, they went to the feast, but with the feate of the O Lord helde they the feast of the marriage.

The X. Chapter.

Then while yonge Tobias made longe iacence, by reason of the marriage, his father was full of care, a heauynesse, a thought what shoulde be the cause that my sonne taryeth so longe: Why shoulde he be kepte so longe there: Pradueniure Gabdus is dead, and no man will geue him the money. Thus beganne he to be very sorrowfull, he and Anna his wyfe with hym, and beganne to wepe with together, because theyr sonne was not come agayne vnto them at the Daye appoynted. As for his mother, she wept with wisdom, fortable iare, and saide: What is me, my sonne: What sayd vnto I sende the away into a straunge countrey, howe light of aure eyes, thou shalt of four age, thou camst foote of fourt ysen, thou hope of foure generation: Whinge the thinges that we haue are onely in the tree, shoulde not haue sente the awaye from vs.

Then Tobias came forth her, and sayde: Holde thy tounge, and be not wisom, for I cure sonnes to whole, and sounde: the mal that we sente him withall, is saychfull ynough, neuertheless, he might in no wyfe be raymed, but Dayly wente oure, looked abouie, and wente abouie all the streues, whereby the thoughte he shoulde come agayne, that if it were possible, he might fe hym cominge a foote of.

But Raguel sayde vnto his sonne in later O raye here, and I shall sende a messinger vnto thy father Tobias, to tell hym that thou art in good healtie. Tobias sayde vnto hym: I am sure that my father and my mother counte eury day, and that they here as they saye.

So when Raguel prayed Tobias with many wybes, and he would in no wyfe beare him, he deliued Sara vnto him, and the half parte of al his goodes, in seruantes and handmaidens, in sheeps, in camels, and in hynel, and good money, and so sent him awaye with hym with peace and ioye, and sayde: The holy angell of the Lord be with you in your iourney, and blyngge youe foith safe a founde, that ye maye fynde all thinges in good case with your chere, and that myne eyes maye se your children afore I dye.

So the elders embraced theyr daughter, theyd her, and let her go, and blyngge her to honoure her father, and moire in lawe, no loue her husband, and to rule wyl her houshold.

Tob. 24.

The XIII. Chapter.

AND after that Tobias had gotten his sight againe, he liued fifty yeares / and sawe his childrens children. Nowe when he was an hundred and two yeare olde / he dyed and was buried honourably in Ninive. For when he was sixe and fifty yeares of age / he loste the sighte of his eyes / and when he was ix yeare olde / he gat his sighte againe. The residue of his liue led he in ioye / and increased well in the feare of God / and departed in peace.

But in the houre of his death he called vnto him his sonne Tobias / a seuen yonge spin gilde / his sonnes children / and sayde vnto them: The destruction of Ninive is at hande / for the worde of the Lorde can not faile / a since when thare are scoured out of the lande of Israel / shall come thither againe. And the whole lande of it that haue bene waste / shall be filled: In the house of God that was bene in it / shall be builded againe / and al such as sere God shall returne thither: the Chaldeen also shall forsake theyr Idole / and come to Jerusalem / and dwell there / and al the kinges of the earth / shall be glad of her / and worshippe the Lorde God of Israel.

And therefore my children / heare your fathers voice the Lorde in faithfullnes / keepe after his will / do the thing that pleaseth him. Commaunde your children that they be right / geue alme: Be myndefull of God / and euer to be thankfull vnto him in trust / with al theyr power. Heare me therefore my children / abide not here: But in what daye soeuer ye haue builded your newe citye / geve you frent hinc: For I set bat the wickednes of it shall bringe to destruction and ende.

After the death of his mother, Tobias departed away from Ninive / with his wyfe and children / and with his childrens children / came againe to his father and mothe in lawe / and founde them whole and in a good age / and heare of the Lord and els: they created was here vnto all Nations good / and sawe the sighte generall / and dyed in chryden. And when he was xx. yeares of age / he dyed in the feare of the Lorde / and his syns / all were forgiven him. And all his posterite continued in a good lyfe / and holy asacrificion: so that they were loued / and accepted both of God and men / and of all the people of the lande.

Before the lordes of the countie / and elders: and before the whole people / from the first vnto the last: before al them that dwelle at Babylon / by the water of Eddy. Which when they heere / wept / fasted / and prayd before the Lorde.

They made a collectis also of money / accorde to every mans power / and sent it to Jerusalem vnto Iochim / the sonne of Sedech / the sonne of Salon / with the other priests: and to all the people which were with him at Jerusalem / what tyme as they had gotten the ornaments of the temple of the Lorde / that were taken awaye out of the temple / that they mighte buye them againe into the lande of Iuda the x. daye of the month Synul: namely syluer vessels / whiche Sedechus the sonne of Ioyas Kinge of Iuda had lust to go in them.

C O ye dwellers aboute Syon: come/ and let us call to remembrance the captiue / that the euerlasting God hath brought vpon my sonnes a ny younglinges. For he hath brought a people vpd them from farre / an uncurteous people / and of a straunge language: which truction / and shalt treade vpd his nefse. My dearlinges haue gone rough hard wayes / so they are led awaye as a flocke that is scared

For hyrcher shall God bringe Israel with ioyfull myght / and in the light of his manly: with the mercy and righteousnesse: that cometh of himself.

A copie of the epistle: that Jeremy the prophet dyd sende vnto the Iewes / which were led awaye prisoners by the kynge of Babilon. Wherin he certifieth them of the thinge that was comaunded him of God.

The VI. Chapter.

Because of the synnes that ye haue done / O Iewes / shall I led awaye captiue vnto Babilon / euen of Iekubodonosor the kynge of Babilon. So when ye be come into Babilon / ye shall remayne there many yeares / and for a lōge season: namely vii generacions: and after that will I bringe you awaye peaceably from thence: Now shall ye see in Babilon goddes of golde / of siluer / of wood / and of stone: haue vnto manns shuldres / to cast out a fraile filth: before the High. But loke that ye do not as the other: be not ye afrayed / and feare not the feare of them ouercome you.

Therefore / when ye see the multitude of people / worshipinge them behinde and before / saye ye in your heartes: O Lord God I will not feare: for thou art our strength: onely to be worshippid. Myne care: also shall be with you: and I my self will care for your soules. So for I vnto the goddes / the carpenter hath polished them: recyltred they / and layed ouce with siluer / yet are they but vaine thinges / and can not speake. Like as a wench that toucheth peramione is trynly defiled / thus so acceth she made and hanged with golde. Crouches of golde vncly haue their goddes upon their heades: so the priests them selves take the golde a siluer from them / and puerce to their owne consciences / they giue of the same vnto barlions: and mynne they whoso worship. Agayne / they take it from the whodes / and defile their goddes therewith. Yet can not these goddes vnto them / sit from ruste and mothes. When they haue couered them with clothinge of purple / they wype their faces for the dust of the temple / wherof there is much anoyse them. One hath a serpent in his hāde / as though he were vnder of the rounner / yet can he not rise / such as of sende him. Another hath a sword: as an are in his hande / for all that is he neither able to defende himselfe from bareyll / nor from more thereto.

By this ye maye vnderstande / that they be no goddes: therfore se that ye neither worshippe them / nor feare them. For like as a vessel that a man vsith / is nothinge worth when it is broken / euen so is it with these goddes. When they be set vp in the temple / they can be full of dust / therow the feet of those that come in. And like as the vaine are set in rōnde aboute vpon him / that hath of sende the finge: Or as it were a dead bodye Feptebeside / graue: Thus so the priestes seepe the vaine with barres and laces / lest their goddes be spoiled of the robbers. They set vp candles before them / yea merely / and that many / wherof they can not see one / but euen as they stande they in the temple. Thus sayde / that he serpenes and whowes / which come of the earth / gnawe out their heries / eatinge them / and their choyce also / and yet they like not

Their faces are blacke thowt the smoke that is in the temple. The oules / sivalowes / and byrdes flye upon them / yee / as the carres runne ence their heades.

B By this ye maye be sure that they are not goddes / therefore make them nos. The golde that they haue / is to make them deuyfull / for all that / excepte some body v. g. of their iusts / they will geue no thyrne: and when they were cast into a fourme / they felt it not. They are bought for nothing / and haue no birth of lyfe within them. They must be boien upon mens shoulders / as those that haue no seie: wherby they declare vnto men / that they be of a nothinge worth. Confounde be they then / that worshippe them. For if they fall to the ground / they can not rise up agayne of them selues. Yet / though one helpe them up / and set them vpryght / yett are they not able to stande alone: but must haue pioppes to set vnder the feet of their. As for the thinge that is offered vnto them / the priestes sell it and abuse it / yee / the priestes wyse sake thereof / but vnto the scke and poore they geue nothinge of it / the women rich childe / and the murtherous / se hardes of their offerings. By this ye maye be sure that they are not goddes / therefore be not ye a fraide of them. From whence commeth it then / that they be called goddes? The women sit before the goddes of syluer / golde and woodes / and the priestes sit in their temples / hauynge open clothes / whose heades and beardes are shaven / and haue nothinge vpon their heades / wearinge and erenge vpon their goddes / as men do at the feast when one is dead.

The priestes also take awaye the garnishes of the ymagis / as a deefe there wykes a children mouth. Whether be good or euell that any man do vnto them / they are not able to recompence it: they can neither set vp a fynge nor put him to shame. In like maner they noye neither geue iudges / nor rewardes. Though a man make a vow: vnto them / and keepe it / they will not / quere it. They can not deli-uer a man from death / neyther are they able to sende the weak from the myghty. They can not / loose a blinde man to his sight / nor helpe any man / that is hnde. They can helpe no meicy to the wydowe / nor do good to the fatherlesse.

Their goddes of wood / stone / gold and syluer / are but men as other stones / that be between of the maine yme. They that we / suppe them / shalde confounded. How shoulde they then be taken for goddes / yee / how shoulde men call them goddes: And though the Caldees woulde shipped them as beaunge that they were but womme and could not speake: Yett they them selues offre vnto them / and woulde sayne haue bin to speake: as wds saye / they could sile that may not tounge. But when these men come to vnderstandinge / they shall forsake them / for their goddes haue no feelinge. A greute soire of women gyred with coardes / sit in the streete / and burrete olde verres. How if one of them be conueyed awaye: and he woth any sich as come by: she casteth her veryghbonnet in the earth / because she was not so wothly reputed / nor her coarde broken. What iour-ney to them / is as bus in vayne and losse: Who maye it then be thought / as I sayde that they are goddes? Carpenters and goldsmysthes make them: whether be any other thinge / but euen what the wofe men will make of them. Yee / the goldsmithes them selues / that make them / are of no thinge countynance: How shoulde then the thinges that are made of them be goddes: Vayne therefore are the thinges yee: very shame is it / that they leane be-hinde them their posterite. For as often they cometh any ware or plague vpo them / then the priestes ymagyn / where they maye hyde them selues woth them. How can men thinke then that they by goddes / which neither maye besende them selues from warre / nor deliuer them from mysfortune: for seynge they be but of wood / of stone / of syluer and of golde: all people and kynge shall knowe hecause that they be but wayne thynges: yett / it shalbe openly declared / that they be no goddes: but euen the very workes of mans handes / and that God hath nothinge to do with them. They can see nothinge in the lande / nor geue rayne vnto it. They can geue no sentence of iudice neither besende the laide from wronge: for they are not able to do so much as a frowe / that flyeth betwixt heauen and earth.

When there happeneth a fyre in the house of those goddes of wood / of syluer / and of golde /

the priestes will scape and save them selves / but the goddes burne as shee dooetherein. They can not withstande any finge or bar: as: how maye it the be thought or graunted / that they be goddes? Moreover these goddes of woode / of stone / of golde and syluer / maye neither defende the selves fro thes nor robe them: yee / the very wicket are stronger then they. Best stryke them out of their apparell / that they be cloyed withall / these take theyr golde and syluer from them / and so get them awaye: yet can they not helpe the selves. Therefore it is much better for a man to be a finge / and so to haue hya power: as is a profittable vessel in a house / when he that oweth it / myght haue pleasure: yee / to be a Voie in a house / to spee such thinges as hee is therout: then to be such a wayne god. The Sunne / the Moone / and all the starres when they geue their syne and light are obedient / as do men good: When the lighteninge glistereth / all reioyce: The wynde bloweth in every countrey / and when God commaundeth the cloudes to go rounde aboute the whole worlde / they do so they are bydden: when the syne is sent downe from aboue and commaunded / it burneth by hills and woodes: But as for those goddes they are no like one of these thinges / neither in beuty nor strength. Wherfore men should not thinke / nor saye that they be goddes / for they can neither geue sentence in iudgement / nor to men good. So: so much more as ye are sure / that they be no goddes / then haue the not: for they can neither speake euen nor good of finges. They can heare no toke no in heauen for the Hythen / neither syne as the Sunne / nor geue light as the Moone: yee / the unreasonable bestes are better then they: for they can get the vnder the rof / and so to them selfe good: So can ye be terrified by no manner of meance / that they be goddes: therefore feare the not. For like as a fraybaggerde in a garden of cucumbers kepeth his hyngs / euen so are theye goddes of woode / of syluer and golde: and like as a wythe thorn in an orcharde that eury byrd fyereth vpon it: like as a dead body that is cast in the Rafe. Euen so is it: these goddes of woode / syluer and golde.

By the purple and scarlet which they haue upon them / as soone sayberd awaye / ye maye vnderstande / that they be no goddes: yee / they them selves shall be consumed at the last / which shall be a greate confusion of the lande. Blessed is the godly man that hath no image / and worshippeth none: for he shall be saue from all perill.

whiche is now in the Canon of the Scriues.

The booke of Iudith.

The first Chapter.

Asphages King of Mesdoe subdued many people vnto his Dominion / and buildded a noble stronge citie which he called Egabathes-mos. The walle of it made he of fre stone / four faine red / seuenne cubites hie / and thirte cubites broad. He made towres there vpon of an hundred cubites hie. But vpon the foure corners eury side was twenty fote broad.
He made the portes in the height like as the towres. This finge trusted in his myghty host / and in his glorious charriot.

Some the next yeare of his reigne / it happened that Nabuchodonosor the Kinge of the Assyrians (which reigned in the great cite of Babel) sought agaynst Asphages / and ouercame him in the grate cite called Na-gaur / betwixt Euphrates and Tigris / and Sa-bason / in the cite of Arsoth the finge of the Elites.

Then was the Kingdome of Nabuchodonosor exalted: and his bert was lifted up: and he sent vnto all them that dwelt in Helicia / in Damascus / in Libanus / and vnto the Kinge then that dwelt in Carmel and Cedar / and to such as dwelt in Galile in the grate cite of Sidon / to all them that were in Samaria / and

and beyonde the water of Iordane vnto Jerusalem / and the whole lande of Iesse vnto the mountains of Libanus. Vnto all these he had Nabuchodonosor the Kinge of the Assyrians made messengers. But they all thone consent wold not agree vnto him / a sent the messengers againe vnto him / a put them awaie without honoure. Then Nabuchodonosor the Kinge toke indignacion at all those kides / and firste by his trowe and by his kingdom / that he wold be avenge of all these countreys.

The II. Chapter.

IN the xij. yeare of Kinge Nabuchodonosors / vpon the xxij. daye of the first moneth / it was deuised in the court of Nabuchodonosor the Kinge of the Assyria / that he wold be vnto him self. So he called vnto him all the elders / all his captiues and men of wicere / and shewed them his secret counsaill / and tolde the that his purpose was to bringe the whole earth vnder his Dominion. Now when they were all consent with this sayinge: Nabuchodonosor the Kinge called Holofernes the chiefe captaine of his warres / a saide vnto him: Go thy waye forth against all the kingdomes of the West / and specially against those that haue disobeyed my commendement. Thou shalt spare no realme / all stronge cities shalt thou bringe in subitron vnto me.

When Holofernes called together all his captiues a rulers of all his power in Assyria / and mulled the fouldres vnto his boost / like as the Kinge commaunded him / namely / an hundred and twenty thousand fightinge men vpon fure / and twelue thousande archers vpon bowshafte. All his ordinaunce sent he before with an innumerable multitude of Camels / so that the boost was well prouided for / with oyle and smal carrel / and that without number. He caused come to be prepared out of all Syria his best boost. Much golde and siluer also toke he out of the Kinges house. So he toke his iourney / and he and all his boost / with chariots / horses / and archers: of whome there were so many / that they covered the grounde of the lande like the grassheppes.

And when he was gone past the borders of the Assyrians / he came towards the great mountains of Tigre / which lie vpon the left side of Eclia: and so he wente vp into all their castles / and vnto every stronge holde. So for the wiche one of the Idolatrie / he dike in thome / and spoyled all the children of Ephraim and the Simeonites / which laye towards the wilderness / and vpon the South side of the lande of Eclia. He wente ouer Cappadocia also and came vnto Mesopotamia / and dike thome all the bige cities that were there / from the booke of Nambat till a man come to the sea: and he toke the borders in first Eclia vnto the castles of Sappot towards the South. He carried awaie all the Madianites / and spoyled all their goodes: a whosoener withstode him / he slew the with the sword. After this he wente thome vnto the side of Damascus in the tyme of baruch / and burnt up all the counte and all the trees / and caused the fire to be cut thome. And the feare of him fell vpon all them that dwelle in earth.

The III. Chapter.

SO the Kinge and prince of all cities a Thelando sent their Embassadours / namely they of Syria and Mesopotamia: Syria Sodal and Lydia and Eclia: which came to Holofernes / and sayde: Let thy wrath cease towards vs: For we haue for vs sent the great Kinge Nabuchodonosor with our letters / and to be subiecte vnto the / then that we shoulde vs and be slayne / and receaue greater hurt. All our cities and possessions / all mountains and hills / all kides / great and small / carrel / sheepe / goates / hoise / and carrels / all our goodes / and dwelsholde be in thy power / vnder thy subiectioun be it also. We our felicitie also and our children wyl be thinge vnto come vnto vs a peccable lorde / and see our succour at thy pleasure.

When came Holofernes thome from the Mountains with his men and great power / and conquered all stronge cities / and all that dwelle in the lande. And out of all noce he toke stronge men / a such as were mee for the warre / to helpe him. There came such Iudith v. a score also vpon those countreys / that the dwellers of all the counte / the prince and rulers a the people regeat / wrote forth to inrite him so he came / and receaied him honourably with garlandes and robes / with haunces / a breues and pyces.

might they not swage his egiuous stomack: but he destroyed their eies / a heere young their moode. For Nabuchodanos for the kinge had commaunded him / that he shoulde rote out all the goddes of the lande / to the intent that he onely might be called and taken for God of the nacione which Belofierces with his power brought vnder him. So wrote he to show Syria Sobal / and those wall Appama / and all Mesopotamia / came to Idumeane in the lande of Gaba / and Sepiopol: and toke their eies: and remained there chery dayes / where in he ceased all the whole multitude of his hoost to be gathered together.

Th. III. Chapter.

¶ Thus the children of Israel that dwelt in Jeruysal: they were fore afeared of him. There came such tremblinge also and feare vpon them / that they feared he shoulde do vnto the cite of Ierusalem / and the temple of the Lord: as he had done to other cites and their temples. So they sent into all Samaria countrie aboute vnto Terido / toke in / a occupied all the toppes of the mountaine / made cast the countie with walles / and prepared cast for them agaynst the battayl.

Elachim also the priest wrote vnto all them that dwelt towarde Iudaea (which hech auer a gainst) the greake felde by Sarba Im) vnto all those by whom men might haue passage vnto the / that they shoulde take in the wayes of the mountaine / where there might be any waye and passage to Ierusalem: and that as they shoulde hold vigill watch / where any straunge way was betwixt the mountaine. And the children of Israel vsd as Elachim the priest of the Lord had commaunded the. ¶ And all the people ended earnestly / and humbled their soules with fastinges and prayes / they and their wyfes. The priestes put on heery clothes / and layd the yonge babes before the temple of the Lord: and couered the altar of the Lord with they heery cloth. And with one accord cried they vnto the Lord God of Israel: that their childre shoulde not be geuen into a pray: and their wyfes into a spoyle / that their onces shoulde not be layed wast: / that their Sauerour shoulde not be vnbeloued / and so they to be thine and tribute vnto the Parthen.

wente rounde aboute all Israel / a spake vnto them sayinge: Be ye sure that the Lord will heare youre petitions / if ye continue steadfast in fastinges and prayes vnto the sight of the Lord. Remember the Massachi seruante of the Lord / which ouerthrewe the Amalchites (that truste) in their might and power / in their hoost / their sheldes / in their chariotes and horses: / not with weapons / but with holy prayes. Thus so shall all the enemies of Israel be by ye commue in this wote that ye haue begonne. So vpon this exhortation they continued in prayer before the Lord. In so much that they which offered dienesacrifices vnto the Lord / offered the offerings vnto the Lord: theynge arayd in heery clothes / and had asses vpon their brada. And they al besought God from their whole hart / that he wolde vsur by the people of Israel.

The V. Chapter.

¶ And word came to Belofierce the prince of the waxes of the Assyrians / that the childre of Israel prepared them selves to make resistance / and how they had stoped the wayes betwixt the mountaine. Thin was he exceedinge wroth / and called all the princes of Moab / and the captaine of Ammon / and sayde vnto the: Tell me / what people is this that kepeth in the mountaine: Of what maner of cities are they: What is their power: Of what maner of hoost haue they: Who is their captaine: And why do they despyse vs: / More then all those that dwell in the Wall: that come not forth to mee vs / that they might receiue vs with peace.

¶ Then Nabos the captaine of all the Ammonites answered / and sayde: O myn seignior / I will tell thee truely before the / concerninge this people that dwell in the mountaine: and thou shalt knowe it out of my mouth.

This people is of the generation of Caldees / that dwell first in Mesopotamia: for they wolde not follow the goddes of their fathers / were in the lande of the Caldites / a so forsoke they the custome of their fathers: / which had many goddes. And we worshiped our God: that moude heauen in warre: which also should be thine: that they shoulde goe from thence: and dwell at Garan. ¶ Now vnto the: ¶

which God had geat them / that they should walk in it / they were destroyed in sweete bar-235les of many nations / and many of the were carried away prisoners into a strange country. But now lately they haue turned them selfe agayne vnto the Lord their God / and are come together againe out of the countrey where they were scattered abroad: a thus haue they conquered these mountaines and dweltherein: as for Jerusalem where their Sancte mary towre haue it agayne in possession.

And therefore my loue / make diligent inquiry: if this people haue done wickednesse in the sighte of their God / then let vs go vp agaynst the / for doubtles their God shall deli-uer them into thy handes / and subduce them into thy power. But if this people haue not displeas'd thau God / we shall not be able to withstande the / for their God shall defende the / Iudith. xj. c and so shall we be a shame to all thy worldis.

Now when Abiath had spoken our these wordes / all the paines of Holofernes were wrought / and thoughte to slaye him / a side one to another / whar is he this / which Parac saye the children of Israel are able to withstande.
 Nabuchodonosor the Kinge his host: wher as they are an vnacquainted people / without strenght or vnderstandinge of the feare of warre: That Abiath therefore may knowe that he hath deceaued vs / we will go vp into the mountaines: and when the mighty men of them are taken / he also shall stande with the swordes: that all the people maye knowe / that Nabuchodonosor is the God of the carth / and that there is none other without him.

The VI. Chapter.

So when they had left of speakinge: Ho-2 lofernes toke four indignation / and sayde vnto Abiath for so much as thou hast proph-etized vnto vs sayinge: that I people of Israel shall be defende of their God / I will be-lieue that there is no God / but Nabuchodonosor.
 See when we slaye them all as one man / thou also shalt perishe with them: wher is the sword of Assyrians / a all Israel shall be destroyed with the / wher thou wilt that Nabuchodonosor is the lord of thy worldis terris.
 Then shall I sword of my Kingdome goe vnto thy cyties / and thou shalt fall downe flat come to thy self agayne / but be verily destroyed with ite. But if thou thinkest thy prophesie to be true; why dost thou then change thy colour; why art thou afraid? Thinkst thou that my wordes are not able to be performed? But that thou mayest knowe; that thou shalt see these things with thine eyes; hold; from this houre forth will I sende the vnto yonder people / that when the punishment of my sword (which they haue wrought) shall be fulfilled vnto them; thou mayest be punished with them.

So Holofernes commaunded his seruantes to take Achior; and to carry him vnto Bethulia; and to deliuer hym into the handes of the chiefe men of Israel. Then Holofernes commaundes toke him; & wente thowen the plaine felde. But when they drew nye vnto the mountaine; the strong castles came out against the Hebrewes; they put them awaie by the hyde of the mountaine; and bounde Achior hand a foot to a tree; and so left him bounde; and returned agayne vnto their loide.

Now which thinge / the children of Israel wente younge from Bethulia; came vnto him; looked vnto him; brought him to Bethulia; set him in the middelt of the people; & asked him what the matter was / that the Assyrians had left him bounde.

Judith the sonne of Mitha of the tribye of Simeon; and Charitum (which is also called Gorbelen) were the principall rulers at that same tyme. Now when Achior stode in the myddelt of the Senators; and before the all; he tolde the that what answer he gaue Holofernes; to the thinge that he asked him; & how Holofernes people wolde haue slayne him for so saying; and how Holofernes him self was wroth; and commaunded him for the same cause to be deliuered vnto the Iherusalem; that when he entreame the children of Israel; he myght commaunde Achior; also to be put to death with vnto the menaces; because he saide; that the God of heauen is their defender.

And when Achior had plainely tolde one all these thinges; at the people fell vnto upon their faces; prayinge the Lord; & poured out their prayere together vnto the Lord; with a general complaint; and weeping; and saide; O Lord; God of heauen and earth; beholde their payde; and loke vpon ourte leuylnes; and consider how it sladdeth with thy sanctite; and make it to be knowne; that thou forsakest not those / which holde them fast by the; and that thou bringest the lowe; that punishment of them selfe; and make their host in their own strength. O when the weeping and prayer of the people (which they had made the whole daye longe) was ended; they castred Achior sayinge; the God of our fathers; whose power and strength thou hast playd; shall so reward the; that thou shalt rather see their destruction. When the Lord vnto God the halg; gaue his seruantes his libertie; God be with the also amonge vs; so that if it please the; with thyne might; dwell with vs.

Now when Othias had ended the counsaile; he toke him into his house; and made a great supper; called all his eldres to it; and so they refreshed them selves after the fasting. And afterwarde was all the people called together; which made their prayere all the night longe in the congregation; and brought the God of Israel for helpe.

The VII. Chapter.

Judith the daughter of Holofernes commaunded her host to go vp against Bethulia. There were at that tyme thousand fighting; Jew men on foot; & two an hundred horsemen; beside the preparation of them that were women; and came to them on euery side out of the countre; and tines which be hidde. All these prepared them selves vnto the battayle; against the Iherusalem; and came on by the hill side; vnto the top; that loke vnto the against Bethulia; from the place whiche is called Bethana; vnto Bethluis; that lyeth towards the descent.

Now when the children of Israel sawe so great multitude of the Assyrians; they fell vnto the ground; upon the ground; showed affere vnto their heades; and prayed with one voice; that the God of Israel wolde shewe his mercy vpon his people. And so they toke their weapons; and sat betwixt the mountaynes in the narrow place; and kepte the waye daye and night. But whyle Holofernes was going about; he founde the water springe; which floweth from the South side; was conueyed vnto the one by a conduit; this commaunded he to be directe another waye: / it to cut their conduytc in sldcc. These were wrailes also not farre frō the wallis / whiche they used secretly / more for pleasur then for necessity.

C Then wente the Ammonites a the Moa-bitains vnto Holocarn / and sayde: The children of Israel truste neither in speare nor a-rowe / but haue taken in / and kepte the maun-tayne and hille. That thou mayest ouer-come them / therfore without the stinkinge of my battail / let men to kepe the welles / that they drinke no water oute of them: so shalte thou destroye them without sword: or at the least they shalbe so feble / that they muste be fayne to geue auer the curre / which they thinke not able to be wonne / for so muche as it lyeth in mountayne. These wordes pleased Holocarn well and all his men of warre / and he for an hundred men at euery well rounde aboute.

And when this watch had endued twene-tye dayes / the cisternes & all springes he had water / layd them that dwel in the cite of Be-thulia: so that in the whole cite they had not waite ynough for one day: for the people had waite them therein daily in a measure. Then told the man and woinn / ynonge pefiance a childen all vnto Oloas / and saide all with one voce: I God be iudge betwene vs and the foe: for haue heale cruel with reuolun words not speake so treachly with the kynge of Assi-riane / that he hath God sold vs in they hendes: / that in no maner to helpe vs / where so we are brought: haunc he saue they eyes in dust and greate desolucion. Therefore gathere nowe together all the people that be in the cite / that we maye all yelde oure liues willingly vnto the people of Holocarn: for better it is that we be capture and praye the Lorde with oure liues / then to be slayne and payde: and to be laughed to scorn: and shamed of euery man whom we se ouer weste and chydren bye before oure eyes. We take heauen and earthe this daye to recorde / and the God of oure fathers: whiche punisheth vs / according to the deservynge of our synne: / and geue you weapyn / that ye geue vs the kynge receiue into the power of Holo-carn hoffs: / that oure cite maye be shoue with the sword / which do shal endure longe for wante of water and for thirst.

When they had spoken these wordes / & there was a greate weeping and howlyng in the whole congregacion / and that of eu-ery man / and they cryed an whole houre longe vnto God with one voyce / sayynge I we haue synned with oure father: we haue vnto amysse / we haue deathe wredely. Thou that art graciouse / haue mercy vpon vs / pu-nyshe oure vnrightheousnesse with thine owne seuenge: / and geue noe hope vnto that knowlege the / vnto a people whiche fromer the not lesse they say among the Genten: wher is the God.

And when they were so weery with this crente a weeping / that they held their tunges / Oloas stode vp with reaire eyes / and saide: To take good herre vnto you: / heare this children / and be of good cheare: / and let vs waite yet eche fyue dayes for mercy of the Lorde: for aduunee he shal cut away his indignacion: / and geue glory vnto his name. But if he helpe vs not with this fyue daies in pass / we shal do as ye haue saide.

The VIII. Chapter.

SYND it happened when this wordes he saide to the cite of Iudith: a wyrd ower whiche was the daughter of Utrai: the son of Ios / the sonne of Ioseph: the sonne of Oloas: the sonne of Elas: the sonne of Jamsphorn: the sonne of Iudith: the sonne of Melchior: the sonne of Itham: the sonne of Marba-nia: the sonne of Salathiel: the sonne of Simon: the sonne of Kuben. And her hous-bande was called Manasse: whiche dyed in the daye of the barthe baruel: for whyle he was bynding the sheaves / as hee in he felde / the beate come vpon his heade / and hee ferd at Bethulia in his cite: and there was hee buried beside his father. Now was Iudith his destitute wydow: the which was a skilfull inueter.

And in he higher partes of her house she made her selfe a peny chamber: where she dwelle / beinge closed in with her maidens. She dyd weare a smocke of beete: / as fasted a fyue daies of her life: excepte the Sabbathes: a new mo-one: / and the solemne dayes that the people of Israel kept. She was a saye and beautiful person. Her housbande also had left her Iudith was a woman of a very good report wherby one of the Lord greatly Judith. vi. a. When this Iudith herde how Olophnes had promised the people / that after the fiftie daye he wold geue up the cite onto the Assinians / the sent for the elders Chamby and Chamein and when they came to her / she sayde: What thinge is this / wherein Olophnes hath consented / that if God helpe not within thre dayes / he wyl geue ouer the cite to the Assinians: What are ye that ye tempte the Lord? This daye were openeth no mercy of God / but prouo-keth him into wrath and displeasure. Wyl ye see the mercy of the Lord a tyme / and appoint him a daye after your wyl?

E Veruely belisse / for so much as the Lorde is patient / he wyl rather amende oure felicitie / pouringe outte reace / and bestyunge him of grace. If ye God threareth not as a man / neither wyl he be provoked into wrath as a chylde of yern. And therefore let vs hertely saluour before him / and serue him with a meke fygge / and with wepyng eyes saye vnto the Lorde / that he deale with vs accordyng to his owne will and mercy: that lyke as oure heritic is now vored / and brought lowe vnto the pyde of them / it maye so be comfortede in some by grace: in so much as we followe not the synners of oure fathers / whiche forsake they: God / and we styppede other goddes: for the whiche synne they perished with the swordes / were spoyled and broughte to slauage of all theyr enemyes. As for vs / we knowe none other God / but onely hym / for whose consoule let us tary with nether.

D Therefore deare Brethren / seynge ye see the honorable and elders in the people of God / vnto whome all the people haue respect / and vpon whome the life of the people standeth / list vp their hartes with youre exhortacion / that they maye call to remembrance / I howe oure fathers also in tymes past were tempted / that they mighte be proued / if they waished their God: a righte they oughte to remember / I howe oure father Abraham beinge tempted / a righte throughe many tribulaciones / was founde a sauour and friend of Gods / was I Isaac / was Jacob / so was I Ioseph / a righte they that pleased God / beinge tryed throughe many troubles / were founde standfast in faith. Again they that receaue not their temptacion with the feare of God / but put their felicitie forth with vnpatience and murmuringe agaynste God / I perclyped of the destructione agaynste the slayne of serpentes. And therefore shoulde not we vndersteke to be auenged / for the thinge that is done vnto vs: but to consider / that all these punishmentes are sette vs before / oure synnes and misdedes: Decluyng the althow this carrection cometh vnto vs / as to the seruacion of God / for amendement / and not for oure destruction.

E Then sayde Olophnes and the elders vnto Iudith: All that thou sayest is true / and no man can reprove thy wordes. Praye thou for vs now therefore vnto God / for thou art an holy woman / and fearest God. And Iudith sayde vnto them: I seynge ye knowe that my wordes are of Gods / then prouo my coun-sayll / and wepyng saye to the Lord: and se-lecte Gods / that he wyl bringe my counsayll to a good ende.

E Thus haue I wepyde: Ye shall stande vnto myght before the people / and I wyl go forth with Abas my mayden: Praye ye then for vnto God / that he wyl graciouslye interceid his people of Israel / within thre dayes / as ye haue sayde. As for the thinge that I goe in hande / wyl I saye ye no question of it / wyl I open it vnto you my selfe / so ye nothinge do but praye vnto the Lorde your God for me. Then Olophnes the prince of the people of Iuda sayde vnto her: What thy wepynge praye the Lorde dooeth with the / that we maye be auenged of oure enemyes. And so they went from her agayne.

into him saying: O Lord God of my father Simeon / which gauest him a sword for a defence against the enemies / that of violence and wilfulnes / a that vanquished the virgins / and put her to dishonour. Thou that gauest their wises into a pray / a their daughter into captiuitie / and all their praye for a spoile onto the strauants / which dare a ycle into the helpe me wydome / O Lord my God / I beseech the. For thou hast done al things from the beginning / and take what thou best taken in hande and beuyd / n came euer to passe. For all thy wayes are prepared / a thy iudgements are done in thy everlasting four knowledge. O loke now upon the armies of the Assyrians / like as it was thy pleasure for tyme to loke vpon the hostes of the Egyptians / when they byngne wrapped / persecuted by strauants / and put their trust in their charrettes / harness / and in the multitude of their men of warre. But thou lokest vpon their host / casting a thicke darkness before them: and when they came into the depth of the waters ouerwhelmed them.

B Eue so Lord / lett go with this that trust in thy power and multitude of their meares / and in their charrettes / arrows and speares / and know not that thou art our God / I beseech the firstest warres from the beginning / and that thou art the Lord. O lift vp thine arme now like as euer from the beginning / and in thy power byngne they power to naught / cause their myghte to fall in thy weath. They make their boast / that they will vnhalowe and defile thy Sanctuary / and to waite the tabernacle of thy name / and to custe vnder the dome of thine altar with their wearde. Byngne to passe / O Lord / that the pyde of the enemy may be cut down with his owne sword: that he may be taken with the snare of his owne / and that thou mayest smyte him with the hyppos of my keue. O geue me a stedfast mynde / that I maye despyse hym and his strength / and that I maye vntrope him.

C This shall byngne thy name an everlasting remembrance: / I of the hande of a woman that inuinceth me. * For thy power O Lord. O Mendeth noem the power of man / neither hast thou any pleasure in the strength of horse.

There was neuer proude person that plee Iudith vnto the / but in the power of the humble and Discreit / meth hath thy pleasure bene euertore.

O thou God of the heauens: thou maker of the weaues / and Lord of all creatures / heate me poore woman / calling vpon the / and puttinge my trust in thy mercy. Remember thy Ec xxxvja conuenteunt O Lord / and minister wordes in my mouth / and stablish this verite in my hart / that thy house maye continue fill in holynes / and that all the heithen maye knowe a vnderstande / that thou art God / a that there is none other but thou.

The X. Chapter.

Ind when she had liste of coming to the Lord / she rose vp from the place / where she had lye flat before / O Lord / and called her maids / went down into her house / layed the beery dory from her / pur of the garnetie of her widowhede / offered her body / a mynord her self a precious bynges of sweete fauour / stoyded a plumed her hert / sit on about vnto her brade / and put on such apparel as biliangeth vnto gladnesse / suppet vpon her face / a meletes / a spange / a teares / a gonging rings / and velle her self with a her best arraye.

The Lord gaue her also a speciall verite and saynesse / for all this bechinge of her selfe was not done for any volupuousnesse and pleasure of herselfe / but of a righte discrecion and vertue / therefore vnto the Lord increace her verite. So that she was creatching amiable and well fauoured in all mannes eyes. She gaue her mayde also a bottell of wyne / a pot with oyle / a portage / a keas / a wax and chere / and went her waye.

Now when she came to the porte off citie / the sounde of shaw and the chidinge of the citys warninge there. Which when they sawe her / they were astonnyed / a murmured greatly at her beuy / a nether helde / they axed no question at her / but let her go sayinge: The God of our fathers geue the his grace / and with his power persourme of the verite of thy hart: that Jerusalem maye reioyce ouer the / a that thy name maie be an the nombre of the holy and righteous. And al thy that were there / sayde with one voyce: so the / so be. Iudith made her prayer vnto the Lord / and went out at the porte / she and her wayde.

And as he was going thow the mountayne/it happened hec aboute the springe of the daye/the spye of the Assirians inct wach hee/and take her/sayinge: whence comest thou? Whither goest thou? She answered: I am a daughter of the Hebrewes/and am fled from them/for I knowe that they shall geuen vnto you to be spoyled: because they thoughte some to yelde them selfe vnto you/that they mighte fynde mercy in your sighte. Therefore haue I refused by my selfe after this manner: I wil go before the pauise Holofernes/and till him all their secretes/and wyl be woe him/how he maye come by them/and myne them/so that not one man of his hoste shall perishe.

And when these men had heede her wordes/and considered hec saye face/they were all amazed/for they wonderd at hec excellent beautye/and sayde vnto her: Thou haste saved thy life by fyndinge oute this waye/that thou woldest come thvnto oue lorde: and hec thou sayest hec wã thou comest vnto him/ hec shall inuente the waye/and thou shalt please him herely. So they broughte her into Holofernes pãuilion/and tolde him of her. Whome when he came in before him/immiediately he was ouercome/and taken with her beautye. Then sayde his seruante: who wolde despyse the people of the Jewes/that haue so fayre women? Shoulde we not by reason sighte haue them for these? So when Iudith sawe Holofernes spynge in a camysse/that was wrought of purple/ylke golde/with a rags/and precious stones/hec loked fall vpon him/and fell thowne vpon the carch. And Holofernes seruante soke her vp agayne at that lorde commaundement.

The XL Chapter.

Then sayde Holofernes vnto her: Be of good cheere/and feare not in thine herte/for I neuer hurted man/that wolde serue Nabuchodonasor the kynge. As for thy people/they had not despised me/I should not haue lisy up a speace against the. But tell me now/what is the cause that thou art departed frã them/wherfore art thou come vnto me? And Iudith sayde vnto him: Oyes/understande the wordes of thy handmayden: for if thou wold do after the wordes of thy hand-mayden/the Lorde shall bringe thy maner to a prosperous effecte. So truly as Nabuchodonasor a lorde of the lande lycyth/so truly as his powre lycyth/which is in the to the punishment of all men/that go wrong/all men shall not onely be subdued vnto him/thatow the/But al the bestles also of the field. For all people speake of thy pudent acyrtize/and at hath euer bene reported/haue thou onely act good and myghty in all his kyngdome/and thy discrecion is commended in all landes.

The thynge is manifest also that Achior B spake/and it is well knowen/what thou commaundest to do vnto him. For this playne

And for so much as he is the childen of Israel knowe that they haue so bespiketh thee God/they are so afrayed of hi. They suffer greate hunger also/for wante of water/they are dead now in a maner. Moreover/they are appointed to lase all that carch/that they maie thinke the floud of the: and accapposed to spende all the holy ornaments of their God/whiche he hath bidden them to euche/for come/wine and ople. Sange now that they do bespikinge/it is a playne case/that they muste needs be destroyed. Which when I thy handmaiden perceaued/I fled from them/for the Lorde hath sent me vnto thee/so thew the thesinges. For I thy handmaiden worshipp God euen here now beside the/and thy handmaiden had go forth/and I wil make my prayce vnto God/and he shall tell me/whon he wyl enweade the thew sinne/then shall I come and shew the/a dunge that shaw to the middell of Jerusalem/so that thou shalt haue at the people of Israel/as I spece without a speche: but thece shall not so much as one dogge barketh against thee/for these thynge are shewed me by the providence of God: and for so much as God is displeasid with thee/for partlye me to ret the the same.

These wordes pleased Holofernes and all his seruantes/whiche were gathered at the myl dome of her/and sayde one to another: this the spyra in the iustice he thio/they shal of necessity be compelled to flye back wards/and to raise vp theyr raynars to the battail So when their captaiues come into Holoserne payntles/and fynde the dead body wrapped in the bloude/carfullnes shall fall vpon them: and when ye perceaine that they flye/solowe them without all care/for God shal deliuer the vnto you to be destroyed.

¶ When Abai seynge the power of God/which he had shewed vnto the people of Israel/kill of from his Citie them/wh he se/a put his trust in God/and let him self be circumcised: as was he numbered among the people of Israel/so was he and all his posterite vnto this daye.

B Now as soone as it was daye/they shooke vpon Holoserne heade vpon the walles/and eury man toke his weapyn/and so they went out with an horrible crye. When the spyce sawe that they came vnto Holoserne tent. And they that were within the tent came before his chamber/a made a greates rustlinge to wake him vp/ because they thoughte wch knowe to haue raised him. For there durst not one of y^e Assirians fronte/go in/ nor to open.

¶ But when the captaiues and pynces/and all the chiefe in the kynge of the Assirians/heard name to gyth/they saide vnto the chamberlaine: Go youe waye in/and wake him vp/for his myse are crype our of thir holes/and haire pynckit vnto battail.

E The wench Vagaa into his chamber/stode before the bed/a clapped with his handes/for he thoughte he had bene sleepinge in Iudith.

¶ But when he had perceived perfectly with his senses/a saide peccatur no slouinge/he wente nyer to y^e bed/a left it vp/and the self same he the dead body of Holoserne laynge there without a heade/retiered in his bloude vpon heath/Then cried he with a loude voyce/and with weepinge rent his clothes/a wente into Iudiths tent/a found her not. And so he kept out vnto the people/and sayde one woman of the Trewe hath broughte all Nabuchodonosor people to shame.

¶ So/so Holoserne layeth vpon the ground and hath no habite.

¶ Wha the chiefe of y^e Assirians/heard herde why she teute their slouche/a these fil an intolerable leaue a tremblinge vpon the/so y^e they

weyl/ for the very state of the Lord my God. Let vs synge a songe of thanksgyunge vnto the Lorde/ a new songe of playle weyl we synge vnto our God. Lord/ Lord/ thus art a grete God/ myghty in powere/ whom no man maye ouercome. All thy creature shoulde seeue the/ for thou speakest but the wordes/ and they were made: thou fallest the duste/ and they were created/ and no man maye withstande thy voyce. We vnto the people that rise vpon against my generation/ for the almightye Lord will avenge him selfe of them/ and in the daye of iudgement will he vnto them. For he shall gaue hys and woman vnto they: he shall/ that they maye burne/ and sle it for euer more.

After this it happened/ that after the victory/ all the people came to Jerusalem to prayse and thanke vnto the Lord. And when they were purified/ they offered of their sacrifices/ and they praynted a strynges and. And Iudith offered of holocaustes was peno/ and all the ieruels/ that the people had giuen her/ and the canny that he toke from his bed/ and hangd them vp vnto the Lord. The people was ioyfull/ as the victorie: and this ioye by reason of the victory with Iudith endured thre moneths.

So after these dayes/ every man wente home agayne/ and Iudith was great reuerenciation at Bethulia/ and righte honorable taken in all the lande of Israell. Vnto her person also was daylye ioynto/ that after her husbande Manasse byrd/ she must know man all the vane of her life. Vpon the hys solempne dayes she wente oute with great worshippe. She dwelt in her housbandes house an hundredth and fuyrcate/ and she her hand mayden/ reuold byrd/ and was grete byrd her housbande in Bethulia: and all the people enoured for her sween dayes. So longe as she liued/ there was none that troubled Israell/ and many yeares also after her death.

The daye wherein this victory was gotten/ was solempny holden/ and reuered by the Jewes.

The XI. Chapter after the Lann.

In this chapter is describ'd the vicame of Mardocheus.

Mardocheus the sonne of Jair / the sonne of Serui / the sonne of Cisy of the tribe of Benjamin a Jew: which had his dwelling in Susa a man of great reputacion / a excellent amonge all the that were in the kinges court / (Neuer this life he was one of the prisoners / whom Nabuchodonosor the kinge of Babylon had caried awaye from Jerusalem vnto Babylon / with Zechonias the kinge of Iuda.) In the seconde yeare of the reigne of great Artaxerxes in the first daye of the moneth Chisan / had this Mardocheus such a vicame: He thought he had a great tempest / horrible thunderclappes / earthquakes / and great up-roue in the laude: and that he sawe two greete dragons / ready to fight one against another.
Theye cried with great noise: As the which roaringe and crye all they that were vp to fight against the vngodly people. And the same daye was full of vaine / a very vncleane / full of trouble a anguish / yet a greate feare / for a woode there in all the lande. The righteous were an-sid / for they feared the plague and death that was deuised ouer them / and were all poynt

with them selves to dye. So they cried vnto God / and while they were cryinge / the life well grew into a greate eyer / a into many waters. And with that it was daye / and the Sunne rose vp agayne. And the cloudy were equald and deuoured the glorious a proude.

Now when Mardocheus had seene this vicame / he wote / and muste needs saye in his heart what God wolde doo and sh be desired in to me all the mercie / a his mynde was there vpon vntill the nyght.

The XII. Chapter.

In this chapter is declared: howe Mardocheus vntereth the treason of the two seruants toe against the kinge / and therfore doeth the kinge rewarde hym.

In the same tyme dwelt Mardocheus with Zagabab and Tharus the kinges chamberlaynes and porters of the palace. But when he herde their deuice / and bad diligently considered their imaginations / he perceaued that they wente aboute to laye theye cruel han-des vpon the kinge Artaxerxes: and so he cesified the kinge thereof. He then caused the kinge to examine the two gelded with countours. And when they had graunted it / they were pue to death.

This the kinge caused to be put in the crow-nicles for an euerlasting remembrance / and Mardocheus wrote vp the same matier. So the kinge commaunded / that Mardocheus shoulde so serue in the court / and for this faithfullnesse of his / he gaue hym a rewarde.
But Aman the sonne of Amadathi the Agarue / which was holden in greate honoure a reputacion in the kinges court / undertooke to burie Mardocheus and his people because of two chaubers laynes that were put to death.

hundred and seven and threety landes/ sende his friendly salutation vnto all the princes and chieftes of the countries/ which be subiecte vnto his Dominion. When I was made lord ouer many people/ and had subdued the whole earth vnto my Dominion/ my mynde was not with crueltye and wronge to exalte my self by the reason of my power: but purposed with equite alwaye and gentylne/ to gouerne those that be vnder my iurisdiction/ and wholy to see them in o peaceable lyfe/ and thereby to bringe my Kingdome vnto tranquyltye/ that men myght safely go thow to on euery syde/ and to reue peace agayne/ which

B all men desire. Now when I ased my counsailes/ how these thynges myght be broughte to a good ende/ there was one by vs/ excellent in wysdome/ whose good wyll/ truste and saythfulness hath oft bene stered and pioued (which was also the principall and first vnto the kynge) Aman by name/ which certified vs/ how that in all landes there was excepte in a rebellious selfe/ that made statutes and lawes agaynst all other people/ and haue alwaye despised the proclaimed commaundementes of kynge: and howe that for this cause it were not to be suffered/ that such rule shoulde continue by you/ and nor to be putte vnto. Synge now we perceaue thesame that the people alone are contrary vnto euery man/ vsynge strange and other maner of lawes/ and withstande oure statutes and voynges/ and go aboute to stablysh thowde maner/ that oure Kingdome shoulde neuer come to good estate and stedfastnes. Therefore haue we commaunded/ that all they that are appointed in wynges/ and stered vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined and see ouer all oure busynes/ and the moost principall next vnto the kynge/ and in maner as o farther) shall with they wyse and chyldren be destroyed/ and roied out with the sword of they enemies and aduersaires/ and that there shalbe no mercy shewed/ and no man spared. And this shalbe done the xiiii. daye of the month called Adar/ of this year/ that they which of olde (and now also) haue ouer bene rebellious/ maye in one daye with violence be thrust vnto into the hel/ so that after this maner/ our Empire maye haue peace & tranquyltye.

But the Mardocheus thought vpon all the woordes and noble actes of the Lord/ & made his prayer vnto him/ sayinge. O Lord/ Lord/ O thou valourous and almyghty kynge/ (so all thynges are in thy power/ & if thou wilt shalpe and vnto the Israel/ there is no man that can withstande nor let the: for thou hast made heauen and earth/ and what wondrous thynges thou art able to do:) Thou knowest all thynges/ thou wotest/ Lord/ that I was neither of males/ nor of presumptuous/ nor for any desire of glory/ that I wolde not haue vnto my self/ nor worshippe yonder proud presumptuous Aman (for I wolde haue bene content and that with good will/ if I might haue bene free) nor to haue anye thinge for thy sake/ but rather that I did w/ result I wolde not for the honoure of a man the steade of the glorye of God/ and because I worshippe none diuinitye/ in any Lord. And thus haue I done in no wyse nor presumption.

And therefore O Lord/ thou God of King/ haue mercy vpon thy people/ for they imagine how they maye bringe vs to naughtyete/ that mynde and desire is to destroye and ouerthrowe the people/ that hath our bene thyne embertunee of olde. O despise not thy people/ which thou hast vnto the land broughte out of Egypte for: thine owne self. Grant me praye/ and be mecessfull vnto thy people/ whom thou hast chose for an heretage vnto thy self. Turne oure complainte and sorow into ioy/ that we maye lye O Lord/ and praye thy name. O Lord/ suffer not the mouthes of them that speake the to be destroyed.

All the people of Israel in lyke maner end as earnestly as they coulde vnto the Lord/ for theyr death and destructione shode befor they eyes. ¶

The XIII. Chapter.

Of the sorowe/ complainte/ and praye of queene Esther.

A Queene Esther also/ beinge in the banall of death/ resorted vnto the Lord/ & layde a waie for glorious apparel/ and put on a garment:

mentes that feared for synginge and mourning. In the shade of precious oymments / he created a thos and bornge upon his heade: and as for her baby / she humbled it / a brought it very lowe. And the places where she was wonte to haue ioye afors / those fylled she with yere / that she plene out her self. She prayed also vnto the Lord God of Israel with these wordes.

O my Lorde / thou only art oure king / helpe me desolate woman / which haue no helpe / but the / for: my misery and desolation is herde at my hande. I see my yowth vp I haue herde out of the fired of my father / that thou tokest Israel from amonge all people / and so haue our fathers of thine foerced it / that they should be thy perpetual inheritaunce / and loke what thou by doest promise them / thou hast made it good vnto them.

How well Lorde / we haue synned before thee / therefore hast thou giuen vs into the handes of our enemies / because we worshipped thee goddes. Lord thou art righteous. Vnderstande / if I forsake them not / that we are in bitter and heauy captiuitie / and oppressed amonge them / but thou hast layed thine handes vpon the handes of these goddes: so that they beganne to rafe a waye / the thynges that thou with thy mouth hast ordeyned and appoynted: to vs. I beseeche thine inheritaunce / so thou wouldest stoppe the mouthes of them that praye thee / to quench thy glory / and worshipp of thy house and thine altare / and to open the mouthes of the Gentens / that they maye praye the power and vertue of the goddes / and to magnifie the fleshy synge for euer.

O Lorde / geue not thy eieles vnto the that be nor synge / lest they laugh vs to scorne in our misery / and saye: but tene thou venue vpon them sifto / and punishe him that hath become the same ouer vs / and set him to an example. Think vpon vs O Lorde / and show thy self in the tyme of our distress / and of our trouble. Strengthen vs O thou synge of gods / geue thou Lord of all powce / I geue me an eloquent and pleasant speech in my mouth before the Lyon. Curre his hert into the bare of our enemies / a beseeche him / a as fish as can swim vnto him. But deliuer vs with thy hande / and helpe me desolate woman / which haue no defence nor helpe / but only the. Lorde thou knowest all thynges / show wofull that I loue not the glory / and worshipp of the vngodly ones / and that I haue not abhorre the deed of the vncircumcised / and of all hepten.

Thou knowest and wofull my necessite / that I haue the token of my preeminence / and worshipp which I bece vpon my heade / what tyme I must shew my self / and beseeche / and that I abhorre it as an vncleane cloth / a I wear it not vnto I am quiete slouy by my self. Thou knowest also that I thy handmaiden haue not eaten at Aimens table / and that I haue had not pleasure nor deliye in the synge / lest / that I haue not desired the bynter offeringes / and that I thy handmaiden haue had no ioye / sens / the daye that I was broughte hither / and to this daye: but only in I O Lorde. O thou God of Abraham / o thou my gyby God / aboute all / heare the voyce of them / that haue none other hope / and deliuer vs out of the hande of the wicked / and deliuer me out of my feare.

The XV. Chapter.

Queene Esther appeareth before the kinge with an heauy hert / for the trouble of her people / and God teneath the synge bece.

And upon the thirde daye it happened / that Esther layed awaye the mauncinge / a garments / and put on her glorious apparill / and bece hie self goodly / after that she had called vpon God / which in the pfecture and Souuerce of all thynges / we two maydenes with her: upon the one she leaned her self / as one that was sber: the other folowid her / and bare the trayn of her vesture. The synge of her beuty made her face soft coloured. The similitude of her face was cherefull and as maye / but her hert was sorrowfull for greaue feare. She wente in thowse all the dores / and stode before the synge. The kinge sat vpon the throne of his kingdomes / and was clothed in his goodly arraye / all of golde / and set with precious stones / and he was very terrible. He lift vp his face / that shone in I cleare / and looked grimly epon her. Then felde

The XVI. Chapter.

A coppe of the commendemente / which kyng Ahasuerus caused to be proclaimed in all the countres of his dominion / for the wealth of the Jewes.

B He greate kyng Ahasuerus / which eny-gith frome India vnto Ethiopia / ouer an hundred and yxx. landes / sendeth vnto the princes and eulces of the same landes / such as laue him / his friendly salutes. There be many that for the fondrye frendshippes and benefityes / which are duertly done vnto them for theire wylleppe / be euer the more proude and the murthered / and vnder take not onely to hurte oure subiectes / for plentifulles benefites more they must suffer / and begynne to rynagyn some thyng against those that do them good / and tak: not onely all vnto banefulnes awaye from men / but in pryde and presumption / so they that be vnto myddel / and vnto bankefull for the good wodes / they go aboute to escape the iudgements of God that feyn all thynges / which with gentyltye banche a punyssheth all reue-rednes. It happeneth of also / that they which be set in office by the hygher power / and vnto whome the busynesse and causes of the subiectes are comyted to be handled / waxe proude / and desyle them selfes with spedyng of innocent bloude / which bringeth them to inolerable hurte. Which also with false and disceasfull woides / and with lrengel salu / decease and betrays the innocente goodnes of princes.

D Now is it profitable and good that we take hede / make stech therof / and consider / not only what hath happened vnto vs of olde but the shamefull / dishonnest / a noysoine thyn-ges / that the whyches haue now taken in hede before oure eyes: and thech to betwax in hme to come / that the maye make the kyngdome quente and peaceable for all men / and that we myght sometime vnto a chaunge: a as for the thyng that now is peticion of oure eyes to withstande / and to puse vnto / after the moost friendly maner.

¶ It was yncow as Aman the sonne of Zimadathu the Macedonian a strainger verly of the Persians bloude / a sare from oure goodnes: was come in amongst vs as an ale-ume / a had ostayned the fierd / suppe that we kyngdome / but of oure lyfe also.

With many selde benefites also hath he desyred to bestrope the lordshippes ouer helpe and preferre / which hath done vs good in all thynges: a innocents Esther the lyte partake vnprofitable / and their wisdom most vngodly.

 They creature is cursed. Blessed is rather the barren and vndescribed / which hath not knowne the synfull bed: she shall haue frute in the reward of the holy soules. † And blessed is the grided / which with his handes hath wrought no vnrighteousnesse / nor imagined wicked thinges against God. For vnto him shalbe giuen the speciall gift of sayth / and the most acceptable position in the temple of God. For glorious is the frute of good laboure / and the rose of wyldome shall neuer fade awaye. To for the chyliden of aboumentes / they shall come to an ende / and yf seke of an vnrighteous bed shalbe reuerted. And though they lye longe / yf shall they be nought regarded / and their lust age shalbe without honoure. If they lye haylly / they haue no hope / neyther shall they be spoken to in the daye of knowlege. For horrible is the death and ende of the vnrighteous.

The III. Chapter.

A How fare to a chastyll generation with vertue: The memoriall thereof is memoriall for it is known with God and men. Where is present / men take example there at: and if it go awaye / yet they desire it. It is alwaye erom diant bolden in honour / and wynter be remede of the vndescribed barrall. But the multitude of vngodly chyliden is vnprofitable / and the thinges that are planted with vngod-dome / shall take no deper root / not laye any fast foundation. † Though they be greene in the handes for a tyme / yet shall they be shal-len with the wynde: for they stande not fast / and shoue the vermetee of the wynde they shalbe reuerted. For the vnprofitable handes shalbe biot / their frute shalbe vnprofitable a soure to cat / yet / mee for nothyng. And why: all the chyliden that are borne of the wickednesse beare reuote of the wickednesse against theyr fathers and mothers: when they be ayed. But though the righteous be ouertaken with death / yet shall be in rest.

B Agre all honorable thyng: neuer theles it standeth not only in the lough of tyme / nor in the multitude of yeres: but a mans wyfdom is the graye here / an vndescribed lyfe is the olde age. He pleased God / and was deloused of himselfe: whyche can be frute and good synner / he translated him. † Yet / soberly was he taken awaye / to the men that wickednesse shoulde not aulter his vnderstandinge / a thar spores / shoulde not be gylt his soule. For the crafty be wounding of free meke good thynges varelle / the vnstedfastnesse also and wickednece of voluptuous desire / turne also the vnederstandinge of the simple. Though he was soone dead / yet fulfilled he much tyme. For his soule pleased God / therefore hailed he to take hym awaye from amonge the wicked. Thus the people se / and vnderstande it not: they laye not vp such thynges in their hearte / how that the louyng fauour and meepe of God is opport his sayntes / and that he hath respect vnto his chosen.

C Thus the righteous that is dead / condem-neth the vngodly which are lyunge: and the youth that is soone brought to an ende / yf lyfe of the vnrighteous. For they se the ende of the wyse / but they vnderstande not what God hath deuised for him / and wherefore the Lord hath taken him awaye. And why: they se him a dyspse / therefore shall God also laughe them to scorn: So that they them selfe shall lye here after / but without honour / yet / in shoue amonge the dead for eternite. For without any wyce shall he burie those that be put vp / and renouue them from the foundacions / so that they shalbe layed wast vnto the highest. They shal moue / and their memoriall shall conceale their synnes / and their owne wickednesse shall be wrot them.

 fastnesse of the sodane healt: groninge for very distresse of mynde / and shall saye with in their selves: haunging in waide / for / a mourn-inge for way angulsh of mynde.

poicion is amonge the sayntes. Therefore we haue erred from the waye of truchtye lyght of frygheousnesse hath not shyned vnto vs / and the Sunne of vnderstandinge coste not vpon vs. We haue weryed our selues in the waye of wyldeynesse and destruction. Ce- dyous wayes haue we gone / but as for the waye of the Lorde / we haue not knowen it.

B What good hath our pryde done vnto vs? What profit hath the pompe of eyes brought vs? All these thynges are passed awaye lyke a shadowe / as a messenger runnynge before vs a thyng that passeth ouer the waye of the water / which whan it is gone by the trace thereof can not be founde / neyther the path of it in the foubtes. As a brede that flyeth thowen the aye / and no man can se anye token there she is flowne / but only heareth the noyse of her wynges / hearyng the lyght wynde / partynge the aye aboute / by the comence of her goynge / a flych on shalynge her wynges / where euerward she no tokē of her waye can be founde. As lyke as when an acoure is shot as a mare / in partynge the aye / whiche immediately cometh together agayne / so that a man can not knowe where it wente thowen.

For so we in lyfe haue as soone as we were borne / begonne immediately to drawe to our ende / and haue the web no token of vertue / but are consumed in our owne wyldeynesse.

C Such wodes shall they that haue frayed / speake in the hell / for the hope of the vngodly to lyfe a thyng myght flour on duste. That is blowne awaye with the wynde / lyke as thynne fowme that is scatered aboode with a storme / lyke as the sinde which is dispersed here and there with the wynde / and as a remembraunce of a straunge that targeth for a tyme / and then departyth.

D But the righteous shall lye for euer more / they receaue it also to with the Lorde / and their remembraunce with the Highest. There for shall they receaue a glorious kyngdome / a beuifull crowne of the Lordes hande / for with his right hande shall he couer them / and with his owne arme shall he defende them. His glorye also shall take awaye the harness / and he shall weape the creature so be ouercomen of the enemye. He shal put vnder thynges for a brisillone / that is sure iudgement in stead of on helme. The inuincible spide of equite shall beate this cruell mach shall be sharpe for a speare / and the whole compass of the world shall fyght with him agayne the vntwyse.

Then shall they chamber boltes go out of the lightynge / and come out of the raynbowe of the cloudes to the place appointed / out of the hard stony indignacion there shal fyght dykes / and the water of the fe shalbe wryth agaynst the / the founte shal runne roughly together. For a myghty wynde shall flithe vpon agaynst them / and a storme shall scater the aboode. Thus the vngoddyes dealing of them shall bringe all the lide to a wyldeynes / and wyldeynes shall ouerthrowe the / beuifullnes of the myghty.

The VI. Chapter.
Wylsdom is brtter than strength / and a man of vnderstandinge is more worth then one that is stronge. Heare therefore O ye iudges of the ende of the earth. There are yett the rule the multitudes / and helpe in much people. For the power is geuen you of the Lorde / and the strength from the Highest / which shall trye your wyse / and search out your imaginacions. How that ye byng of officers of his kyngdome / haue not executed true iudgement / haue not kepte the lawe of righteousnes / nor walked after his will. For why a that theyr soune shall be appare vnto you / for an herde iudgement shall theyr haue / but braue rule. For theyr is graunted vnto the simple / but theyr be in auctourie halbe for punysshed. For God which is a Lorde ouer all / shall excepte no mans persone / neyther shall he stande in awe of anye mans greatnes / for he hath made the smal and great / and searcheth for all a life. But the myghty shall haue the force punysshment.

Unto you therefore O ye kynges do I speake / that ye in ase learne to soome / nor go a myght / for theyr that theyr rightcoufnesse / shall be right- vuly iudged / a theyr that are learned in right- nous thynges / shall fynde to make aunsvyere. Wherefore see your lust vpon my wordes / and loue them / so shall ye come by iour iourne / vnto dome to a noble thyng / and neuer saydeth a waye / yett / she to easilye fyne of than the lode her / and founde of such a seke her. gys: for theye thowre / and enayneth so all thynge/ because of her cleannes. for ther the fyrst of the powere of God/ and a pure cleane expressing of the clarres of almyghty God.
Therefore can no vnderfild thynge come in to her. For she is the thyghtmeffe of the euerlastinge lyght/ and the myrroure of the maiey of God / and the ymage of his goodnesse. And for so much as she is one/she maye do all thinges/ and beinge stedfast she suffe/ she enueth all/ and among the people canueryth she her selfe into the holy sou-les. She maketh Gods frendes and Dispyles: for God loueth no man/ but hym in whome wyfdom dwelleth. for she is more deuout then the Sunne/ and greuer more lyghte then the starre / and she wyse is not to be disparch vnto her/ for ypp day cometh nigh. But wicheeuen is not suercom wyfdom / and folysheue maye not be with her.
The VIII. Chapter.

Wysdomes readeth frd one ende to another in grete/ and longly: both she ende at thinges. I haue louch her/ and laboured for her ruyn from my yowth vp: I had my diligence to marry my self with her/ such loue had I vnto her sturys. Who so hath the company of God/ commendeth her noblyte/ yet/the Lord of al thinges hym selfe loueth her.
For she is the scholemasterre of the narrowe of God/ and the doctour of his worken. If a man wold desire ryche in this lyfe / what is rycher then wyfdom / ther wooldst al thin-ges? Thou wilt saye: vnderstandinge worth. What is it amonge al thinges/ that wot keth more then wyfdom? If a ma loue verue and ryghtrounnesse/ let hym laboure for wyfdom/ for she hath greacie vertues. And why? the readeth subyenes and prudence/ryghtousnesse and strenght/ which are such thinges as men can haue nothinge more profyttable in their lyfe. If a man desire anuche knowledge/ she cōtel the thinges that are pass and discrete thinges for to com: she knoweth the synnes of woordes/ and can expounde varete. Therefore. She is an teill of wofulnes and wonderous thynges/ for theye come to passe/ and the endes of all tynnes and agre-

So I purposed after this maner: I wyll take her once my company / and comon loningly with her: no doute she shall geue me good counsell/ and speake comonably vnto me in my carefullnes and greffe. For her fate shall I be woful and honestly taken among the commones / and Loide of the counsell.
Though I be yong/ yet shall I haue sharpe vnderstandynge/ that I shall be manye yowles in the syght of greau men / and the fauor of pynces: yal woude it me. When I helde my nunge/ they shall abyde my lesytur: when I speake/ they shall loke vpon me: and if I saie much/ they shall laye theye handes vpon theye mouth. Moreover/ by the meane of her I shall optayne immortalyte/ and leaue behynde me an enclawynge niemall / so monge them that come after me. I shall see the people in orde / and the natione shall subdued mee me. Horrible tyrannies shall afraue/ whi theye haue her of me: amonge the mynde I shall be counted good / and nighy in Vnauill. When I retour home/ I shall synde rest with her: for her companye hath no bytternes/ and her felowship hath no redowynesse/ but mercy and ioye.

Now when I considered these thinges by my self/ and poudeed che in my behower/ that to be ioyned vnto wyfdom/ is immortalyte/ and greacie pleasure / to haue her frendeshipp: howe chat in the woices of her bandes are manye ryches: howe that who so forsynk company with her shall trye: and that he which talketh with her shall come to honoure.
I wene aboute scynge to get her vnto me: for I was a lad of a rypp myn: had a good vnderstandynge.

But when I grewe to moie vnderstandunge/ I came to an vnderfild body. Myrrours/ when I perceued that I could not sepe my selfe chaust/ therefore God gaue it me (and that was a poynt of wyfdom also) to knowe whose gyfte it was. I flepe vnto the Lorde/ as besoughe him/ and with my wels her/ I saide after this maner.

John

How might any thing endure / if it were not by will: Or how could any thing be preserved / except it were called of the Lord: thou sparest all / for all are thine / O Lord / thou lover of soules.

Thc. XII. Chapter.

W Lord how gracious and sweet is thy spirit in all thy gear: Therefore chastened thou them measurably / that go wronge / and wastest them / concerning the chynge wherein they offende: thou speakest vnto the Lord: and spoudest them to keare / that wastenede / and to put their trust in the Lord: for those aide in patience of thy holy lande / thou mightest not awaye with them / for they committed abhominable workes against the: as witchcraft / soecry / and Idolatry: they slew their owne children without mercy: they vnder toke the worke / and scoured the blood: For because of such abhominacions / misbelife / and offeringes / thou struest the fathers of the defolate soules / by the handes of oure fathers: thou the lande whiche thou lovest / as thou a father / mightest be a dwellinge for the children of God.

Untrustful / theu sparedest them also / as thou dost sendest the forerunners of thyne chastitien / to destroye them out by like end like. For thou wast vnable to subdue the angolye vnto the righteous in Samuill / or with cruell beasts / or with oute enough word: to destroye them together: But thy hande was to dye them out by like and like / geuynge them tyme and place to amende / Forwynge well that it was an vnwisheauen reason and wyced of nature / and that they mighte mighte neuer be altered. For it was a carid side from the beginninge / and feared no man: For haste thou pardoned the frinces / for who wylsaue vnto the: why haste thou vnto that: O: who wyl stande against thy iudgements: or who wyl come before thy face / as aenger of anighteous mēt: O: who wyl blame the / if the people peribde whome thou hast made: for there is none or

Thou God durst thou that carest for all thinges: that thou mayest declare here that the iudgements is noe enyghte. These were neuer fringed / nor afflicted in thy sight / because of the / for thou hast destroyed.

For so muche then as thou art righteous / thy selfe / thou shalt all thynges rightously / And punished euen him that hath not becomen / as thou hast punished him for a stranger / and an alaman in the land of thy power. For thy power is the beginninge of righteousnes: and because thou art Lord of all thinges / therefore art thou gracious vnto all. When men thinke / they are of full strength / thou declarest thy power: and boldly beuestest thou them / auct that no wrethe nor. But thou Lord of power / wyldest quytly / and ostendest vnto us with greute wisshipp: for thou mayest do as thou wilt.

For suche workes / howe hast thou taughte thy people / that as a man else should be iust and lowing / and haste made thy children to be of a good hope: for eue when thou iudgest / thou shalt raine to amende: from synners. For in so much as thou hast punished / and with such diligence / destroyed the enemies of thy seruantes / which were woe: thy to the / where thoue / thou gauest them tyme and place of amenderment / that they mighte turne from they: wickednes: why hast thou greute diligence when punishest thou thine owne children / vnto whose fathers thou hast sinned: and made conuancers of good penitence: So where as thou doest due chasten / or thou punishest oure enemies / thyne waye: so the contrarye: that when we punish / we should remember to thy goodness: and when we oure selfe are punished / to pursue trithe in thy mercy.

Wherfore where as men haue sinned / and vnrightously / thou hast punished them / euen thoue the same thinge / as they wylshipp. For they were as strage very longe as the waye of trouthe / and held the deaues / whiche turne their entruce / vespised / for goddes / synners / as children of no vnderstandinge. Therefore be like / thou sente a seuerall punishment amonge them / as amonge the children of ignouance. So for such as wyl be reformed by the chastitien / and rebuice / they felt the worthy punishment of God. For the chynge / that they susteyne / they bare them vnquently / beinge not content in them / but wyllyng: And when they perished by the same thinge / that they

The XLIII. Chapter.

Rom. 16 Wysdomme are all men / whiche haue not the knowlege of Gods / as we see they that out of the good thynges whiche are sene / knowe not hym / but of hym sike so curiouselyng.

Deut. 10. 16 Quest. 11. and 20. 17 Why that art made / as to knowe / who was the crafter / man of them? But some toke the fyre / some the wynde / or ayre / some the course of the starres / some the water / some toke Sonne and Moone / for the lightes of heauen whiche rule the earth / for goddes. But though they had such plesure in their deury / that they thought they to haue their goddeyes / should they haue knowne / how much more saye / he is / made them. For the maker of them / had ordeyned all these thynges / & if they were called at the parwe and wo:kes of them / they should haue perceaued this / that he whiche made these thynges / is mightier then they.

B For by the greatnes a Creatur of the creature / the maker therof / maye playnly be knowne. For thus standinge / they are lesse to be bla med / but sought God and wolde haue found him / as they saye. And why? for so made as they went aboute in his workes and soughte after them / as a foelen that they regarded of hisde much of his workes / that are somewhat better / they are not wholy to be excused. For if they were standing a knowlege / was so great / that they could vnderstande / whiche a the creature / why did they not rather fynde oute the / As he is they.

But unhappy are they / and amange the dead is they hope / but call them god / whiche are but the workes of mans handes / golde / siluer / and the thynges that is founde ouer by cunning / or the similitude of beastes / or any same thynge that hath ben made by hande of olde. For as when a carpenter cutteth yonge a tree out of the wood / a poyce of the bark ofe of it / cunningly / and with the one parte maketh a vessel / to the wynd / and yegged meate with the other syde. As for the other parte that is left / whiche is profitable for nothinge / for it is a crooked pece of wood / and full of knobbes / he carueth it diligently / theow his wanne / and accordinge to the knowlege of his cunning / he geueth it some poyson / for thioneth it is after the similitude of a man / so maketh he / bye some beall / that it shal neuer be read and paineth it / and lafe what soules get in it / he casteth some colour upon it. Then maketh he a conuenient tabernacle for it / fererth man the wold / a maketh it full with yow / poudring so for it / that it happen so fall / for it is well knowne / that it can not helpe / it siffen. And why? it is full on ynnyng / and malle of necessitye / he helped.

Then goeth he and offereth of his goodnes vnto it / for his children and for his wyse / he seeth helpe at it / he seeth counsaill / he is not asured to speake / vnto it / that hath no soules / for health / he maketh his ptecion vnto him / that is he / for lyte he prayeth vnto him / that so he called upon him / for helpe / that is not able to helpe / him / siffen / and to sende him a good counsey / he prayeth him / that may not goe. And in all the thynges / that he seeth in hande / whether it be to op / or to close / or to worke / he prayeth vnto / in that can be no manner of good.

The XLIII. Chapter.

Wysdomme / another man purpouing to saile / vnto the beginninge / to take his ioycinge / that rowe the car / ge / he / callith for helpe / vnto a flocke / that is farre waker then the rere / & hea reth him. For as for it / out of coustome of many hath founde it / and the crafty man maketh with his cunninge. But they poudner / & farther / gouerneth all thynges / from the beginninge / for thou hast made a wyse / in the sea / a sure path / in the myddest of the wanes / decleryng / that they that thou hast pover to helpe in / the gree / yet / though a man wente to the see / without shippe. Thert / he / beliffeth / that the workes of thy wyfdome / should not be vaine / / thou hast callid on / the / to be made / and therefore do men commite their lyses to a smal pece of wood / passinge ouer the see / in a shippe / that is saued.

For in the olde tyme / alls / what the proude grauo / persideth / be / in / what the hope was / left / so inuener / the wood / dreant / ma / shippe / which was gouerned / thow / the / hande / and so left / for / the / hinde / hym / vnto the wylde. For

 But a frayle thyng. For the vngodly and his vngodlinesse both in abhominable vn-God. When so the woork and be that made it also / shalbe punisshid together. Therefore shall there a plague come upon the ymages of the heathen: for out of the creature of God they are become an abhominacion in tempore vnto the soules of men / and a snare for the feete of the onywey. And why? the schynge out of ymages is the beginninge of whor-dome/and the dungging vp of them is the destruction of life. For they were not fram the beginninge: neither shal they continue for a we. The weythy ydelnes of men hath founde them out upon earth: therefore shall they come they out to an ende. When a father mayntend for his sonne that was taken away fram him/he made him an ymage in al the best of his head for ne as he begannto worshipp him as God/ which was but a dead ma / a wyne his seruantes to offe vnto him. Thus by process of tyme / in that some large custome/thoreuore was receyue a lawe / a ryanes copilled man by violence to honour ymages. He for those that were so fars off / men myght not worshipp them personly / thur picture was thought for fare. Like the ymage of olyng / whome they wolde honour. To the main that is great diligenc they myght wor-shipp him with yea a face of / an though he had bene present. Againe the singularite coun-tynge of the craftman gave the ignoraunce also a greace occasion to worshipp ymages.
 For the workeman willinge to doo him a ple-asur that for him a woork laboured vntil his cunninge to make the ymage of the best so-tion. And so thow to the glory of the woork the commo people was deceaued in a much they toke him nowe for a god / which a lile ofe was but honoured as a man. And this was the errorre of manlyste / whan men crythet say so for us their owne affection: as to do some pleasure vnto hys god. Ascribed on and fleeced the name of God / whiche ought to be given vnto no man.

Moxore / this was not ynough for them that they crech neith knowledge of God: But where as they liued neith grete warres of be thourne / those many and grete plagues called they peace. For eyther / they starue: they owne children as offred the / or they sacrifice in they night season / or els they unreasonabe war-des: so they kept neith life / neith marriage cleane: but eyther one slewe another to stay maliciously / or els geued his neighbour to aduourty. And thus were all thinge mixt together: bloods / mans laughter / they / vissimulacion / corruption / vnreasonableness / seducion / persury / disgourning of good men / vnithankfulness / desynge of soules / chaunging of theyr / vnlesfastnesse of marriage / misfouof aduourty and vnclennesse. And why? the honouyring of abhominable ymages / is the cause / the beginninge / and ende of all euel. For they that worshipp Idols / eyther they are made when they be merry / or propheteles / or lyue vngodly / or els lightly forreare them selues. For in so much as their truste is in the Idols / which haue neyther soule nor vnder-standing / though they sweare falsly / yet they shynke it shal not hurte them.

Therefore commeth a grete plague vpon them / and that warthely / for they haue an euel opinion of God / geynyng hede vnto Idols / frearyng vnwilly to deceaue / and dyspo-syng ryghteousnesse. For they frearyng is no vertue / but a plaghe of them that synne / and geeth euer with the offence of the vngodly.

The XV. Chapter.

Without vnto God / that freare / large suffering and vnto / and in mercy aduise thou of thinge. Though we synners are we shone / yet we knowe we thy synners. If we synne not / then we are sure that thou regardst us.
 For so knowe the / so persere ryghteousnesse.
 Yet is knowe thy ryghteousnesse and power / as the case of immortallite. So for be thinge that men haue found out thowre they rustred it hath not deceaued vnto the payninge of the paine / and vnprofitable laboure / and euel ymages / with dyuerse colours / whose synners / they the ignoraunce: so that be honoured / and fleeced the picture of a dead ymage that hath no soule.

The booke of Wisdome.

B Neighbourly: they that loue such well things are worthy of vsa they that truste in them/they that make them/they that loue them/and they that benouere them. The poorer also catch a tempesth fast earth/laboureth vs/ and grieueth the salbid of a ossell/wheafouer fureth for ouer vs/and so of one pecc of claye he maketh some cleane vessel for seruys/and some contrary. But where to eury vessel strueth/that knoweth the potter hym selfe. So with his ouine labour he maketh a god of the same claye: this doeth euen he/whiche a litle afore was made of earthe hym selfe/and within a litle while after/whan he dyeth/turneth to earth againe.

C Worthstandinge/ he catch not the more because he shal labour: nor because his life is shorer: But thurgh to exced goldsmithes/ the flyuers/mercha/ and upper/ynghen/ and so forth: he for an honoure to make wayne thynge. For his heere is as lyeve/his hope is but wayne each/and his life is moie vile then cloye: for so much he doeth weyth not his owne necke/ that gaue him his soule to waken/and beebed in hym the death of lyfe. They countoure life but a passyme/ and oure conuorsacion to be but a market/ and they men shoulde see the gettynge/see/ and that by eud meane. Nowe that of each maketh frayle ossell and ymage/ and weyth hym selfe to offende aboue all other.

D All the enemies of thy people / and that holde them in subiection/ are vnwise/ vnhappy and exceeding poude vnao thei owne soules: For they iudge all the dooles of the desyren to be goddes/ whiche neyther haue eyesight to se/ nor noses to smell/ nor eares to heare/ nor fingers of handes to feele/ and so for their fete/ they accedo stoune to go. For man made them/ and he that hath but a doowed spere/ fashioned them. Huc no man can make a god lyfe vnao him: for seynge he is but mortall him selfe/ and but mortall that he maketh with ouerghrouse handes. He him selfe becomethen they whome he worshippe/ for he lyueth/ than he that was mortall/ but he dyd neuer they. For they worshippe because also/ whiche are moost miserable: for compare things that can not fele vnao them/ and they are wiser then those. For there are none of these bestes/ that with his fyngre can hold any good thinge/ neyther haue they great paine nor thanke vnao God.

Ecc. Xvi. Chapter.

Of these and such other things haue they iusticed worthy puny/ pynne/ and showe the multitude of bestes/ as they comend out. In stead of the which punishmentis thou hast graciously oided thine owne people/ and gaue them their wishe/ that they shuld fynd a newe and straunge taste/ preparing them quayles to be then masteis the manie that/ by the thynge which were shewid/ and sent outo them/ they that were so grede of meate/ mighte be withdrawen euen from the verych that was necessary. But these wrythyn for thy tyme were thought vnao power/ and wailed a newe meate. For it was requyite that/ withoure any excuse/ vnto them shoulde come vpon those which vedyt wanny/ and to shewe anely vnao the other/ howe they enenyes were destroyed. For whan the euill thynge woodnesse of the bestes came vpon them/ they perished throug the fyngre of the cruell serpente.

Worthstandinge/ thy wath endured not perpetually/ but they were put in feare/ for a litle season/ that they mighte be reformid/ hauyng a token of saluacion to comen: the commandment of thy lorde. For he that comend/ was not healed by the thinge that he sawe/ but by his saluacion of al. So in this choise shewidest thine enemies/ that is thou/ whiche they erst from all euil. As for them/ whan they were byten with grethoppers and they/ they dyed/ for they were worthy to perish by such. But neyther the death of the gona/ nor of vnyuous waimes ouercome thy children/ for thy mercy was cur by them/ and helped them. Therefore were they punyshed to remember thy wordes/ but they shal were they heald agayne: lest they shoulde fall into so depe forgetfulnes/ that they mighte not vny thy helpe.

It was neyther herbe nor plaster that reformed them to health/ but thy word/ so they whiche be alth al vylgen. It is thou/ so they that hast the power of lyfe a deathe/ thou hast vnto them/ as they shal vpon agayne. But man shoude weytednesse sleigh his

For there appeared vnto them a sodane fyre / verye dardent / thece / which when they sawe no thinge / they were so afrayed / that they thoughte the thinge which they sawe to be the moste fearfull. I For the forcery and enchaunement that they do / ite came to verislan / and the proude wyfdome was brought to shame. For they that promysed to byue awaye the fearfull / and thide from the weak soules / where theye fyre for feare them selves / and that with feare. And though none of the wonderes feare them / yet were they afrayed at the bestiall which came vpon them / and at the byssing of the serpentes: In so much that with tremblinge they stroued / and sayde: they sawe not the aye / which no man yet myght escape.

20. Q For it is an heauy thyng / when a mans owne conscience beareth reioyce of his wickednes / and condeimneth him. And why / a wce / and wounded conscience / taketh euery cruel thynges in honde. I fearfullnes is not thynges / but a declaringe that a man selfe helpe and defence / to answer for him selfe. And loke how much lesse the hope is within / the noyce of the vnghteous / as the manner / for the which he is punished. But they that came in the turgby night / strepe the fel vpon them from vnder and from aboue / thus tyng the remembrance of the oath / and conuenant made onto the faidde. For when the head were fallen doune by beapes one vpon another / he stode in the myddest / pacified the wrath / and paired the waye vnto the ly-uings. And why / I in his longe garment was all the beauty / and in the same comen of the stones was the glo: of the fathers grauel / and thy maistie was written in the crone of his head. Vnto these the Destroyer gaue place / a was afraied of them / fornt was onely a wrauon worthy of wrath.

The. XIX. Chapter.

AS for the ongodly / the wrath came vpon them without mercy vnto the ende. For he knewe before what shoulde happen vnto them: how that when they had consured to lethern go / and had sent the our wreat grea-tely: see they wold repente / and folow ap-pon them. For when they were yet manninge and mislinge lamentation by the graua of the dead / they vntoyd another: colythone: so that they persecuted them in theyr sing: / where they had eile of celie with piper. Wherby necessity alle brought them vnto this ende / for they had done to gouen the thynges that happed vnto them eache.
But the thyng: that was wantynge of their punishment / was requisite for to be fulfilled vpon them with rauens: that the people might haue a maylous passage thro: aw: / that they might fynde a strange death.

Then was euery creature fashioned agayne of the newe according to the will of their master / obeyynge thy commandementes / that thy chidren might be kept without hurte. For the cloude auerlabodeth their tentes / and the Vye can they appeared / where as one was wra-te: so that in the red see there was a waye with aurmpmentes / and the great Veye became a green floure: where thow all the people was that were defendid with thy bande / scynge thy wonderous and mirayulous workes. For so the hoises / so were they fed / and leape like lambe / praynyng the Lo:de which had best vnto the. And why / they were ye wonderfull of thynges / that happened whyle they were in the lands: how the ground brought forth fyres in steade of corne / and how the ryues fered with the multitude of frogs gean steade of fyshes.

Thus at the last they sawe a newe creation of byrdes / wherof some as they were becaused with lust / and vnto the delicate meates. For when they were speakinge of their appetit / the queyles came vpon them from the sea / and punishmentes came vpon the synners / not without the talens which came to passe afore by the vobemance of the steames: for they list fred wofully according to theyr wickednesses / they wold so adominably and churlyshly with straungers. Some receaued no onhouon gestes / some brought the straungers into bondage: that theyd them good. Wherof alle these struges / there were some that not only recea-ued no straungers with their wyllow / but per-secured those also / I and theyd the muche ill / that receaued them of aly. Therfore were they punished with blindness / I like as they that were couered with sodane darkness: and the Vates of thynges: so that euery one sought the mirraunce of his vye.

Thus the elementes turned into their selfes: like as what one came to chaunged vpon an instrument of iustice / and yet alle the ces-due kept their melody: which maye easily be perceued / by the sight of the thynges that accome to passe. The Vye lande was turned into a watery / a the thynges that asse swamme in the water / wente not vpo the Vye grounde.
The fyre had power in the water / contrary to his owne nature / and the water sought his owne kinde to quene. Therfore the flammis of the noysome beastis hurte nor the fish of them that wente with the member met / and they the vye / which do in death lightly. In all thynges gode hast thou promoted thy people / Lo:de and broughte to honoure: thou hast not despysed them / but strake: and in all places hast thou stonde by them.

The ende of the booke of Wyfdome.

The booke of Iesus the sonne of Syrach / whiche is called in Latyne Ecclesiasticus.

The prologe of Iesus the sonne of Syrach vnto his booke.

Many and greate men haue declared wysdome vnto vs out of the lawe / out of the prophetes / and out of other that foloweth the. In the whiche thynges I haue ought to be commended / by the reason of doctrine a wysdome: Therefore they that haue it and reade it / shoulde not onely them selves be wyse thurough thow / but serue other also with teachyngs and wyngyngs.

After that my groundfather Iesus had geuen diligence laboure to reade the lawe / the prophetes and other booke that were left vs of our fathers / and had wel exercised him self therein: he purposed also to wyte some thyng of wysdome and good maners / so the intent that they which were willinge to learne and to be wyse / myght haue the more vnderstandyng / and be the more apte to leade a good conuersacion.

Wherefore I exhorte you to receaue it louyngly / so reade it with diligence / and to take it in good woubt / though ouer wordes be not so eloquent as the famous orators. for the thyng that is wyrtten in the Hebrue tongue / foundeth not so well when it is translated into another speache. Nor onely this booke of syme / but also the lawe / the prophetes / and other booke founde farre otherwyse then they do / when they are spoken in their owne language.

Now in the xxxviij. yere when I came into Egypte in the tyme of Ptolome Eurges / and continued there all my life / I gat liberty to reade and wyte many good thynges. Wherefore I thought it good and necessary / to bestowe my diligence and traualle to interpret this booke. And consideringe that I had syme / I laboured and byd my best / so presume this booke / and to bringe it into light: that the straungers also whiche are disposed so learne / myght applye the saydes vnto good maners / and lyue accordyngs to the lawe of the Lord.

All wysdome is cometh of God the Lord / and hath bene ever with him / and is before all tyme. Who hath numbred the funde of the see / stopper of the raine / a the dayer of tyme / Who berth measureth the begre of heauen / the detyrth of the earth / and the depenthe of the see / Who hath sought out the grounde of Gods wysdome / whiche hath bene before all thinges / and Wysdome hath bene before all thinges / and the understandinge of pudente from euellasinge. (Gods woerd in the begre is the welde of wysdome / and the euellasinge commaundementis are the intrance of her.) Vnto whome hath the roie of wysdome bene declared / Who hath knowen her wyrt / Vnto whome hath the doctrine of wysdome bene disclosed / and howed / and who hath vnderstande the manyfolde entrance of her.

There is one / euen the Highest / the maker of all thinges / the almyghty / the kinge of power / of whom manought is stande greatly in awe / whiche sitteth vpon his throne / beyng a God of Dominion. He hath created her above the holy ghaost / he hath sene her / nūbered her / and measured her. He hath poured her out vpon all his woerles / and vpon all flesh accordinge to his gift / he geueh her rychely vnto them that loue hym. The feare of the Lord is wysdome / and triumphe / gladnesse / and a ioyfull eraunce. The feare of the Lord maketh a merry herte / geueh gladnesse / ioye and longe lyfe. Who so feareth the Lord / it shall go well with hym / as the staff / and in the daye of his death he shall be blessed.

The loue of God is honorable wysdome / like vnto whome he appeareth / they loue it / for they se what wonderous thinges it doeth. The feare of the Lord is the beginninge of wysdome / and was made with the founfull in the northen wombe / it shall go with the chaste woman / a shall be knowen of the righteous a faithfull. The feare of the Lord is the righte Gods seruice / whiche is iustitie and iustitich the hert / and geueh iustitie and gladnesse. Who so feareth the Lord / shall be happy / a whan

he hath neede of assistance / he shall be blessed. To feare God / is the wysdome aye / which is rich / and bringeth all good with her. She filleth the whole house with her giftes / and the garnere with her measure. The feare of the Lord is the croone of wysdome / and geueh plentifulous peace and health. He hath sene her and numbred her / knowlege and vnderstandinge of wysdome hath be poured out as raine / and the spat hee be full / hath be brought to good noure.

The feare of the Lord is the roie of wysdome / and her braunches are longe life. In the treasures of wysdome is vnderstandinge and deuotion of knowlege / but wysdome is abhorred of synners. The feare of the Lord vyuerteth out synne / for he that is without feare / can not be made iustitious / and his vnylful boldnes is his owne destruction. A patient man will suffer vnto the tyme / and then shall he haue the rewarde of ioye. A good vnderstandinge wyl by this woerdes / for a tyme / and many mens lippen shall speake of his wysdome. In the treasures of wysdome is the declaration of doctrine / but the synner abhorreth the wysdome of God. Whiche sonne if thou vize wysdome / kepe the commaundementis / a God shall geue thee vnto the feare of the Lord / no wysdome and necesse / he hath pleasure in ioyh and lowynge maketh / and he shall fill the treasures therof. We nor doth nare and vsayr / shall so the feare of the Lord / and came ase vnto hym with a Duble hert. We nor an sportyue in the sight of men / a wale good hee whate thou speakest. L Be chyldein of wysdome are a congregacion of the ryghteous / as this grece is to obedience and loue. Pass on youre father to my deare chyldein: I do thee ceasse / that ye maye be wise: for the LORD will haue the the honour of the chyldein / and so that whas a mother commendaith hir chyldein to the LORD will haue it sypre. Wo so honoureth his father / bys synnes shall be forgiven him: and he that honoureth his mother / is like one that gathereth in synnes togyther. Wo so honoureth his father: shall haue ioye of his owne chyldein: a whan he maketh his prayer / he shall herde. I set honoureth his father / shall haue a lye lif: a be that is obedient / for the LORD saith his mother shall haue ioye of hym.

He that feareth the LORD / honoureth his father and mother / and doth them sicut / so receiue vnto the LORD him self. Honoureth father in the LORD / in word / in all patient / wher thou mayest haue his blessing: for the blessinge of the father buyndeth vp the iustice of the chyldein / but the mother curseth ouer the foundations. Reuocet not vnto the father is reprouch / for it is no honours vnto the / but a shame. For the woithippe of a man father is his owne woithippe / and wher the father is without honoure / it is without of the soune. My soune make much of thy father in his age / and greet him not as a long as he liueth. And if his vnderstandyng faile / haue patience with him / and despyse him not in his strenght. For the good that thou shalt vnto thy father / shall not be forgotten: and whan thou shalt be wanted / it shall remembered the: and for thy mothers offence / thou shalt be recompensid with good / yet it shall be founded for the in righteousnes / and in the daye of trouble thou shalt be remembered: thy synnes also shall meete awaye / like as the in the fyre warms werke.

He that forsaketh his father / shall come to shame: and he that despyse his mother / is cursed of God. My soune performe the woithtude with louinge me: that is / so shall thou be beloued above other men. The greaci thou and thou shalt sypre fauour in the sight of God. For great power bringeth only vnto thing ge onto God: in the daye of deary too ce-ward eury man accordinge to his wayes.

The aduersite of an houre maketh one to forget all pleasure: and when a man breath / by waies are forsought. Praye no body before the deary: for a man shalbe knowne in his chylde.

¶ Being nor emery man in his house / for the becarfull layeth waye diuysly like as a paetred in a mound / so is the hiet of spoud: and like as a spye / that loketh vpon the fall of his neyghbaues. For he meryeth good into

The XII Chapter.

¶ If thou wilt do good / knowe to whom thou doest it / and so shalbe thou the greater thanked for thy benefites. I do good vnto the righteous / and thou shalt synde grete rewards: though not of hym: yet (no doubt) the Lorde him selfe shal rewarde the. He standeth not in a good case / that is alwaye occupied in euill / and getteth no alme: for the Hygell hateth the synners / and hath mercy vpon them that shew the workes of repentaunce. Bewe thou vnto such as feare God / and reuace not a synner: For the vngodly vnto hym / and spee the to the face of wrath.
Bewe thou vnto the good / and ceuace not the synner: do well vnto hym that is lowly / but geue not to the vngodly. Let not thy head be geuen hym: that be the nor in synners than the selfe cheryn. For so shalt thou ceuace tyme so much euill / in all the good that thou doest vnto him: And why: the Hygell hateth synners / and shall rewarde vengeance to the vngodly.

¶ In prosperye a frende shal not be knowne / and in aduersite an enemye shal not be hid.
For when a man is in wealthe / getteth his enemies: but in beaunes and trouble a mashal knowe his frende. Truste neuer thine enemye: for lyke as an yron rusteth / so doeth his mykednesse. And though be made much crouching and felyng / yet fepe will thy mynde / and beware of hym. Set hym not by the neythe: let him flye at thy rygghband: lest he turne hym / ge into thy place / take thy coume / and seke thy feare / and so thou at the last remember my wordes / and be myked as my sayinge.

¶ Forde noer two synnes together / for there shal not one be vnpunysed. Who wyl haue pencye / or of such as come nye the bealle: Lo-uen so soe with him that kepeth company with a wreded man / and speeth hym selfe in his synnes: for a season wil he byde with the / but if thou stonde / he tarich not. In eury my as I were in his synnes / he can make many wordes / or speeke many good thinges. Yet he can wepe with his eyes / but in his herte he imagined how to thowe the into the pyre: and if he maye synde oportunitie / he will not be satisfied with bloude. If aduersite come greteth with the lambe / so doeth the angodly with the ryghteous. What selowidippe shoulde an holy man haue with a dogge?

Howe can the ryche and the poore agree to ge ryche as the poore. If a ryche man fall / his frendes set hym up againe: but when the poore falleth / his frende forsake hym. If a ryche man fall into an excusure / he hath many helpers: he speaketh proude wordes / and yre men wishyt him.

But if a poore man go wronge / he is pun nished: yet / though he speake wysely / yet can he haue no place. When the ryche man speak not pnyed with the countenance of synne.

Happye to he that hath no bearyne in his men? Howe can such one haue any pleasur of his goodnes? There is nothyng: wofull / in whan one dissaureth him selfe / and this is a remede of his wickednes. If he do any good / he doeth it not knowinge thereof / and Vnder her couerunge shall he be defended from the heate / and as her glorye shall be rest.

The. XV. Chapter.

¶ He that feareth God / wyl do good / and who so feareth the lawe / shall awayne wysdomde. As an honourable moirde shall he meke hym/ and as a vyrgyne shall she receaite a hym. ¶ With the bread of life and vnderstandinge shall he fede hym/ and geue him the water of the well of wysdomde to drinke. If he be collan in her: he shall not be moude: and if he wole hym sette by her / he shall no come to confusyon. She shall bringe hym as honoure amonge his neighbors/ and in the myddest of the congregacion shall he open his mouth. With the fyre of wysdomde a vnderstandinge shall he fyll hym / and clothe hym with the garment of glory. She shall besee the treasure of mythe/ and cove upon hym / and geue him a curstashing name to be craige. ¶ Iudisysh men wyl not sake holde vpon her / but sode as haue vnderstandinge will mete her/ so she is fayne from pryde and deceaite. ¶ Men that go aboute with lyces / wyl not remembre her: but men of mych shall be found in her: euen vnto the beholding of God. ¶ Dwyfe is not felde in the mouth of the vngodly/ for he is not fere of the Lorde. Joy of God cometh wyl down/ and the payse shall stande by the wysdomde of God / and shall be pleneuous in a faithfull mouth/ and the Lorde shall geue her vnto hym.

Saye noe thou: This is the Lorde's faulte that I am gone by: for thou shalt not do the chynge that God hateth. Saye not thou be hath caused me to go wronge: for he hath no rede of the vngodly. God hateth all abominacions of erreure/ and theye that feare God / wyl loue none such. ¶ God made man from the beginninge/ a lyfe hym in the bande of his counsaill. He geue him his commaundmentes and preceptes: thou wilt obserue the commaundmentes / and sepe acceptable saythfulness: for euer/ theye shall perserue the. ¶ He hath set water and fyre before the / reache out thine hande vnto which thou wilt. Before man is lyfe and death / good and euill / like whachum hym thy/ shall be geuen hym. For the wysdomde of God is greate and imgyre in powere/ and beholdeh all men continually. ¶ The eyes of the Lorde are vpon them that feare hym/ and he knoweth all the moikes of man. He hath commaunded no man to be vngodly/ euer/ he hath geuen any man lawe to fynde: for he desireth no multitude of vnsaythful and vnproffytable chyldeum.

The. XVI. Chapter.

¶ Dwyfe nee ched in the multitude of vngodly children/ and haue no pleasure in them/ if they feare not God. Truste not thoue thyselfe/ and regarde not thy: labourer for some sonne that feareth God / in better the a thousande vngodly. And thus it is for a kes from euerlasting: and theyr begynninge accordinge to their generacions. None of the byndeth another: neither was any of them vnsobedient vnto his wooidr. ¶ After this / God looked vpon the earth / and fylled it with his goodes. With all maner of luyngre beas-tes hath he covered the grounde: and they all shall be mired vnto reerth againe.

knowen by his face / and one that hath vnderstandinge / maye be perceaued by the losse of his countenance. † A man / if he is laughing / and goyng / he shall be a vicioues man.

Ecc. XX. Chapter.

Ecc. i. 1

Some man t' reuoureth his neyghboure of synne, but not in due season: Againe some man holdeth his tounge / and he is wyse and discrete. It is much better to geue warninge and to reprove, then to beare euill wylle for that no wylleth him kys openly / shal be preserued from hurt and destruction. Like as when a chaumberlayne thoure desire a lust wylleth a mayden / euen so is it with him that wylleth violence / a vnyghteousnes in the lawe: O how good a thyngge is it / a man that reproueth / to be come openly his reprobance / for so shal thou escape wyfull synne.

Some man keepeth silence / and is founde wyse: but he that is not ashamed what he sayeth / is a hateful. Some man holdeth his tounge / because he hath not the vnderstandge of the language; and some man keepeth silence / waynynge a convenient tyme. T' wyse man wylleth holde his tounge by the oportunitie; but a woman and an vn discrete body shal keepe no tyme. As that which many wordes / shall hure his owne soule; and he that taketh auersion vpon him vnrichteously shal be hated.

Some man hath of synne a spowse in wrothed thynges: Againe some man getteth much and hath haime and lasse. There is some gyt that is no thyngge worth: Againe there is some gyft / whose reward is vubble. Some man ge-teth a sal for be yenge co proud; and some commeth to worshippe from lowe estate. Some man bieth much for a lide pice; and must paye for his tithes.

T' wyse man with his wordes maketh him self to be laud; / but the fauours of soules shal be pouced out. The gyft of the vnysey shall be no good / for his eyes see thynge folde. T' he shall geue tye / and saye he gaue much: he openeth his mouth and crach out; as it were one that crieth out wylle. To say he kitheth / no manere be ascrib it agayne; and such a man is to be hated. The soule sayeth: I haue no frende / I haue no thanke for all my good bedeees; thus they that care my deab; speake no good of me. O how oft / and of how many shal be: be laughid to scorn: he which a mou-ntaine is fall by fish wordes; when is he full vpon the ground: men so shal the faller of wrolded men come hastily. In the mouth of him that is vn taught / are many vnconuenient and vnmete wordes. T' wyse sentence: shall not be alowed at the mouth of the soule / for he speaketh it not in due season.

Some man smytheth not / because he hath not wherewithall / a sin his self: he shal be syn-ged. Some man shere is that vdestroyeth his owne soule with shams; / and for an vnwyse bodyes sake vdestroyeth he it / and with a re-pynge of persons shal he vnde him self. T' Some man promyseth by a friende a gyft / for very shame; and getteth an enemye of a man / yet that is be eter in the mouth of the vnysey.
T' these are better then a man that is accusned to synne; but they both shal haue destruction to heritage. The conditions of lyce are vnhonest; and theyr shame is true with them.

T' wyse man shall bynge him self to honour with his wordes / and he that hath Gen. xli. f. vnderstandynge shal be set by amonge geant. E. a. g.

sharpe two edged sword; which kitheth synch woundes that they can not be heald.

of by his tongue / but he that hath understanding / perceaueth that he shall haue a fall.

B Who so buildeth his house wth other mens toss / is lyke one that gathereth stoncs in wynter Eccl. xij. a The congregation of the vngodly is lyke stubble gathered together / their ende is a flamine of fyre. The wyse of the vngodly is sic wth stoncs / but in their ende is bill / darke / and paynes. He that keepeth the lawes / wyl holde fast the vnderstandinge thereof / and the ende of the feare of God is wysdome. He that is not wyse / wyl not be taught in good / but the vntwyse man aboundeth in wickednes : a where byttrenes is / there is no vnderstand-ing. The knowledge of the wyse shall flowe lyke water that reiteth ouer / and his counsayll is lyke a fountayne of lyfe.

C The bere of a foule is lyke a broken vessel / be cause he is not wysdome. When a man of vnderstandinge heareth a wyse woode / he shall commende it / and make much of it. But if a voluptuous man heare it / he shall haue no pleasure in it / but call it behynde his back. The raisinge of a foules lyfe is a heauy burden by the word. But to heare a wyse man speake / is a pleasure. Where a wyse man is the congregation / is increased at the mouth of the wyse / a they shall ponder his wordes in their hertes.
Lyke as a house that is destroyed / euen so is wysdome vnto a foule. As for the knowledge of the vntwyse / it is but vnto the wordes. Doe tyne is vnto him that hath no vnderstand-ing. euen as hee is aboute his fere / and lyke many does vpon his right hande. A foule lyfteth up his voyce wth laughter / but a wyse man shall seare laugh secretly.

Eccl. xij. b

D Learninge is vnto a wyse man a Jewel of golde / and lyke an armie vnto his ryght arme.
A foolys manne fore is soone in his neygh-bours house / but one that hath experyence / shalbe abshamed in the persone of the myghty.
A foule wyl sepe in at the wyndow into the house / but he that is well nouroured / wyl stande without. A foolys man slandereth his keninge at the vntwyse / but he that is wyse / wyl be abshamed.

The lippes of the vntwyse wyll be telling foolys thinges / but the wordes of such as haue vnderstandinge / shall be weyed in the balaice. The bere of foules is in their mouth / but the mouth of the wyse is in their brec. When the vngodly curseth the blasphemer / he curseth his owne soule. A pycy accuser of other mens shall desyre his owne soule / and be hard of countenance. But he that respecteth his tounge / and is discrete / shall come to honoure.

The. XXII. Chapter.

S A stoumfull body is mouled of a stoue. A wyse claye / he that toucheth him / must wraith his hande again. A mystrusted soule is the vnto honoure of his father. A foolys daughter shalbe lyce regarded. A wyse daughter is an heritage vnto her housbande / but she that commeth to dishonesty / bringeth her father in heauynes. A daughter that is past shame / dishonoureth both her father and her housbande.
The vngodly shall regarde her / but they that shall be spysed. The playing of musick is not necesse where beaunty is / wth such is the corrup-cion / and doctrine of wysdome curt displeasoure vnto soules.

Who so reacheth a foule / is euen as one that glaweth a portherde together. As one that releth a rayle to hym that beareth hym not / and as one that rayseth a man out of an heauy slepe. Who so relleth a foule of wysdome / is euen as a man / which speaketh to one that is a slepe. When he hath told his tale / he saith what is the matter. When one vnto a flamine saith / is made for hym / because the light sayleth hym / euen so let men moune ouer a foule / for he wanteth vnderstandinge. Make by lyce wepyng / because of the dead. For heis come to rest / but lyfe of the foule is woful / then he is dead. These sayes do men moune for hym that is dead / but the lamentacion ouer the vntwyse and vngodly / shalbe endure all the dayes of their lyfe.

Talk not much wth a foule / and go not wth hym that hath no vnderstandinge. Beware of hym / lest / in tyme the to nauygle / and thou shalt not be rescued wth his synne. Depart from hym / and thou shalt fynde rest / and shalt not be traueled back into his foolishnes.
Whoso draugeth the deede / And wth shoulde a foule be called els but leade? Sand / sile and a lombe of syon is easier to beare / than an vnt-wyse / foolys / and vngodly man. Lyke as the bande of wood bounde together in a foundacion of the house can not be lousid / eue so is it wyl

with the here that is stablished in the thoughts of conuysill. The thowght of the wyse / shall neither faare: nor be offended at any tyme.

2 Let soe a fayre playfired wall in a wynter house / and an drye buyrdinge / maye not abyde the mynde and thowt: euen so is a foules here stayed in his magnanod: he searche a euery thinge / & can not endure. He that noppeth a mans eyes / singeth south reare: & the that pre-teth the here / bringeth south the meanynge a thowght. Who so casteth a stone at the byrde / frayeth the same awaye: and be that blasphemeth his frende / breaketh his frendshippe / though thou drewest a sword at thy frend / yet he spayr not / for thou mayest come agayne to thy frend. If he speake souerly / feare norforye maye be adressed together agayns: excepte it be so / thow blasphemest hym / Wh daye byn / open his secretes / and wound him traytoursly: for all such thinges shall vryue awaye a frende.

3 Be saythful vnto thy neryghbour in thy po-uere / that thou mayest rooyce with hym / also in his prosperite. A dyde sleddish vnto him in the tyme of his trouble / that thou mayest be hete with hym in his heritage. Like as the waps and smokes goeth out at the ouen before the fyre / soe euil wordes / rebukes / a thur-teinges go before bloodsheddyng. Be not aspaied to defende thy frende: so for me / I will not byde my face from hym / though he shoulde do me harme. Whosoener heareth the fall beuare of hym. Whoso shall set a watch before my mouth / and a sure scale vpon my lyppes / that I fall not with them / and that my tunge destroye me not?

The. XXIII. Chapter.

3 Lorde / farther a gouernour of my lyfe / lean me not in their imagination a con-sail. Wh let me not fall in such repose. Who will kepe my thowght in the scourge / a dyer tyme of mys dom in myne barret / that he spare not myne ignorantes / that I fall not with the / lest myne ignorantes in ece / that myne offences be not many in numbre / and that my fynnea eceded not / lest I fall before myne en-mies / and some aduicary reioyce. O Lord / thou seker and God of my lyfe / lean me not in theyr imagination. O let me not haue a proude loker / but turne a waye all voluptuousnes froms. Take fro me thy lusts of my body / let not the desires of vnderstande take holde vpon me / and giue me no out in an vni-uersall and obliuete mynde.

Hear me / soe as thou wilt. I wil geue you a doctrin / howe ye shal orde your mouth: tho so kepeth it / shall not persse thowt his lippe / nor be hurt therwith wordes. As for the synner / he shalbe taken in his owne nauyge: he that is proude and curst / shall fall therein.
Let not thy mouth be accustomed to swearinge / for in it there are many falles. Let not the naminge of God be continually in thy mouth: for like as a struant which is oft vnyshed / can not be without some sore / euen so whatsoeuer he be that sweareth / and name God / shall not be cleane purged from synne.
I mar that which much swearinge / shalbe sted with wickednes / a the plague shall nurye go from his house. If he begyle his brother / his faulte shalbe vpon him: if he knowlege not his synne / he maketh a dubble offence: a if he sweare in voyne / he shall not be founde righteous / for his house shalbe full of plunders.

The words of a swearer bringeth death. E of Jacob. But they that feare God / shal be all sith and lyc not welynge in synne. Eph. v. a for in it is the words of synne. Remembre thy father a thy mother / when thou art set amonge grate men: lest / God forge the in their gyft / rebuke / a wyse nat to haue bene done / and so curse the daye of thy nanute. Eph. v. b that is accustomed with the wordes of blasphemy / will neuer be reforme all the dayes of his lyfe. To synne saye it is much / but the ryde bungher wash and destruction. In wnter stomack can not be quenched / euen like a burnynge fyre / yll it haue swalowed vpon some thinge: euen so an vnchaste man hath no rest in his self / till he haue founde a fyre.

Till bread be swete to an wharctomiger / he wil not leaue of till he haue his purpose. Ind things/for all such frare of me wynech awaye the frare of God from him/for he frareth onely the eyes of men/and considereth not thae the eyes of the Lord are clearer then ce Sunne/beholdeinge all t wayes of me/and I gronde of the wepe/and lokinge ouen to mens heere in secret places. The Lord God heere al things/eu er they were made/ as after they be brought to passe/also be loked upon them all. The chaste man shalbe openly punished in the streets of the cite/and shalbe chafed abroade lyke a yunge base foale: and whan he shynketh leest upon it/ he shalbe taken. Thus shalbe he put to shame of every man/ because he wolde not vnderstande the frace of J Lord.

And thus shal he go also with every wyfe that leaueh her housbande/and getteth enheritance by a straunge marriage. The first of the hath ben disfaythfull vnto the lawe of the Hyghest: Secondly/ the hath forsake her owne houshede. Thirdly/ she hath played the whore in adouury/ and gotten her chyld: en by another man. She shalbe broughte one of the congregation/ and bee chyd: en shalbe loked vpon.
Her chyldren shall noe take rote: and as for fruce/ her brastels shall bringe forth wone.
A chaste full estate shal she leaue behynde her/and her dishonoure shall not be pue out. And they that remaine/ shall knowe that there is no ioye betwene then the frace of God: a that theye is no thinge sweeter then to take hede vnto the commaundementes of the Lord. A greate trustyppie is it to folowe the Lord/for longe lyf shalbe receaved of hym.

The XXXIII. Chapter.

2 Wisdomme shall p asse her self/ and be honoured in God/and respect in the mysdest of his people: In the congregacions of the Hyghest shal she open her mouth/ as a ioye in the beholdinge of his power: In the mysdest of his people shall he be despised/ a wondered at: in the holye salutesse: In the multitude of the chosen she shalbe commended/ and amonge such as be blessed she shalbe praised/and shall saye: I am come out of the mouth of the Hyghest first borne before al creatur: s.
I caused the wythe that sayeth not to arise in the beate/ a covered all the earth as a cloude: My dwellinge is aboue in the heyghe/ and my seate is in the pyller of the cloude. I my self alone haue gone rounde aboute the compass of heauen/ and peared the gronde of the wepe: I haue walked in the floudes of the see/and haue stande in all landes: my dominion is in euery people and in euery nation/ a with my power haue I troden downe the heiris of all/ both bygh and lowe.

3 In all these things also I fought rest/ a and a dwellinge in some inheritance. So the creator of all things is gaine me a commaunde ment/ and he that made me/ appointed me a tabernacle/ and sayde vnto me: Let thy dwel-linge be in Jacob/ and thy inheritance in J rael/ and rote thy self amonge my chokn. The we created from the beginninge and before the worlde/ and shall not leaue of vnto the worlde to come. In the holye habitudo haue I serued before hym/ and so was I established in Syon. In the holye one resided in sye maner/ and in Jerusalem was my power. I te-cote in an honorable people/ tuen in the por-cion of the Lord: and in his heritage/ and hope me in the felicitie of the sayntes. I am set up an hye lyke a Cedre upon Libanus/ and as a Cypress tree upon the mount Hermon: I am exalted lyke a palm tree in Cadis/ and as a case plant in Jericho: As a fyre olue tree in the felde/ and am exalted lyke as a plantyne tree by the water syde. I haue gotten a smell in the streets as a Emamom a Balsome/ the haue so good a sauoure: yea/ a sweete odoure/ haue I gotten/ as it were the wyche of the best J.

I haue made my dwellinge so smell as it were of rosyn/ Galbanil/ of Cloves and Incence/ and as Libanus whan it is not ben doun/ a myne odour is as the pure Balsome.
As the Cerebynte haue I filleded out my bowedes/ and my binnacles are the binndies of honoure and louinge sauoure. In the the vyne haue I broughte forth frute of a fyre sauoure/ and my floures are as the frute of honnoure/ and ryche. I am the mother of binyu/of loue/ of frare/ of knowlege/ and of holye hope.
In me is all grace of life and reuerb: In me is all hope of life a vertue. Come oute mid all ce that be desyrous of me/ and fill your selles with my frute: for my fruce is sweeter then honny/ and so is my inheritance inue the the honny tombe: the remembrance of me endureth enburch for enermite. They that care me/shal have the more hunger: And they that drinke me/shall thirste the more. Who so beneketh unto me/shall not come to edification: and they that moule in me/shall not offende. They that make me to be knowne/shall haue euertlastinge lyfe. E

All these thinges are the boke of lyfe/the remanant of the Holy ghest/a the knowledge of truth. ¶ Thus a commaundeth the law: in the pieces of righteousnes/for an heritage vnto the house of Jacob/a admitteth the promysse vnto Israel. ¶ Out of Dauid his seruaut/ he ordayned to raise vp a moost myghty kinge/synninge in the feare of honoure for successors. ¶ This synneth vsy some lyfe as a floude of Ephraim/ and as the floude of Egiptus/ when the new frutes are a growinge.

This bringeth a plenteuous understandinge lyfe Euphrates: and synneth it vp/ as Jordan in the ryme of basuel. This maketh narrowe to breake forth as the lyght/ and as the water Ezion in the harness. The synneth hath not know-en her perfectly/ nor more shall the last see out the ground of her. For her thoughte is foller then the see/ and her counsaill is poisonous then the deape depe.

I vsy dome haue cast out floudes. I am as a great watercourse out of the ryuer. I am as the ryuer Dox/ and as a water condurye am I come out of the garden of pleasure. I soude: I wyl moue the garden of my yonge plaites/and fill the frute of my byrth. So my water boke became: epeadinge: greate/ and my ryuer appoched vnto the see. For I make doe-myne to be vnto a riue/ as lyght as a sayre mo-nunge/ and I shall make it to be ener the clearer. ¶ I wyl pearent showe all the lower parts of the earth. I wyl loke vpon all such as be a slepe/ and lighten all them that put their trust in the Lord. ¶ I shall yet poure out doe-myne like as prophery/ and leaue it vnto such as see after vsy dome/ and their generacions shall I neuer faspie vnto the dole euertlastinge world. ¶ Beholde/ how that I haue nat labourd for my selfe only/ but for all them that see after the truth.

The XXX. Chapter.

The thinges there are/ that my speen foruouere/ which be also allowed before

God and men. ¶ The vnyce of bierchen/ the loue of neyghboure/ and of man and wyfe that agree wll together. E

The thinges there be which my soule bar-reth/ and I utterly abhorre the lyfe of ybe. A pooke man that is proude. A ryche man that is a lyar: ¶ And an olde body that is vnto vndyffle. E

If thou hast gathered nothyng in thy youth/ what wilt thou fynde then in thine age?
O how pleasure a thinge is it/ when grape headed men are byfytten/ a whiche thers can geue good counsaill: O how comly a thinge is vsy dome vnto aged men/ yet/ vnderstaidinge and counsaill is a glorious thinge. The crouche of olde men is to haue much experyence/and the feare of God is their wylshyp.

There be it thinges which I haue iudged in my heart to be happy/ and the tenth wyl I tell forth vnto men with my tounge. A ma that whyle he synneth/ hath a care of his chyldren/ and feareth the fall of his enemyes. Well is by him/ that dwelleth in an house/ wyl of understandinge/¶ And that hath not fallen with his tounge/ and that hath not bene fayne to ferne/ such as are vnto hym. Well is by him/ that synneth synneth/ and well is by him/ which telleth of vsy dome to an eare that heareth hym.
O how greaue he that synneth vsy dome a knowledge: yet is he more abow by him/ that feareth the Lord. The feare of God hath ferne all thinges. Welle is the man/ vnto whome it is so graunted to haue a feare of God.
Vnto whome shall he be lykend that feareth it fall: The feare of God is the begynnyng of his loue/ a the begynnyng of fanysh to cleaue fast vnto it. The hauncyces of the hert is all the punishment/ and the wyldeynes of a woman goeth aboute all. All punishment and plague is nothyng in comparson of the plague of the hert/ euen for all wyldeynes is nothyng to the wyldeynes of a woman.

Wharsoeuer happeneth vnto a ma/ is no thinge in comparson of it/ that his riue wyl-lers do vnto hym/ and all vnto him is no thinge to the vnto him of a enemye. There is not a more wylde harte then the harte of the serpent/ and there is no wylde aboute the mouth of a woman. ¶ I wyl rather dwel with a Lyon and dyggon/ then to kepe house with a wyf. E

a wicked wyse. The wickednesse of a woman chaungeth her face/ she shall maffel her countenances: as it were a Deceit/ and as a sack shall she shewe it amonge the neyghbours. Her housebanke is broughte to shame amonge his neyghbours/ and when he heareth/ it maketh him to syghe. All wickednesse is but lute to the wickednesse of a woman/ the poeman of the vngodly shall fall vpon her.

S Like as to dymme vp a sandy weye is to fere of a gedy/ and so is a wife full of wordes to a still quiete man. Lefe not to narrowly vpon the beuere of a woman/ lest/ thou be piouced in desire towarde her. The wrath of a woman is dishonoure and great confusion. If a woman getteth the mastery/ then to the contrary to her houshonde. A wicked wife maketh a fey hert/ an heauy countenance and a dead wounde (waxe bancke and table fince/ to a woman) thac enuioiseth nocher houshonde.† Of the woman came the begynninge of synne/ a thorum her we all are dead. Geue thy water no passage/ no/ not a leake/ neyther geue a wicked woman her reid. If she walke not after thy hande/ she shall confounde/ in the syght of thyne enemies. Let her of them from thy fleshy thas she do not alwaie abuse the.

The XXXVI. Chapter.

Happy is the man that hath a vertuous wyfe/ for the number of his yeares shalbe vngylle. A honest woman maketh her houshonde a joyfull man/ and she shall fill the yeares of his life in peace. A vertuous woman is a noble gift/ which shalbe geue for a good portion vnto such as feare God. Whether a man be rich or poore/ he maye haue ouer a merry hert/ and deas full countenance. There be thre thinges that my hert searsh/ and my face is effeayed of the soure. Treason in a cite/ a seditione people/ and wysonyng tongue/ all thre are deauer then the death. But when one is geue ouer his wyfe/ sit bancketh payne and sorrow vnto thy herte: and a woman that telleth out all thinges/ is a scourge of the wyge. Whā one hath an euil wyfe/ it is a curen as when an vngodly man and a godly woman be together: the shee getteth him to a scorpion. A wicked woman is a great plague/ for she can not conuert her vnto blame.

Judic. xxi.

B The whoredom of a woman maye be knowe in/ pryde of her eyes and eyelidde. † If thy daughter be not shamesfull/ bolde her strays/ lest she abuse her selfe: owne a much liberte. Beware of all the dishonour of her reue/ and maruail not/ if she do against the. Lefe as one that goeth by the waye/ and is thyrstie/ so shal she open her mouth/ and vnto of euery nye water that she maye get.

By every hedge shall sit her vnto/ and open her quynne against euery awoe. A looynge wyfe/ togeth with her houshonde/ and so doth her dance with her wyddome. A woman without a mynde/ maye saye nothing be cōpēd.

A honest and manerly woman/ is a gyfte above a cheere gyfte/ in that is no wayte to be compared/ vnto a mynde that can rule it selfe. Like as the Sunne when it ariseth/ is an ornament in the hee beaurm of the Lo:de/ so is a vertuous wife the beuere of all her housh. Like as the cleare light upon the holy candle/ like so is the beuere of the face vpon an honill body. Like as the golden pillars are vpon the feete of the altar/ so are the faire legges vpon a woman that hath a constant mynde. Perpetuall are the foundations that be layd vpon a whole stoncke/ so are the commandmentes of God vpon an holy woman.

There be two thinges that geue my hert/ and in the herte is a displeasure come vpon me. When an egypte man of euery suffryth scarcen and pouerte. When men of vnderstandinge and wyddome are not set by: And when one dyporteth from rightousnesse vnto synne. Whoso doeth such like/ Lo:de hath prepared him vnto the sword. There be two manner of thinges/ which me thinke to be harde and peryllous: A marchant can not lightly kepe him fro wronge/ neyther a sauernt hym self from synne.

The XXXVII. Chapter.

Because of pouerte haue many one offendē. Whedra be that seker to be ryche/ runneth his eyes asyde. Like as a nagle in the wall/ sekerth soll becomie two stones/ thus so doeth synne/ seker becomie the hyer and the fellor. If he holde him not vngyltly in the feste of the Lo:de/ his house shall soone be overruen. Like as when one sitheth/ the sybbynde remayneth in the sycke/ remayneth thare some one daye.

Bidance thinge in the thought of man. The curn prouch the porters vessel/ i so worthy temptation of trouble rygthuous men.
 The tree of the figge is knowne by his fruite/so is the thought of man here knowne by his woodde. Dryse no man excepte thou haue harde hym/ for a man is knowne by his woodde. If thou followe rightousnesse/thou shalt get her/ a put her upon thee as a fyre garment. (With thou shalt dwell with her/as the dole frende the cuer/ and in the bove of knowlege thou shalt fynde stedfastnesse.) The bydes of foules onto theur/ lyfe so worthy the trued turne onto them that be occupied withall. The Lyon wayeth for the piore: so do the synners lute upon the woiters of wickednesse. The callinge of hym that seareth Godde northinge due wysdom: as for a foule he chaungeth as the Moone. If thou be a mong the unbelicetes/ kepe thy woide as a conuenient tyme/ sinne alonge such as be wyse/C)prake on hardy. The callinge of foules is ab-hominacion/ i their spore to voluptuousnesse and misnourture. The lute stouringe maketh the her to stande vp/ and so the synner wylly stoppeth the eare.

The selfe of the proude is bloudshedding/and thee blaspheminge is heavy to heare.
 I) Who so descounteth secretes/ leseth his credence/ and fyndeth no frende after his will.
 Loue thy frende/ and hynde thy fyfene syn-fulnesse with hym: thus if thou be awayst his secretes/ thou shalt not get hym agayne. For lyfe as the man is that bestrogeth his enemy/so he also thee dealeth falsly in the frendship of his neyghboure.

Like as one that leeteth a byde go out of his hande/ can not see her agayne: Euen so thou/ if thou geue ouer thy frende/ thou canst not get hym agayne. Yet/ thou canst not come by hym/ for he is so farre of. He is onto the as a Rod/ cleaped ouer of the snare/ for his foule is wounde. To for woodde/ they may be bounde vpon agayne/ and an euil woide may be reconyld: but who so bestrogeth the secretes of a frende/ there is no more hope to be had unto him.

If thee synneth with the eyes/ ymagineth some euil/ and no man shall take hym from it. Who thou arteproude/ thee shall highly commende and prayse thy woide/ as the last be the turne in tyme/ and slanderer thy saynge. Many thynges haue I heard/ but northinge so euil/ as the Lord Jhim selfe abhouerth such one.

Who so calleth a stone on hys/ it shall fall vpon his owne heade: and he that synneth with gyle/ woundeth hym selfe. Who so diggeth a pye/ shall fall thern/ and he that laich a snare/ shall be taken in it hym selfe. Who so greuch a wickete/ nor forme counsaill/ shall come vpon hym selfe/ and he shall not knowe from whence. The proude blasphemeth and are foomefull/ but vengeance lute for them as a Lyon. They that reioyset as the fall of the ryghtuous/ shalbe eaten in the snare/anguith of herte shall consume them before they dye. Anger and ryghtousnesse are two abhominable thynges/ and the ungodly hateth them both vpon hym.

The XXVll. Chapter.

He that sekerth vengeance/ shall fynde it.
 Vengeance of the Lord/ which shall surely kepe him his synne. For geue thy neyghboure thee herte/ that be hath done thee and so shall thy synne be forgiven thee also/when thou prayest. A man that brareth hatred against another/ heue barre his veyne righteousness of God: he that sekerth no neyry to a man/ wher is lyfe hym selfe/ how barre he arte: for geueth of his synne: If he that is due synne/ beareth hatred and fe-reth it/ who wyl enuege for his synne: Remember the ende/ and let cunctite passe/which sekerth death and destruction/ and abide alone in the commaundementes. Remember the commaundement/ so shalst thou not be rigorous ouer thy neyghboure. Thinke vpon the annuement of the Synners/ and forgiue thy neyghbours ignouance: be ware of stryfe/ and thou shalt make the synners swete.
 For an angry man fyndeth variance/ and the ungodly disquieteth frendes/ and purith vscorde amonge them that be at piere: The more woode herte is/ the more vchement is the fyre/ and the mighty/ thee men be/ the greater is the wrath/ and the longer the synne endureth/ the more is burneth.

In hastye charyngte hindereth a syn/ and an hastye stryfe beddeth bloude. If thou Eccle. xxi.

Blowe the sparke: it shall burne: If thou spit upon it / it shall goe for the / and both these go out of thy mouth. The scalderees and vnde ble tynge is cursed / for many one that the friends scorch he at veruance. The thirde tynge hath disquered many one / and theyen them from one lande to another. Stronge eynes hath it broken downe / and ouerthrowe the house of great men. The thirde tynge hath cast oute many an honest woman / and robbed them of their laboure. Who so har keneth vnto such / shall neuer synde reske / and neuer well saye. The sheeke of the rood mar tys veddero / but the sheeke of the tynge syn neth the bones in funder. There be many that haue persued with the fwardde / but many more haue the tynge.

¶ Well is byn that is kepte from an euell tynge / and cometh not in the anger therof whiche vnto us is the yock of synne / and is not bounde in the bandes of it. For the poeke therof is of yron / and the bande of it of stele.
The deaith therof is a very euell deaith: Well were better for one then suche a tynge. But the fyre of it may not oppresse them that feare God / and the flamm therof may not burne them. Such as so sake the Lorde / shall sal therin: and it shall burne them / and no mā shal be able to quenche it. It shall fall vpon them as a Lyon / and deuour them as a Leo pard. Thou bestest thy goddes with roines why best thou not rather make voies and barres for thy mouth? Thou weyest thy golde and siluer: why best thou not wey thy wo de also vpon the scales? Beware that thou speke not in thy tynge / and so fall before thyne enemyes that laye wayte for the.

Ecc. XXIX. Chapter.

Deut. 30. 2
Ecc. vii. 2

¶ Who so will sweare inuety / let hym lende vnto his neyghboure / and he that is able / let hym kepe the commundement.
Lende vnto thy neyghboure in tyme of his need / and paye thou thy neyghboure agayne in due season. Kepe thy woide / a deale faith fully with hym / and thou shalt alwaie synde the thing that is necessary for the. There haue bene many that when a thinge was lene the / refused it to be sounde: and made them tra uayle and laboure / that had helped them.

Whyte they receaue any thinge / they hyffe the handes of suche as geue them / and for theyr neyghbours good they humble theyr voyses. But when they shoulde paye agayne / they kepe it backe / and geue euell woordes / and make many excuses by reason of tyme: and though be the able / yet geueth be scarce the halfe agayne / and referreth the othre to be sounde. And yf he withholde not his money / yet hath be an enemye of hym / and that enbe serued.

¶ He payeth hym with curtesie and rebule / and geueth hym euell woordes for his good debe. There be many one whiche are not glad for to lende / not because of trust / but they feare to lete the thinge / if they lende. Yet haue thou portence with the symple / and withholde not mercy from hym. Holpe the poore for the com moundementes sake / let him not goe empty from the because of his necessity. Let thy wo ney for thy brother and neyghbours sake / and burye it not vnder a stone / where it rusteth and corrupteth. Whether thy treasure after the co mmundement of the Hyghdest / and so shall it lende bring the more profyt then golde. Laye up iustice thy almes in the hand of the poore / and it shall kepe the from all euill. A mans almes is as a lente purke with hym / and shall kepe a mans sauour. As as the apple of an eye: and after deade shall it be like a crye / and paye euery man his rewarde vpon his deade. It shall fight for the against thine enemyes. Better then the sylde of a gnanice / or speare of the myghty.

¶ A good honest mā is suretye for his neygh boure. Use a wicked persone leueth hym com to shame. Forget not the frendshipp of thy suretye / for he hath geuen his soule for the.
The vngodly dyspyseth the good deede of his suretye / and the vnhankful and ignorant leueth his suretye in daunger. Some man promysed for his neyghboure: and when he hath lost his benefite / he shall forsake hym.
Suretyshipp hath destroyed many a ryght man / and reiuued them as the waters in the see. Myghty people hath it depuch awaye / and caused them to wandre in strange coun treys. An vngodly man / transgresseth agayn the commandement of the Lorde: he shall fall into an euell suretyshipp: and though be force hym selfe to get out / yet shall he fall into un ground.

make not thou many wordes therein. Beside the thonder goeth lightninge / and Grace nurreth and thamefastnesse goeth loue and fauoure. Stande vpon thy ninos / and be not the last but get the hoine home / and there wite thy passyng / and so what thou wilt / so that thou do no hurt / and desyre no man. But after all thinges geue thanks vnto him wherwith made thee / and replenshed the work bys goodes.

¶ Who so feareth the Lorde / wyll receaue his bountie / and they that get them to hym by mynys / shall fynde grace. He that feareth the same / shall be fylled withall: As for hym that is thus sayned / he wyll be comforted theret. They that feare the Lorde / shall fynde the iugynct / as their rightiuousnesse shall be founde so a lighte. An ongodly man wyll not be requered / but can helpe hym selfe with the sayle of other mans purpos. A man of vnderstandinge & spyeth no good counsaill / but a wyse and poudre body hath no feare. Thy soune / do nothinge without aduise / so shall not repene the after the wyde. Who not in the wyse where thou mayst fall / where thou mayest stombe aganst the stone. Wee noy by selfe into a laborious slyppery waye / and beware of thine owne chyldren. In all thy workes put thy trust in God from thy whole heart / for that is the keyng of the commaundementes. Who so belongeth Goddes word: saeth hede to the commaundementes: and he that purseth his trust in the Lorde / shall traunce nothinge.

The. XXXIII. Chapter.
¶ Here shall no euill happen vnto hym that feareth God: but whan he is in temptation the Lorde shall helpe hym. A wyse man hateth not the lawe / but an vpoete is as a soppit a ragnynge water. A man of vnderstandinge getteth credence vnto the lawe of God / as the lame is saith till vnto him. Be sure of the matter / than talke thereof: Be syfthe: wyl in floure: the man that geue answere: He that is of the foolish is like a cartwhele / or he that is of the inuice is like a c. zel tree. Like as a wyde horse that nyceyth vnder every one that syteth vpon him: so is it vnto a scornful fynde. Why doeth one bare eare / another saunge all the daies of the yeare come of the Sunne: The wysdome of the Lorde hath so parred them asunder / as if they had be ordind the nyces and solompe castles. Some of the hath be chosen a halowed before other daies. And all men are made of the ground / and out of the earth of Adam.

In the multitude of sciens hath the Lorde sundred them / and made their wayes of diuers fashions. Some of them hath helles / sed / made much of them / halowed them / and clamed them to hym self. But some of them hath be cused / sought them lowe / as put the out of their estate. Like as the clay in the Rom. of c potters hande / and all the ordinge throt of his pleasure: so are myn also in the hande of hym that made them: so that he may geue thy as it lyeth hym best. ¶ Against euill is good / & Co. i. c. a against feare is hfe: so is the goodlye a against such as feare God. Behold: these are all the wayes of the Hyghell / and they are euery two aganst two / and one sit aganst another. I am weakd vpon last of all / so one that gathereth after in hartell. In the giftes of God and in his blessinge I am increased / and haue fylled my wynepess: lyke a grape gatherer. ¶ Behold: he we I haue no labour red andy for my selfe: but for all such as loue nurreure and wysdome.

¶ Here me O ye great men of the people / and haften truly your eares / ynto the congregacion. Wene we thy soune and wyse / thy brether and frende potter ouer the while thou luct / and geue not awaye thy subtilitee and good to another: lest thou repent thee / as thou be sayne to begge therfore the selfe. To luge as thou luct and haste theach / let no man chaunge the: for better is it that thy chyldren do pay the them / than that they should be sayne to lake in their hande. In all thy workes be excellent / that thine honour be neuer stamed. At the nme whan thou shalt end thy daye / as syns thy life / distribute thine vnto the neede. The fodder / the wyppes / and the kerdens be longeth vnto the Maister: reuerection / and worke vnto the seruaunt.

¶ If thou sit thy seruaunte to labour / thou shalt fynde rest. But if thou let him go / ydele he shall s. k. lyche. The ycke and the wyppes bowe downe the necke / but some thou thy euill seruaunte wyng bandes / and

Like as thou art halowed in vs before them / so thou shalt passe / if thou mayest be magnified also in the before vs: if they may knowe / if as we knowe: for there is none other God / but only thou O Lorde. Returne the reuenge / a change / y wonderous woordes. Shewe thyne hande and thy right arme gloriously. Rayse thy indignation / and poure out thy wrath. Take awaye the aduersary / and smite the enemy. Make the name shone / remember thy clemencie: that thy wonderous woordes may be payed: Let the wrath of the fyre consume them / that they be certid / and let them perish: that vs thy people hurt. Every counsaill bringeth forth his counsaill. Beware helesse / there is some that counsaileth but for his owne profit. Beware of the counsaile / and be aduised afore wherto thou woldst give hym / for he wyl geue counsaill for hym selfe. Lefe be colde the lo upon the / and seye vnto the. Thy waird and purpos is good / and offer wold be stande agains the / a lode what shal become of the.

B There is no counsaill as him / that suspecteth the for an enemy / and hyde thy counsaill / so that he hate the. There is no counsaill as a woman concerninge thynge / that she longeth for: nor as a fearfull a saynce heerd body / in matters of warre: nor as a merchaunt / howe wares be wylde cheap the wares towarde his: or as a byre of sellynge. Or as an enuyous man of thankes geyng: Or as the vnnicefull of louynge kyndnesse: Or as the shourthfull of woofynge: Or as an byrdynge whiche hath no house / of profyte or wealthe. An ydle bodye woulde not gladly heare speake of myche labour. Take no siche folkes to counsaill / but be diligent to see counsaill as a vererous man that hateth God / so that hee as thou knowest to be a feper of the comaundement / whiche hath a mynde as if he shone owne mynde / and is so for the whan thou slombist.

And holde thy counsaill fast in thine belly / for there is no man more faithfull to kepe it / then thou thy selfe. For a mans mynde is iust as yme more disposed to kill oute / then iust wachmen that se about in an hys place / loosinge aboute them. And about of this pyge: Hygeist / that he will lede thy waye in faithfulness and truth. Before all thy wortes are counsaill spiste: and o ture thou doest / any thynge / be well aduised. There be foure thynge that declare a chaunged brete / wherout thece sprungeth euil and good / death and life / and a masterful tounge that gabbleth in vaine. Some man is apte and well instructed in many thynge / and yet very vnprofytable vnto hym selfe. Some man there is that can geue wyse and prudent counsaill / and yet is he hated / and continueth a begger: for that geue is not geuen hym of God to be accepted. Another is robbed of all myddones / yet is he wyse vnto hym selfe / and the fruite of vnderstandinge to sayth full in his mouth.

A wyse man maketh his people wyse / and is the fruite of his wysdome sayle noe. A wyse man shal be pleneously blessed of God: and all they that se him / shal speake good of hym. The lyfe of man standeth in the membe of the daye: but the daye of Israel are innumerable. A wyse man shal opynne faithfullnes and credence amonge his people / and his name shal be perpetual. Whysome / geue thy soule in thy lyfe: and if thou se any euil thynge / geue it not vnto hee. For all thynge that are not profytable for all men: neyther hath it any verry soule pleasure in eury thynge. Be not greedy in eury ramage / and be not to haisty vpon all meates. For excess of meates bringeth sickness / and glorye cometh as the lest to an vnnemesurable heate. Thatowe glorye haue many one prysh: but he that feareth hym selfe vnpreedy / prolongeth his lyfe.

The XXXVIII. Chapter.

Honoure the Physician: honoure him for a heaill of necessity. God hath created him / for of the Hygeist cometh medicine: and he shal receaue gyfte of the kyng. The wysdome of the Physician bringeth hym to great worshippe / and in the sight of the greates men of this worlde / he shalbe honorably taken. The Lorde hath created medicine of the earth / & he that is wise / will not abhorre it. Was not the bitter water made sweete with a tree? that men might learn to knowe the vertue therof.

The Lorde hath geuen men wysdome and vnderstandinge / that he myght be honoured in his wondrous woorkes. Wych such woerth he heale men / and take awaye their paynes.
Of such woerth the Apothecary make a conseccion / yet can no man persourme all his woerkes. For of the Lorde cometh prosperous wealth oute all the earth.

B My sonne / despyse not this in thy sickness I but praye vnto the Lorde / and he shall make the whole leaue of irō synne / goodly by han-de a caght: cleane thine herte from all wickednes. Geue a fruite saouered of fringes / and the first flourish for a toke of remembrance: make it flourishe fast / as one that geueth the fiell frutes / and geue roome to the Physician. For the Lorde hath created humilitie vnto him / noe goe from the / for thou hast neede of him. The houre maye come / that if seke maye be helped: that ome the / what they praye vnto the Lorde / that he maye occur / and gett health to synne longer. He that synneth befor his maker / shall fall in the han-de of the Physician.

My sonne / bringe forth thy teares ouer the dead: and beginne to mouerne / as if thou haddest suffred greaue harme thy self: and the mourne his body after a conuenient maner / and despyse not his burcull. Enforce thy selfe to wepe / and prouide thy selfe to mouerne / I and make lamentation expediently / and that a daye or two / as thou hast euel spoken of: and the dole thou thy selfe because of the heauynes. I for of heauynes cometh death / & heauynes of the here decreeth strenght. Receyue a powerte geueth the here in transacion a offence. Take no heauynes to thyr dyuice it awaye / at cementis the last thinge. For geue it not / for there is no turninge agayne. Thou shalt saye hym no good / but duere by selfe. Remembre hym vnto me / thine also shalbe by wysse: vnto me suffer agayne vnto the do daye. Let it be remembered of the dead easie in his eest / and com-forte thy selfe against ourt him / seinge his spere is departed from him.

The wysdome of the scrute is at commente tyme of rest: and he that easeth from exercise and labouere / shalbe wise. He that holdeth the plough / and hath pleasure in ploddinge and dyinge the oger / a goodly aboute with such hearte / he kan speake of oger. He secretly his hoer to make sowes / and is diligent to geue the fyne fooder. So is euery carpenter also and workemaster that labourith stylly night a daye: he carueth / graueth and curueth out / and his wyse: is in sondry cunninge thynges / and bys herte ymagineth / how he maye cum-mingly cast an ymagin / his diligence: also and wardinge persourmeth the woike. The yonsmyth in hys maner bideth by his styche / and doth his diligence to laboure the yon-the vapoure of the fyre burneth his flesch / and he must fyre wryth the herte of the smaet. The noyse of h hammere soundeth out in his eares / a hys eyre leke stylly upon the thinge that he maketh. He hoer for his mynde theraupon that he will make ouer his woike / and therefore he watcheth how he maye set it out / a thinge it to an ende.

So doth the potter set by his woike / he turneth the whele aboute with his feet / he is diligent and easeful in all his doynges / and his labouere and woike is without number.
Be fastidious the claye with his acme / and with his feet he tempereth it. His herte ymagineth how he maye make it pleasant / and his diligence is to cleaue the omen. All these hope is other hande / and euery one thyngeth to be cunninge in his woike. Without lyse maye not the cines be manteyned / inhabith not occupied: yet come they not by in the congregation: they vnderstande not the countenaunt of the lawe: they can not declare equite a iudgement: they can not fynde out the var-sentence: but thow to them shall the creature of the woilde be manteyned: they paser concerneth onely the woike and laboure of cunninge.

The. XXXIX. Chapter.

Wherbe that applyeth his mynde to vnto gently seke out the wysdome of the of old time / a exercyseth him selfe in the prophetes.

keepers of wisdom. He seeketh out the mystery of Ieremie sayinge: and euer seeketh him self retain continually. He seeketh for euill amonge great men / and appeareth before the punice.
He goeth into a strange countrey / and trauail: hee doeth as hee looke what good as euill is amonge men / hee proueth it / and speaketh out.
He propheseth in his heart / to restore it to one to the Lord that made hym / and to praye before the highest God. He openeth his mouth in prayer / and prayeth for his synnes.

B When the great Lord will hee shall be filled with the spirit of vnderstandinge / that he maye then poure out wyse sentences / a geue thanke vnto the Lord in his prayer. He shall eate his bread / and hee shall be by knowledge a right a geue him vnderstandinge of secret thinges.
He shall heere saye the secretes of his learninge / a reuoyce in the conuenance of the lawe of the Lord. The whole congregation shall commende his wisdom: and it shall neuer be put out. The remembrance of him shall neuer be forgotten: and his name shall continue from one generation to another. His wisdom shall be spoken of / a the whole cōgregatione shall openly declare his prayse. While he liueth he shall haue a greater name: hee shall be beside / a after his death / the same name remaineth vnto him. For I will I praise of mo men of vnderstandinge: for I am full as the Moone.

C When vnto me (ye holy vertuous childen) hinge forth fruit / as the rose that is planted by the biocke of the felde / and geueth a sweet scent as Libanus. Flourish as the rose garden / singe a songe of prayse. O geue thanke vnto God ouer all his workes. Geue glory and honour vnto the Lord / shew his prayse with your lippes. Doe not with the souge of your lippes: with heepr a playinge / a in geuinge thanke vnto him / saye after this maner. All the workes of the Lord are exceedinge good / and all by a commendementes are met / and commendmentes in euillison.

D When a man neede not to saye: what is this? what is that? for at his commendementes they shall all be sought. It is his commendementes the water runneth as a wall: and at the woode of his mouth the water shall flowe forth. In his commendementes to euery thinge are prepared: and receiued / and his health can not be missed. The workes of all flesh are before him / a there is nothinge hid from his eyes. He seeth from euery thinge to euery thinge: and there is nothinge to won-derfull as by the vnto him. When a man neede not to saye: what is this? or what? For hee shall make all thinges to be good vnto man. His blessinge shall runne out as the stream / and multiplye the earth like a fountaine of water. It shall be made the water for his mouth: so shall his word fall vpon the Earth.

This world is a playne / and right vnto the end: but it is euery thinge to be done. For the good are good thinges created from the begynninge: a euill thinges for the euilly. All thinges necessary for the life of man are created from the beginninge: water / fre / iron / a siluer / and waxe / and hony / milke and wine / oyle / a clothinge. All these thinges are created for the best to the flesh: but to that euilly that all these thinges be turned to hurt and harme. There be spices that are created for vnguent: and in their rightousnesse they followed their commendementes. In the end of the ende they shall pouce out their strength and pacifie the wrath of him that made them.
The world is a playne / and euery thinge is created for vnguent.

The teeth of wilde beasts / the feathers of serpentes / and the iwardes are created also for vnguent / to the destruction of the euilly. They shall be glad to see his commendementes: and when a man deide they shall be ready vpon earth: and when their home is come / they shall not ouerpass: the commendementes of the Lord.

Therefore haue I taken a good counsaile vnto me from the beginninge / and thought to put these thinges in my minde / a to leaue them behinde me. All the workes of the Lord are good / and hee geueth euery one in due season: when neede is. So that a man neede not to saye: this is worse than that. For in the season they are all pleasant and good: And therefore prayse the Lord with whole hart and mouth / geue thanke vnto his name.

For the Lord knoweth all sciens; and he looketh unto the token of the tyme. He declareth the thinges that are hid; and he knoweth all their secretes. No thought maye scape him; neither maye any wynde be hid from him. He hath gaueshed the hyght excellent works of his wysdome; and he is from euerylinge to euerylinge. Vnto him maye no thinge be added; neither can he be myssted; he hath no nede also of any counsaill. How amiable are all his works; / and as a sparke to loke vpon: They tye all; and endure for euer; and whan theye nede is; they are all obidient vnto hym. They are all double one agaynst another; / he hath made no thinge that hath faulte; or blemyshe. He hath stablyshed the goodnes of euery thynge; and who more be sonfynd with his glory; whan he sayth it:

The XLIII. Chapter.

As the glory of the heyght; / is the sayre and cleare firmament; / the beuty of the heauen in his glorious clearnes. The Sunne whan he appeareth; / declareth the daye in the goinge out of it; a maruailous worke of the Hyghth. As noone it burneth the earth; and who more shyd the heat thereof? Who so keepeth an oon whan it is hot; the tymes more doeth the Sunne burne vpon the mountaynes; / whan it burneth out the fyr beames; and synch with the hyghthens of it; / it blindeth the eyes. Great is the Lorde that made it; and in his commaundement he causeth it to runne by itselfe.

The Moone also is in all; / and at conuenient season it sheweth the tymes; and is a comfiter of the tyme. It is token of the solempne feasts; as of the Moone; a light that myssted and increaseth agayne. The moneth is called after the Moone; / it groweth wonderously in her chaunge; nge.

The armye of heauen also is in the heyght; / in the firmament of heauen it groweth cleare and glorious thur. This is the clearnes of the starres; the beutyfull apperell of heauen; the apperell that the Lorde lyghtheith in the hegth. As his holy worder; he continue in their ordie; and no one of them sayeth in his mouth. I like not the raue borne; / and in his hande Gen. ij. b him that made it; / very beutyfull is it in his thync. He compasseth the heauen aboute with his clearnes and glory; the hande of the Hyghth haue benedict. Whoso his commaundement he maketh; the snowe to fall; / and the chorder of his iudgement to synge hoysely. Thow; his commaundement the terraces are opened; / and the cloude flye as the folow. In his power both he strenghtened the cloude; and broken the base stone.

The mountaynes melt at the syght of him; / the wynde bloweth according; to his will. The sounde of his shoude beateh the earth; / so doeth the storme of the North; theye whyle wynde also lyghtheith; / whan as a fecheed folow; / clyeth out; and spredeth the snowe aboute; / as the grethoppers that destroye all; so fallith it downe. The eye maruailith at the beuty of the whyness thereof; / and the hert is afraied at the raue of it. He poureth out the frost vpon earth; / he faly; and whan it is froien; / it is as sharpe as the pycke of a bysle.

Whan the colde cloude wynde bloweth; / harde the still cometh of the water. The lighteth downe vpon all the gatheringes together of water; / and puteth on the wateres as a bitt plate. He burneth the mountaynes; / a burneth the wuderesses; and loke what is giene; he puteth it oute; / he fyre. The medicine of all this is; / whan a cloude cometh hastily; / and whan a dew cometh vpon the heat; / it shal be refresht agayne.

In his worder he stiller the wynde. In his counsaill he sereth the depe; and the Lorde Iesus panted it. He sayth that saye out the see; / tell of his parles and haimes; and whan he heere it; / with our eares; / we maruaill the great. For there be strouger worderes moite; / diuerser maner of nyce; / besides a wallyst shes. Thow; him are all thynge set in good ordie and persourme; / and in his worder all thinges endure.

I spake much; / but I can not sufficientlye attaine; / for he him selfe; / is the persourer of all worderes. We shoulde praise the Lorde; / after all our power; / for he is great; / in all his works. The Lorde; / is to be feared; / Psal. lxx. a and could consistre and pacifie those that drect with hym. All these were very noble / and honorable men in their generations / and were well reuered of in their tymes. These haue left a name behinde them / so that whys praise shall alwaye be spoken of. Afterwarde there were some whose remembrance is gone.

in the batteyle/ that he myghte set up the home of his people agayne.

Then a broughte hym to worshippe about all pynces/ and made him to haue a good repoune in the prayse of the Lorde/ wher he shoulde weare a crowne of gloire. For he destroyed the enemyes on euery syde/ roied out the Phylis-tines hys aduersaries/ and brast theiue home in sunder/ lyke as a sabote/ yett the daye. In all his workes he playsted the hyghst a holtes/and ascribed the honoure vnto him. With his whole heart he prayd and laur hym that made hym. The ket fingers also befor the aunce/ and in their tyme he made fytte son-ges. He ordeined to fepe the holy dayes was subpully/ and that the sollemne feastes the rowe the whole yeare shoulde be honourably holten/ with playfynge the name of the Lorde/and with kynges by tyme in the morninge in the Sanctuary.

The Lorde toke awaye hys synne/ and exalted his home for euer. He gaue hym the conuauant of the kyngdome/ and the name of woorthyp in Israel. I firste him there colde vpon the wyse sonne called Salomon/ and for his safte he doue the crinite/ a wyse saire of the Salomon rangned with peace in his tyme/ for God gaue hym rest fro his enemyes on euery side

As he that he might build him an house in his name/and prepare the Sanctuary for euer/ like as he woe well instructed in his youth/and filled with wysdome and understandinge/ as it were with a water flood. He covered a filled the whole lande with similitudes and wysse prudent sentences.

D His name wente abroad in the Iles/ because of his peac he was beloved. All landes marvelled at his sayings/prouerbes/similitudes/and at his peaces/and at the name of the Lord God/which is called the God of Iherusalem. He gathered golde as rynn, and he had as much siluer as leade. He was moued in vniuersall loue to waide womē/ and was overcome in affliction. He slayned his honour and was shipp/ yee/ his posterite despyled he also in thinges of the wrath of the Lord vpon his children/ and so woe after his wordes/ so that his Kingdome was deuided/ and Esophtain became an vnfruitfull/and an vnessest fruit Kingdome. He euer rebuffed/ God forsake not his neece/ neither woe he weach destroyed/ because of his wordes/ that he shoulde traue him no posterite.

E As for the sedithe came vpon him (which he loved) he brought it not vnto anye to naught/ but gaue yet a continuance vnto Jacob/ and a coie vnto Dauid one of him. Thus rebuffed Dauid with his father/ and out of his bed he left behind him a very foolishnes of the people/ and such one as had no vnderstanding: namely I Roboam which turned auaire the people thowto his counsaill/ and Zeroboaam the sonne of Nabat/ which caused Itraell to synne/ and the word of Iphaim the waye of vngodlynesse: In so much that they synned and misdeeds had the opperhande so fou that at the last they were driven oute of the lande for the same. Yee he fought oure/ and broughte ap all wickednesse vnto the vengeance came vpon them.

The XLVIII. Chapter.

I Hec sidde vp I Elias the prophete as a synne/ and his woe: he entreclyfe a cretcher. He broughte an hunger vpon them/ and in bye he made them sicke in numbie. For they myghte not wage with the commaundementes of the Lord. Thowore the wode of the Lord he spente the thowans/and the tymes thoughte he the fere: because thus became I Elias honorable in his woe: derous veda. Who maye make his waste to be like him? What was he had rayed he op from death: and in the woode of the Iherusalem he thoughte hym oute of the graue againe. He cast doun syngea and destroyed them/ and the honorable from theyr seate. Vpon the mount Syn he berde the punishment/ and vpon Hore he iudgement of the vengeance. He propheted recompensynge vnto syngea/ and vnto odyne prophetes after Iherusalem. He was taken vp in the stone of syngea in a churren of hoise of the Lord. He was odyne in the retyoung in yme to pacifye the wrath/ to tume the bettes of the father vnto the children/ and to set vpon the tribes of Jacob againe. Blessed were they that were the/ and were garnished in loue: for we lye in lyfe.

I Elias was conuerted in the stone/ but he Iherusalem was filled with his moith. While he was lued he was a frayd of no price/ and no man might overcome him. There coulde no wode because him/ and after his death his body propheted. He vnto woices in his lyfe/ and in death were his waikes maruayous. Foral this the people amended not/ neither departed they from their synnes: they were carryed away prisoner oute of the lande/ and were feared aboaden all countreies/ so that of them there remayned but a very litle people/ and a pryne vnto the house of Dauid. Howbeit some of them did righte/ and some heaped vp vngodlynesse.

I Zacharias made his synne stronge/ conuayed water into us/ digged thowre the stony rock with yuen/ and made vp a well by the water syde. In his yme came Semedee vnto him/ and semedee had by his hande against Iherusalem/ which they woe graue. Then troubled their burres and bandes/ so that they forwoyed lyke a woman/ traunging with whyde. So they called vpon the Lord/ which is merry full/ and lyfte vp their bandes before him. Immediately the Lord heede them oute of heauen/ and deliuered them by the bande of Iherusalem. He sinned the booff of the Assyrians/ and bye aungill destroyed them. For Zacharias had done the thinge that

Was when the Apothecary made many precious sweete smelling things together. His remembrance: sweete shall be sweete as honey in all mouthes/and as the playng of an instrument by the waye. He was appointed to turne the people agayne/and to take awaye all abominations of the wngodlye. He byrected his herke into the Lorde/and in the tyme of the wngodlye he set up the worshippe of God agayne. All synners excepte Dauid/ & Josias and Josias commyred wickednesse: for euen the synners of Iuda/ also forsake the lawe of God. for they gaue their houte vnto other they: honoure and worshippe also to a straing people.

And that he might sufficiently perfume his service upon the altare/a golden offeringe of the byghest God/ he stretched out his hande/a rife of the golden offeringe/a poured in of his myght so he poured upon the bottome of the altare a good smell vnto the byghest prince.

Then beganne the sonnes of Aaron to singe/and to shewe with rompenesse/ and to make a greates noise/for a remembraunce and prayse vnto the Lozde. Then were the people alyfied/and fell downe to the earth upon theyr faces/ to worshippe the Lozde their God/and to geue thanks to almighty God. They songe goodlye also with their voyces/ so that there was a pleasant noise in the greates house of the Lozde. And the people in theyr prayer besoughte the Lozde the byghest / that he woude be mercifull/ till the honoure of the Lozde were performed. Thus ended they theyr manyle and zand service.

Then went he downe/ and stretched oute his hande ouer the whole assemblye of the people of Israel/ that they shoulde geue praise and thanke oute of theyr lippes vnto the Lozde/ and to reioyce in his name. He began yet once also to praye / that he mighte openly shewe the thanksgyuinge before the byghest/ namely thus: O geue prayse and thanke/ ye all vnto the Lozde our God/ whiche hath euer bene noble and great thinge: whiche hath exceeded oure voyces from our mothers wombe/ and deale with us accordinge to his mercy: that he wyll geue vs the yfynesse of herte/ and peace for oure synnes in Israel. Whiche saythfully speake his mercy for euermore/ and alwaye deliuereth vs in due season.

There be two maner of people/ that I behoude to my heritas for the thyrd/ whome I becom to no people. They that sye vpon the mountan of Sennar/ the Philistines/ and the foolish people that dwel in Syria.

I Iesus the sonne of Syrach the sonne of Ierusalem/ haue marked vp these informacione/ and documentes of wisdom and vnderstandinge in this booke / and soaced oute his wisdom oute of my herte. Blessed is he that exerciseth him selfe therin/ and why so salueth such to herse/ shall be myse. If he do these thinge/ he shall be strong in all. For the lichte of the Lozde ledeth him.

The. LII. Chapter.

A prayer of Iesus the sonne of Syrach.

Thanke the O Lozde and synge/ and prayse the O God my Scauoure/ I wyll reide prayse vnto thy name: for thou art my defender and helpe/ and haste pisyred my body from destruction/ and the snare of wayecousa tongue/ and from the lippes that are occupied with lyes. Thou hast bene my helpe/ from such as shode vp against me/ and haste lowered me after the multitude of thy mercy/ and for thy holy names sake. Thou hast deliuered me from the roaring of them/ that prepared them selves to deuoure me oute of the hande of such as soughte after my lyfe: from the multitude of them that troubled me/ and wente aboute to set syre vpon me on euery syde/ so that I am not stent in the middelt of the syre: from the hope of helpe/ from the vndeane tongue/ from lyege wordes/ from the wicked synge/ and from an vngyuous tongue. My soule shall praise the Lozde vnto death/ for my lyfe: Ix my vnto hell.

They compassed me rounde aboute on euery syde/ and there was no man to helpe me. I looked aboute me/ if there were anye nion that wolde saue me: but there was none. The thoughte I vpon thy merry O Lozde/ and vpon thy cetera that thou haste bene ouer of alde: namely/ that thou deliuerest such as put their trust in thee/ and ryddest them oute of the hande of the heuene. I

Thus lyste I vpon my prayer frid the earth/ and prayed for deliuerance from death. I called vpon the Lozde my father/ that he woude not leaue me withoute helpe in the daye of my trouble/ and in the tyme of the pownde. I praysed thy name continuallye/ selinginge honoure and thankes vnto the end/ so my prayer was berde. Thou savedest me from destruction/ and deliuereddest me from the vngyuous tyme. Therefore wyll I acknowledge and prayse thee/ and magnifye the name of the Lozde.

 praye hym. O come vnto me / ye vnlearned / as I dwell in the house of wyrdome: wth drawe not youre selves from her / but talke and common of these thynges: for your soules are very thyrstie. I opened my mouth and spake: I came and byc wysdom without money: how youne your neede vnder her yock / and your soule shal receaue wysdom. She is harde at hande: and is content to be founde. Beholde / wth your eyes / I haue that I haue had but litle labour: and yet haue founde much rest.
 O: receaue wyrdome: and ye shal haue plenteousnesse of siluer and golde in possession. Let your mynde receyue in his mercy: and he

The story of Susanna/ which is the xij. Chapter of Daniel after the Lann.

Here dwelta man in Babylon/called Iosaphat: that toke a wyfe whose nome was Susanna (the Dongler of B. Iohas) a very fayre woman/and siche one as feared God.
Her father and her mother also were godly people/and taught her to gouerne accordinge to the lawe of Moyses. Nowe Iosaphat (her housband) was a greates rich man/and had a sayre orcharde to mynste vnto his house. And to hym resorted the Jewes commonly/ because he was a man of reputation amonge them. The same yere were there mad two iudges/ such as the Lord speake of: All the wickednesse of Babylon cometh from the elders (that) fram the iudges/ which seme to rule the people. These came also to Iosaphat house: and all such as had any thinge to do in the lawe/ came thither vnto them.

Now when the people came agayne at after noone/ Susanna went into her houshandes orcharde to walke. The elders seynge this/ that she went in daye/ and walked by burned for lust to her/ yet/ they were almost out of charyte/ and cast downe their eyes/ that they shoulde not se beauen/ not reminbre that God is a ryghteous iudge: for they were shortly wounded with the lawe of her/ as theye first one steeve another his grefe. And for shame/ they durste not tel her their inordinate luste / that they wolde sayne their heade had to do with her. Yet they layed waite for her earnestly from daye to daye / that they myghte at the least haue a sight of her. And the one sayd to the other: Tyll it be gone home / for it is synner synne. So they wente their waye from her.

When they returned agayne they came together / enquiringe out the maner howe the selfe sayde the one tolde the other of his wicked luste. Then appoynted they a tyme when they myght take Susanna alone.

It happened also that they spred a convenient tyme / when she wente forth to walke (as her maner was) and no bodye was by her but two maydens / and thoughte it to walke her selfe in the garden / for it was an houre season. And there was not one person there / except the two elders that had by them selves / to beholde her. So she sayde to her maydens: go sit ma oyle and sop / and shut the orchard doore / that I maye walke me. And they byd as they had thynke / and shut the orchard doore / and wente oute them selves at a backe doore / to see the chynge that she had commaunded: but Susanna knewe not what the elders lay there hid with in. Nowe when the maydens were gone forth / the two elders gat them vp and came upon her / saynynge: Nowe the orchard doore is shut / that no man can see us: we haue a luste vnto the / therefore consent vnto us / and let us do so.

S If thou wyle not / we shall synge a testimony agaynst the / that there was a yonge felow with the / and that thou hast sine awaye thy maydens from the forthe same cause. Susanna slyghed / and sayde: Alas I am in trouble on euery side. Though I folowe youre mynde / it will be my death: and yf I consente nat vnto you / I canne not escape youre handes. Well / it is better for me / to fall into youre handes / with oute the febe saynynge / then to synne in the sight of the Lord: and with that they cryed oute with a loud voice: the elders cryed also agaynst her.

Then ranne there one to the orchard doore / and faste it open. Nowe when the seruantes of the house herde that ere in the orchard / they rushed in at the backe doore / to see what the matter was. So when the elders tolde them the seruantes were greatly ashamed: for why there was neuer seld a report made of Susanna. On the morowe after came the people to Iosaphat his house doore / and the two elders came also / full of myscheuous ymaginations agaynst Susanna / to synge her vnto death / a space thus before the people: And thus Susanna the daughter of Helchias / Iosaphats wyfe. And immediatly they sent for her. So she came with her father and mother / her dysciples / and all her kynrede. Nowe Susanna was a tender person / and maruailous faire of face. Therfore the wicked men commaunded a call of the clothes that her face / for she was couered / that as the least they myght so be satisfied in her beautye. Then her friends / yea / and all they that knewe her / beganne to wepe.

These two elders stode vp in the midst of the people / and laud their handes vpon the head of Susanna: whiche wepte and looked vp towarde heauen / for her bette had a sure trust in the Lord. And the elders sayde: As we were walkinge in the orchard alone / this woman came in with her two maydens / whome she sent awaye from her / and sparred the orchard doore. With that a yonge fellowe (whiche there was by) came vnto her / and layd with her. As for vs / we stode in a corner of the orchard. And when we sawe this wickednesse / we ranne to her / and percrued that they had medled together. But we could not holde hym / for he was stronger than we / thus he opened the doore / and gat him awaye. Nowe when we had taken this woman / we aske her / what yonge fellowe this was: but she wold not tell vs. This is the matter / and we be witnesses of the same.

The commune four belueed them / as those that were the elders and iudges of the people / and so they condemned her to death. Susanna cryed oute with a loud voyce / and sayde: O everlastinge God / thou searcher of secretes / thou that knowest all thinges / as soone they come to passe: thou wouldest that they haue bene false witnesses agaynst me: a beholde / I was by / where as I neuer by any such thinges / as these men haue maliciously inuyned against inc. And the Lord brede her voyce. for when she was led forth to the heath / the Lord raised up the spirit of a yonge child / whose name was Daniel / wh^{ch} iij. Reg. iij. f. erud with a laube voyce: I am cleane from this shoude. Then all the people turned them towards him / and said: What meane these wordes that thou hast spoken? Daniel stode in the midst of them and said: There is suche faulte. O ye children of Israel / that ye canne not discern? Ye haue here cōdemned a daughter of Israel vnto death / and knowe not the truth wherof: God is on iudgment again / for they haue spoken falsc wytnesse againste her.

Wherfor the people turned againe in all the way. And the elders (that are the principall heads) saide vnto him: Come syt thoue here amonge vs / and shewe vs this matter / synge God hath giuen thee so great honour as an elder. And Daniel saide vnto the: But these two asyde one from another / and then shal I shewe them. Wher they were put asunder one from another / he talked one of them / and sayde vnto him: O thou olde knackerde cack / that hast vsed thy wickednesse so longe: thin vngacious dedes which thou hast done as yet / are now come to light. For thou hast giuen falsc iudgements / thou hast oppressed the innocēt / and leuen the gyllt go free / where as yet the Lord sayeth: I thin innocēt and righteous / thou shal slaye not. Wel then / if thou hast sent her to die / vnder what tree shal I see thee talking together? He answered: Under a Mulberry tree. And Daniel sayde: wryt well. Nowe thou shalt euen vpon thine heade. Lo / the iust sentence of the Lord hath receaued the sentence of him / to cut the tree downe.

Then put he him asyde / and called for the other / and sayde vnto hym: O thou sode of Canaan / but not of Iuda: sayntesse hath deteined thee / a lust hath subuerted thine bette. Thus healeyte afoze with the daughters of Israel / and they / for feare / desired vnto you: but the daughter of Iuda wolde not abyde your wickednesse. Tyme tell me thys / vnder what tree widdest thou talken / speaking together? He answered: vnder a Domgro tree. Then saide Daniel vnto him: Wryt well / nowe thou shalt euen vpon thine heade. This is the sentence of the Lord / standeth waynynge with the sword / to cut the tree downe / and to slaye you both.

With that / all the whole multitude gaue greace / shoute / and praised God / whiche alwaye schureth them that put their trust in hym. And they came vpon the two elders (whom Daniel had aduice with their owne mouth: that they had giuen falsc wytnesse) and heale with them / euen like wise as they wolde haue done with their neighbourse. Ye / they dyd receiue iudgement to the lawe of Moyses / and put them to death / vnto the innocēt / whiche was saved thys same daye.

Then Helcias and his wyfe praised God for their daughter Susanna / with Joachim her housband / and all the kinde: that there was no dishonesty founde in her. From that daye forth was Daniel had in greater reputation in the sight of the people.

The ende of the story of Susanna.

The story of Bel / and of the Dragon: whiche is the iiij. Chapter of Daniel after the Lxx.

There was at Babilon a ymagin / called Bel / and there were spyns vpon him every daye sixe cakes of sh. / and sixe greace pors of wyne. Hym dyd the kynge worshippe hym selfe / and wrote dayly to honour hym: but Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the kynge sayde vnto him: Why dost not thou worshippe Bel? He answered and sayde: I do not / because I maye not worshippe thinges that are made with handes / but the livinge God / whiche made heauen and earth / and hath power vpon all flesh. The kynge sayde vnto him: I thinkest thou not that Bel is a livinge God? Whiche thou not / howe much he eateth and drinketh every daye? Daniel smiled and said:

O kynge

O kynge thou eate not thy selfe: Thy is but made of claye wouthin/ and of metall wouthout/ therefore eatest he euer any thinge.

Then the kynge was wroth/ and called for his priestes/ and sayde vnto them: If ye tell me not who this is that eateth vp these speeres/ ye shall dye: But if ye can euen sic me thus/ I will eate them/ when Daniel shall dye/ for he hath spoken blasphemy agaynst Bel. And Daniel sayde vnto the kynge: let me be so/ accordinge as thou hast sayde. The priestes of Bel were lxx. theye their wyfes and chyldren. And the kynge wente with Daniel into the temple of Bel. So Belo priestes sayde: Lo we wd go out/ and set thou the meate there (O kynge) and pour in the wyne/ when thoue shalt/ and fraile it with thine owne signet: and io meow when thou commest in/ if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten vp all/ we will suffre death: or els Daniel/ that hath led vpon vs. The priestes thought them selfes sure ynough/ for vnder thir aucaire they had made a preyntaunce/ and there wene they in iur/ and theye eate vp what there was.

So when they were gone south/ the kynge set meates before Bel. Now Daniel had commaunded his seruantes to bunge affbes/ and thus he sitted thowout all the temple/ that the kynge myght sic. Then wente they out/ and spard the woe/ sealinge it with the kynge signet/ and so departed. In the nyghte the priestes with their wyfes and chyldren (as they were wante to do) and theye ate and drinke vp all. In the morninge by nyght at the brate of the daye/ the kynge arose/ and Daniel with hym. And the kynge sayde: Daniel/ are the scales whole yet? He answered: Ye/ (O kynge) they be whole. Now as soone as he had opened the woe/ the kynge lokt vnto the aultare/ and cryd with a loud voice: Greate art thou o Bel/ and with this io deceas. Then laughid Daniel/ and helde the kynge that he shoulde not go in/ and sayde: Beholde the pavement/ marrete well/ whose foetstepes art ibese? The kynge sayde: It is the foetstepes of men/ wou in and chyldren.

Therefore the kynge was angry/ and toke the priestes with their wyfes and chyldren/ and they shewd hym the picyous voyces/ where they came in/ and theye eate vp such thinges as were vpon the aultare. For the which causil the kynge slewe them/ and deliuered Be Jeru. liij into Belshazzar/ which destroyed hym Jeru. liij. a and hys temple.

And in the same place there was a greate Dragon/ which they of Babylon worshippid. And the kynge sayde vnto Daniel: sayst thou/ that thou is but a god of metall also? lo/ he hureth/ he eateth and drinketh/ so that thou canst not saye/ that he is no huyngue god/ the fore worshippid hym. Daniel sayde vnto the kynge: I will worshippid the Lorde my God/ The is the true huyngue God: as fo Dan. viij. e thou/ he is not the god of isle. But geue me leaue/ (O kynge) and I will destroye this Dragon without swerde or staf. The kynge sayde: I geue the leaue. Then Daniel toke pitch/ saet and beery wolle/ and theye seth them together/ and made longes therof/ whiche he put in the Dragons mouth/ and so the Dragon barst in sinder/ and Daniel sayde: lo/ there is he whom ye worshippid.

When they of Babylon herde that/ they toke greate indignation/ and gathered ibe together agaynst the kynge/ sayinge: The kynge is decaun a Jeru also/ he hath destroyed Bel/ he hath slayne the Dragon/ and put the priestes to death. So they came to the kynge/ and sayde: let vs haue Daniel/ or els we will destroye the and chynge our selfe.

Now when the kynge sawe/ that they rustid in so fare vpon hym/ and that necessie conseygned hym/ the deliuered Daniel vnto them/ which cast him into the Lyons denne/ where he was sixe dayes. In the denne there were seven Lyons/ and they had geuen ibe euerie daye two bodies and two shepe/ which then were not geuen them/ that this myght deuoure Daniel.

There was in Jeru a prophet called Ababarus/ which had made porage/ and cronned bread in a shepe platter/ and was going into the isle/ so to bunge it to the mowens. But the sunge of isle Lorde sayde vnto Ababarus: go/ carry the meate that thou hast into Babylon/ vnto Daniel/ which is in the Lyons denne.

sawe Babylon: and as for the denne / I knowe it not. Then the aungel of the Lorde toke him by the tupper / and bare him by the hee of the heade / and (thawo a myghty wynde) sic him in Babylon vpon the denne. And Aba-cuc cryed / sayinge: O Daniel / thou seruante of God: haue / take the vii assis that God hath and the aungel of the Lorde set Abacuc in his owne place agayne immediately.

people shoulde be one. Then theye left euery man his lawe / and all the Scythens agreed to the commondenite of kinge Antiochus. Yea many of the Israelites consented there vnto / offeringe vnto Idols / and defilinge the Sab Sartners a the holy people of Israel shoulde be defiled.

He communded also that there shoulde be set vp other altars / temple / and Idols. to offre vp swynes fleshand other vncleane beastes : that men shoulde leaue their chyl den vncircumcised / to defile their soules with all

Then woulde the people vnto the Scythens

Yet were there many of y people of Israel which determined in their filth / that theye woulde not ceane vncleane thinges : but chose to suffre deathe / then to be defiled with vncleane meates. So because theye were deu slayne. And this greate tyrannye inticed verye sore vpon the people of Israel.

The II. Chapter.

¶ In those dayes there had stande vp on Maccabias y sonne of John / the sonne of

of Symeon the priestson of the kyned of Iudas / from Jerusalem / and dwelt upon the mount of Modin and had a sonne: Ihd called Gabdiu: Symon called Thasi: Iudas / so theyr selfe called Machabeus: Iudas / otherwise called Tharon: and Jonathan / whose surname was Zophus. These sawe the cruel that was done amonge the people of Iuda at Jerusalem. And Machabias sayde: Wo is me / also that euen I was doine / to se this misery of my people / and the pitous destruction of the holy ciety and thus to sye so shill / it beinge shruered into the handes of the enemyes.

Her Sanctuary is come into the power of straungers / her temple is as it were a man that hath lost his good name. Her precious ornaments are carried away captiue / her olde men are layne in the stretes / and her yonge men are fallen thorow the swordes of the enemyes.

What people is it / that hath not some possession in her synngdomes? Or who hath not gotten some of her spoiles? All her glory is taken awaye. She was a Quene / and now she is become an hadimayde. What be our Sanctuary / and wher it is / howe it is wayled awaye and despoiled by the Gentiles. What helpep it us then to lyue? And Machabias sic his clothes / he and his sonnes / and put sacke cloth upon them / and mourned very sore.

Then came the men thither whiche were sent of Fyngc Antiochus / to compell such as were fled in the cite of Modin / for to do sacrifice / and to burne incense vnto Idols / and to forsake the lame of God. So many of the people of Israel consented and enclined vnto them / but Machabias and his sonnes remayned steadfast. The spake the commissioners of Fyngc Antiochus / and saide vnto Machabias: Thou art a noble man / of hie reputation and greates in this cite / hauynge sayre chyldre and children. Come thou this fore first / and fulfill the fynges commaundement / lyke as all the Reythen haue done / per / the men of Iuda / as such as they maye at Jerusalem: so shill thou and thy chyldren be in the fynges fauoure / and enciebed with gold / syluer and greates wordes.

Machabias answered / and spake with a loude voyce: Though all nationis theye the fyngc Antiochus / and fall awaye: every man fro feyge the lawe of the sayntes: though they consent to his commaundement / yet wil I and my sonnes / and my brethren / fall from the lawe of some sayntes. God sayd we shoulde: I that were not good for vs / that we shoulde forsake the lawe and omdauntes of God / and to agre vnto the commaundement of Fyngc Antiochus. Therefore we will do no such sacrifice / neither deale the statutes of our lawe / to go another waye. And when he had spoken these wordes there came one of the Jewes / which openly in the sight of all the sacrifice vnto the Idols / upon the altar in the cite of Modin / accordinge to the fynges commaundement.

When Machabias sawe this / it grieved him as the heere / so that his raynes stoffe whysall / a buswath kindled for very zele of the lawe. With that he gaue a flippe / and fylled the Jewe beside the altar: yee / and steeke the fynges commissioner / that compelled him to do sacrifice / and destroyed the altar at the same tyme: such a zele had he vnto the lawe of God / Thys was Phynchas / who was of the kynne of Salomon. And Machabias cried in a loude voyce / thorow the ciety sayinge: Who so is for me in the lawe / and sepe the commaundment / let hym folowe me. For he and his sonnes fled into the mountaynes / and left all that euer they had in the cite. Many other godly men also departed into the wyldernesse / with their children / theyr wyues / and theyr catell / and remained there / for the tyeanny increased so sore vpon them.

Now when the fynges seruantes and the host / which was at Jerusalem in the cite of Sauid / herde that certayne men had broke the fynges commaundement / and were gone thither to the wyldernesse / to secrete places / so that there were many departed after them: they followed upon the / to sight agaynst them in the Sabbath daye / and sayde: Wylle ye yet rebel? Get you hence / and do the commaundement of Fyngc Antiochus / and ye shall lyue. They answered: We wylle not go forth / vnto the sight of Sabbath daye. Then began they to fight agaynst the: neuer the lesse / theye gaue them none other aunswere / as theye call they hym: and so spd all they that helde with his faber / a fought with chearefulnesse for Iſrael.

So Judas gat his people greete honoure:
He put on a briefe plate as a gaine: / a acyed him self with his burnesse / and defended the hoost with his sword. In his aies he was like a Lyon / and as a Lyons whelp roaringe at his praye. / He was an enemy to the wicked / and burnt them out: / and bent up those that vnto his people. So that his enemies fed for feare of him / and all the workers of vnigodlynes were put to trouble: / such lucke and prosperite was in his hande. This greued Si-murt Kinges / but Iacob was greatly enoyed thorow his ayes / and he gat him selfe a greete name for euer.

He wente thow the eynes of Iuda / bestroyng the vngodly out of them / turnainge away the wrath from Iſrael / and receaunge such as were oppressed: / and the same of hym wente vnto the eastern parte of the easte.
Then Appollonius (a prince of Siria) gathred a myghty greete hoost of the Bechen and out of Samaria / to fight agaynst Iſrael.
Whan when Judas perceaued / he wente forth to meete him / fought with him / slew him / and a greete multitude with him: the remanace fed / and he toke theie substance. Judas also toke Appollonius true sword: / and fought vnto all his life longe.

¶ Now whē Serē (another prince of Siria) hade saye / that Judas had gathered vnto him the congregation and church of the saythfull: he sayde: / I will get me a name and a prayse thorowout the realme: for I will go fight with Judas / and then they are with him / so many as haue vspryed / I kunge commaunde-ment. So he made him ready / and there wete with him a greete myghty hoost of the vnigodly / no stande by hym / and to be auenged of the children of Iſrael. And when they came nye vnto Berthaim / Judas wente forth a-gaynst them with a small company. And whē hys people sawe such a greete hoost before the / they sayde vnto Judas: How are we able to fight so manye / to fight agaynst so greete a multitude / a so stronge / sente we be so weery / and haue sassed all this daye?

But Judas sayde: It is a small matter for many to be overcome with few: / Yee / there w no difference to the God of heauen: / to departe by a greete multitude: or by a small company: I for the victory of the battayll stande not in the multitude of the hoost / but the strenght cometh from heauen. Beholde / they come as they saynt vs with a presumptuous and puerile insultand: to destroye vs oure wyues and our children / and to robbe vs. But we will fight for oure lyues and for oure lawes: / a the Lord de him self shall destroye the besote oure face: therefore be not ye afrayed of them.

So soone as he had spoken these wordes / he leape suddenly vpon the. Thus was Seron smyten / and his hoost put to flight / and Judas followed vpon the beyonde. Whan ouer to the playne felde: where there were layne eight hundred men of the / a the rhyndus into the lande of the Philistines. Then all the Heithen on euery syde were afrayed for Judas and his brethren: / a the rumoure of him came vnto the farther partes / for all the Centules coulde tell of the victorie of Judas.

So whan Kinge Antiochus hade these dinges / he was angry with his mynde: / wherefore he sente forth and gathered an hoost of his whale realme / very stronge armed: / and opened his treasury / and gaue his hoost a yeres wages in hande / commaunding them to be ready at all tymes.

¶ Neuertheless / when he sawe that there was not money ynough in his treasury: / and that thow the wysdomde and perfection / which he made in the lide (as pur vnto the lawes that had bene of olde tyme) bye custumes and tri-that he wete not able for to beare the collesse of charges any lenger / nor to haue such greues / to gaue so liberally as he byd afore / more then the kinges that were before him.

Wherefore he was heauy in his minde / and thoughte it to go in Persides / for to take induces of the lide / and so to gather much money.
So he left vsias (a noble man of the kinges

¶ And Lysias chose vnto him Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius / Nicanor and Gorgias a mighty man / a stronge frende. These he sent with xl. thousande foire men a vt. thousande hoisment / for to go into the lande of Juda / and to destroye it / as a kinge commaunded. So they wente forth with all thre power / and came to Emmaus into the playne felde. When the machabees herd rumoure of them / they a thre thousande toke very muche feare / a golde / for: so bye the children of Israel to be ther bodemen. There came vnto them also yett more men of weete / on euery syde / out of Syria and from the Palastines.

¶ Now when Judas and his brethren sawe that it coulde succede / a thre the hoste theye nye vnto their battre / consideringe / stronge words which he commaunded vnto the people: namely / that they should vnto thre wast a deshoysen them: theye sate one to another: Let vs edidich the waye of oure people / let vs fight for oure selfe / and for oure Sanctuary. Then the congregation were soone ready gathered to fight / to praye and to make supplicacions vnto God for mercy and greet.

1. Mach. 1. b

¶ So for Jerusalem / as lare voyde / as was as it had bene a wilderness. There wente no man in nor out any / and the Sanctuary was roden downe. The cleaires kepte the castell / thence was the buccation of the Bethle. The mysh of Jacob was taken awaye / the pye and the harp was gone from amonge them.

1. Reg. 16. b

¶ The Israelites gathered them together / a came to Maspha before Jerusalem: for in Maspha was the place / there they prayed afore ym. So they fasted / thre daye / and put sackcloth vpon them / cast asphes vpon their breade / and thre daye / and layde forth the booke of the lawe / wherout the Bethle saught the hysence of theyr imagen / and thoughte the pusses ornaments / the syllinges and the Tyth. a. They set thre also the Tablaments / which had fulfilled theyr voyce / b. for God / and cryed with loud voyce / towards heauen / sayinge: what shal we do with this? and wherfor shall we carry them awaye?

1. Ma. 1. b

¶ For the Sanctuary to roden downe and destroyed / the pusses are come to heauynesse / a thre honour: a behold / the Bethle are came together for to destroye vs. Thou knowest what thinges they ymagin agaynst vs. How maye we stande before them / except thou / o God. Be oure helpe.

¶ They blew oute the trompettes also with a loud voyce. Then Judas oiden the captaynes ouer the people: oure thousande / oure hundrede / ouer fifty and ouer it. But as for such as buylded them houses / married wyfe / and planed them vineyardes / and thes that were fearefull: he commaunded them euere man to go home / according to the lande. So the hoste hoost remoued / and pitched vpon the South side of Emmaus.

1. Ma. 2. b

¶ And Judas seide: Arme yaurr selves / be stronge / o my chyldre / make you ready a quall to morrow in the morninge / that we maye fight with thre people / which are agreed together to destroye vs and oure Sanctuary. Betwee is it for vs to be in battayll / then to see oure people and oure Sanctuary in such a miserable case. / a. We are thelesse / as the will is in heauen / so be it.

The III. Chapter.

¶ Then toke Gorgias thre thousande men / a thousande of the best hoste / Joseph men / a remoued by nyghte to come nye where the Bethle hoste laye / and so to slaye them / so deadly. Now the men that kepte the castell / were the conueyers of the. Then seide Judas to smyte the chiefe and principall of the hynge boost of Emmaus / for the army was not yett come together. In thre mornynge came Gorgias by nyghte into Judas tentes / and there he founde no man there / he soughte them in the mountaynes / and thowth they had bene fled awaye because of hym. But when it was daye / Judas herd hym selfe in the felde with thre thousande men onely / which had nyghte harmesse nor sweared to their mindes.

But on the other side they sawe that the Egipten were mighty and well armed / a their hostines aboute them / and all these well spered in steames of warre. Then saide Judas to the men that were with him: I feare not ye the multitude of them / because I am afrayed of their violence running: remembre howe oure fathers were deliuered in the read sie / when B. Baracah deliuered them with a greates host.
 The Lord shall also reue nowe towards beauty: and the Lord shall haue mercy vpon us / and remembre the conuulsions of our fathers: yea and destroye this host in foue dayes: And all Egipten shall knowe that it is God him selfe / whiche deliuereth a feareful Israel.

Then the Egipten lft vp their eyes: and when they sawe that they were commynge against them / they wente one of their kinges into the Banayll / and they that were with Judas: stode vpon the promysse. So they buel-led together: and the Egipten were discom-fyed / and fled oure the playne felde: but the hymnys of them were layne. For they folo-wed vpon them vnto Assaremoth / and into the felde of Idunee towards Azot a Iamanis: so that there were slaine of them vpon a the thousande men. So Judas turned against with his host / and sayd vnto the people: Be not greyde of the spoyle / we haue yet a battell to fyghte: for Gargas and his hoste are here by us in the mountaynes / but slaine ye shall agaynst oure enemyes: and ouercome them: then maye ye safely take the spoyle.

As Judas was speakynge these wordes / there appeared one parte of them vpon the mounte. Thus when Gargas sawe that they of his parte were fled / and he entred Breue vpon by the synke: they mighte vnderstand what was done: they perceauynge this / were very fearefull: when they sawe also that Judas and his hoste were in the felde ready to strike Baracah: they fled euery-hone into the lande of the Egipten.

So Judas turned a playne to spoyle the tentes / where they gat muche golde and siluer / pexions stone / purple a greates redde.
 Thus they wente home / and songe a Psalm of thankesgynge: and prayd God in heauen: for he so gracious / and his mercy endureth for euer: And so Israel had a great victory on that daye.

Nowe alle the Egipten that escaped / came and tolde Lysias euery thinge as it hapned. Wherfore Lysias was sore afrayed and greued in his mynde / because Israel had not gotten suche myssfortune as he wolde they shoulde: neither as the kynge commaunded.
 The nexte yere folowynge / gathered Lysias a the score thousande chosen men of force and fyue thousande hostemen to fyghte against them.

So they came into Ieruy / and pitched their tentes at Bebeton / where Judas came agaynst them with ten thousande men.
 And when he sawe so great and myghty an hoste / he made his praye and sayde: Blessed be thou O saviour of Israel / whiche I. Xc. viii. g viddst / destroye the violent power of the gy-rane / in the hande of thy seruante Dauid / and gawest the spoyle of the Egipten into the hande of Ionathas: the sonne of Eam / and of his weapon-carre.

Put this booke now into the hande of thy people of Israel / and let them be comforted in their multitude and hostemen. Make them afrayed / and discomfyte the belidnes of their strengthe: that they maye be moued thorow their destruction. Let them haue thorow their feardes of thy louce / then shall all they that knowe thy name / payntes with thons of shawynge.

So they stroke the Banayll / and there were slaine of Lysias hoste / fyue thousande men.
 Then Lysias / synge the discomfyte of his men / and the manlynesse of the Iewes / haue them were ready: to hitte or to stryke men. He wente vnto Antioche / and chose out many of warre: that when they were gathered together: they myghte come againe into Ieruy. Then sayde Judas and his brethren: Beholde / oure enemyes are discomfyred: it is nowe go vp / to cleanse a to repaer the Sanctuare.

Upon this / all the hoste gathered them together: and wente vpon mount Syon. q. Ma. g. a the shambles growinge in the courtes / like as in a wood or vpon mountaynes / yet / and that the puelles / Celles were broken / vniuers They reuie theye clerkes / made greete lamen tation / easte ashen vpon theye headae / fill vniuers flie to the grounde / made a greete noyse with the trompettes / and cryed toward heauen.

Then Iudas appoynted certayne men to fighte aganste those which were in the ear rell / yll theye had clenst the Sanctuary. So he chose puglers that were vnderstod / suche as had pleasure in the lawe of God: and they clenst the Sanctuary / and bare ouer the vestyled stones into an vnclene place. And for so much as the altier of burnt offeringes was vnhalowed / he toke aduysement what he myght do therof: so he thoughte it was best to destroye it / (kille / it shoulde happen so do them any spaine / for the Hyerben had vestyled / and therfore theye stak it vniuers. So for the stones / theye layd them vp vnder the mountayns / By the house in a conuenient place: till there came a prophet to them / what shoulde be done with them.

f. Theye toke whole stones accordinge to Exo. xxv. d. the lawe / and builded a new altier / suche one Exo. xxv. d. as was before / and made vpon the Sanctuarye Josu. vii. g. with in and without / and halowed the cour tes. Theye made new ornaments / as though theye had clenst the altier of innocence / and the table into the temple. The innocence layd theye vpon the altier / and lighted fy lampes which were vpon the candlesticke / that theye myght burne in the temple. Theye set the shebeade vpon the table / and hangd vp the vales / and set vp the temple as it was afore. And vpon the xxv. daye of the x. month / which is called November the monthe of the Calu in the Calu. years theye toke vp the hymne in the morninge for to do sacrifice / accordinge to the lawe / vpon the newe burnt offeringe altier / that theye had made: first the hymne and season that the Hyerben had vestyled it. The same daye was it set vp aganste / with songes / pipes / harpes / a symbole.

g. And all the people fell vpon theye faces / worshypingge and thankyngge the God of heauen / which had geuen them the victorye.
h. And theye kept the Dedication of the altier viij. dayes / offeringe burnt sacrifices / and thankofferinges with gladnesse. Theye deckt the temple also with crounes and shylbes of golde / and halowed the pottes and celles / and hangd doies vpon them. Thus was there very greete gladnesse amonge the peo ple / because the blasphemye of the Hyerben was put awaye.

So Iudas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Israell / ordeyned that the time of the Dedication of the altier shoulde be kepte in his season from yeare to yeare / By the space of viij. dayes / from the xxv. daye of the monthe of Calu: yet / as that with mirth and gladnesse.

And at the same tyme builded theye vpon the mounte Sion with bye walles and stonage towers a round about: lest the Grecians shoulde come and treade it downe / as theye had afore.
It befell thus Iudas set men of warre in the citye / and made it stronge for to defende Bethsure: that the people myght haue a re fuge aganste the Edomites.

The v. Chapter.

And happened also that when the Gorthen grounde aboute betwee howe that the altier of the Sanctuary / were set vp in theye cap old estate: it displeasid them very sore / where fore theye thoughte to destroye the generacion of Iacob that was amonge them: In so much that theye beganne to slaye and to persecute certayne of the people. Then Iudas soughte aganste the chyliden of Esau in Judea / aganste those which were at Trabatana / for theye dwelte rounde aboute the Iscaire where he stode and spyed a great mul titude of them. Therabouts also vpon the mauer and vnsaythfulnesse of the chyliden of Eran / howe theye were a stoute and stoupe vnto the people / and howe theye loved waite for them in the bye waye / wherfore he spurr them vp into to weare and eate vnto them / edd ned them / and bent vp their towres / with all that were in them.

Afterwarde wente he aganste the chyliden of Ammon / wherof he founde a myghty power and a greete multitude of people / with Elymore their captayne. So he stode many dayes / with them / whiche were destroyed beside hym. And when he had slayne them / he wanted eager the eyrie / with the rounes belongynge thereto / and so turned againe into Jewry. The Syrians also in Galad garthered them together aganste the Israelites that were in theyr quarters / to slaye them: but they fled to the castill of Seibeman / and B h sent letters vnto Judas and his brethren sayinge: The Syrians are gathered aganste vs on euery side / to destroy vs / and nowe they make them for to come and laye siege to the castill / wherunto we are fled / and Ty-mothe is the captayne of theyr hoste: come therfore: and deliuer vs out of theyr bandes / for there is a great multitude of vs slayne already. Yet / and ouer brethren that were at Lubin / are slayne and destroyed (will nye a thousande men) and their wyues / theyr chyldren and their goodes haue the enemies led awaye captiue.

Whyle these letters were yet a readyng / Scholers there came other insaungers from Galile / with cincts cloths: whiche tolde euen these thinges / and sayde / that they of Dialomais of Tyms and Sydon were garthered aganste them / and that all Galile was filled with enemies to destroye Israel.
C hen Judas and the people herde this / they came together / a greate congregacion) to theyr / what they myghte do for theyr brethren / that were in trouble and beseged of theyr enemies. And Judas sayde vnto Symon his brother: chuse the cure certaynelyns / and go deliuer thy brethren in Galile.
I do for me and my brother Jonathan / we will go into Galad / hym. So he lefte Josephus the sonne of Zachary and Asanas / to be captaynes of the people / and to kepe the remnant of the hoste in Jewry / and commaunded them / sayinge: Take the ouersight of this people / and see that ye make no warre agaynste the Syrians / vntill the tyme that we come aganste. And vnto Sunan he gaue the thousand men for to go into Gale / but Judas him selfe had yett thousand into Galad / hym.

Then wente Symon into Galile / and strooke threethen battails of the Gentils: whome he vscomfynded / and followed vpon them vnto the port of Dialomais. And there were slane of the Syrians almost iiij. thousande.

men. So he toke the spoils of them / and carryed awaye the Israelites / that were in Gale and Urbans. Now they were for their deliuery / and all that they had / and thought them vnto Jewry with greate gladnesse. Judas Machabeus also and his brother Jonathan went out Iordane / and trauayled in. Vnto Iourney in the wyldernes. Where the Iew busines met them / and receaued them for vnyngly / and tolde them euery thing that had happened vnto theyr brethren in Galad them / and how that many of them were beseged in Darasa / Bofos / Alimia / Caspho / Ma-gash and Cornum / al these are stronge walle d and mighty greate cyties / and that they were kepte in other cyties of Galad also: as to knowe they are appoynted to byngge theyr hoste vnto these cyties / to take them and to wynt them in one daye.

So Judas and his hoste turned in all the hastest the wyldernes / towards Bofos / and wonne the cytie / slawe all the males with the sword / toke al theyr goodes / and sett vs vpon the cite. And in the night they toke their Iourney from thence / and came to the castill.
And by cyties in the morninge when they loked vp / beholde / there was an innumerable people / bearinge labbers and other instrumentes of warre / to take the castill and to ouercome them.

When Judas sawe that the battayll be-ganne / and that the maye thers wrote vnto and rane into the heauen / and that there was so greate a cure in the aires: He saide vnto his hoste: fight this daye for youre brethren. And so came be hind their enemies in the compan-yes / and slawe vp the promptes / and ried w their pugers to God.

But as soone as Tymothe hoste perceiued that Machabeus was there / they fled frō hym / and the other slawe them thout right sencels that there were killed of them thattama Vare / almost eight thousande men. Then departed Judas vnto Masphal / and sette vnto it and wanne a slawe al the males in it / por-led it / and sett vs vpon it. For thence wente he and toke Casbon / Magash / Bofos / and the other cyties in Galad.

After this gathered Tymothe another hoste / whiche pitched their tentes before Aso & Ma. Id pon beyonde the water. Judas sent to spye the hoost / and they thoughte him woude agayne / sayinge: All the heathen that be round about vs / are gathered vnto hym / and the hoost is verye great. Yet / they haue heard the Arabians to helpe them / and haue pitched their tentes beyonde the water / and are readye to come and fighte againste the. So Judas wente on to meete them.

And Clemeas sayde vnto the captaynes of his hoost: when Judas and his hoost come nixe the ryuer: if he go ouir synne / we shall not be able to withstand him: for why / he will be so stronge for vs. But if he barre not come ouir / so that he pitched his tentes beyonde the water: then will we go ouir / for we shall be stronge ynough agaynst him. Howe as Judas came to the ryuer / he appointed certayne scribes of the people / and commaunded them / sayinge: If that ye leaue none behynde vpon this syde of the ryuer / but let euery man come to the battayll: So he wente synne ouir to them / and his people a fter him.

And all the heathen were discomfyted before him / and let theyr weapons fall / and came into the temple that was at Ecenaim. Whiche cite Judas wanne / and deuen the temple with all that were in it: So was Ecenaim subdued / and mighte not withstande Judas. Then Judas gathered all the Heretics that were in Galadithim / from the east vnto the mooste / with theyr wyfes / and theyr children / a verye great hoost / for so come into the lande of Juda.

¶ So they came vnto Ephron / whiche
 q. mac. vii. c. was a verye great and stronge cite / and laye in their waye. For they coulde not go by neither of the right hand nor of the left / but must go thowt in. Nevertheless / they that were in the cite / wold not let the go thowt / but walked vp the poises with stones. And Judas sent vnto them with peaceable wordes / sayinge: Let vs passe thowt your lande / for we maye go into oure owne countrey: there shall no budy do you haeme / we wil but onely go thowt. But they wold not let them in.

¶ Therefore Judas commaunded a proclamation to be made thowt the hoost / that euery man shoulde kepe his ordie: and so they dyd their best lyke valiant men.

And Judas beseged the cite all that daye and all that nyght / and so wanne it: where they slewe as many as were males / and destroyed the cite / and spoiled it: and wanne thowt all the cite ouir the that were slain. Then wente they ouir Jordan into the plain syde before Bethsan. And Judas helpe those forwarde that came behynde / and gaue the people good consolatione all the waye thowt: till they were come into the lande of Juda. Thus they wente vp vnto the mounte Ebron / wher they offered with mirth and thanksgyuinge: because there were none of them slayne / but came home agayne peaceably.

¶ Howe what tyme as Judas and Jonas was were in the lande of Galad / and Simon their brothe in Galile before Tirolo: nays: Then Josephus the sonne of Zachary / and Asanas the captaynes / hearyng of the actes that were done / and of the battayls that were styren: sayd: Let vs get vs a name also / and go fighte againste the heathen / that are rounde aboute vs.

So they gaue theyr hoost a commaundment / and wente toward Jamnia. Then came Gorgas and his men out of the cite to fighte agaynst the. Josephus also and Asanas wente chaed vnto the borderes of Jeruy / and there were slayne that daye of the people of Israel 4. M. men: so that there was a greete misery amonge the people / and all because they were not obedient vnto Judas and his brethren: but thought they shoulde quyre them selves manfully. Nevertheless / when they came not of the syde of the men by whome Israel was helpe. But the me that were with Judas / were greatlye commaunded in the sighte of all Israel / and all heathen / wherfore thei name was herde vpon / and the people came vnto them by dnyng them welceme.

¶ After this wente Judas forth with his brethren / and foughte agaynst the children of Efan / in the lande that lyeth toward the South / wher he wanne the cite of Sebth / and the countie that lye besyde it: and as for the wallkes and towres counde aboute / he bent them vp. Then returned he to go into the lande of the Philistines / & went thowt Samarit

Samaria. At the same tyme were there many galleis layne in the barreil/which weildfully/ and withoute aduysment wente owt foote fight to get them honoure. And when Judas came to Bct in the Philistines lande/ hee the same daye theye culdarea/dida the ymagio of their Idols/spoiled the cities/a came again into the lende of Judee.

The VI. Chapter.

IYDUS when kynge Antiochus crouyled in the bowes the hyge countrey/he herde that Eulias in Persia was a noble and pleuous ciety in siluer and golde/and ther therre was in it a very ryche temple: where as were darke/ore amoure/and sylbes of golde/which Alexander the sonne of Philippe/king of Macedonia had lefte theynde hym. Wherfore he went about to refe it rine/and to spoite it/ but he was not able: for the ciueyns were warned of it/and foughte with him. And so he fled/and departed wth greake heauynes/ and came againe into Babylon. Moreover/ there came one which broughte him rydinges in Perside/ that his hostles which were in the lande of Iuda/were dyuen awaye/ and howe that Lysias wente forth first wth a greake potter/ and was diuen awaye of the Jewes: how they had wonne the victory/ and gotten greake goodes out of the hostles that preyed: howe they had broken yuone y adominacion/ t which he set vpon the aultare at Ierusalem/ and fenced the Sanctuary wth hie walles/ life as it was afore: and Ierisura his ene also.

E So it chaunged/ that when the kyng had herde these wordes/ he was afraided/ and greued very sore. Wherfore he layed him yuone vpon his bed/ and fell sicke for very forewe: and al because it had no happened as he had desired. And ther continued he longe/ for his grete was cure more and more/ so that he sawe by must neede dye. Therefore he sente for his frendes/ and forde wnto them: the sleepis gone from myn eye/ for the very forewe and iracion of herie that I haue. for when I coustide in my mynde the greake aduersite that I am come into/ and the floudes of beawynesse which I am in/ where as afore tyme. And hee holdes I muste dye with greake forewe in a straunge lande.

Then called he for one Philippe a frende of his/ whome he made ruler of al his realm: and gaue him the crowne/ his robe and his caryer: that he should reke his soune Antiochus wnto him/ and burne him vp/ till he mighte eargne his selfe. So the kyng Antiochus dyed there on the xxix. daye. When the Lysias herwe that the kyng was dead/ he ouerdynd Antiochus his sonne/ whome he had broughte vp/ to raigne in his father's steade/ and called hym Eupator. Wher they that were in the castill at Ierusalem/ flete in the Jewes rouade aboute the Sanctuary/ a foughte euer still to do them harme/ for the strengthinge of the Hebreu.

Wherfore Judas thought to destroye the/ and called all the people together/ that they mighte laye siege vnto bene. So they came together in the el. year/ and besiged the m/ laynge forth their ordonances and instrumentes of warre. Then certayn of them that were besiged/ wente forth into whome some godly men of Israel conyed their selves also/ and wente vnto the kyng/ sayinge: Howe longe wylle a be/ do thou punishe and auenge our Brethren: We haue bene euer minded to do thy father seruice/ to walke in his statutes/ and to obey his commaundementes: Therefore oure people set from vs/ and wherfore thoue theye done any of vs/ they slewe the/ and they haue not onely medled with vs/ but with all oure countrey: and he holde/ this daye are they besigginge the castill at Ierusalem/ and haue made vp the stronge holden Bethsura: And if thou dost not pruenie the righte/ don/ they wyl do more then the/ a thou shalt not be able to ouercome the.

When the kyng herde this/ he was very angrye/ and called all his frende/ the captaynes of his fore men/ and of all his bouren together. He byed men of warre also out of other realmes/ and out of the Isles of the see/ which came vnto him. And the numbre of his

The first booke of Machabees.

I. M. and v. f

hooste was an hundred thousande fore men/and twenty thousande hoisemen and xxxij.
Elephanes/ well exercised to battayll. The came thowre Judea vnto Tberfura/ and beseged it a long season/ and made vnto instruments of warre againste it. But the Ierues came out and stente them/ and foughte lyfe. Then departed Judas from the castell at Jerusalem/ and remoued the hoost towarde Berthacaran ouer againste the kinges armye.

So the kinge arose before the daye/ and thoughte the power of his hoost into the way to Berthacaran/ where the hoostes made the to the banes/ blowinge the trumpets. And to prouide the Elephanes for to fyghte/ they stewed them the sappe of reade grapes and molberies. And vnto the Elephanes amonge the hoostes/ that by euery Elephante there shode a M. men well harnessid/ and helmettes of stele vpon their heades: For vnto euery one of the Elephanes also/ were adde ned v. hoisemen of the best/ which waied of Elephanes/ goyng wher soeuer he wente/and departed not from him. Euery Elephante was couered with a stronge tower of wood/where vpon were xxxij. valiant men with weapons to fyghte/ and therein it was a man of Iudee to rule the chass.

So for the remouance of the hoisemen/ he set them vpon both the sides in two partes/ with trumpettes to prouide the hoost/ and so sterc ap such as were slowe in the armye. And when the Sunne shone vpon their shulders of golde and stele/ the mountaines glistered again at them/ and were as brighte as the cress-tes of offire. The kinges hoost also was ve-midid/ one parte vpon the highe mountaines/the other to the beneth: so they wente on/ sakinge good bedde/ and keepinge their ordie. And al they that were in the sander/ were astrayed at the noise of theyr hoost/ when the multitude wente forde/ and when the weapons sounded together/ for the hoost was both greate and myghty. Judas also and his hoost entered into the banall/ and slewed v. C. men of the kinges armye.

Nowe when Eleasar the sonne of Sura-tyd/ sonne of the Elephanes/ dectee with the kinges badget/ and was a mox goodlye beast then the other: He thoughte the kinge shoulde be vpon him/ and receyved him safe to deliuer his people/ and to gethirm a pece-full name.

Wherfore he ranne with a courage vnto the Elephante in the myddell of the hoostes/ syn-ginge them vnto of both the sides/ and stur many about him. So wente he to the Elephanes feet/ and gat him vnder him/ and slew him/ then fell the Elephante downe vpon him/ and there he dyed. Judas also and his men/ seinge the power of the kinge and the myghty violence of his hoost/ departed frō them. And the kinges armye went vpon agaynst them towarde Jerusalem/ and pitched they camps in Ieruzselys beside mount Sion. Ma-reouer/ the kinge toke truce with them/ that were at Tberfura.

But when they came out of the cite/ cause they had no viuals within/ and the lande laye vntylled/ the kinge toke Berthfura/ and set men to kepe it/ and turned his hoost to the place of the Sanctuarye/ and layed siege to a greate whyle. Where he made all manner ordynance: handbowes/ spy barres/racesces to cast stones/ scoppions to flur arrows/ and syngees. The Ierues also made ordynance agaynst theirs/ and foughte longe season.

But in the cite there were no viualles/ so it was the fourth year of the warres/ and those which remained in Ieruzselys/ had eate vpon al their store. And in the Sanctu-arye were fewe men left/ for the hunger came so vpon them/ that they were fatered aboade euery man to his owne place.

So when Lysias herde that Philipur Treboune Anno was the king while he was yet tyuenge/ had aduised to bringe vpon Anno thus his sonne/ that he myght be kinge. And came agayne out of Persia and Media with the kinges hoost/ and thoughte to opene the kingdome. He gat him to the kinge in all the hayll/ and the captaynes of the hoost/ and sayde: We decreate daylye/ and oure viualles are but small: Agayne the place that we laye siege vnto/ is very stronge/ and it were oure parte to sic for the realme. Let vs agree with these men/ and take truce with them/and wech all their people/ and graunte them too hie after theye lawe / so they dyd as-for: theye greued/and so all these chynges against vs/ because we haue besyged their lawe. So the King and the princes were contente/and sent into them to make peace/and theye created it. Howe when the kynge and the princes had made an oath vnto the/theye came oute of the castell / and the kynge wente vp to mount Sion. But when he saw that the place was well fenced/ he dyde the oath that he had made/ and commaunded to beset the wall rounde aboute. Then he packed therein all the haile/ and cerryed vnto Antioch/ where he founde Dyrhyppus hauing Dominyon of the citey. So he fought agaynst hym/ and toke the cyte agayne oute his handes.

The VII Chapter.

Antioch the C. li. yere came Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus for the cyte of Rome with a small company of men/ vnto a cyte of the see coast/ and there he bare rule. And he chyllyed/ that when he came to Antioch the cite of his progenytours/ his hoste toke An-tiochus/ and Elyssas/ to synge them vnto hym. But when it was tolde hym/ he said: let me not se this: face. So the hoste per-suted him to death. Howe when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kynge dome/there came vnto him wicked/ and vngodlye men of Israel/ whose captain was Alcimus/that wolde haue bene made by the puste.
 These men accused the people of Israel vnto the kynge/ sayinge: Judas and his brethren haue slayne thy seruautes/ and theyen vs oare of aure vnto londe. Wherefore sende nowe some man/ to whom thou wyldest credence/that he maye goe and se all the destruction/which he hath done vnto vs/ and to his kynge-land/ and let hym be punished with all his fredes and sauourers.

Then the kynge chose Barchides a frende of his/ which was a man of greates power in the realme/ (beyond the greates water) and faithful vnto the kynge/ and sent hym to se the destruction that Judas had done. And so for that wicked Alcimus/ he made hym by the Duns/ and commaunded hym to be a-winged of the chylde of Israel. So theye stode vp/ and came with a greates hoste into the lande of Judas/ sending messengers to Indias and his brethren/ and speakinge vnto the with peaceable wordes: But vnder breake.

 Therefore Judas and his people shuld not i. Mar. 1-8 theye sayinge/ for theye sawe that theye were come with a greates hoste.

After this came the scribas together vnto Alcimus a Barchides/ trustinge the best vnto them. And Barchides Dystreans requered peace of them/ sayinge: Alcimus the Duns is come of the side of Azaon/ howe can he be peaceable?
 So theye gave them launge wordes/ and sweare vnto them/ and said: we wyl do you no harme/ neither your frendes/ and theye be-leued them. But the very same daye toke theye is-men of them/ and slew them: cominge to the wordes that are written: Theye haue cast the flesh of the slayners/ and shed their bloude rounde aboute Ierusalem/ and there was no man that wolde burye them.

So there came a greates fear/ and drede amonge the people/ sayinge: there is neither truely nor righte iustesse in the/ for theye haue broken the appoyntment/ and oath that theye made. And Barchides cerryed his hoste Ierusalem/ and persued his tentes at Bethzaida: where he stode forth/ and toke many of them that had forsaken hym: he slew many of the people also/ and cast them into a greates pye. Then committed he the land vnto Alci-mus/ and lesse men of warrre with hym to helpe hym/ and Barchides a him selfe wente vnto to the kynge. And thus Alcimus defended his by the puste/ and at such an opeard Israel/ reioyced vnto hym: In so much that theye obtained the lande of Judas/ and did much euell vnto the Israelites.

Howe when Judas sawe all the mischefe that Alcimus and his company had done/ (yet more then the Hebrews them selfes) vnto the Israelites: he wente forth rounde aboute all the borders of Iewry/ and punished those unfaithfull renegars/ so that theye came none one into the countrey. So when Alcimus sawe that Judas and his people had gostered the vnto perhande/ and that he was not able to abyde them/ he wente againe to the kynge/and sayde all the worst of them that he coulde.
 Then the kynge sent Elycanos/ one of his chiefe pynces/ (whiche bare curill wyl unto Iffacand commannded him / that he should vntrely destroye the people.

So Hircanus came to Ierusalem with a greate host / and sente vnto Judas and his brethren with frendly wordes / due vnder deccate / sayinge: there shalbe no warre betwixt me and you: I will come with a fewe men / to se how ye do with frendly suspice. Vpon this he came vnto Judas / and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemyes were appointed to take Judas by violence. Next the litle tyme was tolde Judas / that he came vnto hym bus vnder deccate: wherefore he gat hym awaye from hynn / and wolde se by a face no more. Wher Hircanus perceaued that his counsaill was betrayed / he went ouer to fighte agaynll Judas besyde Capharsalama: Where there were slayne of Hircanus hoost. v. M. men: he refusede fled vnto the castel of Dauid.

After this came Hircanus vp vnto mounte Syon: and the Pustice with the elders of the people went forth / to salure hym peaceably / as to shewe him the burnt sacrifices that were offered for the sinne. But he laughed them so scorn / mockt them / despyed their offerings

E and spake / disdainfully / yre / and swore in his wrath / sayinge: If Judas and his hooste be not deliuerd no we into my handes / as soone as euer I come agayne (and fare well) I shal burne vp this house. With that wense he out in a greate anger. Thet the pustice came in / and stode besyde the enter of the temple / weeping and sayinge: So: so much as thou shalt do / halfe chosen this house / that thy name mighte be called vpon therein / and that he should be an house of prayer and pencon vnto thy people: Be auenged of thra man a his doost / and let them be slayne with the sword: remember the blasphemies of them / and suffer them not to remane any longer.

When Hircanus was gone from Ierusalem / he purchest his rente at Berboon / and there an doost mee him ouer of Syria. And Judas came to Iudars with ni. M. men / and made bus prayer vnto God / sayinge: O Lord

Est p̄p̄n̄ d̄ / because he mislaungers of sinne See iij. m. xii. d. nacher blasphemed the / she auntyll wente and xv. d. fourth / and steeve an C. lxx. thousande of the. iij. cc. ff. Euen so destroye thou this hooste before v. 10 daye: that other people maye knowe / howe that he hath blasphemed thy Sanctuarie / and punishe him / according to his malicioynesse.

And so the hooste stroke the selde / the thirtifteenth daye of the month Iudars: and Hircanus hoost was distroyed / and he himselfe was first slaine in the battail. When Hircanus men of warre sawe that he was Iyde / they cast awaye their weapens / and fled: but the Iewes folowed vpon them an whole daye iourney / from Iudars vnto Gajara / blowinge with the trompettes / and makinge toles after them. So the Iewes came forth of all the countie there about / and steeve out theyr hoines vpon them / and turned agaynst them: Thua were they all slayne / and no one of them left.

Then they toke their substance for a pray / and smote of Hircanus head / and a right hande / which he helde vp so proudly / and broughte with them / and hanged it vp after Ierusalem. Wherefore the people were exceedingly reioyced / and passed ouer that daye in greate gladnesse. And Judas ordeyned that the same daye namely the xij. daye of the month Iudars / should be kepte in mirth euery year. Thus the lande of Iuda was in rest a litle whyle.

The. VIII. Chapter.

S Judas herde also the fame of the Roman Kinges / that they were myghty and valiant men / agreeable to all thinges that are requyred of them / and make peace withall men / which came vnto them / and howe they were boughty men of strengthe. Besides that it was tolde him of their battails / and noble acts which they dyd in Galatia / howe they had conquered them / and thought them wylde irburte: and what great thinges they had done in Spayne / howe that with their wyfdom / and sober behauioure they had wonne the Kinges of siluer and golde that ate the / and opayned all the lande with other places / farre from them: howe they had distroyed / and slayne vnto the Kinges that came vpon them from the westmost parte of the earth / and howe other people gaue them tribute euery year: Howe they had slayne and ouercome Dylippe and the Perses / the Kinge of Ciprus / and other moen in battail: which had brought their ordinance agaynst them: how they dysstroyed greake Antiochus kynge of Asia (that wold needes fyght with them) haryng an hundred and xx. thousand with hissein / darrices / and a very greake host: how they rote him (selfe / and otheyned him) (with such as shoulde raygne after him) to paye them a greake tribute / 7 yet / and to fynde them good fuytyres and pledge: Besydes all these / how they had taken from hym India / Media and Lydia (hys best landes) and given them to kynge Eumenus Againe: How they perceauing that the Grekes were comyng to dysceynt / sent agaynst them a captaine of an host which gaue them battayll slawe many of them / led awaye their wyfe and childe captiue / spoiled them / rote possession of their lande / destroyed their strong holdes / and subdued the to be their bonde / turne vnto theyr saye: Moreover / how that so for other kyngdomes and Isles / which somtyme with stoda dem they destroyed them / and brought them vnder their dominion: How he led euer their owne frendes / and those that were considered with them / and conquered kyngdomes / both sate and nye: and that whosoever herde of their renowne / was afrayed of them: for whom they wold helpe to the kyngdomes / those raygned / and whome it tyked noe them to raygne / they put hym vnto: And how they were come to greake preminence: haryng no fyngge amonge them / neyther any man clothed in purple / to be magnified there: howe: how he had otheyned the sike a course / wherein there sat xl. 7. and xx. Senators daily upon the counsayll / to dyspatch euer the busynesse of the people / to kepe good ordie: And how t every year they chose a Mayre / to haue the gouernante of all theyr lande: to whome euery man was obedient / and that there was neyther euill will nor dissencion amonge them.

¶ Then Judaskofe Eupolemus the sonne of Abon / the sonne of Jacob and Jason / the sonne of Eleasar / and sent them vnto Rome for to make frendshyppe / and a bond of loue with them: that they myghte be free from the bondage of the Grekes / for the Jewes sawe that the Grekes wold subdue the kyngdomes of Israel: So they wente vnto Rome (a very great iourney) and came into the court / and sayde: Judas Maccabeus with his brethren / a the people of the Jewes hath sent vs vnto you / to make a bonde of frendshyppe and peace with you: and ye to note vs as your louers and frendes: And the matre pleased the Romaynes cyght wel / wherefore it was wyrtten vnto of the which the Romaynes made a wyrtynge in tables of slon / and sent it to Jerusalem: that they myghte haue by them a memoriall of frendshyppe and bonde of frendshyppe / after this maner: God saue the Romaynes / and the people of the Jewes both by see and by lande / and kepe the sworde and eueryng from thei for euermore: If there come first any warre vpon the Romaynes / or any of theyr frendes / shew vnto you their dominion / the people of the Jewes shall helpe them (as the tyme requyret) and that with all their perces. Also they shall neyther geue nee sende vnto their enemies wytes / weapens / monyes / nor shyppe: but fullylly they charge at the Romaynes pleasure / and take nothinge from them therefore. Againe / if the people of the Jewes happen first to haue warre / the Romaynes shall helpe with the with a good will / accordinge as the tyme will suffice: Neyerther shall they geue vnto the Jewes engines / or stayles / weapens / monyes / nor shippes: Tho are the Romaynes consented / so / and shall fullylly their charge with ouer any decaye.

Accordinge to these articles / the Romaynes made the bonde with the Jewes. Now after these articles / sayde they if any of the parties wyl put to them / or al / any thinge from the / they shall do it with the consente of both: and whatsoever they adde then vnto them / or take from them / it shall stande fast. And as touching that Demetrius hath done vnto the Jewes / we haue wrytten vnto by mynsyng: Wherefore layest thou thy heauy yoke vnto the Jewes oure frendes a loue? If they make any captiue of the agayne / vnto vs we shall defende them / and fyght with the by see and by lande.

The X. Chapter.

¶ At the meane season when Demetrius departed that he had taken and his host was i. Ma. vii. f. stayne in the silder he pored further to sende Josiph. co. Rochides and Trymus again into Jewry / fol. lib. xi.

The first booke of the Maccabees.

and those that were in the right wyng of his host with them. So they went forth by the way that ledeth vnto Gulgala / and pitched their tents before M. Bethan / which is in Arbellus / and walled the cite / and slew many people. In the first moneth of the fifth yere / they brought their host to Ierusalem / as ofte vpon / and came to Betea with xx. foote men / and of M. hostmen.

Now Judas had pitched his tents at Laisa / in the plain and chosen men. And when they sawe the multitude of the other army / he was so greate / they were sore afrayed / many conueryed them selves out of the host. In so much that there abode no mo of them but viij. C. men. When Judas sawe that his host sayd him / a that he must needs fyghte w. hys brethren / that he had no myne to gather them together / wherfore the m^o was in extreme woude. Then he sayde / he sayde vnto them that remained with him. Vp / let vs go agaynst oure enemies / peraduenture we shall be able to fyght with them. But they wolde haue stopped him / sayinge we shall not be able / therefore let vs not saue oure lyfes / and oure agayne to our brethren / and then wol we fyght agaynst them / so we are here but fewe. And Judas sayde / God forbyd / that we shaldeste from them. Where / our myne be conserued on dy manfully for oure brethren / and let vs not slay our hosten. Then the host remoued out of the tentes / and fied agaynst them. The hosten receyued in two partes / flyinge eastward and the acherys wente before the host / and all the myghty men were foucled in the side. Bathydas him self was in the right wyng of the batayll / and the host drew nye in two partes / a blew the trompettes. They of Judas syde blew the trompettes also / and the earth shoke at the noise of the hostes / and they stroke a felde from the morow vntill nyght. And when Judas sawe that Bathydas host was strongest of the right syde / he toke with him all the hardymen / and drake the right wyng of their oner / and folowed vpon them vnto the thirde parte.

Now when they which were of the left wyng / sawe that the right syde was vnto them / they persecuted Judas and them that were with him. Then was there a sore batayll for many were slayn and wounded of both the partes / Judas also him self was filled / and the remnant fled. So Jonathan and Synon tooke Judas their brother / and buried him in his fathers sepulchre / out of Madon. And all the people of Israel made greate lamentacion for him / and mourned long / sayinge: Alas / that this worthy shoulde be slayn / which deliuered the people of Israel. As for other thynges pertaininge to the batayll / of Judas the noble acts that he dyd / and of his worthynesse: they are not written / for they were very many.

And after the death of Judas / wicked men came vp in all the coastes of Israel / and there was a great euill / as was there a greate vntill in the lande / and all the countrey gaue ouer them selves and shute vnto Bathydas. So Bathydas those wicked men / and made the lorde in the Dec. These foughte out and made search for Judas frendes / and broughte them vnto Bathydas: which auenged him self vpon them with greate vespere. And there came a greate trouble in Israel / as was not since the tyme that no prophet was sent there.

Then came all Judas frendes together / and sayde vnto Jonathan: For so much as thy brother Judas is dead / there is no more lyke him to go forth agaynst oure enemies / agaynst Bathydas / and such as are aduersarys vnto our people. Wherefore this daye we chose the first / to be oure prince / and captaine to eddie our batayll. And Jonathan to see the generall / auunce vpon him / and chose me / and called in sleade of his brother Judas. When Bathydas gat knowlege thereof / he sought for to slay him: But Jonathan and Synon bys brother / perceauing that fled into the wilderness of Betua with all their company / and perched their tentes by the water pale of Bethphat.

Which wher Bathydas vnder stode / he came vnto Boudane with all his host vnto the Sebdath Bays. Now had Jonathan sent his brother Thon / a captaine of the people / to praye his frendes the Nabuthites / that they wolde knowe the true ordinaunce / for they had muche. So the dyuines of Jambye came out of Madaba / and toke Thon / and all that he had / and wente mentes of warre/and sought against Bathydes/and vschewed him. And Bathydes was fore warned / because his counsaill and nauaile was in dayne. Wherefore he was woth at the wicked men/that gaue him counsaill to come into the lande/and slawe many of the. Then purposed he with his company to go awaie into his owne countrie: whereof when Jonathan had knowledge/ he sent Ambassadours vnto him. And to make peace with him / as that he shoulde deliuer him his prisoners agayne. To the which Bathydes consented gladly/ and by accordinge to his best respect/ and made an ooth that he should neuer do him harme all the dayes of his lyfe. So hee sloued vnto him all the prisoners that he had taken out of the lande of Iuda / and then turned and wente his waye into his owne lande/ neither pceeded he any further to come vnto the borders of Iuda. This Ierusalem had no more warre. And Jonathan dwelt at Machmas / and beganne there to gouerne the people / and destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

The X. Chapter.

In the hundredth lx. yere came Alexander the sonne of noble Annotius / and roke Desol. 10. whose cyasyno receaued him / as there he carynged. When Demetrius herde thereof / he gathered an exceeding greate host / and wente forth against him to fight. Wherefore Demetrius sent letters vnto Jonathan with louinge wordes / and prayed him greatly. So he sayde: we will first make pecee with him/ before he binde him self with Alexander against vs: as he shall remember the euill that we haue done aganst him / his bownde and his people. And so he gaue Jonathan leave to gather an host / to make weapons / and to be confederate with him / and commaunded the pledges that were in the castell / to be deliuered vnto him.

Then came Jonathan to Jerusalem / and red the letters in the audiance of all the people / and of them that were in the castell. And therefore were they sore afraid / because they herde that the kynge had giuen hys licence to gather an host. Thus were the pledges deliuered vnto Jonathan / which restored them to their eldres. Jonathan also dwelt at Jerusalem / and beganne to builde vp / and to repaire the citie: commaunding the worke men to walk in / and the mount Syan rounde aboute with fire stone / to be a stronge hold / and so they byd. So for the Egyptian that were in the castelle which Bathydes had made vp / they fled: so that euery man left the place / and wente into his owne countrie. Only at Bethsura remayned certaine of the Jews / which had forsaken the lawe / and some admistrators of Gods / for Bethsura was their restinge.

Now when kynge Alexander herde of this penymissio that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathan / and when it was tolde him of his barbaies and noble actes / which he and his brethren had done / and of the great traualles that they had taken: he sayde: where shall we fynde such a man / well / we wil make him our frende / and be confederate with him. Upon this he wrote a lettre vnto him with these wordes: Kynge Alexander salueth his brother Jonathan. We haue herde of the / that thou art a valiant man / and meete to be our frend / wherefore thus saye we: wherbye he to be the byghte guest of thy people / and to be called the kynges frende. Upon this he sente him a purple clothyng and a crowne of golde / that thou mayest confide what is for oure profyt / as hepe sende thyppre towarde vs.

Now in the viij. moneth of the C. lx. yere upon the folempne feast daye of the tabernacles / Jonathan put the holy rammei vnto him. Then gathered he an host / and made many weapons. Which when Demetrius herde he was maruailous sore / and sayde: Alas / what haue we done / that Alexander hath persecuted vs in contrarye the frend shyppe of the Jewes / for his owne benefyce. Yet will I write vnto him / vnguly vnto the also / yet / and promysse them Iugurco and eweabes / that they maye be of my frend. Wherupon he wrote vnto the these wordes: Kynge Demetrius sendeth greetinge vnto the people of the Jewes. Where as ye haue kepte youre aduantage / to ward vs / and continued vs oure frend shyppe / notwithstandinge to oure enmities / we were glad wher we herd thereof. Where one remaine still and be sayd / full to you: and we shal wel recompense you for the thinges that ye haue done on oure part: we shal releese you of many charges / and give you rewardes.

And now I discharge you and all the Jewes from tribute / I for geue you the custome of sils and releas you of the craunc tax of the thevres parte of sedes / and half of the frute of leues / which to nyne owne duty. D These I leaue for you from this daye forth: so that they shall not be taken of the lande of Judah nor of the thevres cuncts which are added thereto / out of Samaria and Galile / from this daye forth for euermore. Jerusalem also with all thinges belonginge thereto / shalbe holy as fre / for the thevres and tributes shall pertaine vnto it. As for the power of the castell which is at Jerusalem / I reinitte a geut it vnto the byghe priest / that he maye set in it such men as he shall chosse to kepe it. I frely discharge all the Jewes that are prisoners / whomout all my realme: so that euery one of them sholde fre from payinge any tribute / for euen of thevres caril.

All the solempne feastes / Sabbathes / fasts / and the dayes appoynted / the thevres dayes before and after the feastes shalbe fre for all the Jewes in my realme: so that in them no man shall haue power to do any thinge / or to moue any busynesse against any of them in any maner of cause. There shall xxx. M. also of the Jewes be wyrtyn up in the kynge booke / and haue theyr wages payed / as all other men of warre of syngeles shoulde haue: and of them shalbe ordeyned certayne to kepe the kynge strong holdes / yee / and some of them shalbe set ouer the kynge busynesse / that they maye faithfully deale with the same. The Jewes also shall haue pyncees of theyr owne / and walke in theyr owne lawes / as the kinge hath ordeyned in the lande of Iuda.

And the thevres that are fallen vnto Jewry from the countie of Samaria and Galile / shalbe taken as Jewry / and be vnder the same: theyr be subiecte to any straunge lorde / but to the byghe priest. As for Ptolomey and the lande pertaininge thereto. I geue vnto the Sanctuary at Jerusalem / for the necessary expences of the holy syngeles. Mowethere / I will geue euery yeare xv. M. Synles of siluer out of the kynge cheker (which pertaineth vnto me) to the worke of the temple: yee / and take what remaineth / which they ther had ouer matters in hande in synce pass haue not payed) that same shall they geue vnto them also. And besides all this / the v. M. Synles which they toke yearly of the rentes of the Sanctuary / shall belonge vnto the priestes that be seruice.

Item / whosoeuer they be that flye vnto the temple at Jerusalem / or within the libertyes thereof / where as they are fallen into the kynge handes / in any maner of busynesse / they shalbe pardoned / and all the goodes that they haue in my realme / shalbe fre. For the buydinge also and exparynge of the worke of the Sanctuary / and pyncees shalbe geuen out of the kynge cheker: yee / and for the makinge of the walles rounde aboute Jerusalem / for the buydinge of the olde / and for the settinge vp of the stronge holdes in Jewry / that be colles and charges be geue out of the kynge cheker.

¶ But when Jonathan / and the people herde i. Ma. v. ij. these wordes / they gaue no credence vnto the kynge: they receaued them: for they remembered the greate wickednesse that he had done vnto Israel / and how sore he had vs: and thevres. Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander / for he was a pynce that had bene frendly with them / and so they stode by him alwaye. Then gathered kynge Alexander a greate host / and broughte by a waye against Demetrius. So the two kyngeles stroke battal together / but Demetrius host fled / and Alexander folowed after / and fell vpon them. A myghty foire foire was / and cōsumunge of all the Sunne wyne dyne / and Demetrius was slayne the same daye.

dom. And now will I fulfill thy wynnings: but meet me at Ptolomays / that we may see one another / at that I may marry my daughter onto the according to thy desire. So Ptolome wente out of Egypte with hys daughter Cleopatra / and came onto Ptolomays in the C. lxxij. yere: where kynge Alexander met hym / & gaue Alexander hys daughter Cleopatra / and married them at Ptolomays with greete joy / bypp / lyke as the name of kynge is to be.

Then reuok kynge Alexander onto Jonathas / but he should come and meet hym. So he wente honorably onto Ptolomays / and there he met the two kynges / and gaue them greate presence of golde and silver / a founde fauoure in theyr sight. And there came together against Jonathas certayne wicked men / and vngreuous persones of Israel / makinge complaynes of hym / but the kynge regarded them not. As for Jonathas / the kynge commaunded to take of his garments / and to clothe him in purple / and so they dyd. Then the kynge appointed him to sit by him / and sayde vnto hys priuies: Go with him into the myddest of the cite / and make opioclamacyon / vnto no man complayne against him of any inuader / and that no man trouble him for any manner of cause.

So it happened that when his accusers sawe / woth byppe / which was proclaimed of him / and that he was clothed in purple / they fled euery where. And the kynge made much of him / wrote him amonge his chiefe frendes / made him a duke / and partaker of his domination. Thus Jonathas wente agayne to Jerusalem with peace and gladnes. In the C. lxxv. yere / came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius from Cetera into his fathers lande / wherof when Alexander had told / he was right soyl / and returned onto Antioche. And Demetrius chose T Appollonius (which had the gouernance of Clesytia) to be hys captayne.

So he gathered a greate hoost / and came vnto Jamnia / and sente word vnto Jonathas / that he shuld meete / sayinge: Warrest thou with slande vnto thy self alone. As for mee / I am but laughed vpon / and shamed / because thou pouest thy strength against vs in the mountaynes. Now thou seest how trustless I am / thine owne strength / come vnto me into the playne felde / and there let vs prouoone our strength together: thou shalt fynde that I haue valauntme of warre with mee / and shalt knowe who I am / and the order that standeth by me: which saye / that your force is not ablet to stande before oure force / for thy faith is haue bene wofe sherd into thine owne lande. And now / how wilt thou be able to abyde so great an hoost of boismen and footmen in the felde / where as no wayth to fe / slome / nor place to flye vnto.

When Jonathas herd the wordes of Appollonius / he was moued in his mynd: wherfore he chose T. i. thousand men / and wente out of Jerusalem / and Symon hys brother met hym for to helpe hym: And they pitched theyr tentes at Joppa / but the cite keppe him forth / for Joppa was an holde of Appollonius. Then Jonathas layed siege vnto it / and they that were on the cite / for very feare let hym in: and so Jonathas wanne Joppa. Appollonius hearinge of this / toke T. x. thousand boismen / with a greate hoost of force men / and wente as though he wolde go to Agorus / and came immediately into the playne felde: because he had so many boismen / and put hys trust in them. So Jonathas slowed vpon hym to Agorus / and there they fought the battayl. Now had Appollonius lefte o. vii. thousand behinde him / prauely in the tentes. And when Jonathas knewe that such wayte was layed behynde / they wente rounde about the enemies hoost / and shot darto at the people from the mountaynes to the eveninge. As for Jonathas people / they kept theyr ordur as he had commaunded them / and the enemyes dyde with out labouringe.

Then brought Symon forth his hoost / and set them against the fore men. For the chiefe were weery already. So he discomfited them / and they fled. And they that were feared in the felde / gaue them to Agorus / and came into the temple of Dagon: theyr fooll / that they might shew sake theyr lyce. But Jonathas set fire vpon Agorus / and all the cite rounde aboute it / and toke the gaubes / and bene up the temple of Dagon with all him that were fled into it.

in the hyghe priesthood with all þat worshippe that he had afoze / and made him his chiefe frende. Jonathan also beseyed the kynge that he woulde make Jeremy frend with the thre head citie of Samaria / and the Iudeas petysoninge there: upon the whiche Jonathan promysed him the C. talents. Whereunto the kynge consented / and gaue Jonathan wysynge of the same / concerninge these wordes: kynge Demetrius sendeth greunge vnto his brother Jonathan / as to the people of the Jewes. We sende you hert a copy of the letre / which we haue wryte vnto oure elder Lathenus / concernynge you / that ye shoulde knowe it.

¶ Kynge Demetrius sendeth greunge vnto Lathenus his elder. For the faythfulnes that oure frendes the people of the Jewes kepe vnto vs / and for the lowynge handes which they beare towards vs: we are determyned to do them good. Wherefore we ordeyne all the coastes of Jewry with the thre citie / Lyda and Ramatha which are added vnto Jewry from Samaria / and all the Iudeas petysonynge thereunto: to be freely separand for such as do sacrifice in Jerusalem: both concernynge the payntmentes which the kynge toke yearly afoze tyme / and the frutes also of the earth and trees. As for other cyties and towncs that belonged vnto vs / we discharge them therof from this tyme forth. In lyke maner / we graunte vnto them all the customes of sale and couene rates / which were brought vnto vs. And thys freedom shall they haue firme and sticfast / from this tyme forth for euermore. Therefore I haue made a copy of these euell letres / a helyuer in vnto Jonathan: that it may be kepte vnto the holy mount in a conuenient place.

¶ After this / when Demetrius the kynge sawe that thys Iudea was in rest / and that no resistancer was made hym: he sent a waye all his hoost armye man to thys owne place / excepte an armye of straungers / whome he brought from the Isee of the Egiptus / wherfore all thys fatheres hoost had euell wil at him.
 ¶ Now was there one Tryphon / that had bene of Alexanderes partes afoze / which wher he sawe that all the host murmured against Demetrius: he wente to Eriuleth the Arabian that dwelleth by Antiochus the sonne of An-lexander / and laye soze vpon him / to helyuer hym this yonge Antiochus: that he myght raygne in thys fatheres steade. He tolde hym also what greute euill Demetrius had done / and howe his me of warre louted hym now: and so remayned there a longe season.

¶ And Jonathan sent vnto kynge Demetrius / to byue them out which were in the ces-sale at Jerusalem / and in the other regions afoze thys whiche Irael greute harmis. So Demetrius sent wordes vnto Jonathan / sayynge / I will not only do thys thinges for the afoze people / but at tyme conuenient / I will do both for thys people greute worshippe. But now thou shalt do me a pleasur / if thou wilt sende me men to helpe me: for all myne armies gone for me. So Jonathan sent hym thre stronge men vnto Antiochus / and they came vnto the kynge: wherfore the kynge was very glad at thys commynge. But they thre were of the cincture an C. x. thousande men: gathered them together / and wold haue stryke the kynge / which fled into thys court: and the cincture kepte the streets of the cite / and be-ganne to fflyght.

¶ When the kynge called for the Jewes helpe which came vnto him also: they / and wente abroade abouze the cincture / as they the same vnto an hundred thre men: as they upon the cincture gaue many speakes in that daye / and deliuered the kynge. So when the cincture sawe that the Jewes had gotten their will of the cincture and they them selfe dysposyted of their purpose: they made their supplicacion vnto the kynge / sayynge: Graunte vs peace / and let the Jewes cease from troublynge vs / and the cease / and upon thys they cast a waye they were peno. Thys they made petyson / and the Jewes gaue greute worshippe in the sight of the kynge / and in the sight of all that were in his court: and were spoken of throughtout the kingdomes and so they came agayne to Jerusalem with greute goodes.

¶ So the kynge Demetrius sat in the trowne of thys kingdomes / and had peace in his lande.
 ¶ Heer shal be dyssembled in all thys booke of speake / and whiche were hym selfe from Jona-phon agayne with yonge Antiochus / which raygned / and was crowned kynge. The there gathered vnto him all the men of warre / whome Demetrius had put away / which foughte agaynste Demetrius / which fled and turned his backe. So Triphan toke the Elephanter / and wanne Antioche. And yonge Antiochus reioice vnto Jonathan / sayinge: I confirm the in thy priesthode / and make the ruler of is countrey / that thou mayest be a fruite of the kynge.

Vpon this he sente him golden vessell to be fered in / and gaue hym leaue to synke on golde / to be clothed in purple / and to weare a colar of golde / he made his brother Simon also captayne / from the coastes of Egipt vnto the borders of Egipte. Then Jonathan toke his iourneys / and wrote thow the ciues beyonde the water of Jordan / al the men of warre of Syria gathered them vnto hym for a helpe hym. So he came vnto Iherusalem / and they of the cite receaued him honorably: and from thence wente he vnto Gaza / but they wolde not let him in: wherefore he layd sege vnto it / but in gite opp / and spoilinge the places that were aboute the cite.

¶ And the ciues of Gaza submitted them selfe vnto Jonathan / which made peace wth them / but toke of their fornes to pldge / sente them to Iherusalem / and wene thow wth some reioice vnto Damasus. Now when Jonathan herde that Demetrius painces were come in to Iadca / which is in Galile / with a greate host / purposeinge to put Demetrius out first / and then in the realme: he came a gawst / and lefte Simon his brother in the lande / which came to Bethsura / and layd sege to it a long tyme / and besieged it. So they besied / to haue peace wth him / which he graunted them / and after that he put them out from thence / toke the citie / and set men to kepe it. And Jonathan with his hoeste came to the water of Genezareth / and in the morning gat them to the plaine felde of Jozor.

And beholde / the hostes of the Syrians mete them in the felde / and layd warde for them in the mountaine: so that when Jonathan came agaynst them / other which were layd to ward / rose out of their places / and fought / and they that were of Jonathan fled sted every man: and there was not one of them left / excepte Machabias the sonne of Absalomus / and Judas the sonne of Calphe the captayne of the hooste. Then Jonathan rent his clothe / layd earth vpon his heade / made his prayer / and turned agayne to them on the felde: where they fought together / and he put them to flight. Now when his owne men that were fled / sawe this: they turned agayne vnto hym / and helpe him to followe vpon all they enemies vnto the tentes at Cadca. So there were slayn of the Syrian the same daye iiij. M. men / and Jonathan turned agayne to Iherusalem.

The. xiiij. Chapter.

¶ Jonathan herde that the time was nere / that Iherosolome / those certayne men / and sente thence vnto Rome / for to stablish it / and to renewe the frendshipp with them. He sent leui. iij. m. vij. lxx. men also vnto Sparta / and to other places in like manner. So they wrote vnto Rome / a letter vnto the consull and sayde: Jonathan the hygh priest / and the people of the Jewes sente vnto you: for to renewe the olde frendshipp / a bond of loue. Vpon this the Romaynes gaue the fre passozes / for he shoulde lede them home vnto the land of Iuda peaceably. And this is the copy of the letters that Jonathan wrote vnto the Spartans.

Jonathan the hygh priest / with the elders of iudca / and the other people of the Jewes / sende greeting vnto the Spartans thise brethren. There were letters sente lon ge ago vnto Damasus the hygh priest / from Arius which than raygned amonge you / that ye are our frendes / as the writinge made therupon speyeth. And Damasus intruded the Iudish lawe / that was sente honorably / and receaued the letters: wherein there was mention made of the bonds of loue and frendshipp. But as for we / we neede no suche writinges: for why / we haue the holy booke of scripture in our handes / to our comforte. We neede not / we had rather sende vnto you / for the renewinge of the brotherhode and frendshipp / lest / we shoulde be straunge vnto you / for it is longe since the tyme that ye sente wordes vnto vs. Wherefore / in the sacrifice / that we offer / and other ceremonies / vpon the hygh solemnitye dayes / other we they remembre you without ceasinge (like an rason is / and as it becommeth vs to thinke upon our brethren) / and are right glad of your prosperouse honour.

And though we haue had greate troubles and warres / so that the ynges aboute vs haue foughten against vs: yet wolde we not be greuous vnto you / nor to other of our louers and frends in these warres. for we haue had helpe from heauen / so that we are valuered / and our enemies subburd. Wherefore we chose Hemenius the sone of Annochus / and Antipater the sone of Tason / and sent them vnto the Romaynes / for to renewe the olde bonde of frendshippe and loue with them.

We commaunded them also to come vnto you / salute you / and to shew you our letters / concerninge the renouacion of our brotherhede. And now ye shal be right wylly to geue us an answer thereunto.

¶ And this is the copy of the wytyng / which Tryon the kynge of Sparta sente vnto Onias: Thus sayng of the Spartans sendeth greaunge vnto Onias the hye priest. It is founde in wytyng / that the Spartans and Jewes are brethren: and come of the generation of Abraham. And nowe for so much as this is come to oure knowlege / ye shall do well / to writt vnto vs of youre prosperite / as for as we haue written our mynde vnto you: Our carell and goodes are yours: yours ours. These thinges haue we commaunded to be shewed vnto you.

¶ When Jonathan herbe that Demetrius pyncer was come forth to fight against him with a greate hoste then also / he wente to Jerusalem / and met them in the lande of Be Beth / so he gaue them space to come into his owne countrey. And he sent spyes vnto their tentes / whiche came agayne / and tolde him that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night season. Wherefore when the Sunne was gone home / Jonathan commaunded his men to watch all the night / and to be ready with weapons for to fight: as he watchmen stande aboute the hoost. But when the aduersario herde that Jonathan was ready with his men to the battayll / they feared / and were dismayed in their bettes / and kynbled fyres in their tentes / brake vp / and gaue their as waye. Neuertheless / Jonathan and his companye knewe it not / til the morninge / for they sawe the fyres burninge.

¶ Then Jonathan followed vpon them / but he myght not ouertake them / for they were gone ouer the water Helicurus. So Jonathan departed vnto the Arabies (whiche were called Zabadi) / then the m / and toke their goodes. He proceeded further also / and came vnto Samarias / and went thither all that coloure. But Simon his brother toke his horse / and came to Ithalon a to the most strong holdes / departinge vnto Joppa / and manne it. For he herde that they wolde stande of Demetrius party: wherefore he sente men of warre in the cytie to kepe it. After this came Jonathan home agayne / and called the elders of the people together / and they went with them for to bulde up the strange holdes in Ierusalem / and the walles of Ierusalem / so that they might be better walled: and the castell and the temple / so to separate it from the tynes / that it might be alone / and that men shoulde neither feare nor fall to it.

¶ Upon this they came together for to bulde up the cytie: and so / so much as the walles vpon the wycke of the West syde (called Capthereta) was fallen downe / they repaired it. And Simon set vp a diada in Capthereta / and made a strong / strange gate / and looke vpon it. ¶ Now when Tryphon purposed to raigne in Asia / he crownd / and to slay the kynge Annochus: he was afrayed that Jonathan wolde not suffre him / but fight against him. Wherefor he wente aboute to take Jonathan / and to kill him.

¶ So he departed / and came vnto Bethsan. Then wente Jonathan forth against him to the battayll with fourty thousande chosen men / and came vnto Bethsan also. But when Tryphon sawe that Jonathan came with his greate hoste to Bethsan / he was afrayed / and therefore he receaued byn honore / and commended him vnto all his frends / gaue him rewards / and commaunded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him as to hym selfe.

sende them home againe / and those certayne men to waite upon the / and come thou with mee: Ptolomais / for I will give it the which the other strong holdes / men of waite and they officers: Do for me / I must departe: and is only because of my commynge. Jonathan besought hym / and sayd as he said / purginge away his host / which wente into the lande of Iuda. He kepte thus vs. M. by hym / wherof beset he M. into Galilee / and one M. went with him selfe.

Howe as soone as Jonathan entred into Ptolomais / the chieftains opened the gates of the citie / and receyved him / and slew all them with the swerde / that came in with hym. Then sent Tripbon an host of fore men and boistmen into Galilee / into the great playne felde / to destroye al Jonathan company. But when they knewe that Jonathan was taken / and all they sayde that waied upon him: they toke counsaill together / and came forth ready to the battail. So whē they th followed upon them / sawe that it was a matter of life / they turned backe agayne: as for the other / they wente into the lande of Iuda peaceably / and bewayled Jonathan / and the that were with him / byghte foue. And Israel made greatt lamentation. Then all the Syrians that were rounde aboute them / soughte to destroye them. So: they sayde: nowe haue they no captiues / nor any man to helpe them. Therefore let us on occaine them / and rote oute their name from amonge men.

The XIII. Chapter.

2 Y When Simeon herde that Tripbon gathered a greate host to come into the lande of Iuda / and to destroye it / and sawe that the people was in greace fearfulness / and care: he came up to Ierusalem / and gathered the people together / and gaue them exhortation / sayng thus: Ye knowe what greace hath Iud and my brethren: and my fathers house haue steifed for the lawe in the Sanctuary / at what maner of troubles we haue sithen: howe necessarye is it / that we should be saved: for I see Iuda full of Iudas left alone. And nowe let not me spare myne owne life in any maner of trouble: for I am no better then my brethren: but will auenge my people and the Sanctuary / our children and our wife: for all the Syrians are gathered together: to destroye vs of every natione.

These wordes the breeres of the people were kyndled together: so that they cryed for a loud voice sayng: Thou shalt be our captiue in steade of Iudas / and Jonathan thy brethren: or die thou our battail: whatsoeuer thou commandest vs / we shall do it. So he gathered al the men of warre / makinge hast to synch al the walles of Ierusalem / whiche he made stronge rounde aboute. Then sent he Jonathan the sonne of Abshalomus with a fresh host vnto Joppa / which is vnto the oute part that were in the castell / and remayned there him selfe. Tripbon also removed from Ptolomais with a greate armye to come into the lande of Iuda: Jonathan with him beinge in waide. And Simeon pitched his tentes at Iddua before the playne felde.

But when Tripbon knewe that Simeon stode vpon steade of his brother Jonathan / and that he wolde waere agaynst him: he sent messengers vnto him / sayng thus: Where as we haue kepte Jonathan thy brother: it is for money that he is owing: in the kynges accomptes / conceyninge the busynesse that he had in hande. Wherfore sende nowe an exortation of sisters / and his two sonne / for suters / that when he is taken for the he shall not forsake vs: and we shall sende him againe. Neuertheless / Simeon knewe that he byffirmed in his wordes: yet commaunded he the money and childre to be deliuered vnto him: lest he should be the greater enemye agaynst the people of Israel / and sore: because he sente him more money and the children / therfore so Jonathan dyed.

So Simeon sent hym the children and an hundred talents. The which dissimuled: a word not let Jonathan go. Therward came Tripbon into the lande / to destroye it / and went rounde aboute by the waye that ledeth vnto Iddua. But wherfore they went / thither wente Simeon and his host also. Nowe they that were in the castell sent messengers vnto Tripbon / that he should make haste to come by the wyldernesse / and so sende them vnto Iddua: And Tripbon made ready al his hostmen to come thither in the night. Neuertheless / it was a very greace sithen / so that he came in Galadithim. And when he drewe nye Bafchana / he flew Jonathan and his sonnes thre / and the turned for to go home unto his owne lande.

Then sente Simon for to see his brothers dead carcases buried in a Nobin his fathers one. So all Israell beweped him with greate lamentacion / and mourned for him very longe. And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren a buildinge / bygh to lye vnto of fre stone beynde and before and set vpon fewe pillers / one against another / for his father / his mother and foure brethren / and set greates pillers rounde about with armes vpon them for a perpetuall memory / and carued stappes beynde the armes that they might be signe of men faulging in the see. The sepulchre which he made at Modon / standeth yet vnto this daye.

¶ Josephus capite p. lib. xij. ¶ Now as Tryphon wrote south to walke with the yonge kynge Antiochus / he flew him trayceously / and raged in his shaddow / crowned him selfe kynge of Asia / and made eadl in the lande. Simon also diuided vp the castles in Jewry / makinge them stronge with towres / greates walles / postes and loctes / and layd vp wretches in the strange holdes. And Simon chose certayne men / and sente them to kynge Demetrius / to besyde him / that he wolde discharge the lande from all bondage / for Tryphon had spoiled it very sore. Whereupon Demetrius the kynge answered hym / and wrote vnto hym after this maner.

Demetrius the kynge sendeth grange vnto Simon the bygh priest his frende / with the elders and people of the Jewes. The golden rouine and precious stone that ye sente vnto vs. haue we receaued: and are ready to make a shodfast peace with you / yee / a co wryte vnto oure officers / for to release you / concerninge the thinges wherin we made you free: and the appointmentes that we made with you shalbe firme and stable. The stronge holdes which ye haue builded / shalbe your owne. As for any ouersight or fauice comered vnto this daye / we forgiue it / and the rouine saye that ye ought to also. And where so was any other tribute in Ierusalem / it shal now be no tribute: and loke who are mete amonge you to be in oure court / see it be written vp that there maye be peace betwixt vs.

¶ Thus the yoke of the Grekes was taken from Israell in the hundredth & seuenthy year. And the people of the Jewes began to write in their lawres a actes on this maner. ¶ In the first year of Simon the bygh priest / and prince of the Jewes.

In those dayes went Symon vnto Gaza / and beseged it rounde about / where he set vpon ordinaunce of warre. And waene a towre which he toke. So they fgate into the towre / leaped into the cync / which was in a greates staire: In so muche that the people of the cync rente their clothes / and clymmed vp vpon the walles with theyr wyfes and chyldren / besychinge Symon to be atone with them / sayinge.

O rewarde vnto our wickednesse / for thy gracious vnto vs / and we shal do the seruysce. The Simon for very pietie / wolde fighit none more againste them / but put them out of the cync / and caused the howse / wherin the ymagges were / to be clenst / and for to entred the cync with Psalmes of prayse / geuyng them vnto the Lozde. So when he had cast all abhominacions out of the cite / he set such men in it as kepte the law of God / and made the cync stronge / and builded a walling place for him selfe.

¶ Now when they in the castel of Ierusalem were keppe so straitly / that they coude not come / south nor into the countrie / a night ne ather theye nor sell: they were very hungrye / and many of the famillie died to death. In so muche that they besoughte Simon to be at one with them / which he graunted them. So he put them out from the citie / and clenst the castel from slythynesse. And vpon the xxij. daye of the settenbe month in the C. lxxx. yere they entred into it with thonsand of a draunthes of palmie trees / with harps / & rounde cymbals and lutes / synnginge Psalmes and songes of prayse vnto God / for that great enemy of Israell was overcome.

¶ And Simon ordeyned that the some daye shoulde be kepte every yere in gladnesse / and made heeunge the byl of the temple that was besyde the castel / where he dwelle him selfe with his company. Simon also preceasinge that that Upon his comme was a myghty man of aunty made him captayne of all the hostes/and caused him to dwell at Gaza.

The XIII. Chapter.

In the C. lxxx. yeare gathered kynge Deometrius his hoste / and departed anno Mcdia / to get hym helpe for to fight against Euphon. Nowe when Arseas the kynge of Persia and Media heide / that Demetrius was entred within his boundes / he sente one of his princes to take hym alyue / and to bring hym vnto him. So he wente and slew Deometrius hoste / toke hym selfe / thoughte hym to Arseas / which kepte him in wynde. And all the lande of Iuda was in rest / so longe as Simon liued / for he soughte the recouerie of his people / therefore were they glad to haue hym for their ruler / and to lo him with hope alwaies.

Simon wanted the cytie of Joppa also for a boune / and made it an intowne in to the Bless of the see. He enlarged the boundes of his people / and conquered them more lande: He gathered vp many of their people that were pylones: he had the Dominion of Gas-za / Bithura and the castell / which he clenfed from synnethesse / and there was no man that resisted him: So that euery man tyllid his grounde in peace / the lande of Iuda and the tree gaue them fruite a encrease. The elders Sat in iudgement / and take theye theye for the wealth of the lande: the yauge men put on woishippe and harnesse upon them. He promyded aynale for the cyties / and made goodly frange holtes of them: so that the sume of his woishippe was spoken of vnto the ende of the worldes. For he made peace with the yewes / the lande / and Israel was full of myght and ioye.

Euery man for vnder his cyne and frange need / and there was no man to fraye them away: there was none in the lande to fight against them / for then the kynge were over-com. He helpe that that were in aduersite amonge his people / he was diligent to se the lawe kepte: as for synche as were goddly and wicked / he toke them awaye. He set vp the Sanctuary / and increased the holy officie of the temple.

When the Romayns and Sparcians had gotten worde that Jonathan was dead / they were right ioy. But when they heide / Simon his brother was made high piest in his skab / and how he had wonne the lande as game with the cyties in it / they wrote vnto him in tables of lator / to renew the frendship and bonde of flowe / which they had made alyue with Judas and Jonathan his brethren. [Ma. vii. 1.] Which wynnynge were red before the congre d. q. a gacion at Jerusalem.

And this is the copy of the lertres that the Sparcians sent. The Senators / and since sine of Sparta sende greninge vnto Simon the greate piest with the elders / piestles and the other people of the Trewe that be thine When youre Ambassours that were sente vnto oure people / certyfyed vs of your waie sheppe / honoure and prosperous wealth: we were glad of their commynge / and haue wri-ten the carande whiche they spake before the counsaile of the people: namely / that Numinus us the sonne of Antiochus / a Synpaier the sonne of Jason the Jewes Ambassours are come vnto vs / for to renewe the olde frendship with vs. Upon this the people consented / and the men shoulde be honorably receiued / and that the copy of their carande shoulde be wri-ten in the spicial booke of the people / for a pe-reniall memory vnto the Sparcians / yea / and that we shoulde sende a copy of the same vnto Simon the greate piest.

After that the Simon sende Numinus vnto Rome / with a golden shilde of a thousand pounde weight / to conferme the frendshippe with them: which when the Romaynes vnderstode / they said: what thankes shal we recompence againe vnto Simon and his children: for he hath stablished his brethren / and ouercome the enemies of Israel. Wherefore they graunted him to be. And all this wrote the Jewes in tables of lator / and nauled it vnto the pillers upon mount Zion.
The copy of the wrynynge is this:

The xvij. daye of the moneth / that is / in the lxxx. yeare / in thirde yeare of Simon the high piest / in the greate congregacion of the piestles / rulers of the people / and elders of the countrey at Tharamell / were these wordes openly declared.

For so much as there was much warre in our

and euen therfore Simon the sonne of Marthias came of the children of Iared and brought in: put them in parcels and resisted the enemies of their people: that their Sanctuary and law might be maineyned/and byd their people great worshippe. Iona-thas in like maner after that he had gouerned his people a bene: then bygh priest: byed/ and lyth buried besyde his eldres.

After that wode their enemies haue re-den they: holy thinges vnder foie/ destroyed their lande/ and vnderly woked they Sanctuary. Then Symon withstode them/ and fought for his people/ spent much of his owne money/ weapened the valaunt men of his people/ gaue them wages/ made stronge the cites of Iuda/ with Bethsura that lyeth vpon upon the borders of Ieruy/ (where the ordy-naunce of they: enemies laye somtyme) a yet Ierues there for to feper.

F He made Iasus also/ which lyeth vpon the sea/ and Gaza that standeth vpon Igonus/(where the enemies dwelle as yet) and there he set Ierues to kepe it: and whatsoeuer was mete for the subduynge of the aduersaryes/that layed be them: None when the people saw the noble cete of Simon/ and what troushipp: he purposed to go for them/ his godly behauiour and faithfullnesse whiche he kepe vnto them/ and haue he sought by all wayes the wealth of his people/ because he byd all this therfore: they chose him to be their prince and bygh priest. And in his tyme they prospered well by hym/ so that the Heathen were taken out of their lande: and they also which were in the cite of David at Ierusalem in the castell: where they wente out and destroyed all thinges that were about the Sanctuary/ and byd greate harme vnto deny-nes/ and Simon put men of the Ierues in it for the defence of the lande and the cite/ and set vpon the walles of Ierusalem.

C And Syngue Demetrius confirmed him in his bygh priesthode/ made him his frende/ a byd him greate troushippe. For he herde that the Romanes called the Ierues that frede/louers of their law: howe honorable they re-ceaued Sinius Ambassadors: howe the Je-rees and priestes consented that he should be their prince and bygh priest perpetually. yll

God raised vpon the true prophet/ and that he should be their captain/ to care for the Sanctuary: and to set officers vpon the woikes therof/ ouer the lande/ ouer weapons/ ouer the house of defence/ to take prouision for the holy thinges/ and to be obeyed of euery man/as al the wynges of the lande to be made in his name: that he should be clothed in purple and golde/ and that it should be lawfull for none of the people nor priestes to breake any of these thinges/ to withstande his woikes/ nor to call any congregation in the lande without hym: that he should be clothed in purple/ and weare a colar of golde: And if there were any whiche disobeyed w shake this ordynaunce/ that he should be purnished.

So all the people consented to allowe Simon/ and to obay: dinge to these woikes.
Simon also him selfe toke it vpon him/ and was contented to be bygh priest/ the captain and prince of the Ierues and priestes/ and to gouerne them al. And they commaunded to make this wyngue in tables of lator/ and to fasten it vnto the compass of the Sanctuary in an open place: and to lay vpon a copy of the-same in the treasury/ that Simon and his postere might haue it.

The XV. Chapter.

H Onouer/ Syngue Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sente letters frome the Aleo of the Ierues to Simon the bygh priest and prince of the Ierues/ and to al the people/concernyng these woikes: Timochus by syng sendeth greeting vnto Sim: the bygh priest and to the people of the Ierues. For so muche as eccleuie wicked men haue gotten the kingdome of our progenitors/ I am purposed to challenge the realme again/ and to restitue it the old estate.

Wherefore I haue gathered a greate host/and made shippes of warre: that I maye go thoro to the countrey: and be auenged of them which haue destroyed our lande/ and wryshed many cetes in my realme. And therfore nowe I make the fre alleys from all the mountes/ wherof synges my progenitors haue discharged the/ and from other customes whiche from they haue released the/ whatsoeuer they be: For I geue the leaue to come any money of thine owne within thy lande. As for Jerusalem I wyl that it be holy and free: and all the weapens and houses of defence which thou hast in the land kepe in thine hands/shalbe thine. What eua any charge is or shalbe owinge vnto the kynge/I forgiue it the: from this tyme forth for euermore. And when we haue obtayned our kingdome/ we shall be the/ thy people and the temple greate worshippe: so that your honoure shalbe knowne througout the whole world.

In the thirtieth yeare wente Antiochus into his fathers lande/ and all the men of warre came together vnto him/ so that fewe were lesse with Terphon. So the kynge Antiochus followed vpon him/ but he fled vnto Dora/ which lieth by the sea side/ for he sawe that there was mischefe commynge vnto hym/ and that his doall had forsaken hym.

Then came Antiochus vnto Dora with an hundred and twenty thousande men of arms: yppon force/ and eght thousande horsemen. So he compassed the cytie round about/ and bespyped came by the sea. Thus they were id the cytie by lande and by water / in so muche that they suffere no man to go in nor out.

In the meace season came Valencius/ as they thocht had bene with him/ from the cytie of Rome/ hauinge leaues wysen vnto the kynge/ and prouinces/ heberia were conceyued these wordes: Lucias the Mace of Rome sendeth greiunge vnto Deolom the king. The Ambassadors of the Jewes oure frendes/ being sent from Simon the hygh priest/ and from the people of the Jewes/ came vnto vs/ for to reuise the olde frendshipp: and bende of loue/ and broughte a bulde of golde weighing a thousand pounde/ which we were faine to receiue of them. Wherefore we thought it good to wyspe vnto the kynge/ a prouince/ so do them no harme/ woe to take paine against them/ that aries not carriere/ neither to annoyne their enemies againste the. If there be any wicked persones that are fled from their carriere vnto your/ shalwe che vnto Simon the hygh priest/ that he may punish them according to thei owne lawe.

Christiane wordes wrote the Romaines also vnto Demetrius the kynge/ so Antiochus Araba/ Zefaces and to all regions: as Samaria/ to them of Sparta/ Selo/ Mado/ Sydon/ Caria/ Samoa/ Phoenicia/ Lycia/ Lycarnassim/ and to Rhodes/ to Sela/ to Cos/ Sida/ Arado/ Goeyria/ Gyndum/ to Cyrene and to Cyric. And of every lette they sent a copy to Simon the hygh priest/ and to the people of the Jewes. So Antiochus the kynge broughte his hoste vnto Dora: the frende came vnto us: where he made synce ordinaunces of warre/ and kepte Terphon in/ that he shoulde not come forth. Then Symon sent Antiochus two thousande chosen men to helpe hym with golde/ syluer and other pleatous gear: Neuertheles/ he wold not receiue them/ but staid at the ciuillite which he made with Simon afore/ and withdrew him selfe from hym.

Then Antiochus also a frende of his vnto Simon for to reason with him/ sayinge. Ye withholde fro me Joppa and Gaza/ which the castel that is at Jerusalem/ which are ciuities of my realme/ whose borders ye haue destroyed/ and thus greaue well in the lande/ haue yuge the Rominnacion in many other places of my kyngdome. Wherefore/ shalwe now the cytie which ye haue taken/ with the rebutes of the places that ye haue cule vpon/ without the borders of Jewy: We els giue me fye hundred talentes of syluer/ yee/ and for the harme that ye haue done in the cyties/ and for the rebutes of the same/ ether fye hundred talentes. If no/ we shall come and syghte against you.

So Antiochus the kynge frende came to Jerusalem/ and when he sawe the greate worshippe and honoure of Simon in golde/ syluer/ and so greate plenty of omaniance/ he was wauyld/ and tolde Simon as the kynge commaunded him. Then answered Simon/ and said vnto hym. As for we/ we haue neither taken other mens lande/ nor withholden thei/ but onely our fathers heretage/ which we our enemies had vnto greene/ in possissid a certayne tyme. This because of our faith/ we haue we chalenged in possesse of time. And where as thou complaine/ concerning Joppa and Gaza/ they thyd greue harme to our people and in our lande/ yet will we giue an talentes for them.

The first booke of the Machabees.

F Neuertheless / Zibnebus answered him not one word / but turned againe / woorthfully vnto the kynge / and tolde him all these wordes / and the great signe of Simons worth at that he had done / and the kynge was very angry. In the meane tyme fled Tripbon by shippe vnto Dirsopaida. The the kynge made Enderbeus captainne of the sea coast / & gaue him an host of fore men and hoisemen / commaundinge him to remove the host toward Jewry / and to builde vp the cite of Edion / to make vp the portes / and to warre againste the people of the Ierusa. So for the king: him selfe / he folowd vpon Tripbon. So Enderbeus came vnto Iamnia / & beganne to vexe the people / to recade doune Jewry / to take the people prisoner / and to slaye them / and to builde vp Edion: & hee hee set hoisemen and other men of warre / that they mighte come south as god shoulde the streets of Jewry / like as the kynge had commaunded him.

The XLVI Chapter.

When came Ihon vp from Gaza / & tolde Simon his father / what Enderbeus had done amonge them people. Upon this called Simon two of his eldest sonnes / Judas and Ihon / and sayde vnto them: I and my brethren / and my fathers house / haue euer from ouer youth vp vnto this daye / foughten againste the enemies of Israel / and God gaue us good fortune to deliuer Israel oft tymes. And nowe for so muche as I am olde / be ye in steade of me and my brother / to goe forth and fighte for oure people / and the helpe of God be with you. So hee dooke xij. myghty men of the countrie / with hoisemen also / which wente forth againste Enderbeus / and rested at Modin.

In the moynyng they arose / and wente to the playne side / and beholde / amonge their great host came againste them / both of fore men and hoisemen. Nowe was there a water shoete betwixte the / & Ihon removed the host toward them. And when he sawe that the people was asayed to go ouer the water shoete / hee wente ouer first him selfe / and the men synge they folowed him.

B Then Ihon set his hoisemen and fore men in order / the one by the other / for their enemies hoisemen were very many. But when they flew vp the mistles / & rompettes / Enderbeus fled with his host / whereof many were slaine / and the remnant gaue them to theyr strange hold. Judas also Ibons brother was wounded as he came thither. And Ihon folowed still vpon the enemye / till hee came to Ederon / whiche he buylded. The enemyes fled also vnto the towres that were in the felde of Azoria / and those had Ihon burne vp. Thus there were slaine two thousand men of them / and Ihon turned agaynste praynely into Jewry.

And in the felde of Jericho was Drolome the sonne of Abobus made captayne / whiche because he had aboundance of silver and golde / for hee had married the daughter of Simon / hee by the practise / was readye in his mynde / and thoughte to conquer the land / by makinge falshe againste Simon and his sonnes / to deliuer them. Nowe as Symon was goinge for aboute thowse the citie / that were in the countrie of Jewry / and carryinge for them: hee came vnto Jericho / with Marathias and Judas his sonnes / in the thirde yeere in the xiij. moneth called Saba. Then Drolome the sonne of Abobus receaued them / & hee with deceite / into a strong house of his called Beth / whiche hee had buylded / where hee made them a Banquet.

So when Simon and his sonnes were merry and had drunken well / Drolome stode vp with his men / & booke hee had byd them / and toke their weapons / & entred into the Banquet house / and slew Simon with his two sonnes / and certaine of his seruantes. Such greates unfaithfullnesse had Drolome in Iherusalem / & accompensed euil for good. Then wente Drolome the same vnto Ihon / & requyringe him / that hee shoulde sende him a host to helpe him / and so shoulde hee returne him the lande with the citie and suburbs of the same. Hee sente other men also vnto Gaza / for to take Ihon / and wrote vnto the captaynes to come to him / and hee shoulde gaue them silver / golde and reuerence. And to Jerusalem hee sente other to take it and the Sanctuary.

Then came there one before / and tolde Ihon in Gaza / that his father & his brethren were slaine / and howe that Drolome had sente to slaye him also. When Ihon heerde this / hee

The first Chapter.

Mas birthen of the Jewes / which be at Jerusalem in the lands of Ieremy / wylsh unto those birthen of the Jewes that are thowome out of Egypt: good fortune / health and pax. God the Lord be gracious unto you / and thinke vpon your benemurans that he made with Ab: a barn / Isaac / and Jacob his faythful seruants: that he: and geue you all such an herre / that ye maye loue and serue him / yee / and performe his will with an whole herte / & of a willinge mynde: He open your hertes in his lawe: a his commaundementes: sinde you peace: heaue your prayers / be at rest with you / and neuer forlake you in tyme of trouble. This is here oure prayer for you.

What tyme as Demetrius sayned in the C. lxxij. years / the Jewes wrote vnto you in the trouble / a violence came vpon vs. In those yeres after that Jason departed out of hys lande a fowndacion: they did: int vp the portes / & shed innocent blood. They made weours prayer vnto the Lord / and were bereft: we offered / & lighted the candles / settinge forth cakes and bread. And now come ye vnto the first of tra: bernactis in the moneth * Caslu. * ^{Luc. xiiij. f} * Vltimōre.

In the C. lxxviij. years / the people that was at Jerusalem and in Ieremy / the consoyl: and Judah him self: sint this woldome saluacion vnto Aristobolus syngre Ptolomes master / which came of the generacion of the anoynd and prestes: and to the Jewes that were in Eg-gypt: In so much as God hath despayred vs from greete perello / we thanke him hyghly / In that we assisted so myghty a fugge. And why: he broughte me out of Persye by bezels / to fight agaynst vs and the holy cite. For as he was in Persye (namely the captayne with the greete host) he persished in the temple of Mannas / beinge deceaued thowome the deuyse of Mannas prestes. For as he was purposed to haue dwelt there: Antiochus and his frindes came thither / to recouer much money for a dowry. So whi Mannas prestes had layed forth the money / he entred with a small company into the compasse of the temple / and so they shut the temple.

Now when Antiochus entred by shopeninge the prey intrownce of the temple / the prestes stoned the captayne to death: the web the in pe-ces that were with him / smote of echer head / and they we them out. In all thinges God be prayed / which hath despayred the wicked in to oure handes.

Where as we now are purposed to kepe the purisshacion of the temple vpon the xxij. daye of the moneth Caslu / we thought necessary to certifie you therof: that ye also myght kepe the tabernacles feast daye / and the daye of the fyre / which was giuen to when Helmenas offred / after that he had set vp the temple and the altar. For what tyme as oure fathers were led awaye vnto Persye / the prestes which then sought the honoure of God / toke the fyre prively from the altar / and hid it in a vallye / where as was a depe thye pyt: a thert in they kepe it / because the place was vnknowen to euery man. Now after many yeres when it pleasid God / that Helmenas shoulde be sent from the kinge of Persye: he sent the children Leuit. vj. a children of those prestes / which had hid the fyre / so seke it. And as they tolde vs / they founde no fyre / but thyeis water.

The II. booke of the Machabees.

¶ The commandid be them to haue it vp/ and to bringe him/and the offerings to which all. Now when the sacrifices were layd on and odid/ the priest Elechias commaunded to sprinkle them/ and the wood with the water. When this was done/ and the hyme came that the Sunne shone/ which afore was hid in the cloud/ there was a great fire kindled/ In so much that every man maruayled. Now all the pitees played/ while the sacrifice was a makinge. Ionathas played first/ and the other gaue consecrate.

And Elechias prayer was after this manner. O Loide God maker of all thynges/ thou fearfull and stronge/ thou righteous and mercifull / thou that art onely a gracious king/ onely liberal/ onely iust/ Almighty and curiouslye/ thou that velyuerest Israel from all trouble / thou that best chosent the fathers and balowest them: receive the offeringe for the whole people of Israel / preserve thine owne portion/ and balowen it. Gather those together that are feared abroad from vs: velyuer them that are vnder the Assythens bondage/ lye upon them which are velypied and abhorred/ that the Assythens maye knowe and feare/ that thou art ouer God/ punished the that oppresse vs/ and proudly put vs to dishonoure. See thy people agayne in thy holy place/ lye as Moyses had spoken.

¶ And the pitees longer pfallnes of ebankes/ ginninge to lye as the feet: sic endured. Now when the sacrifice was done. Elechias commaunded the grate stones to be sprinkled w the residue of the water. Which when it was done/ there was kindled a flame of them also: but it was consumed thowen the light/ that shined from the altar. So when this matter was knowne/ it was tolde the kynge of Persia / that in the place were the pitees (which were led awaye) had hyd fire/ thence appeared warre in steade of fire/ and that Elechias and his company had purified the sacrifices withal. Then the kynge cōsideringe the matter w dignitye/ made him a temple/ to proue the thinge that was done. And when he founde it so in dede/ he gaue the pitees manye gifts/ as vnto the rewardes: see he tolde the with his owne hande/ and gaue the. And Elechias called the same place Vephsar/which is as much to saye/ as a cleansing: but many men call it Vephsar.

The II. chapter.

¶ Jeremy the prophet/ that be commaunded them which were caried awaye/ to take fire: as he is saide afore. He commaunded them also/ that they should not forget the lawe and commaundmentes of the Loide/ and that they should not erre in their myndes/ when they se imagis of silver and golde/ with their ornaments. These and such other thinges commaunded he them/ and exhorted them/ that they should not let the lawe of God goe out of their hearts.

¶ It is written also how the prophet/ as the commaundment of God charged the/ to take the Libenece and Jeremy with them/ and he wente forth vnto the moytayne/ T where Moyses chymnid vpon/ and saue the heritage of God. And when Jeremy came thither/ he founde an open cave/ wherein he layed the tabernacle/ the Ark/ a table of mannes/ and so stowed the hole. Thence came certayne men to gather also following him/ to marce the place/ but they could not fynde it. Which when Jeremy perceaued/ he reproued them/ sayinge: As for this place/ it halbe vnknowne/ vntill the tyme that God gather his people together agayne/ and receiue the vnto mercy. Then shall God shew them these thinges/ as the mancy of the Loide shall appaere/ and the cloude also. These things were saide vnto Moyses and Iyph: which Salomon desired that the place myght be sanctified/ and it was so for him.

¶ So be heynge a wyse man/ handled honorably a wyslye offeringe vnto God in his halowynge of the temple when it was synsed. And lye as when Moyses prayed vnto the Loide/ if he came young fro Baalen/ and consumed the burnt offeringe: Then he prayd the Salomon also/ that he come young fro Baalen/ as consumed the burnt offeringe. And Moyses forbode cause/ if his offeringe was not ratified/ he was consumed. In lye maner Salomon kepte the vnto the halowynge of eighte. Reue.

¶ In the Annotations a veruynge of the xxv. c. xxvi. c. were these thinges put also/ and how he made a library/ a booke he gathered out of all countries the booke of the prophetes/ of Danie/ the the epistles of the kinges/and of the prestes.

 Then so Judas also/loke what he learned by experience of waies / and such thinges as had happened vnto vs / he gathered them altogether thei/and so wee haue them by vs. If ye now desire to haue the same / sende some body to fetch them vnto you. Where as we then are aboute to celebrate the purification / we haue written vnto you. Therfore ye shall do well / to keepe the same dayes. We hope also that the God (which deliuereth his people / and gaue the all the heretike kingdome / purifsheth and p^{er} Sanctuaries T that he promysed them in the lawe) shall shortly haue mercy vpon vs / and gather vs together from vnder the heaue into his holy place: for he hath saued vs from great perils/and hath deliued the place.

B Concerninge Judas Machabeus and his disciples / the purification of the greete temple / the dedication of the altire / &c / and of the waies that ranne in noble Timotheus a ch^{ap} I Epaphras his sonne / of the symonites that came downe from heauen vpon those / which manfully defended the Jewes. (For though they were but fewe / yet defended they the whole lande / throue wayes the enemies hostes/encountred agayne the temple that was spoken of throughtout all the world / deliuered the cite duringe their best that y lawe of the Lawe which was put downe / myghte with all requietude be restored agayne vnto the Lord: / it was so mercifull vnto them.) As touching Jason also of Cyren / we haue vnder take some condiously to bringe into one booke / the thinges that were comprehended of him in syne. For consideringe the multitude of the booke / now hard it should be for them that wolde reade with pleasure a tyme / and that because of so many matters / haue vnder take so to comprehende the storye: that such as are disposed to reade / myghte haue pleasure and paynme therein: as that they reysure are diligent in such thinges / myghte be better thynke vpon them: yet / and that we haue obserued them myghte haue profit thereby.

E Now the selfe / we our selves that haue inched with this matter for the shortninge of it / haue taken no small labour / but greete diligence / watchinges and traualle. Like as they that make a feast / wolde sayne to other men pleasure: Euen so we also (for many labours / so) are very well content to take the labour / wherco as we maye shortly comprehend the thinges that other men haue truly written.

So be that buildeth an house a newe / must prouide for many thinges to the whole buildinge: but he that paynteth it after wards / so vrb but only what is comely / inete a reducant so garnyshe it wythall. Euen so we also in this manner. And why? Be that begynnyth to wyte a story for the first / must wyth his vnderstandinge gather the matter together / sit his woiden in order / and diligently seke out every parte: But he that after wards will shew it / wsh fewe waides / and toucheth not the matter of the largest. Let this be sufficient for a prologe / now we will begynne to shewe the matter for it is but a fewe thinges to make a longe prologue / and to be shorthe the story itselfe.

The III. Chapter.

What tyme as the holy tyme was inhabited in his peace a wealthy / and when the lawes were yet very well kepte (For so was it / by ned by Onias the hygh priest and other godly men / that were enemies to wickednesse.) In came therto / that euen the figes and pines the selfe / vrb the place greete woobysse / and garnyshe the temple with greete gyfte: In so much that Seleucus kynge of Asia / of his owne cence / bare all the cosse belongynge to the seruyce of the offeringes. Then Symon of the tye of Ben Jamus / a rite of the temple / laboured to make some mischise in the cite / but the hygh priest resisted him.

Now the selfe / when he myghte not ouer-come Onias / he gaue him to Apollonius the some of Theris (which the was chiefe lorde in Calistria and Bithacia) a told him that the treasury in Ierusalem was full of innamerable money / and how that the common goodes / which belonged not vnto the offerin-ges / were readyng greate also: yet / and how it was possible that all this myghte come vnder the kynge / power.

Now when Apollonius had shewed the kynge of the money / as it was to be him / the kynge called for Heliodorus his seruaunt / and sent him with a commaundment to bringe hym the same money. Immediately Heliodo-rus toke his iourney / but vnder a couer / as though he wolde go thowen Eclipsia a Phe-nico to vnder the cincto / but his purpose was to fulfil the scribe's pleasure. So when he came to Betulsem / and was louingly received of the bygh priest into the citi: he tolde what was decreed concerning the money / and showed the cause of his comminge: he said also / that it were so in dede. Then the bygh priest colde him / that there was such money layed up for the vrboldding of wyddowes and sathyen lesse children / and how that a certayne of it belonged vnto Hyrcanus Tobye a noble mā: and that of all the money (which that wicked Symon had decayed) there were xij. hundred talentes of siluer / and a hundredth of golde / and that it were impossible for those mens meanynge to be deceaued: that had layed vp this money in the place and temple (which is had in troublippe thowme) whole wolde. For the insynnanite and honoure of thesame. Wherunto Heliodorus answered that the scribe had commaunded him in any wise to bringe him the money.

E So as the day appoynted / Heliodorus entered into the temple to orde this matter. But there was no small feare shewen oute whole cite. The prieste a fel bounde by fore the auler in the dislinence / and call'd vnto heauen vnto E Jo. 35. a pon him / which had made a lame conceringe stuffe geue to kepe / that they shoulde be safely preserued / for such a crime the vnto F. ping. The vnto he had lofed the bygh priest in the seccin wolde haue greued his herte. For his countenance a the chaunginge of his conloue / deteaced y in waite forom of his mynde.
The man was all in heauynesse / and his body in fiare: wherby they that lofed vpon him / might perceaue the greue of his herte. The other people also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the common prayer / because the place was offre to come in to confusion. The women came togither thowme the streues / with they clothes aboute their busles.

So the virgins also that were kepte in / canne to Onias / some to the walkes / other some lofed out in the wyndowes: yet they all helde vp their hande toward heauen / and prayed. A miserable thinge was it to lofe vpon the commune people / and the bygh priest beyng in God / that his goodnes which were committed vnto the / mighte be the whole / for those that had dyscreed them vnto this kinge. The warshelers / things that Heliodorus was determined to do / y persequed be in the same place / he hym self personally beyng aboute the treasury with his men of warre. But the spite of almyghty God showed hym self co-openly / so that all they which presumed to obeye Heliodorus / fell thowme the porce of God into a greate staruynesse and vnde. For they appeared vnto them on hoise / with a terrible man synnging vnto hym / deteace in goodly aray / and the hoise smote at Heliodorus with his fere free. Now he that sat vpon the hoise / had harnesse of golde vpon hym.

Now vnto there apperch a fyre a beunful yogte in in goodly aray / which shone by him / scourged him of both the sydes / and gaue him many stripes without cessinge. ¶ With this Heliodorus sodenly vnto the ground. So they toke him vp / theynged adpelled aboute the greate partenelle. A bace him out vnto a deare. ¶ He that came with so many tunnes and men of warre into the sube treasury / was baten out where a no man might helpe him: and so the power of God was manifest and knowne. He laye still vnto the power of God / despaine of all hope and lyfe. And they prayd the Lord / that he had shewed his power vpon his place and temple / which a lyde afore was full of fiare and trouble: and that thowme the reuelacion of the almyghty Lord it was fylled with ioye and glabynesse.

The certayne of Heliodorus frede prayed Onias / that in all hast he wolde call vpon God to graunte him his life / which was geuinge vnto the good. So the bygh priest considered the name / a list / that king shoulde suspecte that the Jewes had done Heliodorus some curle: because he was offre to come in to confusion. The women came togither thowme the streues / with they clothes aboute their busles. ¶ So the virgins also that were kepte in / canne to Onias / some to the walkes / other some lofed out in the wyndowes: yet they all helde vp the hande toward heauen and prayed. A miserable thinge was it to lofe vpon the commune people / and the bygh priest beyng in such trouble. But they besoughte the

So Heliodorus offered vnto God / made greare voteco vnto him which had graunted him his lyfe / rather for Omas / toke his hood / & wente agayne to the kinge. Then reuised he vnto euerie man of the greare waiters of God / that he had sent with his eyes. And when the kinge asid Heliodorus who were meteco he sente out agayne to Jerusalem / he sayde: If thou hast any enemy or aduersary vnto my realme / sende him thither / and thou shalt haue him punysshed / if he eschape with hys lyfe / for in that place / no doubt. there is a special powere and workinge of God. For he that dwelleth in beaun / or syneth and deserveth that place: and all that come to it / do harme / be punysshed and plagued ther. This is now the matter concerninge Heliodorus / and the kpinge of the treasury at Jerusalem.

The III. Chapter.

A His Symon now / of whome we spake 44 also / byng a bewayer of the money and his owne nauall courtier / reposed the wof of Omas: as though he had noursed Heliodorus vnto this / and as though he had ben a bringer vp of euil. Thus was he not ashamed to call him an enemy of the realme / that was so faythfull an officer a Defender of the realme of his people: yet a foermer in the lawe of God. But when the malice of Symon increased so far: / that he sawe his frends there were certaine malauignter counited: Omas considered the perill that might come thow: vnto this strife / a ham that Appollonius (namely the chiefe lorde in Celosyria & Pbenicia) was all set vpon tyranny / and Symon malice increased the same: He gat him to the kinge / not as an accusor of the citisyne / but as one that by hym self intended the common wealth of the whole maline. For he sawe it was not possible to lye in peace / neyther Symon to leaue of from his proce / neyther the kinge to lye lose therto.

B And after the death of Selene / wher Antiochus (which is called the noble) toke the Kingdome: Jason the brother of Omas laboured to be hys priest: for he came vnto the kinge / and promised him the hundred and fy. calentes of syluer / and of the other cenn. lxx. talents. Besides this he promised him yet an C. and L. if he might haue the schole of the chieden: and that he might call them of Ierusalem Antiochians. Which wher the king had graunted / and he had gotten the superiourie: he beganne immediarly to drawe his kynsmen to the custome of the Hethen / putte daunce the thinges that the Iewes had set vp of loue / by Ihon the father of Eupolemius / which was first Ambassatour vnto Rome / for to make the bonde of frendshipp and loue. For he putte daunce all the lawes and lyberties of the Iewes / and set vp wicked statutes. For they made a synagoge schole vnder the tallis / and set forre yonge men to lerne the mances of whor and diuile.

Thus were now the begynninge of the Hethenys / and straunge conuersion / brought in thow: the vngreuous and vnder wickednesse of Jason / which shoulde not be called a priest / but an vngodly person. In so much that the priestes were now none: occupied aboute the leaue of the altar / but despised the temple / regarded not the offerings: yet gaue they diligence to learne to fight / to wrestle / to leape / to daunce / and to pugnyll the stone: not seruinge by the honour of the father / but lyked the gloie of the Worlde best of all: for the which they stroue periously / a were greedy to folowe theyr statutes: yet theyr lust was in all thinges so to lye there / which afore were theyr enemies and Destroyers. Howbeit / to do wickedly against the lawe of God / shall not scape vnpunysshed: but of this we shall speake hereafter.

What tyme as the Olympiades sportes were played at Tyarus / the Kinge him self beinge there present / the vngreuous Jason sent wicked Epie euerie man / by a synge from him of Ierusalem / which synge yeare now were called Antiochians / is hundred thredmas of syluer for an offeringe to Hercules. These had they that caryed them / desired vnder such a synge / as though they shoulde not haue bene offered / but bestowed to other uses. These they / he that sent the / sent them to the altar: that they shoulde be offered vnto Hercules. But by cause of those that were present / they were geuen as to the makinge of synge. And Appollonius the sonne of Nestus was sent into Egypte / because of the noble men of synge: Protrius Diphilometor. Now wher Antiochus perceaued that he was to Toppa/ and thur to Jerusalem: wher he was honorably receaved of Jason the kinge/and was brought in with roche light/ and with great pryse/ and so he turned hys hoost

¶ After this yere Jason sente Menelaus the vnto the kinge/ and to bunge him answer of other necessary mattees. But he when he was powerd of the kinge for magnifrenge of hys power/ wisede the hysge purshode vnto him self slayinge ap id. C. takenes of syluer for Jason. So when he had gotten commaunde-ment from the kinge/ he came hauynge no-chinge that deconcometh a prest/ but bearyng þe stonact of a certen myraunte the wof of a deceaved his owne brother) synged he him self was begyled also/ was sayde to stre into the lande of þe Ammonites/ and Menelaus had þe dominion. But as for the money that he had promysed vnto the kinge he had nothinge ther-of/ when Sofstratus the euele of þe castell re-quered it of him. ¶ Sofstratus was the ma-that gerberd of eustlame/ wherfore they were both called before the kinge. Thus was Me-nelaus put out of the purshode/ and Lysima-chus his brother came in his stead. Sofstratus also was made lorde of the Epyzians.

¶ 4 Mac. v. b

¶ It happened in the meane season/ that the Thersians and Mallopians made insurrection/ because they were geynt for a present vnto the kinge Annochus conubine. The came the kinge in all the battell/ to slayl them agayne and to pacyfy the matter/ leauynge Andronicus there to be hys cherye/ as one meere therofe.
¶ Menelaus supposynge that he had goren a ryght conuenient tyme/ stole certayne vesels of golde out of the temple/ and gaue the to Andronicus for a present/ and some he sold at Tyus/ and in the ciuie thereby.

¶ Which when Onias knewe of a secrette/ he requered him: but he kepte him in a Secetary beside Sapphus his wyth by Antioche. Wherfore Menelaus gaue him to Andronicus/ and prayed him that he wolde slaye Onias. So when he came to Onias/ he counsyled him crasidly to come out of the Secetary/ geuynge him his hand to an oath (howbeit he susprete him/ and the he flew Onias/ without any re-garde of righteousnesse). For the which cause not onely the Jewes/ but other nations also toke indignacion/ and were displeasid for the neighbourous deathe of so godly a man.

¶ And when the kinge was come agayne fro Calcia/ þe Jewes and certayne of the Grekes wrote vnto him/ complaynyng for the unrighte-coue deathe of Onias. Yee Annochus him self also was for in his mynde for Onias/ so that it pyned him/ and he wepte/ remembange his fobenesse and manerly behaviour. Wherfore he was so kindled in his mynde/ that he come maunded Andronicus to be strapp out of his purple clothynge/ and so to be led thowt out all the ciuie/ yee/ and the ungracious man to be slayne in the same place/ wher he comyned his wickednesse upon Onias. Thus he Lorde de rewarded him his punishment as he had deserued. ¶ Now when Lysimachus had bene many w. edes vnto in the temple thar was the countersyll of Menelaus/ and the voyce came abroade: the multitude gathered them to gether against Lysimachus/ for he had raryed our now much golde.

¶ So when the people arose and were full of displeasure/ Lysimachus armed id. M. men to defende him: a certayne myraunte beyng their capitaine/ which was growen both in age and woodnesse. But when the people vnderstode the purpose of Lysimachus/ some gaue sonnes/ some good stronge Rubbers/ and some cast stons vnto Lysimachus. Thus there were many of them wounded/ some beyng slayne/ and all other chased away. But as for that wicked churche robber hym self/ they filled him besyde þe treasury. Of this maner was for there was kepte a course agayns Me-nelaus.

¶ Now when the kinge came to Tyus/ they mede a complayne vnto him of Menelaus/ de-cernynge the busynesse/ a the Ambassadors were there. But Menelaus wente in and promyssed Proleme to geue him much money/ if he wolde perswade the kinge. So Proleme told the kinge vnto a courtte/ wher as he was set to cooke him/ a thought him out of that mynde.

cause of all mischief: and those poore men which if they had told theyr cause/see/before the Synnaris/they shoulde haue ben iudged innocent: them he condemned to death. Thus were they fone punished/which folowed vpon the matter for the time/for the people and for: A holy vessel. Wherefore they of Tyus take indignacion/and buried the honorably. And so bidom the cause of this of the that were in power/At Mendaua remayned still in authority/increaseing in malice/ to the hurt of the church.

The V. Chapter.

After these things Annochus made him ready to go agayne into Egypte. Then when heere sene at Ierusalem (six dayes longe) some runninge to and fro/with the asie which had captiues of gold/and spares. There were sene also whole hostes of men weaponed/and hostes runninge in an order/ how they came together/ how they belde forth theyr shields/ how the barrells were shew out theyr steeres/ and how theyr varcos. The thynke of the golden weapons was sene/and of all manner of armure. Wherefore euery man payed/that those weapons ingberme to good. Now when there was gone for a false rumour/ as though Annochus had bene dead: I. fourte. A. M. men/and came secretly vpon the same. The earth was rane onto the walles/ at the last was the cite taken/ and Menelaus fled into the citell.

B As for Jason he spared not his owne citizens in the slaughter/ neither considered he what greates euill were to destroye the prosperitee of his owne synnaris: but byd as one that hath gotten the victory of the enemyes/ a nat of his frends. For all this got he not the superiourie/ but at the last receiued confusion for hys malice/ and fled agayne lyke a vagabond into the land of the Ammonites. Finally (for a reward of his wickednesse) he was accused before Acetba the kynge of the Arabians: In somuch that he was sayne to fyre from tyme to tyme/being despyed of euery man as a forsaker of the lawes/ and an abhominable person. And at the last/ as an open enemy of hys owne natural countrie/ and of the church/ he was driven into Egypte.

Thus he that afore put many out of theyr owne natural lande/ perished from home by himselfe. He wente to Eaccmond/whynkinge thence to haue gotten succoure by reason of his rebelle. And he that afore had casten many one oute vnder the name of hys owne/ no man mentioing for him/ was putt vnto him in hys graue/ so that he neither enioyed the buryal of a stranger/ neither was he partaker of his fathers sepulchre.

Now when this was done the kynge suspecte/ that the Jewes wolde haue falle for him/ wherefore he came in a greates displeasure out of Egypte/ and toke the cite by violence. He commaunded his men of warre also/ that they shoulde kyl and not spare/ but slaye downe such as withstode them/ whymmede vpon upon f. houres. Thus was there a greates slaughter of yonge men/ olde men/ women/ children/ and virgins. In xij. dayes were there slayne lxxx. M. fourty thousande pur vsysson/ and no lesse sold. For was he not content with this/ but bursted inen vnto the most holy temple/ Menelaus the traytoure/ to the lawes/ and to hys owne natural countrie/ being hys gyde/ and with his wicked handes toke the holy vessel/ which other kynge and cytye had geuen theyr/ for the gorny thinge/ and honour of the place/ them to be in his handes worthely/ and despyed them.

So hadde was Annochus/ that he considered: we how that God was a litle wrath/ for the synnes of them that dwelle in the cite/ for the which such confusion came vnto that place. And why? if it had not happened them to Judic. 8. d. haue bene lapped in many synnes/ (bye Annochus/ as soone as he had come) had sodenly bene punished/ and shut out for hys wickednesse: as he had done. Menelaus was a wicked synner/ he kynge sent to robbe the treasury. Menelaus/ God hath not chosen the people for the place sake/ but the place for the people sake/ and therefore in the place become partaker of the peoples trouble/ but afterwarde shall it enioy the wealth of them. And lyke as it is now forsaken in the wrath of Almighty God/ so when the greates God is reconcyled/ it shall set vp in hys the worshippe agayne.

So when Annochus had taken a M. 8. and viij. hundred talents out of the temple/ he gat hym to Rome/ where in all the basyl other. How as he was thus set in malice against the Jewes / he sent Appollonius on hatred pained with xxx. M. / commaundinge him to slaye all those that were of perfect age / and to sell the women / maydens a chryden. When he came now to Ierusalem / he saped peace / and kepte him still vntyll the Sabbath daye. And then he commaunded his men to take them to theyr weapons / for the Jewes kepte holy daye / and so he slew all them that were gone forth to the open playe / vntill here at this tyme the cite with his men wrapped and inured a great number. But Iudas Machabeus which was the tenth / fled into the wilderness / led his lyfe there with his company amonge the wyde beastes / and vpon the mountaynes dwelling there and eatinge grass / he they shoulde be partakers of / he shuld be esse.

The VI. Chapter.

j. Mac. j. d

How long after this tyme / Kinge a messaunger of Antioch / for to compel the Jewes to alie the ordinaunce of the fathers and the lawe of God / to visite the temple that was at Ierusalem / to call it the temple of Iupiter Olympique / that then which shoulde be in Gazarum / should be as those which dwell at the place of Iupiter the behereous. This wicked sedition of the wygdy was havy upon all the people / for the temple was full of voluptuousnes / debbaunge and dollinge of the Gentylens of ybannes and baristoc together. The womē wente into the holy place / a bare in that was unlawfull. The aultare also was full of unlawfull thinges / which the lawe forbiddeth to lay vpon it. The Sabbathys were not kepte / the other seyntific steales of the lande were not regarded. To be playne there vntill no man be a lawe that be was a Jewe.

In the daye of the kinges bynd they were compelled peforce to offer / and when the feast of Dedication was kepte / they were constrained to weare garlandes of yuen / as to go aboute for the honoure of Bacchus.

Howeuer / tho: oute the commaundment of Ptolome there wente out a commaundment in the nyghte tyme of the Gentylens / that they shoulde not see the Jewes in lyfe / in any maner / so to compel them for to do sacrifice after the lawe of the Gentylens / and who so wolde not so put them to deathe. Purposio thing was it to do. There were ii. women accused to haue circised their yonges / whom when they had bounde aboute the cite / the babes hanginge at their brestes / they cast them downe headlonge ouer the walles. Some that were crept into Iennes / a had kepte the Sabbath / were accused vnto Philippe / and bent in the fyre because that for the feare of God they kepte the commaundment so stidfastly / and wold not desende them selfes.

Now I desyre all those which reade this booke / that they iustise it not for the falles of aduersitye / and geth the thinges that are despised. For no helthred / dai for a chasteninge of our people. And why? When God suffereth no sinners to get to solowe them ouer mysde / but shortly punyssheth the / to a iolten of his greace launge kindnes. For this grace haue we of God more then other people / that be selfe freth not so longe to synne / unpunished lyfe other nations / that when the daye of iudgement cometh / he maye punyssh them in the fulnes of their synnes. If we synne / he correcteth us / but he neuer withholdeth his mercy from vs / and though he punyssheth us with fyre / yet doeth he neuer forsake his people. But let this that we haue spoken / not be withoute some woordes / for a warninge / and exhortacion of the hearyden. How will we come to the declarynge of the matre. Let any one of the principal scrybis / an aged man / and of a wellaunered commaunce / was constrained to gape with open mouth / and to can saynce selfe. But he desynge rather to be glauciously then to lyue with shame / offered hym selfe willingly to the martyrdom. How when he sawe that he must needs goe to it / he wente pertycally / for he was at a poynte with hym selfe / that he wolde counte it no unlawfull chynge for any pleasure of lyfe. They that stode by / doynge moued with p^{er}

Die (but not a right) for the olde friend ship of the man / tof he him aside purely / and prayed him that he wolde let fith the flit be brought him as wrel lawfull to care / and thin to make a countenance as though he had eaten of the flesh of the sacrifices / like as the king commounded / for so he might be deliuered from death / and so for the olde friend shippe of the man / they fith wed him this kindnes. But he beganne to confesse his discreete and honorable age / his noble and worshipfull flocke / and how that from his youth up he had bene of an honest and good conuersation / yee / and how constantly he had kepte the ordinaices / and lawes commaunded by God / wherefore he gaue them this answer / and saide

164 I had I rather fith be laud in my graue. I for it becommeth not mine age / saide he / in any wise to shewe / or when by many yonge persons might shynke / I feare being lxx. yea old and ten yea not gone so a straung lit / and so the othe mine spottis / for a litle more of a transitory life / they might be deceaue / by this meane also should I beside mine age / and make it adominable. For though I were now deliuered from the tormentes of men / yet should I not escape the hande of almighty God / neither alse nor death. Wherefore I will dye manfully / and so as it becommeth mine age. Whereby I may peradventure leaue an example of stedfastnes for such as be yong / as I with a ready minde / and manfully dye an honeste death / for the most worthy and holy lawes.

When he had saide these wordes / immediately he was taken to the tormentes. Where they that led him / and were misde a life as one that mighte take displeasur / because of that he that he saide / for they thought he had spoken the me of an hyge minde. But when he was in bygh mainrdome / he returned and saide. Thou O Lord / which hast the holy knowlege / knowest openly / that where as I might be deliuered from death / I suffre these for paines of my body / but in my mynde I am wel content to suffre this / because I feare the. Thus this man dyed / leauinge the memorial of his death for an example / not only vnto yonge men / but vnto all the people / so be stedfast and manly.

The VII. Chapter.

It happened also that there were vii. brethren / which their mother taken and compelled by the king against the lawes / eat yongnes flesh / namely with seoure gea and leth / in whoppe. And one of them whiche was the chiefe / saide. What seist thou / and what requestest thou of me? To for do not be ready rather to suffre death / then to offend the lawes of God and the father. Then was the king angry / and had great cautions / and tharen pottea. Which when they were made hote / immediately he commaunded the kinge of him that spake first / to be cut out / to pul the stinck out his heade / to paye of the whoppe of his handes and feet / yee / and that in the sighte of his mother / in the other of his brethren. Now when he was cleane mard / he commaunded a fyre to be made / and so whilk there was any breath in him / to be frid in the cauldron. In the which whilk he had bene longe payned / the other brethren which their mother exhorted him to dye manfully / sayinge. The Lord God shall regarde the trust / and comfort vs / like as Moses testifies / and declareth in his songe / sayinge. I and he will haue compassi-

So when the fyre was dead after this manner / they brought the seconde to hane him in person / pulled the skynne with the beere out his heade / and axed him if he wolde eate swynes fleshe / for he were payned in the other membres also thorough his bodye. But he answered boldly / and saide. I will not do it. And so was he tormente like as the first. And when he was euen as the giuinge up of the ghoost / he saide. Thou misdest vngodous persons / puttest vs morte to death / but the kynge of the world shall asist vs / which dye for his lawes / in the resurrection of our lastinge lyfe.

After him was the thyrde had in veryn / and when he was requyred / he put out his tongue / and that righte soon / and so he saide his handes manfully / and spake with a stedfast faith. These haue I of haue / but now for the lawe of God I despayse them / for my truste so that I shall receiue the me of him againe. In so muche that in the fyny / and they which were with him / maruailed at yonge mans boldnesse/ that he nothinge regarded the payne.

E Now when he was dead of so they vexed & fourth with roimenes in like maner. So when he was now at his death/ he sayde: I am better than we beynge putto death of men/ haue oure hope and trust in God/ for he shall raise vs vp againe. As for the/ thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

Jehan. v. c.

And when they had spoken to the fift/ they roimened him. Then leste he vnto the kynge/ and sayde/ Thou haste power amonge men/ for thou art a mortal man also thy self/ so do what thou wylt/ but thynke not & God hath forsaken oure generacyon. Abide the/ tarye still a while/ and thou shalt see the greates power of God/ howe he wyl punyssh the/ and thy selfe.

After hym they broughte the sixe / whiche beynge at the payne of death/ said: Be not deceaued/ o King/ for this we suffre for our own sake/ because we haue offended oure God/ as therfore maruailous thinges are shewed vpon vs. But thinke not thou/ which talkest in hande to striue against God/ that thou shalt escape unpunished.

S This excellent mother/ worthy to be well reposed of/ and had in remembrance/ sawe her seven sonnes dye in one Vape/ and suffred it patiently/ because of the hope that she had at God. Yee. The eache dead every one of them in especial/ and that bodily and stedfastly/ with partye wysdoms/ in wanging vp her wyffe the thoughte with a manly stomacke/ and sayde vnto them: I can not tel howe ye came in my wombe/ for I neither gaue you birth nor soule/ no no: life. It is not I that toynded the members of your bodies to gether/ but the maker of & woder/ which fashioned the brayn of ma/ and begganne all thinges. When he also of his owne mercy shall geue you birth and life againe/ like as ye now regard not your owne selfe/ for his lawes sake.

Come thoughte Antiochus that she had despyed him/ therefore he let her go with her reynous/ and begganne to exhorte the yonger sonne/ (whiche yet was lefte.) not onely with wordes/ but swore vnto him with an othe/ that he shoulde nyste hym a rube and wethy man/ if he wolde forsake the lawes of his fathers/ yee/ and that he shoulde geue him/ whatsoeuer were necessary for him. But when the yonger man wolde not be moued for all these thinges/ he called his mother/ and sayde/ he had exhorted her with many wordes/ she promysed hym/ that she should speake vnto her sonne. So she turned her vnto hym (laughynge the cruell resonne to some) and spake with a bolde voyce: O my soune/ haue pine vpon me/ that bare the nyntb moneth in a my womb/ that gaue the sucke/ noursished the/ and broughte the vpon this age. I beseeche the/ my sonne/ take vpon thy selfe and carrie/ and al that is therein/ and consyde that God made them/ and mans generacion of naught. So heate thou not fere the hang man/ but suffre death stedfastly/ like as thy brether haue done: That I maye receage the againe in this same mercy with thy brether.

While she was yet speakinge these wordes/ the yonger man sayde: Whome loke ye for: Wherefor do ye tarye? I wyl not obeye the kynge's commaundment/ but the lawe that God gaue vs by Moyses. As for the lawe that ymagineth all mischiefe againste thee/ I knowe/ thou shalt not scape the hande of God: for we suffre these thinges/ because of our synnes.

And though God be angry with vs a little while/ for oure chaulenrye and reformacion/ yee shall be at one againe with his mercies. But thou/ O thine selfe/ and moste abhominable person. Whyd not thy selfe/ for we maye hope in thinges so malicious to the seruantes of God: for thou hast not yet escaped the indigne of the God/ which is almighty/ and sende all thinges. My brether that haue suffred a little paine/ are now vnder the conueniance of euerylastinge life: but I bore the vngentens of God/ thou shalt be punished righteously for thy pride.

As for me/ like as my brether haue done/ I offre my soule/ and my body for the lawe of oure fathers/ callinge vpon God/ that he will shewe the mercifull vnto oure people: yee/ and wyl pame and punisshment/ to make the graunte/ that he only is God. In me nowe and in my brether the wrath of almighty 30 handerth men. He caused Esdras also to reade the holy booke vnto them / and to geue them a token of the helpe of God.

Item. 11. 11. 11. 11. Then he him selfe beinge captaine in the front of the battail/ buelied with vicesion. And God was theyr helpe / in so muche that they slew aboute ix. thousand / and called the most parte of vicanos host to sicke

E they were so wounded and feble. Thus they rote the money from those that came to bye them / and solowed vpon them on every side. But when the time came vpon them / they returned / out was the Sabbath / a thetfor: they followed nomake vpon them. So they rote their weapons and spoiles / and kepte the Sabbath / geuinge thanks vnto the Lord / which had deliuered them that day / and steeued them his mercy. After the Sabbath / they vsid aboute the spoiles to the herte / to the forbes / (sleud in wydowes / and the rest) but had they them selfe with them. While this was done / and they all had made a general prayer / they besought the merciful Lord to be at one with his seruantes.

11. 11. 11. 11. Of those also that were with Timotheus and Badiades / which soughte againste them / they slewe xx. vii. wunninge byghte and stronge holdes / and struded no spoiles / eue geuinge on equall persons vnto the sick / to the forbes / to the wydowes / and to aged persons. And when they had vsygenize gathered theyr weapons together / they layed them al in conuenient places / and the remanant of the spoiles broughte they to Jerusalem. They slewe Philarches that wicked person / whiche was with Timotheus / and had wedged many Jewes. And when they helde the thankes geuinge at Jerusalem for the victory / they bent those that had set fire on the pottes of the temple / namely Colisibenes / which was fled into an house / and so they gat a wounde rewarde for theyr wickednesse. As for that mooste ungracious vicanos / whiche had soughte a thousand marchantes to bye the Jewes / he was the more the helpe of the Lord / he thoughte vaine / ruen of them whome he regarded not / in so muche that he put of his glorious ornament / byd / and came alone to Antioche with geore shame and vsbounoure / whiche he gat throuwe the distresse tion of his host. Thus he that promysed the Romanes to paye them their tribute / when he toke Jerusalem / beganne nowe to forsplaynely / that God was the defende of the Jewes / and therefore not possible to wounde them / (in case they followed the lawe whiche God had made.

The IX. Chapter.

Antiochus came Antiochus againe with vsbounoure out of Persia. For when he came to Persopolis / and vnderste to robbe the temple and to subbutt the ryne / the people came together and defende their selves / in so muche that he and his were faine to flye with shame. And so after that flight / it happened that Antiochus came to gayne with vsbounoure. But when he came to Egghardana / he gat knowlege what was happened vnto vicanos / and Antiochus. Now as he was auneyninge him self in his wrath / he thoughte he was able to auenture the injurye that was done to them vpon the Jewes: a thetfor: commaunded he to make ready his charret / havinge on his iourneye withoute cessing: the iudgements of God vpon suching him / (in case he had been so wounded) that he wold come to Jerusalem / a make it a gance of the Jewes. But the Lord God of Israel / that seyth all thinges / mote him with an insyble plague / whiche no man coulde heate.

B As sooone as he had spoken these wordes / there came vpon hym an horrible paine of his bowels / and a fore griefe of the entrayles. And that was his right: for he had mannyed other mens bowels with vnerse and steuunge commentes / howbeit / he wold in no wyse casse from his malice. Yet he was not the prouder / and more malicious againe / the Jewes: but whye he was commounginge to make hassle in the matter / it happened that he fell vnto violently from the charret / so that he buelied his body / and byd him great payne.

And so he that thoughte / he myghte commaunde the floudes of the sea / so proude was he beyonde the conditiou of man / and so weye the byghte mountynes in a port of schales / was nowe broughte vnto the grounde / and carryed vpon an horrible / knowe knowing the manifest power of God vpon hym selfe that the wicked body of him was full of worms: whiche in his payne fell quicke out of his selfe: In so much that his hooste was good with the smell and styncke of him. Thus he was litle afore thought he might reach to the starres of heauen / hym myght no man now abyde nor feare / for the vehement of styncke.

Therefore he thoughte from his greate pride / he ganne for to come to knowlege of him selfe: for the punishment of God warned him / and his payne increased euermore and more. And when he him self might not abyde his owne styncke / he sayde these wordes: It is reason to be obedient vnto God / and that a man desire not to be like vnto hym. This wicked persone prayed also vnto the Lorde / of whome he should haue obtained mercy. And so for the cyrie that he came oute so hastily / he sung it vnto the grounds / and to make it a graue for dead men: now he desired to vespure it fre. And as touching the Jewes / whome he had iudged not worthy to be buried / but wolde haue cast them oute for to be deuoured of the fowles and wyld Beastes / sayinge that he wolde haue destroyed them old and yonge: Nowe he promysed to make them lyke the cyrie of the holie temple afore / now he maketh promys to burye it with greates gyfte / to inuente the holy ornaments / and of his owne reuerence to beare the costes and charges / he comynge to the offeringes: yee / and that he wolde also become a Jewe hym selfe / to go thowme euery place of the worlde / and to picche the power of God.

But when his payne wolde not crafte / for the righteous iudgement of God was come vpon him / oute of a very despayre he wrote vnto the Jewes a lettre of intercession / containinge these wordes: The Kinge / and pince Ananias my selfe vnto the vertuous cyrie of the Jewes / much healeth a good posterite.

If ye and oure children fare well / and if all thinges go after your mynde: we geue great thankes. In my selfe I desire also to remember you lovingly: for as I came out of Persia / and was taken with this disease / I thoughte it necessary to care for the continuance of this other dyspayre / I in my selfe / but haue a good hope to escape this sickness.

But consideringe that my father led a good honeste life in the hys place / and shewed who should be care after hym / that if there happened any controuersy / or any harde thinge were declared / I shuld in the lande myght knowe theyr chiefe lorde / that there should be no insurreccion: I gayne / when I ponde by my selfe / howe that all the mightye men / and myghours rounde aboute / are laynge waye / and left but for oportunitie to go haer: I haue ordeyned that my sonne Ananias shall raygne after me / whome I of commended to many of you / when I was in the hys kyngdome / and haue wysen wrote hym as followeth hereafter. Therfore I praye you / and requyre you / to remember the benefices that I haue done vnto you generally / and in especiall. For I hope that he shalbe of fobes and luypp: behauiour / and if he foude any vceyue / he shalbe indifferente vnto you.

Thus that much better and blasphemous of God was for smitten / and lyke as he had inuente other maner / he died a myserable death in a strange countie vpon a mountayne. And his bodye byd Philippe / that wente with him / carry awaye: whiche fearinge the sonne of Ananias / wente into Egypte to Ptolome Philometre.

The X. Chapter.

Ababees now and his company / that come the helpe of the Lorde / wanted i. mac. iij. the temple and the citye againe / destroyed the altars and chappels that the Heiden had builded thowme the streets: stoned the temple / made another altar of sacrifices / and after 4. yeares they offered sacrifices / fowreth the inuente / the lyghte and the bread. When that was done / they fell downe flat vpon the ground / and besougere the Lorde / that they mighte come home into such a trouble: but if they found any more against him / he hym selfe to chasten them with mercy / and not to come in the hands of those aluaynes and blasphemous men.

Now vpon the same daye that the straunge nely/the xxij. daye of the moneth called Cas-leu. They kept viij. dayes in gladnesse/Aske as in the feast of the tabernacles: rememberinge what not longe agoe/they hidde the feall of the tabernacles upon the mountaynes and in they were grene flowers/strauchen and palmers before him that had given them good fortune to cleanse his place. They agreed also together/and made a statute/that every yeare those dayes should be solemnly kepte of all the people of the Jewes.

How Antiochus then (that was called the noble) bred in sufficiencye solde. Nowe will we speake of Maccan the sonne of that wier-fed Antiochus/howe it happened with him: and so with few wordes to comprehend the aduersite that chaunced in the warres. Whehe had taken the Kingdome/he made one Ly-syas/whiche had bene captayne of the hooste in D. 12. 20. Syria ruler ouer the manners of the realm. For Lyssime that was called Maccan/beinge a ruler for the Jewes/and specially to see in adiugment for such traytoure (because he had kiste Cyren/that Philonites had committed vnto hym: and because he respected from noble Antiochus/that he was come vnto) he paysoned him selfe and dyed.

Now when Wasgias was gouernour of the same place/ he toke slauingiers/ and onderooke of themmes to warre with the Jewes.
 Moreover the Ioudeans that hidde the stronge holdes/receaued those that were driuen from Ierusalem/ and toke in hande to warre also. But they that were with Ma-chabeus/ besought and prayed vnto a Lord/that he wolde be theyr helper/ and so they fell into the strong holdes of the Ioudeans/ and waine many places by strength: Suche as came against them they slewe/ and kyled no stande them.

Then Machabeus leaueynge Simon/ Jor-sippus/ Zacharias/ and those that were with the (which were very many) went to besige the/ and to fighte woee most noble was. Now they that were with Simon/ beinge led with courageousnesse/ were increased for man-ny / thowre certayne of those that laye in the towres/ toke lxx. M. drachman/ and let some of them scape. But when it was told Machabeus what had happened/ he called the captaynes of the people together/ actu-syngge those persons/ that they had solde the Bethien for money/ and let their enemies go.
 So he slewe those traytours/ and immediatly wente in hande with the two towres. And whē they had ouerbid them selfe manly with their weapens and handes/ they slewe in the two castles more then twenty thousande.

Howe Timotheus/ whome the Jewes had ouercome/ gathered a multitude of the strayinge people/ though an haull also of base men of the Alsians / to repyne. They by strength. But when he perceyue the Machabeus/ and they that were with hym/ fill to the place/ spent thelbes vpon their bea-des/ beinge gyved with theyr cloth aboute theyr necke/ fell downe before the aultre/ and besought the Lord/ that he wolde be mercyfull to them / but an enemye vnto their enemye/ and to take parte against them aduersaryes/ accordinge as is promysed in the lawe. So after the prayer/ they wente on factice from the cete: and when they came nye the enemyes/ they prepared them selfes against them.

And beinge in the morninge at the break of the daye/ both the hoostes met together. The one parte had the Lord for theyr refuge/ whiche is the gence of prosperity/ strength and victory. The other had a manlye stomacke/ which is a captayne of warre.

The battail was verye greate / there appeared vnto the enemyes from heauen men upon horsebacke with byrdes of golde/ and leddynge the Jewes/ and two of them had synge Machabeus strycke them / that kep him safe on euery side with thar weapons, but those battes and lyghtninges vnder the enemies / where in those we they were sounded with blindeesse / and so sore afrayed that they fell downe. There were slayne of fore men twentye thousande and v. C. / and vi. hundred boismen. So for Timotheus hym selfe he fell vnto the very strong hold / where in Ieremo was captiue. But Machabeus a his company layd siege to it cherefully vnto Ieremo. Now they that were within mustyng to the strength of the place / cursed and baned exceedingly / and made greate crying with wicked wordes. Neuertheless / upon the fifth daye in the morninge twentye yonger men of Machabeus compassyng the siege for they in their mynde because of the blasphemye / came manfully vnto the wall / and with bolde stomaches they and they other companye dyed vpon vpon the towres / and euer takinge to set fire vpon the towres / and to burne the blasphemous pitones quyle. Two dayes were they destroyinge the castell whiche when they founde Timotheus / that was crept into a corner they killed hym / and strew Ieremo his bodye in lyke maner with Appollonarie. When this was done / they saung Dalmas with praise and thankes / gaunteing vnto the Lorde / which had done so greacie thinges for Israel / and giuen them the victorye.

The XI. Chapter.

¶ Yet longe after this / Lysias the kynge of Persia / and a kynsman of his / whiche had the gouernance of his matter / took foure pleasure for the thinges that had happened / and wold be had gathered by the meanes of those all the hoste of the boismen / he came againste the Jewes / thinkinge to wyne the citye / to make it an habitation for the Gentiles / and the temple woulde he haue to be an house of liure / as the other goddes houses of the Gentiles are / and to sit the pious officiers there. Not consideringe the power of God / but was wyde in his mynde / to wyntinge in the multitude of fore men / in thousande of chasmen / and in by six Elephanes.

¶ So he came into Ierusalem / and then to Verbe lucar a castell of defence / lyinge in a narrowe place / thus sylonge from Ierusalem / and wanne it. Howe when Machabeus and his company knewe that the stronge hold was taken / they fel to they prayer / with weepinge. ¶ Mcc. 11 and was before the Lorde / and all the people in lyke maner besoughte hym / that he woulde sende a good angyll to deliuer Ierusalem. Machabeus hym selfe was the firste that made hym ready to be battayll / exhortyng the other that were with hym / to receyue themselves / and to helpe they brethren. And when they were gone forty of Ierusalem together / with a ready and willinge mynde / there appeared before them vpon horsebacke. ¶ Mcc. 11 a man in white clothinge with battes of golde / sharyng his speare. Then they passed the Lorde altogether / whiche had blessed them mercy / and were comforted in their mynde / in so muche that they were ready / not onely to fyghte with men / but with the most cruell bestes / yee / and to tunne the narrow welles of iron.

¶ Thus they went on willingly / hauyng an helpe from heauen / and the Lorde multiplyd vnto them. They fell mightily vpon they enemies lyke Lions / sloughlye some thousande fore men / yul. hundred boismen / put all the other to flyght / many of the beinge wounded / and some gat away naked. ¶ Yet Lysias hym selfe was fayne to flye / in full / and so to escape. Neuertheless / the man was not withoute vnderstandinge / but considered by hym selfe that his power was minished / and pondered howe the Jewes beinge sented by the helpe of almyghty God / were not able to be overcome / wherefore he sent the wordes / and promysed that he woulde consent to all thinges which were reasonable / and to make the kynge their frende. So he wrote the paper of Lysias Machabeus a greede / synging in almyghte the edmunt wealth / and rewardes Machabeus wote vnto Lysias / concerninge the Jewes the kynge graunted it. For there were liues written vnto the Jewes from Lysias counteringe these wordes.

¶ Lysias sendeth greetinge to the people of the Jewes. Iohn and Abisalon which were sente from you / deliuered me wynged / and and requyred me to fulfill the thinges con-cerninge their carande. Therefore I oke what myght be graunted. I receyved the kynge her case and what heere was touneient / I agreed thereto. If ye now wyll be faithfull on the matere / I shall enduew my self hereafter also to do you good. As concerninge other thinges by eury article thereof / I haue committed them to youre messaugers / and to those whome I sente vnto you / to comunich you of the same / as theye well. In the hundeth and sixtie of the xxxij. daye of the moneth Discominiquus.

¶ Whome the kynge sente coneyned these wordes: Bynge Annodus sendeth greynge vnto his brother Lysias. For so muche as I haue saide / is now read / our wyll is / that they which are in our realme / shue withoute any inurcion / and eury man to be vylgent in his owne matere. We vnderstande also / that the Jewes wolde not consente to oure sathes / for to be brought vnto the castles of the Gentes / but they fly to kepe theyr owne statutes / for the which cause they re-quyre of vs also / to let them cōmayne thylly by theyr owne lawes.

¶ Wherefore oure mynde is / that this people shal be in rest: we haue concluded and determined also / to restore them theyr temple / as gayne: that they maye lyue accordynge to the vnic and custome of theyr forefathers. Thou shalte do vs a pleasure therfore / if thou sende vnto them / agre with them: that when they are certyfyed of oure mynde / they maye be of good cheare / and lese to theyr owne wealdes.

¶ And this was the letre that the kynge wrote vnto the Jewes: bynge Annodus sendeth greynge vnto the causes / and the other people of the Jewes. If ye saue well / we haue oure desire: as for vs / we are in good health. Menelaus came and tolde vs / howe that youre desire was to come vnto youre people / which are with vs.

¶ Wherefore those that wyll come / we geue them fre liberte / vnto the xxx. daye of the mo-neth of Apyll / that they maye vse the meores of the Jewes / and theyr owne lawes / life as afore: and none of them by any maner of waye to haue harme / for thinges done in ignorance. Menelaus whome we haue sent vnto you / shall comon with you at large saue ye well. In the C. lviij. daye of the xv. daye of the moneth of Apyll.

¶ The Romaynes also sent a letre / coneynyng these wordes: Quinrus Minnius and Tytus Manlius Ambassadors of the Romaynes / sendeth greynge vnto the people of the Jewes. Loke what Lysias the kynges hysman hath graunted you / we geaunt you the same also. But as concerninge the thinges which he referred vnto the kynge / sende hyther some with speede / and pōdder the matere vyllygently amonge youre kistes / that we maye cause the best to oure profyte / for we muste departe nowe vnto Auidode.
And therfore wyte shortly agayne / that we maye knowe youre mynde. Fare well. In the hundredth eghte and fourte daye / the fiftenth daye of the moneth of Apyll.

The XII. Chapter.

¶ When these conuenautes were made / Lysias wente vnto the kynge / and the Jewes tyld theyr grounde. But Tymotheus and Appollonius the sonne of Gemes / Jerom-us / and Demophon the proude / vnto the captayne of Egiptus / and that theyr layen those places / wolde not let them lyue in rest and peace. They of Ioppa also had euen suche span: still vnde. They prayed the Je-wes that theye mighte amonge them to go with theyr wyfes and chyldren into the thyppe / whiche they had prepared / and theyd with the as though they had oughte them no euyl wyll.
For so muche then as theyr was gant for a generall proclamation shewing the cōtyntcause of iuract / they consented thereto / and so speded nothyng: but when they were gant forth into the deserte / they founde no lesse than two hundred of them.

¶ When Judas knewe of this crueltie / he wrote vnto his people / he commaunded that they were with hym to make them ready: for hournyng them to call vpon God the righteous iudges / were forth agaynst those murderers of his brethren / set fyre in the haundy

by nyght / burnt by the fyre / and those that escaped from the fyre / he slawe with the sword. And when he had done this / he departed as though he wolde come agayne / and cutt out all them of Zepha. But when he had gotten word / that the Jamnytes were mynded to go in like manner vnto the Jewes which dwelt amonge them: he came vpon the Jamnytes by nyght / and set fyre in the house with the fyre: so that the light of the fyre was sene at Jerusalem / vpon a 4. hundred and fourscore.

Now when they were gone from thence 15. furlonges / in theyr journey towarde Tymotheus 10. thousande men of foote / and 5. hundred holmen of the Arabians fought with hym. So when the battayll was earnest / and prospered with Judas thow the helpe of God / the residue of the Arabians beinge out of countrey / besought Judas to be as one with them / and promysed to geue hym certayne pastures / and to go with hym good in other thynges. Judas thynkyng that they shoulde in dede be profitable / concerninge many thynges / promysed them what he wold: when they shalke handes / and so they departed to theyr tentes. Judas wente also vnto aene / which was very fast feete with byrdes / sence he couned aboute with waldes / and vnder kindes of people dwellinge therein / called Caspyr.

They that were within it / put such trust in the strength of the walles / and in theyr shoure of wysdom: that they were the sacker in theyr saynges / cursyng and cursyng Judas with blasphemyes / and speakinge such wordes as it becommeth not. But Machabeus callinge vpon the greace pance of the worlde (which without any battayll) rammes or ordinance of waere / he cast downe the walles of Zerydo in the tyme of Solus / sel manfully vpon the walles / to kepe the one / and (thow the helpe of the Lord) made an exceeding greace slaughter: In so much that a like of 4. furlonges breake which laye thereby / stemed to stowe with the bloude of the laye.

Then departed they from thence 20. hundred and 4. furlonges / and came to Car-zaca vnto the Jewes that are called Tubianey. But as for Tymotheus / they coulde not gett hym there: for (not one matter dyspareth) he was departed from thence / and had left certayne men in a very stronge holde. But Dositheus and Sosipater which were captaynes with Machabeus / stowe those that Tymotheus had left in the house of desence / euen 5. 100. men. And Machabeus prepared hym with the fyre thousande men that were aboute hym / set them in order by companies / and wente souer against Tymotheus / which had with hym an hundred and twenty thousande men of foote / 4. 100. and 5. hundred badmen.

When Tymotheus had knowlege of Judas commyng / he sene the women / dyspudim / and the other baggage vnto a castell called Carnyon. For it coulde not be wnder / and was harde to come vnto / the wayes of the same place were so narrow / and when Judas company came first in sight / the enemyes were smytten with feare / thow the presence of God / which steyd all thynges: In so much that they flegge one here / another there / were rather dyscomfyted of theyr owne people / and wounded with the sword. Judas vij. f. was very earnest in followinge vpon them / 4. Par. 5. b. and punysshinge thase on godly / and slawe theyr thousande men of them. Tymotheus also him self fell into the bandes of Dositheus and Sosipater / whom he besought with many prayers / to kepe hym go with hys self: because he had many of the Jewes father and brethren in prison / which (if they put hym to death) myght be dysapoynted. So when he had promysed faithfully to dyspouer them agayne / accordyng to the condycion made / they let hym go without harme / for the health of the church. And when Judas had slayne 500. thousand he wente from Carnyon.

Now after that he had chased away / and slayne hys enemyes / he removed the hoste towarde Ephron a stronge cite / where many werke many dyscrete people of the Syrians / and the stronge yonge men kept the walles / defendyng them myghtely. In this

The XIII. Chapter.

¶ In the Clix. year gaue Iudas knowlege / ¶ Iudas Antiochus Eupator was commynge with a greace power into Ieruy / and Lyſias the ſtiruarde and ruler of his matters with him: haung an iiii thouſande men of ſore five thouſand hoſmen: ¶ Lyſias and the hundred charen. ¶ Menſius alſo was him ſelf with them / but with greace he came / and ſpake ſayre to the king / not for any good of the countie / but becauſe he thought to haue bene made ſome greace man of antiorec. But the king of ſynges moud Antiochus mynde agaynſt this vngodly perſon and Lyſias informed the king / ¶ Iudas ¶ Menſius was the cauſe of all myſde: ſo the the king commaunded to take him / and the manner of them to do put hym vnto in the ſame

in the same place.

There was also in the same place a tower of L. cubites high/beaped with asbes: but a boue it was fo made / that men mighte looke downe oue eury side. Whereinto the kynge commaunded that somchil person to be cast amonge the asbes/as one that woulde use of all on grauousnesse. And reason it was / that he thoughte should be such a death / and not to be thynges: for he had done muche myghtise vnto the altar of God / whos fire and asbes were holy / therefore was it right that he shuld also shoulde be defaced with asbes.

But the kynge was wode in his mynde / and came to shewe him selfe in one cruell vnto the Jewes which his father was. Which tyme Judas perceaued / the commaunded the people call vnto the Lord / they cryed theye: that he woulde be helpe them also / theye say he had done alwaye: for they were afraied to be put from their lawe / from the naturall countre and from the holy temple: and not to suffer the people / which a litle while agoe beganne to recouer) to be subdued againe of the blaspheuous natione.

So when they had done this together / and soughte the Lord for merry / with wepyng and fastinge the daye longe / that upon the grounde: Judas exhorted them to make them selfe vraye. But he and the elders together drayfed to go forth first with their people: also the kynge thoughte his booste into Jewes / and afooe he besiged the cite / and so to committe the matter vnto God. Wherefore he ascribed the power of all thynges vnto God the maker of the world / eschomyng the people to fight manfully / yee / euen vnto death: for the lawe / the temple / the crite / their owne natue countre / and to defende the cristians: and for his boost before the Lord. He gaue them also that were with him / a token of the victory of God / whosinge oute the manlyng young men / wente by night into the hynge passioh / slawe of the hoste. M. liij / men / and the greatest Elephas / with those that sat vpon them.

Thus when they had thoughte a greate feare and tyme among the tentes of their enemies / and all thynges wente prosperously with them / they departed in the besake of the Daye / God theye theye halper and besen die. Thus when the kynge perceaued the manlyng of the Jewes / he wente aboute to take the stronge places by craft / and / entrued his booste vnto I. Bethsara / whiche was a wylle. M. xij / a hope house of the besake of the Jewes: but they were chaed awape / smite and vnto the fild. And Judas sent vnto them that were in it / suche thynges as were necessarye. In the Jewes booste also there was one Aboberus / whiche tolde the enemies their secretes: but they soughte hym oute / and when they had gotten him / they put him in prison. After this tyme the frage commaunded them that were in Bethsara / toke euery with them / whos pards / a battail with Judas / whos ouercame him.

But when he vnderstode that Philip / whos name he had lesse to be ouersee of his sustynesse at Antioche / beganne to rebel against him / he was afformed in his mynde / so that he gyded him selfe to the Trece / and made them an oath to do whatsoeuer they thoughte ryghte. Nowe when he was reconcyled with them / he offered / made much of the temple / gaue greate gyfts vnto it / enhauced Machabeus / makinge hym captaine and gouernour from Ptolomys vnto the Gerenees.

Neuerthelesse / when he came to Ptolomais / the people of the cite were not content with that bonde of frendshipp: for they were afraied that he woulde be calde the conuulsit / then wente Lysias vp into the scate / and informed the people / shewed them the cause why / and pacified them. So he came againe to Antioche. This is now the matter concerninge the hynge iourney and his retorne.

The XIII. Chapter.

Off the thre years was Judas informed / whow that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a greate power and shippes / thowoe the harn of Eripolis / to take certayne comditions places and countre / agaynst Antiocha. and hys captayne Elyas. Now Alcimus (which had bene hygh priest / a wilfully despyled him self in the ryme of the myrtaunge / saynge / that by no means he coude be helped / nor haue any more continuance to the altar: he came to king Demetrius in the hundredth and one and fiftye yeare / persweynge vnto hym a crowne of golde / a palme & a olyue tree: which (as men thought) belonged to the temple: & that shoulde be helde by a kinge.

B But when he had gotten oportunitie for his malice: Demetrius called him to counsaill / and aske him what thinges he coude counsaile the Jerues to do: he answered: The Jerues shal be called Assides / whose captayne is Judas Machabeus: mainteyne warres / make insurrection: and wyl not let the realme be in pease.

For Alcimus despynd of my father's honoure: / I meane by hygh priesthode / can come hither partly / because I was saythfull vnto the kyng / and partly because I foughte the profyte of the church. And why: all oure people (whiche in the true dedesse of them) are not a litle trouble. Wherefore I beseeche the (O kyng) consider all these thinges diligently / and then make some prouision for the lande and the people: accordinge to the kyndesse that thou hast offered vnto them. For: as longe as Judas hath the upper hand: it is not possible that men can liue in pease.

Wherfor he had spoken these wordes / other freinds also hauyng euell will as Judas / see the kyng Demetrius on fye agaynst him: / Which immediately sent Nicanor (ruler of the Elephanes) a captayne into Jewry: commaunding hym to take Judas hym self aloue / but to slaye them that were with him / and to make Alcimus hygh priest of the temple.

C Then the Sathen which fled out of Jewry from Judas / came to Nicanor by flukes / shewing the harme and decaye of the Jerues to be their welfare. Now when the Jerues hearde of Nicanors commyng / and the gathering together of the Sythens: they sprecalled the selfe with care: / & besoughte him (which made them his people / and euer defended his owne prison with euyld co-lena: that he wolde perserue them still. So as the commaundement of the captayne / they removed from thence / and came to a town called Assisan. And Symon Judas broode the self in hande with Nicanor: but thow the sodayne commyng of the enemies / he was afrayd.

Nevertheless / Nicanor hearinge the many lynes of them that were with Judas / and the bolde stoutnes / they had to fight for their naturall countrey / durst not pousse the matter with bloodshedding. Wherefore he sent Pothidimus / Theodotus and Mattheus before to seeke and to take pease. So when they had taken longe aduysment thereupon: and the captayne shewed it vnto the multitude they were agreed in one mynde to haue pease. And they appoynted a daye to sit upon these matters quietly amonge them selfe / in the shoke also were brought and reformid. Nevertheless / Judas commaunded certayn men of armes to watch in comenit places / lest there shoulde suddenly arise any euill thow the enemies. And so they continued in so sanably together.

Nicanor / why he abode at Jerusalem / outd hym self not unreasonably / but first awaye the people that were gathered together. He sloued Judas our with his herit / and furnished hym. He payed hym also to take a wyfe / and to buyng forth dyuand. So he married / lyued in rest / and they led a commune lyfe. But Alcimus perceauyng the loue that was betwixt them / and how they were agreed together / came to Antiochus / and tolde hym that Nicanor had taken strange matters in hande: and ordered Judas (an enemy of the realme) to be the kyng's successour. Then the kyng was for to speare / and thow the wicked accusations which Alcimus made of Nicanor / he was so prouoked / that he wrote vnto Nicanor / sayyng that he was very angry for the friendship and agreement / which he had made with Machabeus. Nevertheless / he commaunded hym in all the hast / that he shoulde take Machabeus prisoner / and sende hym to Antioch.

Which letters when Nicanor had sent: / he was he was at byo wynde/ and soe greued/ wherein they had agreed: specially / sayng: Machabeus was the man that neuer dyd by his harme. But because he might not withstande the kynge/ he soughte a pounceer to fulfill his commaundement. Norwiche standinge/ when Machabeus sawe that Uesano beganne to be shurlye vnes hym/ and that he intreated hym: more roughly then he was wonte/ he perceiued that such vnfyndnes came not of good/ and therefore he gathered a fewe of his men/ and with them him self from Uesano. Whiche when he knewe that Machabeus had manfully pueneced hym/ he came into the greate and moost holy temple/ and commaunded the priestes (whiche were voyng their vsuall offycinges. to vnder hym the man. And when they sawe that they coulde not sell/ where the man was whome he soughte/ he stretchyd ouer his hande/ and made an oob/ sayng: If ye will not deliuer me Iudas captiue/ I shall remoune this temple of God into a playte felde/ I shall breake downe the altar/ and consecrate this temple vnto Bacchus. After these wordes he departed.

¶ When the priestes lifed vp theyr handes toward heauen/ and besoughe hym thee was euer the Refruter of theyr people/ sayng: Thou O Lorde of all/ whiche haste made of nothyng/ woldst thoue the temple of thy habitation shoulde be amonge vs. Therefore nowe O moost holy Lorde. kepe this house our vndefiled/ whiche lately was defiled.

¶ There was there crucified vpon a Nicanoone Rasin/ an Alderman of Ierusalem/ a looer of the whake crite/ and a man of good repaite: whiche for the kynde here that he bare vnto the people/ was called a father of the Jewes. This man of tynde/ when the Jewes were mynded to kepe them selves vndefiled/ he sende and deliuered them/ by gyfte consente stedfastly to speide his body and his lyfe for his people.

¶ So Nicano willinge to declare the hate that he bare to the Jewes/ sent fye hundred men to take him: for he thoughte/ if he gat hym/ he shoulde buyge the Jewes in greute decaye. Whiche when the people beganne to ruffe in at his house/ to breake the doore/ and to see fyre on it/ he sayngs nowe taken/ wold haue defendid him selfe with his sword: choosynge rather to dye manfully/ then to yelde hynselfe to those wicked docters: and because of his noble flocke/ he had rather haue bene put to extreme exurte.

¶ Norwiche standinge/ what tyme as he mistof of his stroke for haiste/ and the multitude fell in violently vnto him: the doore/ he ranne boldly to the wall/ and caste hym selfe downe manfully among the beape of them/ whiche gaue soone place to his fall/ so that he fell vpon his belly. Neuerthelesse/ whyle there was yett liueth within him/ he was mynded in his mynde. and whyle his bloude gushyd oute/ exclaimyng (for he was very sore wounded) he ranne thowre the myddell of the people/ and gat hym to the topp of a rocke. So whyle his bloude was nowe gone/ he toke eue his own bowels with both his handes/ and hit vnto them vpon the people: calling vpon the Lorde of lyfe and helpe/ to rewarde him this agayne/ and so he dyed.

The. XV. Chapter.

¶ Now when Nicano knewe that Iudas was in the countree of Samaria/ he I. Ma. 28. thoughte much all his power to streke a felde with hym vpon a Sabbath daye. Neuerthelesse/ the Jewes that were compellid to go with hym. sayde: We do not so easily and vnwisly/ but halowe the Sabbath daye/ and worshippe hym that crite/ all thynges. For all this/ yett saide the vngreuous persone: I Ja. 14. Reg. 17. there a mighty one in heauen hath commaunded the Sabbath daye to be kepte: And whyle they sayde: yea/ the hyuinge God/ the myghty Lorde in heauen/ commaunded the seuenth daye to be kepte/ he sayde: And I am myghty vpon earth/ to commaunde them for to ayme them selfe/ and to persoune the kynge by synesse. Norwiche standinge/ he myghte not haue his purpose.

¶ Nicano: had deuyd with greute pride to ouercome Iudas/ and to bringe awaye the victorie. But Machabeus had euer a faste confidence and a perfect hope in God/ wher he wolde helpe him/and exhorted his people not to be afrayed at the commynge of the Canthens/But alwaye to remembre the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen/yea/and to be sure now also/that almyghty God wolde graue them the victory. He spake vnto them out of the lawe and prophetes/punninge them in remembrance of the Barnais / that they had stricken asse/and made them to be of a good courage.

So when their betters were plucked vp / he shewed them also the Deceafulnesse of the Gentens/and how they wolde kepe no coun-sauns nor coit. It was he weeped them not with the remoure of his side and speare / but with wholsome wordes and exhortacions.
He shewed them a dream also / wherby he he made them all glad / whiche was this:
He thought that he sawe Onias (whiche had bene bygynne / a vertuous and louynge man / had and of honest conuersacion / wel spoken / and one that had bene exalted in god-lines from a childe / holdinge vp his handes toward heauen / and praynge for his people.
After this there appeared vnto him another man / whiche was aged / honorable and glorious. And Onias sayde: This is a louce of Israhel / and of the people of Israel. This is he that prayeth muche for the people / and for all the holye cync: I seemy the prophet of God.
He thought also that I seemy helde ouer his ryght hande / and gaue him (namely vnto Judas) a swerde of golde / saynge: Take this holye swerde / a gyfte from God / wherewith thou shalt finallye dounce the enemies of the people of Israel.

And so they were well comforted / to haue the wordes of Judas / and soke courage vnto them / so that the yonge men were determined in their myndes to fyght a to byde thys daye: In so much that in the thinges which theye rofe in hande / theye boldnesse shewed the same / because the holye cync and the temple were in perill: for the which theye toke more care then for their wifes / children / brethren / and kinsfolkes. Theye / theye that were in the cinc / were most careful for those which were to fyght. Now when theye were all in a hope that the iudgement of the matter was at hande / and the enemies drew nye / the host dunge seen awaye / the Elephanes and hoismen / eueryone slanginge in his place. Ma-chabeus considered the commynge of the multitude / the aduantage of their weapons / the crueltie of the Canthens / and helde vp his handes toward heauen / callynge vpon the Lorde that doth wonders / whiche graunteth not the victorye after the multitude of weapons / and power of the host / but to the that please him. According to his owne wil. Therefore in his prayer he sayde these wordes.

O Lorde / I praye that thyddell sende thine aungell ind the tyme of Ezechias kynge of Juda / and in thys host of Sennacherib slawe an hundredth a yere an foure score thousande / sende now also / by good aungell before vs (a Lorde of heaues) in the fearfulnesse of thyde of thy myghty arme: that theye whiche come againste thys holye people to blasphem them / maye be afrayed. And so he made an ende of his wordes. Then Onias / and theye that were with him / saynge with stomacke and fortiege: Was Judas and his companye with prayer and callynge vpon God.

With these wordes theye saynge / but with theye herce theye prayed vnto the Lorde / and slew: notwithstandinge: Men: for thow the present helpe of God theye were gloriously comforted.

Now when theye left of / and were turninge agayne with ioye / theye vnderstode that Ma-chabeus was slayne with the other. When theye gaue a greuous shoute / and a crye / saynge: the almyghty Lorde with a loud voyce. And Judas (whiche was eue ready to spende his bodye and lyfe for his cync) commanded to smyte of Nicanos hebel with his arme and hande / and to be brought to Jerusalem. When he came therye / he wold all the people / and the poffes at the altar / with those that were in the castell / and showed them Nicanos heade / and his weked hande / whiche he had presumptuously bolden vp againste the temple of God. He caused the tunge also of that vngodlye Nicanos to be cut in litle peeces / and to be caste to the foote and the cruel manne hande to be hangid vp before the temple.

So every man gave thanks vnto ⁊ Lord de/sayinge/ blessed be he that hath kepte his place vnderfyled.

¶ As for Theanors heade / ⁊ he hanged it vpon the hygh castl/ for an euydent and playne token of the helpe of God. And so they agreed altogether to kepe that daye holy: namely / the viij. daye of the moneth Abar/ which in the Syriane languages called the nighte daye before Mardocheus daye.

Thus was Nicanor slayne / and from that tyme forth the Jewes had the cure in possession: And here will I now make an ende.

The II. Chapter.

¶ When Iesus was borne at Bethleem in Jewry in the tyme of Herode the Kinge. Beholde there came wise men from the East to Jerusalem / sayinge: where is he new borne Kinge of the Iewes? we have seene his starre in the East / and are come to worship him.

When Herode the Kinge had heard these things he was troubled / and all Jerusalem with him / and he gathered all the high Priests & Scribes of the people and asked of them where Christ should be borne. And they sayde unto him: at Bethleem in Jewry. for thus it is written by the Prophet: And thou Bethleem in the lande of Iewry / art not the least amonge the princes of Iuda: for out of thee shall come unto me the captayne / that shall governe my people Israel.

¶ Then Herode prively called the wise men / and diligently enquired of them / what tyme the starre appeared / and sent them to Bethleem / sayinge: Go and search diligently for the chyld. And when ye have founde him / bringe me word: & I will give you a reward. But they answered him / sayinge: we have feare to come unto thee: for we knowe that thou seekest to slaye us. We have dreamed that we have founde the chyld: and we have feared to come unto thee: for we knowe that thou seekest to slaye us.

When they had heard the Kinge / they departed: and so they fled in the night: and they sawe in the East / a new starre: which came abode over the place where the chyld was. When they sawe the starre / they were marvaulously glad: and went into the house / and founde the chyld with Mary his mother / and knelt downe and worshipped him: and opened they their treasures / and offered unto him gifts: Gold / Frankincense and Myrrer. And after they were warned of God in a dream / that they should not come againe to Herode / they returned into their owne country: another waye.

¶ When they were departed / beholde the angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream / sayinge: Arise / and take the chyld & his mother / and flye into Egypte / and abide there till I bringe thy word: for Herode will seeke the chyld: to destroy him. Then he arose / and toke the chyld and his mother by night / and departed into Egypte / where there was Herodes death: that the thinge might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord: by the prophet which sayeth: I out of Egypte have I called my sonne.

Luc. 2. 13. d

¶ When Herode perceyvinge that he was deceived of the wise men / was exceedinge wroth / and sent forth / and slew all the chyldren that were in Bethleem / and in all the coastes therof: so many as were two yere olde and under: accordinge to the tyme / which he had diligently searched out of the wise men.

Then was that fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet Ieremie sayinge: I will be a voyce that cryeth: weepinge and lamentation: weepinge for her children: and wold not be comforted: because they were not.

When Herodes was dead: beholde an angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypte / sayinge: Arise / and take the chyld and his mother / and go into the lande of Israel: for they are dead: which sought the chyldes life. And he arose / and toke the chyld and his mother / & came into the lande of Israel. But when he heard that Archelaus did raygne in Jewry / he was fearefull of him: for Herodes / he was afraid to go thither. Notwithstandinge / after he was warned of God in a dream / he turned asyde in the petyes of Galilee / and went and dwelt in a cite called Nazareth: to fulfill that which was spoken by the prophetes: that he shall be called a Nazarene.

The III. Chapter.

¶ In those dayes came Iohn the Baptist / and preached in the wilderness of Jewry / sayinge: Amend your selves: for the Kingdom of heaven is at hande. This is he of whom it is spoken by the prophet: Esay / which sayeth: The voyce of a cryer in the wilderness: prepare the Lords way: and make his path straight.

¶ This Iohn had his garments of camels haire / and a leather girdell about his loynes. Then there was Iohannis and wyrd done: then went our to him Jerusalem / & all Jewry / and all the region rounde about Iordan: and the gospel of the kingdom/and healed all maner of sicknesses / & all maner diseases amonge the people. And his fame spredde abroade througout all Syria. And they brought vnto him all sicker people / that were taken with diuers diseases and gripinges / and the that were possessed wth deuils / & those whiche were lunatyke / and those that had the palsei: and he healed them. And there followed hym a great number of people from Galilee / and from the ten cities / and from Ierusalem / and from the regions that lye beyonde Iordan.

Chap. V. ¶ ¶ Can he saue the people / he went vp into a mountayne: & when he was set / his disciples came to him / and he opened his mouth / and taught thei / saying: ¶ Blessed are the poore in spirite: for theye is the kingdom of heauen: ¶ Blessed are they that mourne: for they shall be comforted. ¶ Blessed are they that hunger & thirst: for they shall be filled. ¶ Blessed are they which hunger and thirst for righteousnesse: for they shall be filled. ¶ Blessed are they which are mercifull: for they shall obtaine mercy. ¶ Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God. ¶ Blessed are they which keepe his commandments: for they shall be called the children of God. ¶ Blessed are they which suffer persecution for righteousnesse sake: for theye is the kingdom of heauen. ¶ Blessed are ye when men reuile you / and persecute you / and falsly saye all maner of euil sayings against you for my sake. ¶ I keioy and be glad: for great is your reward in heauen. For so persecuted they the prophetes which were before you.

¶ Ye are the salt of the earth / but if the salt haue lost his saltnesse / what can be salted ther wth. It is therefore good for nothinge / but to be cast out / and to be troden vnder foote of men / y^e are the light of the world. ¶ A candle that is set on an hill / can not be hid: ¶ Neither do men light a candle / and put it vnder a bushell / but on a candlesticke / and it lighteth all that are in the house. ¶ Let your light so shine before men / that they may see your good w^{orkes}: and glorifye your father which is in heauen.

¶ Think not that I am come to destroye the lawe / or the prophetes: no / I am not come to destroye them: but so to fulfill them. For truly

I say vnto you: yll heauen a earth perissheth / & one iote of one stile of the lawe shall not pass / yll all be fulfilled.

¶ Whosoever breaketh one of these least commandements / and teacheth men so / he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heauen. But whosoever obserueth and teacheth the same / he shall be called great in the kingdom of heauen.

¶ I say vnto you: except your righteousness exceede the righteousness of the Scribes and Pharisees / ye can not enter into the kingdom of heauen.

¶ Ye haue hearde howe it was sayde to them of the olde tyme: ¶ Thou shalt not kill. So whosoever killeth / he shall be in daunger of iudgement. But I say vnto you: whosoever is angry wth his brother / is in daunger of iudgement. Whosoever sauyeth vnto his brother Kacha: that is in daunger of the counsayll. But whosoever sauyeth thou fool: is in daunger of hell fyre.

¶ Therefore when thou offerest thy gift at the altare / & there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee / leave there thy gift before the altare / and go thy waye first / and reconcile thy selfe to thy brother: & then come and offer thy gift.

¶ I agree wth thyne adversarye quytte thee whole thou art in the waye wth hym / lest thou be iudge deliuered to the iudge / and the iudge deliuer the to the minister / and then thou be cast into prison. I say vnto the w^{ch}: thou shalt not come out thence / yll thou haue payed the onesmallest farthinge.

¶ Ye haue hearde howe it was sayde to them of olde tyme: ¶ Thou shalt not committe adultery. But I saye vnto you: that whosoever looketh on a wyfe lustyng after her / hath committed adultery wth her already in his heart.

¶ Therefore if thy right eye offende thee / plucke it out / and cast it from thee. And if thy right hand offende thee / cutt it off / and cast it from thee. Better is it that one of thy members perissheth / then that all thy body shoulde be cast into hell. ¶ If thy left eye offende thee / plucke it out / and cast it from thee. And if thy left hand offende thee / cutt it off / and cast it from thee. Better is it that one of thy members perissheth / then that all thy body shoulde be cast into hell.

 12 b purch away his wife / excepte hee: for som-14 (and) cause hee to breake marriage: And whosoener marryeth her is in deuenced / breake feith weddake.

15 c Agayne / ye haue herde howe it was sayde 17 b to the of olde tyme: I Thou shalt not forswere 15 b thy selfe: / but I saite forswaine thine ooth to 17 b God. But I say vnto you: I sweare not as all: 17 b neither by heauen: / for the Goddes seat: nor 17 b by the earth: for it is by a fute stoke: neyther 17 b by Ierusalem: for it is the cite of the greate synge: neither shalt thou sweare by thy head: because thou canst not make one haere whye or 16 c blacke: I But your commaundeon shalbe yea/yea: nay: nay. For whosoener is more the than/cometh of euil.

17 c Ye haue herde howe it is sayde: I An eye 17 c for an eye: a toth for a toth. / But I saye vnto 17 b you: that ye resist not euil. But whosoener ge-17 b teth the: a blowe on the right cheke / turne to 17 b him the other also. And if any man wil sue the at the lawe: / and take away thy coat: / let him 17 b haue thy cloake also. And who so compelleth the to go a myle: go with him twayne. Geue the him that aet: and from him that wolde beiove: turne not away.

114 c Ye haue herde howe it is sayde: I thou shalt loue thine: neyther boure / and haue thine enemy. But I saye vnto you: loue your ene-114 c mies: I Blesse them that curse you: Do good to them that hate you: Blyse for the which do you wronge and persecute you: that ye maye be the chyldren of your father which is in hea-114 c uen: I for he maketh his Sonne to aryse on the euill: and on the good: and sendeth his rayne on the iust: and vniuste: I So if ye loue the which loue you: what reward shal ye haue? Do not the Dublinne: euen so: and if ye be friendly to your breiden: euen so: what singular charyte 114 c do not the Publicans also lyfe wyse? Ye shall therefore be perfect: as euil as our father in heauen is perfect. I

The VII Chapter.

12 c The heere co youre I almost: that ye geue it 12 b not in the sight of men: to the intent that ye wolde be fruce of them: / charyte geue no reward of youre father: which is in heaue. Whē fouer therfore thou geuest chyn almes / thou shalt not make a trumpet to be blown before the: as the hypocrites do in the synagoges in the streete: / so: to be praised of men. Verely I say vnto you: they haue their rewarde. But when thou doest almes / let not thy left hande knowe what thy right hande doeth: that thine almes maye be secret: a thy father which is in his secreete: shall reward the openly.

17 c And when thou prayest: thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are. For they loue to stande praye in the synagoges / and in the corners of the streete: to be seene of men. Verely I say vnto you: they haue their rewarde. But when thou prayest: / entre into thy chamber / a shut thy doore to the: and praye to thy father which is in secreete: and thy father which is in secreete: shall reward the openly. I 17 c And when ye praye: babble not much as the heythē do: for they thinke that they shal herde for theyr much babylnges sake. Ye not ye lyke them therfore. For youre father knoweth what ye neede of before ye are of hym: therfore thus maner therefore shall ye praye:

17 c Ooure father: which art in heauen. Ha-loved be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be fullylled vpon earth: / as it is in heauen. Geue vs this daye oure dayly bread.
 And forgyue vs oure dettes: / as we also forgeue oure debtors. And lede not vs into temptacion: but deliuer vs from euill. For: thine is the kingdom: and the power: and the glory: for euer. Amen. For if ye forgiue other men theyr trespasses: / your heavenly father shall also forgiue you. I But / and ye will not forgiue inen theyr trespasses: / nor omē shall your father forgiue you your trespasses.

17 c I No: couer / when ye fast: do not sad as the hypocrites are. For they dysfigure their faces: / that theyr myghte be seene of men to fast.
 Verely I say vnto you: they haue their reward. But when thou fastest: / anoynte thine head: and wash thy face: that it appere not vnto inen that thou fastest: I but vnto thy father which is in secreete: a thy father which is in secreete: shall reward the openly.

17 c So that ye gather you not treasure vpon the earth: where rust a mothe corrupte: / and where thethe breake throue: and steale. Weell.
 But gather you treasure together in heauen: / where neither rust: nor mothe corrupte: and

¶ Therfore I ſaye unto you: The not ye care full for youre lyfe: what ye ſhall eate / or what ye ſhall drynke: nor yet for youre body: what ye ſhall put on. Is not the lyfe more worth then meate? and the body more of value than caryment? Beholde/ the fooler of the age: for they ſowe not / neyther ceape / nor yet cary into the barnes: and yet youer heauenly father ſedeth the. Are ye not much better then they?

Luce xxi. c

¶ Which of you / though he take thought therefor / could put one cubyte unto his ſtature? why care ye then for caryment? Conſyder the lyfyn of the ſilde how they growe. They labour not neyther ſynne. And yet for all that I ſaye unto you / that euen Salomon in all his royale was not arayed lyke vnto one of theſe. ¶ mee. ii. c

¶ Whoe nor / that ye be not iudged: for as ye iudge / ſo ſhall ye be iudged. ¶ And with what meature ye meure / with the ſame ſhall it be measured to you agayne. ¶ Why ſeiſt thou a Leuit. moean eby thy brother eye / and perceaueſt not he beame that is in thine owne eye: Why ſayeſt thou to thy brother holde / I wil plucke it moane out of thine eye / and beholde / a beame is in thine owne eye. ¶ Thou ſpoyre / fyrſt plucke out the beame out of thine owne eye / and then ſhalt thou ſe clearly to plucke out the moane out of thy brother eye.

¶ Take not that which is holy to doggry: For neyther caſt ye youre pades before ſeyn / left they treade them vnder their ſeet / or the ſmalle name agayne and al to cenſure you.

¶ Take / and it ſhall be greden you: Seke / and ye ſhall fynde: Kneke / and it ſhall be opened to you. For whoforever ceith / ceccaueith / and her that ſeeth / ſyndith / and to him that knoweth / it ſhall be opened. ¶ To there any man / karye / and geue you / which if he ſonne geue him bread / wolde offer a ſtone: Or if he geue him ſtreche wolde he offer him a ſerpente: / ſe ye thei: ¶ Whiche geue are euell / can geue youer chyldren good geſtes: how much more ſhall youer father which is in heauen / geue good thinges to them that aſke him.

The Gospel of S. Matthew.

D him two possessed of devils / which came out of shy geaules / and receiued out of measure / scarce / so that no man might go by the waye. And beholds / they cryd out sayinge: O Iesu the sonne of Gods / we haue thee to do with the? Then thou come hyther to womens toe before the tyme be come. ¶ And there was a good waye of iouen the a greate hearde of swyne kidinge. The the deuils besought him sayinge: if thou call vs out / suffice vs to go oute waye into the hearde of swyne. And he sayde vnto them: go your wayes. Then went they out / and departed into the hearde of swyne. And beholds / the whole hearde of swyne was caryed with violence hea / lyng into the see / and perished in the water. Then the heard men fled / and weine their wayes into the tyme / a tolde euery thyng / and what had fornomed vnto the possessed of the deuils. And beholds / all the tyme came out and met Iesus / and when they sawe him / ¶ besought hym for to departe out of their coastes.

Act. xxi. c

The IX. Chapter. ¶

Then entred he into a shyppe / and passed out / a came into hys owne tyme. ¶ And lo / they brought vnto him a man sicke of the palsey / lyenge in hys bed. And when Iesus sawe the fayth of them / he sayde to the sicke / of palsey / my sonne be of good cheere / thy synnes are forgiven the. And beholds / certayne of the / they besayde in them selves / this man blasphemeth. But when Iesus sawe theyr thoughtes / he sayde / what is: whynt ye cuell in your heuies? Whather is it easier to saye / thy synnes be forgiven the / or to saye / arise and walke. But that ye maye knowe / that I haue of my father power to forgive synnes in earth / then saide he vnto the sicke of the palsey / arise / take vp thy bedde / a go home. ¶ And he arose and went home. When the people sawe / they marvelled a glosed God / which had giuen such power vnto men. ¶

Act. ix. f
and ix. o

And as Iesus passed southed thence / he sawe a man sit a receaunge of custome / named Mathew / and sayde vnto hym: followe me / and be a close and followed hym. And it came to passe as he sat at meat in the house / beholds / many publicans and synners came and sat downe also with Iesus / and hys disciples.

Mat. ix. b Luc. vi. d
and xv. a

When the Pharisees sawe that / they sayde to hys disciples: Whye eateth youe meat in the publicans and synners? When Iesus hadde shewen / he sayde vnto them: The whole nedee neede the physician / but not the carni list. ¶ He and learne what that in: anath: I haue pleasure in mercy / and not in offeringe. For I am not come to call the righteous / but the synners to repentance.

¶ Then came hys disciples of Ihan to him / and say: whye do we and the Pharisees faste / and thou and thy disciples faste not? And Iesus said vnto them: Can the wedding guild be iouened so long as the bridegome is with the? Thy tyme will come / when the bridegome shall be taken from them / and then shall they fast. No man patcheth an olde garment / with a peece of newe cloth / for then the cloth be awaye the peece agayne from the garment / a the rent is made greater. Likewise do men put newe wyne into olde vessels / for then the vessels breake / and the wyne runneth out / a the vessels perishe. But they poure newe wyne into newe vessels / and so are they both saved together. ¶

¶ While he thus spake / vnto them / beholds / there came a certayne culer / and woe / who stopped him / sayinge: My daughter is nowe deceased / but come and laye thy hande on her / and she shall liue. Iesus arose and followed him with his disciples. ¶ And beholds / there a woman which was diseased with an issue of blood / yea / came behind him / and layd her hande on the hem of his reulce. For she sayde in her selfe: if I maye touche him / then my resturor onely / I shal be safe. Then Iesus turned him about / a brithed by her sayinge: Waighter be of good comfort / thy faith hath made thee safe. And she was made whole / euen in that same houre.

¶ And when Iesus came into the milke house / and sawe his ministris and the people ragginge / he saide vnto them: Sit you here / for the meade is nowe ready / but slepe. ¶ And they laughed him to scorn. But when the people were put forth / he went in / and soke by the water / and the meade arose. And this was nosped / a thoughe on all the lande. ¶

And as Iesus departed thence / two blinde men followed him / cryenge and sayinge: O thou sonne of Dauid / haue mercy vpon vs. ¶

¶ Mark the same tyme/ wente Iesus thowge wher he coue upon the Sabbath/ and his disciples were hungry/ and beganne to plucke of the ayres of the coines/ and to eate. When the Pharisee sawe that/ they saide vnto hym: Behold/ thy Disciple do that/ whiche is not lawfull to do vpon the Sabbath. He sayde vnto them/ haue ye not ead what Dauid had/ when he was hungry/ and they also that were with him? ¶ Howe he crept into the house of God/ and had eate the shewbreaden/ whiche were not lawfull for him to eate. Neither for them that were with him/ but only for the paster. ¶ O haue ye not ead in the lawe/ haue that the paster in the temple brake the Sabbath/ and yett are blamelesse? ¶ And he departed thence/ and wente into Bethsaida/ and behold/ there was a man/ which had his hande dyed vp. And they saue vnto hym/ sayinge. Is it lawfull to heale vpon the Sabbath? because they might accuse him. But he sayde vnto them/ Which of you is it/ if he be dead a shepe fallen into a pyre vpon the Sabbath/ what wold ye not sake him/ and liue hym ouer? And howe muche is a man better then a shepe? Therefore is it lawfull to do good vpon the Sabbath. They sayde he to the man/ stretche forth thy hande. And he stretche it forth/ and it was whole againe liue vnto the other. R.

¶ Then wente the Pharisee out/ & helde a counsaill agaynst hym/ howe they myghte destroye hym. But when Iesus knewe their iosef/ he departed thence/ and muche people followed hym/ and he healed them all/ and charged them/ that they shoulde not make hym knowne: that the thinge myghte be fulfilled/ whiche was spoken by the prophet/ whiche sayeth. ¶ Behold/ whiche is my kinsman/ whome I haue chosen/ and my be loued in whome my soule delighteth. ¶ I will put my spete vpon hym/ and he shall shewe iudgement vnto the Heythen. And answered and said vnto the: Vnto you is given to knowe the mystery of the kyngdom of heauen: but vnto them is not geuen. For who so hath / vnto hym shalbe geuen: and he shall haue abundance. But who so hath not / from him shalbe taken away: euen that he hath. Therefore saide I vnto them by parables: for with seying eyes they see not: and with hearing eares they heare not: for they vnderstande it not. And in them is fulfilled the prophesy of Esay: which saith: I shall braue in the de: and shall not vnder-stand: and with seying eyes shal see: and not perceiue. For the heere of this people is waxed grosse: and thur eares are thicke of hearing: and thur eyes haue they closed: lest they should once see with thur eyes: and heare with the eares: and vnderstande with thur heart: and turne that I might heale them.

But blessed are your eyes / for they see: and your eares: for they heare. Verily I say vnto you: as many prophets and righteous men haue desired to se the thinges that ye se / and haue not sene them: and to heare the thinges that ye heare: and haue not herde them. I saie vnto you therefore the parable of the tares: When one beareth the woide of the kyngdome and vnderstandeth it: not the cullman cometh and plucketh it awaye: thas is sown in his heart: and this is he that soweth by the wayside. But he that is sown in the ston-grounde: is this: whan one heareth the woide / and anon with ioye receaueth it: neuerthelesse he hath no rote in hym: but endureth for a season: when trouble and persecution ar-yseth because of the woide / unmediatly he is offended. As for him that is sown amonge the thornes: this is he: Whan one heareth the woide / and the carefullnesse of this worlde / and the deceafulnesse of riches: thake the woide / and so he becometh unfruitfull.
But he that is sown in the good grounde: is this: whan one heareth the woide / and vnderstandeth it: and bangeth forth fruite: and some geth it an hundred fold: some sixty fold:
and some thirty fold.

Another parable he putte forth vnto them and said: The kyngdome of heauen is like vnto a man: whi is sowed good seede in his fild.
But whyle men slepe: there came an enemy / and sowed tares amonge the wheat: and wente his waye. Thow when the slawe was sleping: and thoughte southe frute: than the tares appeared also. Then came the seruante to the hauseholder: and saide vnto hym: Sye: for we desi thou not good seede in thy fild: from whence then hath it tares. He sayde vnto them: that hath the enemye done. Than sayde the seruante: wilt thou then that we go and weede them out? He said: No: lest / whyle ye weede oute the tares / ye plucke vp the wheat also with them. Let them both growe together: till the harvest: and in tyme of haruest / I will saye vnto the tapers: Gather the tares hysse: and bynde them in busses to be burnt: but gather the wheat into my garne.

Another parable putte forth vnto them and sayde: The kyngdome of heauen is like vnto a graine of muscardine seede: whiche a man taketh: and sowed it in his fild. Which is the keel amonge all seedes. But whan it is grow-en: it is the greatest amonge herbes: and is a tree: so that the byrdes vnder the heauen come and dwell in the boughes of it.

Another parable spake he vnto them: The kyngdome of heauen is like vnto leuen: whiche a woman take: and mixt it amonge the pecces of meale: till it was leuened.

All these thinges spake Iesus vnto the people by parables: and withoute parables: He spoke by nothings vnto them: that the thing might be fulfilled: which was spoken by the prophet Esay: I will open my mouth in parables: and will speake oute the secretes fro the beginninge of the worlde. I Then sente Iesus the people awaye: and came home. And his disciples came vnto him and sayde: Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of the fild. Iesus answered and sayde vnto the: He that soweth the good seede is the sonne of man: the fild is the good fild: are the thyllowen of the kyngdome: the tares are the chyldren of wychedesse: the enemye that soweth them is the deuill: the harvest is the ende of the worlde: the reapers are the angels. For as for the tares: are weeded out: and burnt in the fyre: es-than iohē at variance within him selfe: how maye then his kingdome endure? But if I caste out Beelzebub thorow Belzebub, how come ye to whom ye your children cast them out? Therefore shall they be your iudge. But if I caste out the Beelzebub by the spirit of God, then can I kingdome of God come vpon you. ¶ Or how can a man enter into a strong mans house, & violently take away his goodes, & except he first binde the strong man, and the spale his house? &c. that is not with me, against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth abroad. Therefore I saie vnto you: All spere and blasphemy shall be forgotten vnto men, but the blasphemy against the spirit shall not be forgotten vnto men: and whosoever speaketh a word against the sonne of man, shall be forgiven him: but whosoever speaketh against the holy ghost, he shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, nor in the world to come.

¶ Then answered certaine of the Scribes and Pharises, / a said, Master, we wolde sayne, se a token of the. And he answered, & sayde vnto them: ¶ This euill and aduersous generation seeketh a token, and there shall no token be giuen them, but the token of the prophete Jonas. ¶ For as Jonas was thre dayes and thre nyghts in the Whalles belly, so shall the sonne of man be thre dayes, and thre nyghts in the berte of the earthe. ¶ The men of Thimue shall rise in the laste iudgement, with this generation, / and shall condemne it: for they had remanent at the casting of Jonas. And beholde, here is one greater then Jonas. ¶ The queene of the South shall arise in the last iudgement, with this generation, and shall condemne it: for she came from the uttermost parts of the earth, to heare the wysdomes of Salomon, and lo, here is one greater then Salomon.

¶ When the vncleane spire is gone oute of a man, he walketh thorow drye places, / for he hath no resting place, and findeth none. ¶ Then sayeth he: I will turne agayne into my house, from whence I wente oute. And when he cometh, he findeth it empty, / except and garnished. ¶ Then goeth he his way, and taketh vnto hym feuen other spires, / worse then his selfe, and when they are entered in, they dwell there. ¶ And the ende of that is, to witte the beginninge. ¶ Euen so shall it go with this euill generation. ¶ While he yet talld this word, the people beheld his mother and his brethren, when he stood without, / desiring to speak with him. ¶ Then saide one vnto him: Behold, thy mother and thy brethren stande without, and wolde speake with thee. ¶ He helesse, he answered, and sayde vnto hym, that tolde hym: Whos my mother? a who are my brethren? And he stretched forth his hande oute to his disciples, and said: Behold, my mother and my brethren. ¶ For whosoever doth the will of my father which is in heauen, he is to my brother, sister, and mother.

The XIII. Chapter.

¶ Besame I saye wente Iesus oute of the Synagoge, and sat by the see side, and muche people resorted vnto hym, / so that he wente into a shyppe, and sat by himselfe, and all the people stood vpon the shore. And he spake many thinges vnto them in similitudes, saying: Beholde, the sower wente forth to sowe, and as he soweth, some fell by the way side. Then came the soles, and they ran it vp. Some fell vpon stony ground, and anon it sprung vp, because he had no depth of earth. But when the Sunne arose, it caught heat, & forsooke, as it had no roote, it withered away. Some fell amonge the thornes, & the thornes grew vp, & choked it. Some fell vpon good ground, and gaue fruite, some an hundred, some fiftie, some threty folde. ¶ And he said: whosoever heareth these wordes, & doeth them, he shall haue an hundred fold more, and shall bringe forth fruite to the end of the world.

¶ And the disciples came vnto him, and said: why speakst thou to them by parables? ¶ He

 that ye heare: and haue not heerde them. ¶ These are theye: for the parable of the sower: When one beareth the woide of the kyngdome and vnderstandeth it not: the euill man cometh and plucketh it awaye: that is sown in his heate: and this is he that is sowne by the wayside. But he that is sowne in the stonny grounde is this: who an heareth the woide: and anon with ioy receaueth it: but wher lesse he hath no rote in hym: but endureth saseson: when trouble and persecucion ary-sith because of the woide: immediately he is offeinded. As for him that is sowne amonge the thornes: this is he: When one heareth the woide: and the carefullnesse of this worlde:
 and the deceeffulnesse of riches choke the woide: and so be becomeeth vnfruitfull.
 But he that is sowne in the good ground is this: who an heareth the woide: and vnderstandeth it: and bringeth forth fruite: and some getteth an hundred folde: some sixty folde and some thirty folde.

¶ Another parable put he forth vnto them and saide: The kyngdome of heauen is like vnto a man that sowed good seede in his feild.
 ¶ While men slepe: there came an enemye and sowed tares amonge the wheate: and wente his waye. ¶ Nowe when the blade was spronge vp: and throughte forth fruite: then the tares appeared also. ¶ Then came the seruantes to the householde: and saide vnto hym: Syr: sowedest thou not good seede in thy feild? from whence then hath this tares? He sayde vnto them: that hath the enemye done. ¶ Then sayde the seruantes: wilt thou then that we go and weede them out? He saide: No: lest while ye weede oute the tares: ye pluck vp the wheate also with them. ¶ Let them both growe together vntill the harvest: and in tyme of haruest: I will saye vnto the reapers: Gather the tares frst: and brynde them in the fire: to be burnt: but gather the wheate into my barne. ¶

¶ Another parable put he forth vnto them
 and saide: The kyngdome of heauen is like vnto a man of mustard seede: which a man sowe: and sowed it in his feild. Which is the leest amonge all seedes. But when it is growwen: it is the greatest amonge herbes: and is a tree: so that the byrdes vnder the heauen come and dwell in the boughes of it.

 kyngdome of heauen is like vnto leuen: which ces of meale: all of was leuened.

¶ All these thinges spake Iesus vnto the people by parables: and withoute parables: ¶ spake he nothinge vnto them: that the thing mighte be fulfilled: which was spoken by the prophet sayinge: I will open my mouth in ¶ Then leaue Iesus the people awaye: and and sayde vnto the: He that sowed the good should helpe the wechels gruen unto God.

By this is to come to pass: that is mi' hounerth his father as his moithir any more.
And thus haue ye made h' commaundment of God of none effecte: for your owne tradicions ye spocrite: full well hath I say propheted of you: and said: This people shall be blynd to me with their mouth: and honour it with their lippe: so woul' their deede be fare fro me. But en vayne do they keepe me: whi'e they make such doctines as are nothinge but the commaundments of men.
And he called the people to him: a saide vnto them: Heare and vnderstande. What wylde goeth in the mynd: what seeth not h' man: but that which cometh out of the mouth: what is h' man.

Then called his disciples: and saide vnto him: Knowest thou h' Phariseis were offended: when they herde this sayinge? He answered and said: I plante which my beuenty father hath not plantyd: shall I plucke vp by the roote. Let the go: they are the blnd leaders of the blnde: what one blnde leader uantes / to call the gastes vnto the marriage / and they wolde not come. Agayne he sent forth other seruantes / and sayde: Tell the geste: * Herbolde / I haue prepared my vyngard / my oxen / and my fiddr cattell are kylled / and all thynges are ready / come to the marriage.

But they made lyght of it / and went theyre wayes: one to his housbandarye / another to his marcbandyse. So for the remanant they ret bye seruantes / and increaced them shamefully / and slewe the. When the kyng herde that he was wrong / and sent forth his warryers / and destroyed those murthecers / and set fyre vpon theyre cite. Then sayde he vnto his seruantes: The marriage is bedere prepared / but the gaste were not watyge. Go your wayes on / to this cite into the bye wayes / and as many as ye fynde / byd them to the marriage.
And the seruantes went out into the bye wayes / and gathered together as many as they coulde fynde / both the good and bad / and had not on a weddinge garment / and sayde vnto him: frende / howe comest thou in bye-ther / and hast not on a weddinge garmente.

And he was cuen spechlesse. 3 Then sayde the kyng vnto his seruantes: Take and bynde the hym hande and fote / and cast hym into the dar-ke / there shalbe wayling and gnashyng of teeth. 4 For many be called / but fewe are chosen. F

5 Then went the Pharyse / and toke eill sayll how they might tangle hym in his wordes / doe / a fewe vnto hym their disciples with the rodes officers / and sayde: Master / we knowe that thou art iust / a teacher / of wayes of God truly / and carest for no man: for thou regar-dest not the outward appareance of men. Tell vs therefore / howe thouest thou: Is it lawfull to geue tribute vnto the Emperour / or not: Now whan Iesus perceaued they tempted / he saide:
* Of y: spoyntes / why tempt ye me / O shewe me thy tributaryon. And they toke hym a penny. And he sayd vnto them: whose is this ymage and superscription: They saide vnto hym: The Emperours. Then sayde he vnto them: 1 Wee tribute vnto the Emperour that which is the Emperours: a geue tribute vnto God / that which is Gods. When they herde that / they maruayled / and leste hym / and went theyre waye. F

2 The same daye there came vnto hym the Saducees / which holde that there is no resurrection / and sayd vnto him: Master / Moses saide: * If a man dye / haueynge no chyldren / his brother shal marry his wyfe / and raise vp sode vnto his brother. Now were there with vs seuen brethren. The first married a wyfe / and died: and for so much as he had no sode / he left his wyfe vnto his brother. The seconde / and thyrde / vnto the seuen. All of them were dead. Now in the resurrection / whose wyfe shall she be of the seuen. For they all had bee. Iesus answered / and sayde vnto them: ye erre / and vnderstande not the scriptures / nor the power of God. In the resurrection they shall neither marry / nor be marryed / but are as the angells of God in heauen.

hym secretly / and sayde: Tell vs / when shall these thinges come to passe? and which shall be the token of thy coming / and of the ende of the world? Iesus answered and saide vnto them: 1 Take hede that no man deceaue you for these shall many come in my name and say: I am Christ / and shall deceaue many.

2 Ye shall heare of warres / and of the noyse of warres / take hede / and be not ye troubled. All these thinges must first come to passe / but the ende is not yet. 3 For one people shall rise vp against another / and one realme against another / and there shall be pestilence / and hungre and earthquakes here and there. All these are the beginninge of sorowes.

4 Then shall they put you to trouble / and will kill you / and ye shall be hated of all people for my names sake. Then shall many be offended / and shall betraye one another / and shall hate one the other. And many false prophetes shall arise / and shall deceaue many: 5 because of this iniquite shall haue the upper hand / the loue of many shall abate. 6 But who so is indureth vnto the ende / the same shall be saved. 7 And thus the gospel of the kingdome shall be preached in all

The XXXIII. Chapter.

1 And Iesus went out / and departed from the temple / and his disciples came vnto him / to shewe him the building of the temple.
 But Iesus saide to them: See ye not all these thinges? Verely I say vnto you: I here shall not be left here one stone vpon another / that shall not be cast downe. And as he saie vpon the mount Olivete / his disciples came vnto so muche that if it were possible the very chosen should be draught into erreure also. Be-holde / I haue tolde you before: wherefore if they shall saye vnto you: Beholde / he is in the wildernesse / go not ye forth: beholde / he is in the champaigne / beleefe it not. For lyke as the lighteninge cometh out from the East / and shineth vnto the West / so shall the cominge of the sonne of man be. For wheresoeuer a dead carcase is / there will the Eagles be gathered together.

¶ Immediately after the trauaile of the same tyme / shall the Sunne and Moone lose their lighte / and the starres shall fall from heauen / and the powres of heauen shall moue / and the earth shall appeare the token of the sonne of man in heauen: and then shall all the kynredes of the earth mouene. ¶ And they shall see the sonne of man comen in the cloudes of heauen with greate power and gloire. And he shall sende his angels with the great voyce of a trompe / and they shall gather together his chosen from the foure wyndes / from one ende of the heauen to the other.

¶ There came a similitude of the figger tree / wher his blaunde is yet endee / and his leaues spronge / ye knowe that Sommer is nee. So is herseye / when ye see all these thinges / be ye sure that it is nye euen at the doore. Verely I saye vnto you: This generacion shall not passe / till all these be fulfilled. ¶ Heauen and earth shall passe / but my wordes shall not passe. Neuer beles of the daye a houre. Knowe with no man / nor the angels of heauen / but my father onely. When as it was in the time of Ioseph / so shall the cominge of the sonne of man be also. ¶ For as they were in the daye as before the floude / they had eate a dinner / they merryed / a wete marryed / cut vnto the day / and were entred into the shipp / a they regarded it not / till the floude came and toke them all awaye / so shall also the cominge of the sonne of man be. ¶ Then shall two be in the fildes onee shall be receaued / and the other shall be refused: Two shall be grindinge at the mill / the onee shall be receaued / a the other shall be refused: two in the bed / the one shall be receaued / a the other refused.

¶ Watche ye therefore / for ye knowe not what houre your Lorde will come. Not the face of this / that if the good man of a house knewe what houre the theefe wold come / he wold surely watche and not suffer his house to be broken vp. Therefore be ye eady also / for in the houre that ye thinke not / shall be sonne of man come. ¶ Whome nowe a sayr full and wylde seruante / whome his lord hath made ruler oer his house / that be maye grea-them meate in due season. ¶ Blessed is that seruante / whome his lord / when he commeth / shall fynde so voyng. Verely I saye vnto you / he shall sette hym ouer all his goo-des. But and if the euill seruante shall see in his herte: Tuffe / it will be longe of my lord come / and he bygynne to smyte his fellow-ren / and to eate a wyf: with the thow-fardes. The same seruante lord shall come in a daye / when he leaste of him / nor bynd and in an hour that he is not ware of / and shall be-we him in peeces / and geue him his reward with the spyrytes: there shall be weylinge a gnashynge of teeth.

The XXV. Chapter.

¶ Then shall the kyngdome of heauen be lyke vnto ten virgins / whiche toke theyr lamps / and wente forth to meete the bydelampe. But fyue of theym were foolyshe / and they were wyse. The foolyshe toke theyr lam-pes / neuer refylde / they toke none oyle with them. But the wyse take oyle in theyr vessel with theyr lamps. ¶ Come whyle the byde-grome cryeth / they slumbed all and slepte.
But at midnyght there was a crye made: Be-holde / the byd-grome cometh / go your way oer for to meete hym. Then aroose all those vny-gine / and percaped theyr lamps. But the foolyshe saide vnto the wyse: Geue vs of your oyle / for our lamps are gone out. Then answered the wyse / and saide: What for / shal I be not ynough for vs and you / but go early vnto them that sell and buye for your selues.
¶ And whyle they wente to buye / the byd-grome came: they that were ready / wente in with hym vnto the marryage / a the gate was shut vp. ¶ At the laste came the other virgins also / a sayde: Lorde / Lorde / open vnto vs. But was answered a voyce: Verely I saye vnto you: I knowe you not. ¶ Watche ye therefore / for ye knowe not the day / nor the houre when the sonne of man shall come.

Luc. xii. d shed him. And about his head they put up the cause of his death in vengeance; namely: This is the King of the Jewes.

¶ Then were there two murderers crucified with him: the one on the right hand; and the other on the left. They that went by despised him; and wagged their heads; and said: Thou that breakst downe the temple of God; and buildst it in three dayes; helpe thy self. If thou be the sonne of God; come down from the crosse. The byc puffed also in the same manner with the scribes; and elders laughed him to scorn; and said: He hath helped others; and can not helpe him self. If he be the King of Israel; let him come downe from the crosse; and we will beleefe him. He trusted in God; let heluer him now; if he will haue him. So: he hath sayde: I am the sonne of God. The murderers also that were crucified with him; call the same in his death.

3. p. 1. d And from the firste houre; there was darkness ouer the whole earth vnto the nyenth houre. And aboute the nyenth houre; Iesus cryed with a loud voice; and said: Eli; Eli; Lamma; asabram; that is: My God; my God; why hast thou forsaken me? But some of them that stode there; when they herde that; said: He calleth Elias. And immediately by one of them ranne and toke a sponge; and filled it with vineger; and putte vpon a reed; and gaue him to drinke. But the other said: Heldeste whether Elias will come; and heluer him. Iesus cryed againe with a loud voice; and gaue up the ghost.

¶ And behold; the vake of the temple was rent in two; peeces; from aboute all benches; and the earth quaked; and the stones rent; and the grautes opened; and many Goddes of the sancties that slept arose; and went out of the graue after his resurrection; came into the holy citie; and appeared vnto many.

¶ But the Captaine; a they that were with him; and kept Iesus; when they sawe the earth quake; and the thynge; were done; they were sore afrayed; and sayde: Veedy this was Gods sonne. And there were many women there; some of the Galilee; of which had folowed Iesus from Iudaea; and had ministred vnto him; amonge whome was Mary Magdalene; and Mary the mother of James and Ioseph; and

¶ There came also a ryde man of Arie; a disciple of Iesus; whose name was also a disciple of Iesus. He went vnto Pilate; and asked the bodye of Iesus. Then commaunded Pilate that the bodye should be giuen vnto him. And Ioseph toke the bodye; and wrapped it in his owne newe spulchre; which he had beuen out in a rocke; and rolled a great stone to the doore of the spulchre; and went his way. And there was Mary Magdalene; and the other Mary; sittinge ouer agaynst the spulchre.

¶ The nexte daye that folowed the daye of preparinge; the chieff priests and Pharisees came together; vnto Pilate; and said: We haue asked so certebiance; that this deceaier sayde while he was yet aliove: That after three dayes I will ryse againe. Commaunde thes; and shewe that the sepulchre be kepte vnto the thirde daye; or perchaunce his disciples come; and scale hym awaye; and saye vnto the people: He is risen from the dead; and so shall the laste erroure be worse then the firste. Pilate said vnto them: There haue ye watchmen; go youre waye; and kepe it as ye can. They went; and kepte the sepulchre with watchmen; and scaled the stone.

¶ The XXVII. Chapter. ¶ Don'te eueninge of the Sabbath; ho'y Iudaea; where the Ianneth the mooung of the firste daye of the Sabbath; came Mary Magdalene; and the other Mary; to see the sepulchre. And behold; there was made a great earthquake; for the angel of the Lorde descended from heauen; and came and rolled backe the stone from the doore; and sat vpon it. And his coüenants was as the lightning; and his clothing white as snowe. But the watchmen were troubled for feare of him; and became as though they were dead.

¶ The angel saun'tered; and sayde vnto the women: Be not ye afrayed. I knowe that ye seeke Iesus that was crucified. He is not here: He is risen; as he said. Come and see the place; where the Lorde was layed; and go your waye; and tellye thes; things; to the brethren; who are risen from the dead. And behold; he will go before you into Galilee; thence shall ye see the mother of the children of Zebede.

There came also a ryde man of Arie disciple of Iesus / whose name was also a the other Mary; sittinge ouer agaynst the spulchre.

The nexte daye that folowed the daye of preparinge; the chieff priests and Pharisees came together; vnto Pilate; and said: We haue asked so certebiance; that this deceaier sayde while he was yet aliove: That after three dayes I will ryse againe. Commaunde thes; and shewe that the sepulchre be kepte vnto the thirde scale hym awaye; and saye vnto the people: He is risen from the dead; and so shall the laste erroure be worse then the firste. Pilate said vnto them: There haue ye watchmen; go your waye; and kepe it as ye can. They went; and kepte the sepulchre with watchmen; and scaled the stone.

The XXVII. Chapter. ¶ Don'te eueninge of the Sabbath; ho'y Iudaea; where the Ianneth the mooung of the firste daye of the Sabbath; came Mary Magdalene; and the other Mary; to see the sepulchre.  ¶ And when the Sunne was gone downe /

they thought vnto him all that were sicke / and possessed / and the whole cite was gathered together at the doore / and he healed many that were diseased with diuers fyrenes / and cast oute many deuils / and suffred not the deuils to speake / because they knewe him.

¶ And in the morninge before hee was arose / and wente oute: And Iesus departed into a deserte place / and prayed there: And as he sayde they that were with him followed after him. And when they had founde him / they sayde vnto him: Every man seeketh thee. And he sayde vnto them: Let vs go into the nexte towne / that I maye preache there also / for therto am I come. And he preached in thei Synagoge / in all Galylee / and drove oute the deuils.

¶ And there came vnto him a leper / which soughte him / and knelid before hym / and saide vnto him: If thou wilt / thou canst make me cleane. And he pynded Iesus / and he stretchyd forth his hande / and touchyd him / and sayde: I wyl / be thou cleane. And when he had spoken / immediately the leper departed from hym / and he was clyensid. ¶ And Iesus commaunded him secretly / and forbad with sware agaynst hym / and sayde vnto him: Take heed that thou saie nothinge to any man: / but go thy way / and shewe thy selfe vnto the priest / and offre for thy clyensinge what Moyses commaunded / for a witness vnto them. But he whan he was depaacted / beganne to speake muche of vs / and made the dede knowne in so muche that Iesus coulde no more go in / into the cite openly / but was withoute in deserte places / and they came vnto him from all quarters.

The. II. Chapter.

¶ And after certayne daies he wente agayne into Capernaum / and it was noised that Iesus was in the house. And immediately there came he was gathered a great multitude / in so muche that they had no roume / no / in the house: And he spake the wordes vnto them. And there came vnto him certayne / which soughte one sycke of the palseye boorn of fourtye dayes. And when they coulde no more carye him for the people / they vncouered the roofe of the house / where he was. And when they had made a hole / they let downe the bed / by coardes / wherein

¶ His disciples / there were certayne scriebes which sat there and thought in their hearts. How speaketh thus man such blasphemie?

12 b Who can forgive sinnes / but onely God:

13 b And immediatly Iesus knewe in his spirit / that they thought so in them selves / and saide vnto the: Why thinke ye such thinges in your hearts? Whether it is easie to saye to the sicke of the palsy: thy sinnes are forgiven thee / or to saye: arise / take vp thy bed / and walke? But that ye maye knowe / that the sonne of man hath power to forgive sinnes vpon earth / he saide vnto the sicke of the palsy: I saye vnto thy: Arise / take vp thy bedde and go home.

14 b And immediatly he arose / toke his bedde / & wente forth before them all: in so much that they all were astonnyed / and prayed God and said: We neuer sawe such.

15 b ¶ And he wente forth againe vnto the sea / and all the people came vnto him / a be taughte them. And as Iesus passed by / he sawe Leui

And it came to passe / as he sat at the table in his house / there sat many publicans and sinners at the table with Iesus and his disciples. For there were many that folowed him. And when the scriebes and Phariseis sawe that he dyd eate with the publicans and sinners / they saide vnto his disciples: Why doeth he eate and drinke with the publicans and sinners? Whā Iesus herde that he saide vnto them: The whole neede not the physician / but they that are sicke. ¶ I am not come to call the righteous / but the sinners to repentance.

17 b ¶ And the disciples of Ihs and of the Phariseis fasted. And there came certayne which said vnto him: why fast the disciples of Ihs and of the Phariseis / a thy disciples fast not? And Iesus saide vnto them: How can the weddinge children fast / while the bridegrome is with them / so longe as the bridegrome is with them / they can not fast. But the tyme will come that the bridegrome shalbe taken from them / and then shall they fast.

19 b ¶ And it chaunced that vpon the Sabbath he wente thowgh the cornes / and his disciples beganne to make a waye thowgh / and to plucke the ayres of the corns. And the Pharisees said vnto him: Beholde / what thy disciples doe / which is not lawfull vpon the Sabbath. And he saide vnto them: haue ye neuer redden what Saule dyd when he had need / and was an hungred / both he and they that were with him: ¶ How he wente into the house of God / in the tyme of Abiathar the Priest / and dyd eate the shewbrads / which was lawfull for no man to eate but for the Priestes. And he gaue them vnto him / and to thine that were with him. And he saide vnto them: The Sabbath was made for mans sake / and not man for the Sabbath sake. Therefore is the sonne of man Lord euen ouer the Sabbath.

The III. Chapter.

19 b ¶ He wrote againe also / vnto the synagoge / and hande there was a man that had a withered hande. And they marked him whether he wolde heale him on the Sabbath / that they might accuse him. And he said vnto the men which were with the withered hande: Steppe forth here. And he saide vnto them: is it lawfull to do good on the Sabbath? Or is it lawfull to do euill / to saule vs / or to kill? But they helde their tounge. And he looked rounde about vpon the which were with / and was wofull for the hardenesse of them / and saide vnto the man: stretch out thine hande / and be stretched it out / and ¶ his hande was made whole lyke as the other.

20 b ¶ And the Phariseis wente on / and straight waye they held a counsaill with Herodes of Tyre / and sicke against him / how they might destroye him. But Iesus departed a waye with his disciples vnto the sea. ¶ And there folowed him much people out of Galilee / and from Ierury / and from Ierusalem / and out of Iudias / and from beyonde Iordan / and they that dwelt about Tyre and Sydon / a greate multitude.

¶ The sower sowerth 3 woide. These be they that are by the waye syde where the woode is sowd / as soone as they haue herde it / imme-diatly cometh Satan and taketh awaye the woode that was sowd in their hertes. And the 3 woide are they that are sown on the stony grounde: which when they haue herde the woide / receaue it with ioye / and haue no roote in them: because it receaue it for a tyme. When trouble and persecution cometh for the woode sake / immediatly they are offended. And these are they that are sown amonge 3 thornes: which

¶ And he saide vnto them: So a candle light-eth vnto be put vnder a bushell or vnder a table?
For it is not lighted to be set vpon a candlestick: For there is nothinge hid / that shall not be reueled openly: & that which is hid / shall not be

¶ And he saide: The Kingdome of God is after this maner / as when a man casteth sode vpon the lande / and slepeth / and standeth vp and rygeth and sowe / & the sode springeth vp and groweth / he knoweth nothinge of it. For the sareth bringeth forth fruite of herself: first the tressell / after ward the eare / then 3 full sheaue in the eare. But when the harth broughth forth the fruite / he putteth to the sickel / because the bushell is come.

¶ And he saide: wher vnto wil ye lyken the kingdome of God? Or by what similitude wil we compare it? It is lyke a grayne of musse / which when it is sown vpon the lande / is the least amonge all sodes of the earth.

And when it is sown / it groweth vp / and is greater then all herbes / and getteth greate brouches / so that the fowles vnder the heauen maye deuel vnder the shadowe thereof.

¶ And by many such parables he spake the woode vnto them / therefore as they myght more shypes with him. And there arose a greate storme of wynde / and dashed the wa-ue into the shyppe / so that the shyppe was full. And he was behinde in the shyppe / and slept vpon a pillowe. And they awoke him / and saide vnto him: Master / carest thou not

The VII Chapter.

M. And there came vnto him the Pharisees / and exceptors of the Scribes / that were come from Ierusalem. And when they sawe certayne of his disciples eate bread with common / that is with vnwashed handes / they complained. For the Pharisees and all the Iewes care not / except they wash their handes offym: observinge so the traditions of the elders. And when they came fro the market / they care not / except they wash. And many other thinges there be / which they haue taken vpon the to obserue / as ife washinge of cuppes a clewse / and basin / and vesse / and table.

Then the Pharisees and Scribes asked him why walkid not thy disciples after the traditions of the elders / but eate bread with vnwashed handes? But he answered and said vnto them: sul wel hath I say propheted of you yps / as it is writen: This people honourith me with their lippes / but their herte is farre fro me. But in veyn do they serue me / why they teach such traditions as are nothinge but the commandementes of men. I leaue the commandement of God / and keepy traditions of men / as the washinge of cuppes and cuppes / and many such thinges do ye.

And he said vnto them: How goodly haue ye ascribede the commandement of God / to maneyne your owne traditions. For Moses said: Honour father and mother. Wha he so cursed father and mother / that dye he death. But I say: I will not say so farde of myn: as Iudas / charis: The thinge that I should helpe thee walkid thou genen to God. And thou Iustre hym no more to do ought for his father or mother / and make Gods woide of none effect / thowme pouce omis traditioes that ye haue sette vp / and many such thinges do ye.

And he called vnto him all the people / and said vnto them: Heuie vnto me ye all / and dedecond me. There is nothinge without a man that can defyle him / wha it is entered into him. But that which goeth out of him / is that maketh the man vnclene. If any man haue were to heare / let him heare. And when he came from the house / his disciples eyed him of this similitude. And he saide vnto them : are ye so then without vnderstandinge ? Perceauye not yete / that euery thinge which is without / and goeth into the man / can not defile him : For it entereth not into his here / but into the belly / and goeth out into the draughte that pourerth all meate.

C And he saide: The thinge that goeth out of the man / that defileth the man. For from within / out of the here of man proceede euell thaughtes / aduouryse / whorisme / smutther / thurst / couenousnes / mysedee / deccate / vncleines / a wyched eye / blasphemie / pryde / foolyshnes. All these euell thinges goe from within / and defile the man.

124 And he arose / and wente from thence into the badere of Tyre / a Sydon / and entred into an house / and wolde let no man knowe of it / and yet coulde be not be hyd : For a certayne woman / whose daughter had a foule sprete / herde of him / and came / and fell vponne at his feete / and it was an Hebrith woman of Syrophenice / and she besoughte hunte / that he wolde dryue out the deuell from her daughter. But Iesus saide vnto her : Let the children be fed first : It is not mete to take the childrens bread / and to caste it vnto dogges. She answered and saide vnto hym : Yea Lord / merueilles / the whelpes also eate vnder the table of the dysydners commes.

D And he saide vnto her : Because of this sayinge / go thy waye / for thou art cleane / and thy daughter is healed. And she wente vnto her house / fonde that the deuel was departed / and her daughter layenge on the bed.

125 And when he wente out agayne from the coastes of Tyre and Sydon / he came onto the see of Galile / wherom / myddes of the coastes of the iudees. And they brought vnto him one that was deaf / a had impediment in his speache. And they played him / that he wolde laye his hande vpon him.

And he toke him asyde from the people / and put his fingers in his eares / and byd spyt / and touchd his tung / and lokd vp vnto heauen / sighd / and said vnto him : Ephata / that is to opene. And immediatly his eares were opened / and the bonde of his tounge was lousd / and he spake right. And he charged the that Marke / that they shoulde tell no man.

But the more he forbade them / the more they published it / and marraied out of measure / and sayde : He hath don / all thinges well. The deaf hath he made to heare / a the dumme to speake. 126

The VIII. Chapter. 4

At the same tyme / when there was much people there / and had nothinge to eate / Iesus called his disciples to him / and said vnto them : I haue compassion vpon the people / for they haue taryed with me now the dayes / and haue nothinge to eate. And if I let the go home from here fasting / they shoulde faime by the waye. For some of them were come from farre. And his disciples answered him :

Where shoulde we gete dyas here in the wilderness to satisfie them ? And he eyed them : How many loaves haue ye ? They saide : Seven. And he commaunded the people to se downe vpon the grounde. And he toke the seven loaves and gaue thakke / and brake them / and gaue them vnto his disciples / to set them before the people. And they had a fewe small fyshes / and when he had geue thakke / he had set theu before the people. They byd eat / were satisfied / and toke vp seven basketes full of the broken meate / that was left. And they that byd eat / were vnto a foure thousande. And he sent them awaye.

127 And forthwith he went into a shyp with his disciples / and came into the coastes of Dalmanoutha. And the Pharisees went out / and beganne to dispute with him / and tempted him / and desired a token of him from heauen. And he sayde in his spere / and sayde : Why doth this generation seeke a token ? Verely I Luce 11 c saye vnto you : There shall no token be geuen vnto this generation. And he left them / and went agayne into the shyppe and passed ouer.

And they forgot to take bread with them / and had no more with them in the shippe but one loafe. And he commaunded them and sayde : Take hede and beware of the leuen of the Pharisees / and of the leuen of Herode. And their mynnes traueled here and there / a sayde amonge them selfes. And Peter toke him vnto hym / and beganne to rebuke him. But he turned him about / and looked vpon his disciples / and reprimed Peter / and sayde: Go after me thou Sathan: for thou sauest not the things that be of God / but of men.

¶ And he called vnto him the people with his disciples / and sayde vnto the: Whosoever will followe me / let him denye him self / and take up his crosse / and followe me. For whosoever will save his life / shall lose it: a whosoever loseth his life for my sake / and the gospell / shall save it. What helpeth it a man though he wanne the whole worlde / if yet he harme his soule? Whosoever a man give to redeme his soule / shall sell it / and himselfe is an abaynd of his and of his woulde / amonge this aduicious and synfull generation / of him shall be the sonne of man also be abused / when he cometh in the gloare of his father with the holy angelle. And he sayde vnto them: ¶ Verely I say vnto you: That there stande here some / which shall not taste of death / till they see the kyngdome of God come with power.

Mat. xvj. c ¶ And after sixe dayes / Iesus toke vnto him J. Peter / James / John / and brought them vp into a mountaine out of the waye alone / and was transfigured before them / and his clothes were whight and very whye / as the snowe / so wher as no sulfer can make vpon earth. And there appeared vnto the Ihsou with Moses / and they talked with Iesus. And Peter answered / and said vnto Iesus: Rabbi / hercia good benyge for vs. Let us make here tabernacle: one for thesen / one for Moses / and one for the Ihsou: for we knowe not what he sayd / and they were very fearefull. And there was a cloude / which overshadowed them. And our of the cloude there came a voyce / and said: This is my beate sonne: hear him. And immediately they looked aboute / and sawe no man more: then Iesus onely with them.

¶ But when they were come from the mountaine / Iesus charged the / that they shoulde tell no man what they had seene / till the sonne of man were risen againe from the dead. Gods. And they marraied at him.

¶ Then came vnto hym the Saducees (which holde that there is no resurrection) they asked him / and saide / Master / Moses wrote vnto vs: If any man brother die / and leaue a wyfe / and leaue no children / his brother shall take his wyfe / and raise vp sbe vnto his brother. Now were there seuen brethren / the first take a wyfe / and dyed / and left no sbe: and Then answered Iesus / and sayde vnto them: Do not ye erre: because ye knowe not the scriptures nor the power of God? Whan they shall rise againe from the dead / they shal neither marrye nor be marryed / but they are as the angels in heauen. To sauinge the dead / that they shall rise againe haue ye not greatly.

¶ And there came vnto him one of the Scribes / that had berkened vnto them howe they disputed togethe / and sawe that he had answered them well / and asked him: Whiche is the chiefest commandement of alle? Iesus answered him / the chiefest commandement of all commandementes is this: Hear O Israel / the Lord our God is one God / and thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thy herte / with all thy soule / with all thy mynde / and with all thy strenght. This is the chiefest commandement / and the seconde is lyke vnto it: Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. There is none other greace commandement then these.

¶ And the scribe sayde vnto him: Master / beridy I shau haue sayde ryght / for there is but one God / and there is none other without hym / and to loue him with all the herte / with all the mynde / with all the soule / and with all the strenght / and to loue a mans neighbour as him selfe / is more then then sacrifices and al offeringes. But whan Iesus sawe that he answered discretely / he sayde vnto hym: Thou art not farre from the kyngdome of God. And after this durst no man aske hym any more questione.

¶ And Iesus answered and saide: whan he taught in the temple / howe sayde the scri-the market / and shal gladly aboue in the synagogue and at the table / they becoure wydowers houses / and vnder a colour they make longe prayers. These shall retraue the more

¶ And Iesus sat ouer against the Gods chest / and behelde how the people put money into the Gods chest. And many that were ryche / put in much. And there came a poore wydowe / and put in two mites / which make a farthinge. And he called vnto him his disciple / and sayde vnto them: Verily I say vnto you / this poore wydowe hath put more into the Gods chest / then all they that haue put in: for they all haue put in of theyr super-

And he shall shewe you a greete paroure; whiche is paved and prepared / there make ready for vs. And the disciples went forth; and came into the citty; and founde as he had sayde vnto them. And they prepared the Easterlambe.

¶ When he came with the twelue. And as they sat at the table and had eate; Iesus sayde: Diddy I saye vnto you: One of you that eateth with me / shal betraye me. And they were feruand / saide vnto him one after another: Is it I? or another? (sayde:) It is I? He answered and saide vnto them: One of the twelue; euen thesame that suppereth with me in the place. The sonne of man truly sayeth such as thou wene of him. But two vnto that man; by whom the sonne of man is betrayed. It were better for thesame man that he had neuer ben boune.

¶ And as they had eate; Iesus toke the bread / gaue thanks; and brake it; and gaue it to them; and sayde: Take; eate; this is my bodye. And i. Cor. x. c. he toke the cuppe; thank ed; and gaue it them; and they had all drunke thereof. And he saide vnto them: This is my blood of the newe testamēt; whiche shal be shed for many. Verely I saye vnto you; that from henceforth I will not drinke of the frute of the vyne; tyl the day that I drinke it newe in the kingdome of God. And when they had saide grace; they went forth vnto mount Oliuete.

¶ And Iesus saide vnto them: This nyght shall ye all be offended in me; for I am wintin. ¶ I will smite the shepherde; and the shepe shall be scard abroade. Neuertheless / I assure that I am cysen agayne; I wil go before you into Galile. But Peter saide vnto him: And though all men should be offended; yet wolde not I be offended. And Iesus sayde vnto hym: Verely I saye vnto the: To daye; in this same nyght before the fall; brot two tymes; shalt thou denye me thyse. But he sayde yet more: For though I should be with the; yet wyll I not denye the. So saide they all in lyke maner.

¶ And they came into the felde called Gethsemane; and he said vnto his disciples: Sit ye here; tyl I go yonder a praye. And he toke with him Peter and James; and Iohn; a begynna to waspe fearfull; and to be in an agony; and saide vnto them: My soule is heauy; eue vnto the; be watche; ye here and watch. And he wente forth a litle; a fel upon the ground; and prayed; that; if it were possible; the hauro might passe from him; and saide: Abba; my father; all thynges are possible vnto the; take this cuppe awaye fro me; Neuertheless; not what I wil; but what thou wilt.

¶ And he came vnto them; and found them sleeping; and sayde vnto Peter: Simon; sleepest thou? Coustest thou not watche with me one houre? Watch and praye; that ye fall not into temptacion. The spirit is willing; / but the

the byghe priestes accused hym four. But Pilate yed hym agayne / and sayde: I finde no syn in this man. They sayde: He sayde: Beholde how sore they love re thy charge. Neuertheless / I will answer and nomce / in so muche that Pilate marvailed.

¶ At the feast of Pasche he was wont to release vnto them a prysoner / whomsoever they wold desire. There was in pryson with the scianus / one called Barabas / whiche in the pryson had committed murder. And y people wroue vp / and prayed hym / that he wold do as he was wont. Pilate answered them / and sayde: I geue loufe vnto you the kunge of the Iewes? For he knoweth that the byghe priestis had besyched him of nyght. But the byghe priestes moued y people / that he should rather geue Barabas loufe vnto them.

¶ Pilate answered agayne / and sayde vnto them: What will ye thin that I do vnto hym / whom ye accuse to be kyng of the Iewes? They cryed agayne: Crucifie hym. Pilate sayde vnto them: What euill hath he done? But they cryed yet much more: Crucifie hym. So Pilate thought to satisfie the people / and geue Barabas loufe vnto them / and besyched them Iesus / to be scourged and crucified.

¶ And the souldiers led him into the common hall / and called the whole multitude together / and clothed him with purple / a plaide / a crount of thornes / and crowned him with helle / and beganne to salute him: Hail kyng of the Iewes. And thurst him upon the head with a reed / and spytted vpon him / and set vpon the face / and worshippd him. And when they had mockt him / they toke the purple of hym / and put vnto hym clothes of another kyn / and led hym out that they myght crucifie him.

¶ And they compelled one that passed by / called Symon of Cyren / which came from the city / and was the father of Alexander & Rufus / to beare hys crosse. And they brought him to the place Golgatha / which is by interpretation a place of head mens skulles. And they gaue him wyne myrte to myrte to drinke / and he toke it not.

¶ And when they had crucified hym / they parted by garmentes / a castell was therefore what euery one shoulde take. And it was aboute the thre / or foure houres / and they crucified him. And the rule of hys crosse was written ouer abone him (namely:) The kunge of Iewes. And they crucified him with two murderers / on eache the right hande / and one at the left. Then was the scripture fulfilld / which sayeth: He was counted amonge the scell doers.

¶ And they that went by / reuyld him / and wagged their heades / and sayde: He sayde: How goodly dreastst thou vnto the crosse / and burdest it agayne in this wyse? Helpe thy selfe now / and come thow fro the crosse. The byghe priestes also in this maner laughed vnto some amonge them selves with the Scrybes / and sayde: He hath helped other / but selfe can be not helpe. If thou Christ and the kyng of Iherusalem / thou come thowt now from the crosse / that we maye see / and beleue. And they that were crucified with hym / deefed him also.

¶ And when it was aboute the sixte houre / there was a darkenesse ouer the whole lande / vntill aboute the nyght houre. And aboute the thre / or foure houre Iesus cryed loude / and sayde: My / My / lamina / sabibani / which in hebrewe / and in greke / and in latine / is sayed: My God / My God / why hast thou forsaken me? And some that stode by / when they herde that / they said: Beholde / he calleth Elias. ¶ Then ranne there one / and fylde a sponge with vyner / and sticte it vnto a cede / and gaue hym to drynke / and sayde: Holde thyselfe / let se whether thou wilt come / and take hym downe. But Iesus cryed loude / and gaue vp the ghoost. And the vale of the temple rane in two peces from aboueyll beuech.

¶ The captayne that stode there by / ouer / was gayed hym / when he sawe that he gaue vp the ghoost / with such a crye / he sayde: Verily / this man was Gods sone.

¶ And there were womē there also / which he behelde the same of / amonge whom was Mary Magdalene / Mary of James / and the mother of Ioseph / and Salome / which had folowed him / and many other / that went vp / with hym to Ierusalem. ¶ And at euen there was a great earthquake / as it was the daye of iudgement / the earthe ronge / which was the sabbath / there came one Ioseph of Arimathea / a worshipfull personour / which loved also for the kingdom of God / and went in boldly vnto Pilate Affter that upon the Sabbath was past / Mary Magdalene / and Mary Iames / and Salome / bought spices that they myght come and anoynte hym. And they came to the sepulchre upon a day of the Sabbathes / very early when the Sunne arose / and sayde one to another. Who shall rolle us the stone from the doore of the sepulchre? The Gospel of saynce Luke.

The first Chapter.

In the tyme of Herode king of Jewy/there was a priest named Zacharye of the T. rouefe of Abia/ a his wyfe of 7 daughters of Zard/ a his name was Elizabeth. They were both ryghteous before God/ and walked in al the commaundmentes and statutes of the Lord/ vncircouenable. And they had no child/for Elizabeth was barren/ and they were both well styrren in age.

And it came to passe as he offered the sacrifice offer before God/ when his course came (according to the custome of the priesthode) to offer to his lotte to burn incense. And the wente into the temple of the Lord/ and the whole multitude of the people was without in praye/ while the incense was burninge.
And the aungel of the Lord appeared vnto him/ and stode on the ryghte syde of the aulshere of incense. And when Zacharye sawe him/ he was abasped/ and there came a feare upon him.

But the aungel sayde vnto hym: feare not Zachary: for thy prayer is herde. And thy wyfe Elizabeth shall beare the sonne/whos name thou shalt call Iohn/ and thou shalt haue ioye and gladnes: and many shall reioyce at his birth: for he shall be great before the Lord. Wyme and stronge drinke shall be not drinke. And he shall be filled with the holy ghoost/ euen in his mothers wombe.
And many of the chyldren of Israel shall be turned vnto the Lord: theze thyze God. And he shall go before hym in the spirite and power of Elia: to turne the hartes of the fathers vnto the chyldren/ and the vnfaithfull vnto the wyse doome of the vngyghteous/ to make f. people redy for the Lord.

And Zacharye sayd vnto the aungel: Where by shall I knowe this? for I am olde/ a my wyfe wyll styrren in age. The aungel aunswere/ and sayde vnto hym: I am Gadud that Iub. sig. b stoude before God/ and am sente to speake vnto the/ and to shewe the best glab rydynges.

And beholde/ thou shalt be fructuous/ and not able to speake/ vntill the day that this cometh to passe/ because thou hast not beleued my woord.
And he was fulfyllid in his season.

And the people waited for Zacharye/ and marualed that he was so longe in the temple.
And when he went out/ he coulde not speake vnto them. And they perceiued that he had sene a vision on the temple. And he beckened vnto them/ and ecmayned spechlesly.

And it foundeth/ when the tyme of his offer was out/ he went home vnto his wyfe.
And after those dayes Elizabeth his wyfe conceiued/ and byd his self w. monethes/ and sayde: Thus hath the Lord done vnto mee/ in the dayes wherein he hath looked vpon mee/ to take awaye fro me my rebule amonge men.

And in the sixt moneth was the aungel Gabriel sent from God/ vnto a maide of Gassile/ called Marye/ vnto a virgen that was spoused vnto a ma/ whos name was Ioseph of the house of Dauid/ a the virgins name was Marye. And the aungel came in vnto her/ a sayd: Heyle thou full of grace/ the Lord is with the: blessed arte thou amonge women.

Wha the sawe hym/ she was abasped/ as his sayng: a thought. What manner of saluacion is this: a the aungel said vnto her: feare not Mary: for thou shalt founde grace with God.
Beholde/ thou shalt conceiue in thy wombe a bairn/ a thou shalt call his name Iesuse.

Beholde/ I haue sent the aungel Gabriel vnto thee/ a he shall saye vnto thee: Heyle thou full of grace/ the Lord is with
the: blessed arte thou amonge women.
Wha the sawe hym/ she was abasped/ as his
is this: a the aungel said vnto her: feare not Mary: for thou shalt founde grace with God.
Beholde/ thou shalt conceiue in thy wombe a
bairn/ a thou shalt call his name Iesuse.

The II. Chapter. ¶

IT foyned at the same tyme / that there went out a commaundment from Augustus the Emperour / that the whole worlde shoulde be taxed. And this taxing was the first that was executed / when Censurus was lycensed in Syria. And they went all / every one to his owne cite to be taxed. Then Joseph gat hym wth his from Galile / out of the cite of Nazareth / into Jewry / to the cite of b David / which is called Bethlem / (because he was of his house and lynage of David) that he myght be taxed wth Mary his spoused wyfe / which was with chylde.

It And it foynned whyle they were there / the tyme was come / that she shoulde be deli-uered. And she brought forth her first begotten sonne / and wrapped hym in swaddyn clothes / and layed hym in a manger: for they had no other place in the ynne.

And thre were in the same region shepherdes in the feld by the foldes / and watchyng their flocke by nyght. And beholde / the angel of the Lorde / shone about the / and they were sore afrayd. And the angel sayde vnto them / be not afrayd. Beholde / I bring you nynges of great ioye / whiche shall happen vnto all people: for vnto you this daye is borne the saviour / betweene Christ the Lorde / in the cite of David. And take this for a token: Ye shall fynde the babe swaddled / and layed in a manger. And straight waye there was by the angel a multitude of heavenly hostes / which praised God / and sayde: Glory be vnto God ouer by / and peace vpon each / and vnto euery man a good will. ¶

E And it foynned whā the angels were gone fro hym into heauen / the shepherdes sub-one another: let vs go now see what hath happened / which the Lorde hath shewed vnto vs. And they came to bethlem / and founde both Mary a Joseph / a the babe layed in the manger. And when they had sent it / they published abroade / say-yng: that was tolde them of this chylde. And all they that herd it / wondered at the wordes / which the shepherdes had tolde them. But Mary kept all these saynges / a pondered the in her heart. And the shepherdes returned / praisyng and laubyng God / for all that they had herd / and sene euen as it was tolde the.

It And when egypte dayes were ended / that the chylde shoulde be crucifyed / his name was called Jesus / which was named of the angel / before he was conceaued in his mothers wombe. ¶

It And when the dayes of their purification / after the lawe of Moyses were come / they brought hym to Ierusalem / that they myght present hym vnto the Lorde / (as it is written in the lawe of the Lorde: Every man chylde that first openeth the matrix / shal be called holy vnto the Lorde) and that they myght geue the offeringe / so it is written in the lawe of the Lorde: (namely) a payre of turtles / or two yonge pigeons.

And beholde / Ierusalem there was a man / whose name was Symeon / and whose name was iust / a feared God / and longed for: y^e consolation of Israel: a holy ghost was in hym.
 And an answer was geuen him of the holy ghost / that he shoulde not be deary / before he had sene the Lorde Christ. And he came by inspiration into the temple.

And when the elders brought y^e chylde Jesus into the temple / so he by hym after the cus-tome of the lawe / then toke he hym vp in his armes / and prayed God and sayde.

Lorde / nowe letteth thou thy seruante depart in peace / as was sayde in thy promyse.
 For myne eyes haue sene thy saviour / whome thou hast prepared for all people.

It Myghte for the lightnyng of the Spirit / and for the prayse of the people of Israel. ¶

It And his father and mother marvelled at these thynges that were spoken of hym. And Symeon blessed them / and sayde vnto Mary his mother: Beholde / this chylde / shall be to a fall / and to an vpryngyng agayne of many in Israel / and for a token / which shall speake agaynst. And the swordes shall pierce thy soule / that the spounges of many hearts may be opened.

The Gospel of S. Luke.

Deu. xij. c
 And he took hym up into an hygge mountayne/ and showed hym all the kyngdomes of the world: and he sayde vnto hym: All this power will I geue vnto thee: and the glory thereof: for it is geuen vnto me: and I geue it to whome I will. Then he sayd vnto hym: they shall all be thyne. Iesus answered hym: and said: Whydyst thou me thus Sathan. For it is written: Thee shall thou worshippe the Lord thy God: and him only shalt thou serue.

 And he carried hym to Ierusalem: and set hym vpon a pynacle of the temple: and sayde vnto hym: If thou be the sonne of God: cast thy selfe downe from hence. For it is written: He shall geue his angels charge ouer thee: to kepe the: and with their handes they shall holde the: vpon the: that thou faile not thy foete agaynst a stone. And Iesus answered: and sayde vnto hym: It is sayde: Thee shall thou worshippe the Lord thy God. And when the dyuel had ended all the temptacions: he departed from hym for a season.

Mt. iij. b

 And Iesus came agayn in the power of the spirit: and he went into Galilee. And the same of hym was noyde throughout all the region rounde aboute. And he taught in their Synagoges: and was commended of every man.

Mt. iij. g
 Marc. vi. a
 And he came vnto Nazareth: wher he was nourished: and as his custome was: he went into the synagoge vpon the Sabbath: and stood vp: to rede. Then was there deliucted vnto the: the booke of the prophete Esay. And when he had turned ouer the booke: he founde the place wher it was writ: The spirit of the Lord is vnto me: because he hath anoynted me: to preache the Gospell vnto the poore: hath he sent me to heale the broken hearted: to preach the recovery to the captiue: and to sight to the blinde: and to send them to be free: and to send the acceptable yeare of the Lord.

 And when he had closed the booke: he gaue it agayne to the minister: and sat hym downe. And the eyes of all that were in the Synagoge: were fastened vpon hym. And he beganne to saye vnto them: This daye is this scripture fulfilled in your eares. And they all gaue hym praise: and wondered at the gracious wordes: which proceeded out of his mouth. &

And they sayde: Is not this Iosephs sonne?

And he sayde vnto them: Doubtlesse will I saye vnto me this promise: Whiche is writte in the booke of the prophet: For how great things haue I herde done at Capernaum: and how many things here also in this your owne countrey. But he sayde: Verely I saye vnto you: that it is no prophet accepted in his owne countrey. Then they belied of a tructh: I saye vnto you: There was many vngodly in Israel in the tyme of Iosias: when the heauen was shut thre yeres: and Icyne was the: so: a whan there was greete vtheran all the lade: and to none of them was Elias sent: but only vnto Syria: of the Syrians: to a widow. And many Iherosolymites were there in Israel in the tyme of Iehoshua: prophet: and none of them was chosen: save only Ueaman of Syria.

And as many as were in the Synagoge: when they herde that: were filled with wrath. And they rose vp: and they thrust hym out of the synagoge: and ledde hym vp to the dore of the dore: wherupon the synagoge was builded: that they myght cast hym downe headlong. But he wente his waye throughe the myddell of them: And he came to Capernaum: a cite of Galilee: and taught the: vpon the Sabbath. And they wounded at his doctrine: for his doctrine was with power.

And in the Synagoge there was a man possessed with a foule spytill: he cryed loudly: and sayde: See me alone: what haue I to do with the thou Iesu of Nazareth? But thou come to destroye vs: I knowe the: what thou art: thou art the holy of God. And Iesus rebuked hym: and sayde: Hold thy tongue: and be out of hym. And the spytill: thrust hym in the myddell amonge the: and departed from hym: and dyd hym no harme: and there came a fraie ouer the: all: and they spake amonge the: selfes: and sayde: What manner of thing is this: that he commaundeth the foule spytill: with auctorite and power: and they vtheran out. And the same of hym was noyde throughout all the places of the countrey rounde aboute. &

And he rose vp out of the synagoge: & came into Synagoge house. And Synagoge house: I haue no taken with a great fraie: and they prayd hym for hire. And he wente

¶ And when the Sonne was gone downe/all they that had syfte of Duerte dycaies/boughte them unto him. And he sayde bya hande vpon every one of them/and made them whole. ¶ The yewo also departed oute of many/ cryenge and sayinge: Thou arte Christe the sonne of Godd. And he rebuked them/and suffred them not to speake/ for they knewe that he was Christe. But when it was daye/ he wente ouer into a yecare place.
And the people soughte hym/that he shoulde goe departe from them. But he sayde vnto them: I must preache the Gospel of the kingdome of Godd to other cyties also: For this is am I sent. And he preached in the Syna-gogo of Galile.

The V Chapter. ¶

¶ It came to passe that the people pressed vpon hym/so that he wode of Godd/ a he stode by the lake of Genesareth/ and sawe two shyppe stande by the lake syde: But the syffers were gone out of the/ and had washed their nettes. Then wente he into one of the shyppe/ which was Symons/ and prised him/that he wode therof our a hile from the lande. And he said vnto him/and laughte the people out of the shyppe.

¶ And when he had lefte of talkinge/ he saide vnto Symon: Launche oute into the depe/and let thy nettes oute to make a draughte.
¶ And Symon answered/ and sayde vnto him: Master we haue laboured all the night/and taken nothinge. But upon thy wordes/ I will louse the net. And when they had so done/they toke a greate multitude of syffes: and they nette drate. And they made syffes to they felowes which were in the other shyppe/that they shoulde come and helpe them. And they came and fylled both the shyppe full/ so that they sunk.

¶ When Symon Peter sawe that he fill droue at Iesus face/ and sayde: Lord/ go fro me/ for I am a synfull man. For he was afomynded/ and that were with him/ as this draughte of syffes which they toke/ and so were James and John also the sonnes of Zbedai/ which were Symons companions.

¶ And Iesus sayde vnto Symon: Feare not/for from hence forth thou shalt take men. And they soughte the shyppe to lande/ and lefte Matt. 18.

holde/ there was a man full of leprosy. When I. 18. he sawe Iesus/ he fell vpon his face/ and he soughte hym/ and sayde: Lord. If thou wilt thou canst make me cleane. And he stretched out his hande/ and touched him/ and saide: I wylde thou cleane. And immediatly the leprosy departed from him. And he charged him/that he shoulde tell no man/ but go thy wete/ (saide he) and shewe thy selfe vnto the prieste/ and offre for thy cleynge as Mo. Leti. 14.
¶ Ite commaunded/ as a witness vnto them.
But the same of him wet out farther abroad/and there came muche people together to heare him/ and to be healed by him fro their syfnesses. And he departed into the wydeserts for and gaue hym selfe to praye.

¶ And it fortunede vpon a daye/ that he taughte/ and there sat the Pharisees and sery. Mar. 12.
And whiche were come out of all the countie of Galile and Trewy/ and from Ierusalem/and the power of the Lozde wroche from hym/ and healed every man. And he hold certaine men soughte vpon a Bedde a man that had the palsey/ and they soughte howe they myghte bringe him/ and laye him before hym. And when they coude not fynde by what waye they myghte bringe him in/(for the people they clymmed up to the toppe of the hause/ and let him downe thowre the younge with the Bedde/ amonge them before Iesus. And when he sawe that they sayde vnto hym: Man thy synnes are for-gane. And he sayde and Pharisee be-ganne to thinke/ and saide: What is he that that speaketh thus/ Whom can forgive synnes/ but onely God.

¶ Remember/ when Iesus perceaued that they thoughte he answered and saide vnto to them: What synnes seem youre better/Whether is easer to saye: I synne in a forgetten the. Or to saye: Arise/ and walke.
¶ But that ye maye knowe/ that the sonne of Man maye haue power to forgive synnes vpon earth/ he saide vnto the sery of palsey: I say vnto the: Arise/ take vp thy bedde/ and go vnto home.

¶ And it fortuned vpon an after pryncipall Sabbath/ that he wente thorow the corn felde/ and his disciples plucked the ayres of eare/ and yde eate/ and eubbed thair wethers: vnto the. But certayne of the Pharisee sayde vnto the: Wherfore do ye that/ which is not lawfull to do vpon the Sabbath? And

Jesus answered/ and said vnto them: Hauye ye not red what David dyd? when he was hungry/ and they that were with him/ home he wente onto the house of God/ and take the shewbread/ and yde eate/ and gaue also vnto them that were with him/ which was lawfull for no man to eate/ but for the priest onely. And he sayde vnto them: The sonne of man is Lord euen ouer the Sabbath.

¶ It came to pass vpon another Sabbath/ that he wente into the Synagoge/ and taught/ and there was a man whos righte hande was withered. But the Scribes and Pharisee marked him/ to whether he wold heale vpon the Sabbath/ that they mighte fynde an occasion againste him. ¶ Then he besse/ he perceaued their thoughte/ and saide vnto the man: Thy righte hande: stretche forth. He then saide: I can not. For I wyl eate a question: What is it lawfull to do vpon the Sabbath good or euell/ to save lyfe/ or to destrye it? And he behelde them all coude a dante/ and saide vnto the man: Stretche oute thine hande. And he dyd so. ¶ Then was his hande restored him to righte/ as whole as the other. But they were filled full of madnesse/ and communed together what they wold do to him. ¶

¶ And reformand at the same tyme that he wente oute into a mountayne to praye/ and when he was praye/ he called his disciples/ with other chiefe of them/ whom he also called the Apostles: Simon/ whom he named Peter/ and Andrew his brother/ James and Iohn/ Philippe and Bartholomee/ Mattheu and Thomas/ James the sonne of Alphaeus/ Simon called Zelotes/ Judas the sonne of James/ and Judas Iscariot which was the traytoure.

¶ And he wente fownt with them/ and stode vpon a playne in the felde/ and the companye of his disciples/ and a greate multitude of people/ from all Ieremy and Jerusalem/ and from Tyre and Sidon by the see coast/ wher theye came to heare hym/ and to be healed of the. ¶ Wherfore/ and they were ned wylde the. ¶ And all the people sayde: ¶ Wherfore do ye that/ which is not lawfull to do vpon the Sabbath? Shalke no wyne/and ye saye: he hath the deuill. The sonne of man is come /eateh and drynke/and ye saye: This man is a glutton and a wyne bybber/a frende of publicans and synners. And wysdomes is wylshed of byn chyldeyn.

¶ And beholde/there was in the cyne a woman whiche was a synner. When she knewe that Iesus sat at the table in the Pharise house /she brought a boxe with oymenent/ and stode by hynde at his feet/and wypte/and beganne to waue his fete with reares /and to drye them with the beeres of her heade/ and kysed his fete/and anoynted them with oymenent.

¶ But when the Pharise whiche had called him/sawe that he spake w. thim him selfe/and saide: If this man were a prophete/ he wolde knowe what a what maner of woman this is that croucheth him/for she is a synner. And Iesus answered/a saide vnto him: Simon. I haue somwhat to saye vnto the. He saide: Master sit on. A certayne lender had two vnters/that the one dyght fyue hundred peeces/ the other sixty: but when they had nothing to paye/for forgate them both. Tell me/whiche of them wold loue him moost? Simon answered/a saide: I suppose/ to whome he forgate moost. Ther saide he vnto him: Thou hast iudged right.

¶ And he turned hym to the woman and sayde vnto Simon: Seyst thou this woman? I am come into thyne house / thou hast giuen me no waue vnto my fete/ but she hath wauid my fete with reares /and dryed them with the beeres of her heade: Thou hast giuen me no kysse/ but she keneed the fyngers of my fete/ but she hath anoynted my heade with oyle/ but she hath anoynted me heade with oymenent. Therfore I saye vnto the: Many synners are forgate her/for she hath loued me. But vnto whome lesse is forgate/ / the same loueth the lesse.

¶ And he sayde vnto her: Thy synnes are forgate. Then they that sat at the table with hym/beganne to saye withyn them.

selfe: What is he/this that forgate thy synnes also? But he sayde vnto the woman: Thy sayth hath saide the. Go thy way in peace.

The VIII. Chapter.

¶ It is fortunad afterwarde that he wente vnto honore the cyne and countes / and preached/and serued the Gospell of the Kingdome of God/and the twelfe with him. And certayne woman also whome he healed from euell spectes and infirmities: Namely Mary / whiche is called Magdalene/ out of whome were shuen deuils/ and Joanna the wyfe of Chusa/ and Berodea stewardes and Susanna/ and many other that transfere vnto them of their substaunce.

¶ Now when much people was gathered together / and had stode vnto him out of the cyne/ he spake by a synnynge. There wene: oute a souer to four by fide / a whyll he was souynge/ some fell by the waye side/ and was redde vnder fote/ and the fote of the eye/ and care vep. And some fell on the stone/ and welan a wea sponge w. thit wetherd awaye / because it had no moystnes. And some fell amonge thornes/ and the thornes sprang v. w. thit / and chafed it. And some fell vpon a good grounde / and sprang/ and bare fruce an hundred fold. When he said these/ he cried: Who so hath eares to heare/ let him heare.

¶ And his disciples aged hym/and sayde: What synnynge is this? And he saide: Vnto you is giuen to knowe the mysteries of the Kingdome of God/ but vnto oiker is parables/ that though they see/ they shoulde not see it/ and though they heare/ they shoulde not vnderstande.

¶ This is the parable: the sibe is the woode of God: As for those that are by the waye sibe / they are they that heare it / afterwarde cometh the druell/ and taketh a waye the woode out of their herres/ that they shoulde not seke and do saud. But they on the stone are suche as when they heare it/ receiue the woode with ease/ and theist haue no rote: they seke for a whyll / and in the tyme of temptacion they fall awaye. As for it that fell amonge: the thornes/ that they as heare it / and go forth amonge the thornes/ and volupuous

Mat. x. 1. d. of the Gadarcanyes / whiche is ouer against Galile.

¶ And when he wente out to sende / there mett hym one of the people / whiche had a vncle longe tyme / and he wore no clothes / and sayde in no house / but in the graues.
¶ Thence he said / when he sawe Iesus / he crept and fell doune before hym / and cried loude and sayde: What haue I to do with the Iesus / the sonne of the best God? Before the / that thou wylt not torment me. For he came moued the soule / that he should repasse out of the man / for he had plagued him a long season. And he was bound with chaynes / and fetters / with fetters / and he brake the bandes in sonder / and was carryed of the wyclinto the wilderness.

¶ And Iesus asked hym and sayde: What to thy name? He saide: Legion. For there were many deuils entred into him. And they besought hym / that he wolde not commaunde them to ga into the seepe. ¶ But there was there a greatese hearde of swyne / sittinge vpon the mountayne / and they besought him / that he wolde geue them leaue to enter into the same. And he gaue them leaue. Then departed the deuils out of the man / and entered into the swyne. And the hearde rushed headlynges into a strome into the lake / and were drowned. But when the herdemen sawe what had chaunced / they fledde / and were in the cite and in the villages.

¶ Then wente they out forto se what was done / and came to Iesus / and founde the man / out of whome the deuils were departed / sittinge at Iesus feet clothed / and in his right mynde / and they were afraid. And they that had seene it / tolde them howe the possessid was healed. And the whole multitude of the countrey of the Gadarenes besought hym / that he wolde departe from them / for there was a greatese feare came vpon them. ¶ And he gaue hym into the synnoper and turned a gayne. And the man out of whome the deuils were departed / besought hym / that he myghte be with hym. But Ie-sus sente hym away / and sayde: Go home against / and shewe howe greatese things God hath done for the. And he wente by way / and preached thorowout all the countrey howe greatese things Iesus had done for hym.

¶ And it fortuned when Iesus came at the synnoper / that there was a man / for the way / for hym. And he tolde / there came a man named Janna / and he was a rule of the synnoper / and sel at Iesus feet

and besought hym / that he wolde come into his house. For he had but one daughter (vnto a twelfe yeare of age) and she laye at the poynte of deathe. And as he wente / the people thronged hym. ¶ And a woman hauing the bloodye yssue twelfe yeare (which had bene all her sustaunce vpon Physicians) and coulde be healed of none) came be hynde / and toucht the hemme of his garmente / and immediabli her yssue of bloude was stilled.

¶ And Iesus sayde: Who hath toucht me? But when they all denyed / Peter sayde and they that were with hym: Master / the people thronge the / and thruste the / and thou sayst: Who hath toucht me? Iesus sayde: Some bodye hath toucht me / for I fele that there was vertue gone oute fro me. But when the woman sawe that she was not hydd / she came tremblinge / and fell downe before hym / and tolde hym before all the people / for what cause she had toucht hym / and howe she was healed immediabli. And he saide vnto her: Daughter / be of good comfort / thy faith hath made the whole / go thy way in peace.

¶ Whye he yet spake / there came one from the ruler of the Synagoga house / and sayde vnto hym: Thy daughter is dead / vnto what purpose? When Iesus herde that / he answered hym / and sayde: Feare not / believe only / and she shall be made whole. But when he came into the house / he suffred no man to go in saue Peter / and James / and Iohn / and the father and mother of the mayden. They wepte all / and showed for bee. But he sayde: Wepe not / for she is not dead / but slepeth. And they laughed hym to scorne / knowinge wel that she was dead. But he thruste them all oute / and take her by the hande / and cryed / and sayde: Mayden arise. And her spere came agayne / and she arose straightwaye. And he commaunded to geue her meate. And her sisters were astonnyed. But he charged them that they should tell no man what was done.

¶ And he called the twelfe together / and I gave them power and auctoritee ouer all Mart. ix. 1. And he sente them oute to preache the kingdome of God / and to heal the sycke / and Mart. ix. 1. b. sayde vnto them: ¶ Ye shall saue nothinge. And they departed / and wente throuwe the townes / preachinge the Gospill / and healinge euery where.

¶ He orde the Terracha herbe of that was done by hym. And he roke care / for so muche as it was sayde of some: Of son is risen agayne from the dead. Of some: Elias hath appeared. Of some: One of the olde prophets is risen agayne. And Herode sayde: Iohn haue I beheaded / who is this then / of whom I heare suche thynges? And he desired to see him.

¶ And the Apostoloz came agayne / and I tolde hym howe greate thynges they had done. And he roke them to hym / and wente agayne into a solitary place / by the cyncal led Bethsaida. When the people knewe of it / they folowed hym. And he receaued them / and spake vnto them of the kyngdome of God / and healed suche as had neede thereof. But they were beganne to go downe.

¶ Then came the twelfe to hym / and sayde vnto hym: Let the people departe from the / that they maye go into the townes rounde aboute / and into the villages / wher they maye fynde lodginge and meate / for we are here in the wyldernesse. But he sayde vnto them: Geue ye them to eate. They sayde: We haue no more but fyue loaves and two fyshes. Excepte we shoulde go and bye meate for so muche people / (for there were vpon a fyue thousand men.) But he sayde vnto hys Discyples: Cause them to sitty downe by fyfties in a companye. all that he sayde. But Martha was troubled and vexed much to do/ for to serue hym. And she stepe vnto hym/ and sayde: Lo: Darest thou not that my syster leaue me seue alone? But he therfore: she helpe me. But Iesus answered/ and sayde vnto her: Martha Martha/ thou art full thought/ and troubled/ thy selfe aboute many thynges: there is but one thinge needfull/ Mary hath chosen a good parte/ which shall not be take fro her.

The XL Chapter.

¶ It is fortunad that he was in a place/ and prayed. And when he had cōfession of his disciples/ sayde vnto hym: Loide/ I wold go to praye/ as thou also taughtest thy disciples.

He sayde vnto them: ¶ When ye praye/ saye: Our father/ which art in heauen/ be halowd be thy name. Thy kyngdom come. Thy will be fulfilled vpon earth/ as it is in heauen. Giue vs this daye our daily bread. And forgyue our synnes/ for we also forgyue all them that are vnto vs. And lode vs not into temptation/ but deliue vs from euil.

¶ And he sayde vnto them: which of you is that hath a frende/ and shoulde go to him at mydnyght/ and saye vnto hym: frende/ lende me thre loaves/ for a frende of myne is come to me out of the waye/ and I haue nothing to see before hym/ and he wylth shoulde answer me/ and say: Disturbe me not/ the boxe stut already/ and my chyldeen are with me in the chamber/ I can not ryse and giue the. Then answered one of the Scribes / and sayde vnto hym / Master / with these wordes thou puttest vs to rebuke also. But he sayde:

mat. xxij. a. I And wo vnto you also ye Scribes / for ye lade men with vnicleable burthens / and ye

The XII Chapter.

¶ Hee gathered togethere an innumerable multitude of people / in so much that they made one another: Then beganne he / and said Mat. xij. a. I first vnto his Disciples: Beware of the les-mac. xij. d. sen of the Pharisees / which is spoyntise. But * Sap. i. d. there is nothinge hyd that shall not be discouered: neyther secretes / that shall not be knowe.

 Therfore wharsoeuer ye haue spoken in secretes shall be made / and that which ye haue spoken in the chaubers / shall be made vpon the house toppes.

I But I say vnto you my frendes the sonnes of men / that they shall kill the body / and after that haue no more that they can do. But I saye vnto you / whome ye shall haue feared hym / whiche after he hath killed / hath power also to cast into hell: Yee / I saye vnto you: feare hym. But not feare spawces bought for this worldy synage. Yet is not one of them forgotten before God. The very dettes of your heade also are numbered eueny one. Feare not therefore / for ye are demer then many syn-ages.

I If ye vnto you. I Whosoever knoweth me before men / him shall the sonne of man knowe: also before the angels of God: But he that denyeth me before men / shall be denyed before the angels of God. And whosoever speaketh a worde against the sonne of man / shall be forgiven him: But who so blasphemeth the holy ghoest / ite shall not be forgiven hym.

I When they bringe you into theye Syn-agoges / and to the rules and officers / take ye no chaughte / howe / or whate ye shall saye: for wharsoever shall speake for / the holy ghoest shall teache you in the same haure what ye ought to saye.

But one of the people sayd vnto him. Master: bydde my brother: he wyche he charitable with me. He wecheleste / he sayde vnto hym: Man: who hath ferie me to be a iudge or be-cage parter ouer you? And he sayde vnto hit: Take heed / and beware of your countre / for no man huych therof: that he hath aboundance of goodes. And he tolde him a similitude sayde: There was a ryche man / whiche felde had been ght forth / sith he wylle / a thought in hym selfe / and sayde: What shall I do: I haue nothyng whereon to garde my fructe and he sayde: this will I do: I will buche vnto me my barnes / and buyde geatte / and thence will I garde all myne increace / and my goodes / will say vnto my soule: Thou shalt haue faste muche goodes layed vpon / in manye years: take thee vnto thee / and drinke / and be merry. But God sayde vnto hit:

him: Thou soule/this nyght shal receyue thy soule from the: / and whose shall it be that shal purchase? Thus goeth it with hinc that gathereth treasure for hym self/and is not ryde in God.

¶ But he saide vnto his disciples: Therefore I saye vnto you. Take ye no thought for your lyfe/what ye shall eate: neyther for your body/what ye shall put on. The lyfe is more then meate/and the body more then clyment. Consider the rauen/they nei ther eate nor ceape/they haue also nei ther storehouse nor barn/and yete God feedeth them. But howe muche better are ye then the fooler?

¶ Which of you (thoughe he toke thought thereof) coulde putt one cubyte vnto his standard: Ouynghe then ye be not able to doe that which is lesse/ why take ye thought for the other? Consider the lilye upon the felde howe they growe: they labour not/the spynne not.
But I saye vnto you: that euen Salomoein all his togale was not clothed like one of these. Wherefore if God so clothe the grass that is to day in the felde/ and to morowe shall be cast in the foynne: howe muche more shall he clothe you/ ye of litle faythe? Thee northerfore what ye shall eate/ or what ye shall drinke/ and clymente doe not ouy care: The Herben in the wode sele after all such thynges. ¶ But seke ye the Kingdome of God/ and all these shal be minished vnto you.

¶ Feare not thou litle flocke/ for it is in your fathers pleasure to geue you the Kingdome.
Sell that ye haue/ and geue almesse. ¶ Make you bagges/ which weage not olde/ euen a treasure that neuer faileth in heauen/ where no thynge cometh/ and no moth coruupteth: for where your treasure is/ there will your heere be also.

¶ Let your laynes be gerded about/ as your lighte burninge/ as be ye like vnto men that waite for their lorde/ against he retene from marriage/ that wyl be edyngh a knocke/ the they shalghte wyse open vnto him. Blessed are those seruantes/ to whome the lorde (whan he cometh) shall finde waking. Verely, I say vnto you: ¶ The shall gyde vp him selfe/ and make the selfe vnto a scible/ shall go by the dore/ and minster vnto them. And if he come in the seconde watche/ and in the thyrde watche/ and finde them so/ blessed are those seruantes.

¶ But he saide vnto the people/ that if the good man of mar. xxiij the house knewe/ what houre the thefe woulde come/he woulde surely watche/ and not suffre his house to be broken vp. ¶ Therefore be ye eache aluysie at an houre whan ye slepe/ lest the sonne of man come.

¶ But Peter saide vnto hym: Lorde/ tell me thou this similitude vnto vs/ for I wil men all the Lorde saide: Howe great a thinge is a faythfull and wyse sit ward/ to whome his lorde leueth ouer his house/ to geue them the duetye in due season? ¶ Blessed is that ser-uaunt/ to whome his lorde (whan he cometh) shall finde so doing. Verely, I say vnto you: he shall seechen ouer all his goodes. ¶ But if Marthe same seruante shall saye in his herte: My lord will be longe in my lorde/ come/ I wil begynne to synke the seruantes a maid/ and a cate and swyne/ a cow/ and a sheepe: the same seruantes lorde shall come in a day whan he loth not for him/ in an houre that he is not aware of/ he shall beate hym in pteer/ and geue hym rewards with the vnbelieues.

¶ The seruante that knewe his lorde/ wil/ Iacob. iij. b and prepared not hym self/ nei ther dyd accom-dunge to his wil/ shal be beate with many flynges: But he that knewe it not/ and geue byd thynges worthy of synne/ shal be beate with fewe flynges. For loke vnto whome much is geuent of herte/ shall much be sought/ and loke to whome much is committed/ of hym shall much be re-quered.

¶ I am come to finde fyre vpon earth/ and what woulde I eather/ when that it were find-ed already: nor wil I stande. I must first be baptyzed with a baptyme/ and howe am I baptyzed? ¶ I thinke ye that I am Matt. x. c come to bringe peace vpon earth. I will you say/ but eather debate. For from heuereforth there shal be at variance in one house betwene a gaunt/ and two against the. ¶ The father shal be deuyded against the sonne/ and the sonne against the father: the mother against the daughter/ and the daughter against the mother: the mother in lawe against her daughter in lawe/and the daughter in lawe against her mother in lawe.

¶ And he saide vnto the people: Whan ye shall see a

The XIII Chapter.

Act. vi. c ¶ Here were present at this same season cer¶ taine / that had bene of the 7 Gold-¶ eanes / whose bloude Diabed had mingled with their owne sacrifice. And Iesus answered / and sayd vnto them: Suppose ye / that these Galileans were greater sinners then all other Galileans because they suffered such punishment?
I tell you naye / but except ye amende yourselues / ye shall all perishe likewise. O thinke ye that the cytyens / upon whome the towne in Syon sell and stowe the / were pryncebone all men that dwel at Ierusalem? I tell you naye: but except ye amende youre selves / ye shall all perishe likewise.

Mat. xxi. b ¶ And he told them this similitude: ¶ A certaine mā had a figge tree / which was planted in his vyneyarde / and he came and sought fruite thereon / and founde none. The said he vnto the vyneyarders: Behold / this thre yearen ge haue I come euery yeaer / and sought fruite vpon this figge tree / and fynde none: cut it downe / why buddesth it the ground? But he answered / and sayd: Eyer / let it alone yet this yeer / till I bygge rounde aboute it / a vtmyge in / it will bringe forth fruite: If no / then cut it downe after wards.

And he taught in a Synagoge vpon the Sabbath / and beheld / there was a woman which had a spite of misfortune eghyene yea-res / and was crooked / and coulde not wete loke vp. Whā Iesus sawe her / he called her to hym / and sayd vnto her: Woman be vtmyered from this dyscase: and he layd his handes vpon her / and immediatly she was made straighe and prayd God.

Then answered the ruler of the Synagoge / B and toke indignacion / because Iesus healed vpon the Sabbath / and said vnto the people: There are sye: Dayes / wherein men oughte to worke / in them come / and be heald / and not on the Sabbath.

Then the Lorde answered him / and sayd: Thou speakest vnto both not eueryone of you because his eye or affe from the crybbe vpon the Sabbath / a leade him to vtmyer: But shouldest not thus / which is what the vyghter / whom Sathan hath bound now eghyene yeaer / de-loued for this bande vpon the Sabbath? And whā he thus said / all his aduersaries were astonyshed. And all the people rayoyced ouer all the excellent wordes that were done by hym.

¶ And he saide: what is the kyngdome of the God he: O ye iudeites / shall I compare the to Ica geyn of mushards / which a man soweth in his garden: and it groweth / and waxeth a greete tree: and the fowles of the ayre dwell aboute the boughes of it.

¶ And againe he sayd: what shall I compare the kyngdome of the God he: to like mus-hards / which a man soweth / and wynter cometh the fowles come / and it is all consumed.

¶ And newe wyche wynter comes / and and wynter / and take the tyme towarde Ierusalem.

¶ And she saide vnto hym: Lorde / I see three fere / which thou char thals saude: But he saide vnto them: ¶ Strive ye to entre in / the the strait gate / for many / I say vnto you / shall fere to come in / and shall not be able.
¶ I deni the tyme forth / whā the good man of the house is ryfen vp / and hath shut the dore / then shall ye begynne to stand without and to kncke at the dore / and saye: ¶ Lorde / ¶ Let vs open vnto vs: And he shall answer / and say vnto you: I knowe you not / whēce ye are.

¶ Then shall ye begynne to saye: we haue een-ten and thonken before the / and thou hast reught vs vpon the stretes. And he shall say: I tell you / I knowe you not / whēce ye are: ¶ ¶ Departe fro me / all ye workers of iniquite.
¶ There shall he repute a gnat / bynge of scyff / whē ye shall se: Abraham / and Isaac / and Jacob / and all the prophetes in the kyngdome

of God/ and your selues thusse out. And when they shall come from the East and from the West/ from the North and from the South/ which shall sit at the table in the kingdom of God. And behold/ there are last/ which shall be first.

Upon the same daye there came certaine of the Pharisees/ and saide vnto him: Get thee out of the waye/ and departe hence/ for Herode will kill thee. And he saide vnto them: Go ye and tell the foyer herode/ I cast out devells/ and heale the people to daye and to morrowe/ upon the thirde daye shall I make an ende: for it can not be/ that a prophet perissh within Ierusalem.

¶ To Ierusalem Ierusalem/ thou that killest the prophetes/ and stonest them that are sent vnto thee/ how oft wolde I haue gathered thy children together/ eue as the henne gathereth her nest vnder her wynges/ and ye wolde not: Behold/ your habitation shall be left vnto you desolate: for I saye vnto you: ye shall not see me till the tyme come that see shall saye: Blessed be he that cometh in the name of the Lord.

The XIII. Chapter.

¶ And it came to passe that he came in the house of one of the chiefe Pharisees/ upon a Sabbath/ to eat bread/ and they watched him. And he dede/ as these were/ a man before him: which had the dropsie. And Iesus answered/ and saide vnto the Scribes and Pharisees/ and said: Is it lawfull to heale on the Sabbath? But they holde they: nunge. And he tolde him/ and healed him/ and lei him vp/ and ammentred/ and saide vnto them: Which of you shall haue an eye or an asse fallen into a pitte/ and will not straggle waye pull him out? on the Sabbath daye: And they could not answer him againe to this.

And he tolde a simill rade vnto the gestic/ when he marked howe they chose the bygd/ steepe/ and saide vnto them: When thou art bydden of any man to a weddinge/ see not thoue in the bygd/steine/ lest/ a more honorable man then thou be bydden of him/ and he shall had before the and him/ come and saye vnto the: Give this man raine/ and thou then beginne with shame to take the lowest roume. But rather when thou art bydden/ go and sit in the lowest roume/ that when he that had the cometh/ he maye saye vnto the: Sitte here/ and sitt up here. Then that thou haue no sitte in the presence of the that sitte at the table. For mat. xiii. b. whosoever eateth hym selfe/ shall be brought lowe/ and he that humblith hym selfe/ shall be exalted.

He saide also vnto him that had bydden hym: What thou makest a dinner or a supper/ call not thy frendes/ nei thy brethren/ nei thy kynnes/ for: theye the next daye shall call thee agayne/ and recompente bye made thee. But who maketh a supper/ shall be the first/ and the last/ when art thou blessed/ for theye can not recompente thee. But it shall be recompented the in the resurrection of the righte.

¶ When one of them that sat by at the table herde this/ he saide vnto him: Blessed to be that eateth breade in the kingdom of God. But he saide vnto hym: I have taune man made a Greake supper/ and called many thereto. And in the house of the supper he sent his seruants to saye vnto them that were bydden: Come/ for nowe are all thynges ready. And theye beganne altogether to excuse the selues one after another: The first saide vnto him: I haue brought a ferme/ and I must nedes go forth/ and se in I praye the haue me excused. And the seconde saide: I haue boughte fyne yocke of oxen/ and nowe I go to proue them/ I praye the haue me excused. And the thirde saide: I haue married a wyfe/ therefore can I not come. And the seruant came/ and brought his Lorde to the agayne therof.

¶ Then was the good man of the house displeasid/ and saide vnto his seruants: Go out quickly into the streets/ and quaire of the eue/ and bringe in byr the pooles/ and creepell/ and lame/ and bynde. And the seruants saide: Lorde/ to done as thou hast commaunded/ and there is yet more roume. And the Lorde saide vnto the seruants: Go out into the bygd/ wayes/ and to the hedges/ and compell them to come in/ that my house maye be fylled. But I saye vnto you: that none of these men which were bydden/ shall tast of my supper.

¶ There were much people with him/ and so herde the mynstrissy / and hauncynge / and called one of the seruantes vnto him / and aske what it was. He sayde vnto him: Thy brother is come / and thy father hath slayne a fed calf / because he hath receaued hym safe and sounde. Then was he angrye / and wolde not go in. Then wente his father oute / and piayed hym. But he answered and saide vnto his father: Lo / thus many yeares haue I sone the seruice / narythe haue I yett taken thy commaundement: / and thou gauest me neuer one kydde / that I mighte make mery with my frendes. But nowe that this thy sonne is come / whiche hath receaued his greedes with halottis / thou best slaine a fed calf. But he sayde vnto him: My sonne / thou art alwaye with me / and all that is myne is thyn: thou shouldest be mery and be glad: for this thy brother was dead / and is aloue againe: he was lost / and is founde againe. F

HE sayde also vnto his disciples: There was a certain ryche man / whiche had a steward that was accused vnto him / that he had traiffled his goodes. And he called hym / and saide vnto him: Howe is it / that I heare this of the? geou accounte of thy stewardshippe / for thou maest be no longer steward. The steward saide within himselfe: What shall I do / for this loide will eate away the stewardshippe from me. I can not bygge / and to bygge / I am ashamed: I wote what I will do / that when I am put oute of the stewardshippe / they may receaue me into their houses.

And he called vnto him all his lordes seruaunts / and sayde vnto the fyfthe: Howe muche wast thou vnto my lord? He saide: an hundred poundes of syluer. And he sayde: Take thy pill / for thou art honest / and wise fyfthe. Then saide he vnto another: Howe muche wast thou? He saide: an hundred quarters of wheat. And he saide vnto hym: Take thy pill / and wise foure score. And the loide commended the vnrighteous steward / because he had done wisely. For the children of this world are in their wyse wyse / then the children of lighte. And I saye vnto youe: Make you frends to the vnrighteous Mammon / that when ye shal haue ned: they may receaue you into euery thinge ye desire.

He that is faithfull in the least / is faithfull also in muche: and he that is vnrighteous in the least / is vnrighteous also in muche. If ye the haue not ben faithfull in the vnrighteous Mammon / who wil beleife you in that which is true? And if ye haue not ben faithfull in another mans thynge / who wil geue you that which is your owne.

¶ No seruante can serue two masters: Mat. vj. 24 for either he shall haue the one / and loue the other / or els he shall leane to the one / and despyse the other. Ye can not serue God and Mammon.

¶ All these thinges herde the Pharisees / whiche were couetous / and they mockt hym. And he sayde vnto them: ye see they that iustifyeure selves before men / but God knoweth youre herte. For that whiche is hygge amonge men / is an abhominacion before God.

¶ The same and the prophetes prophesied vnto Ihon / and from that tyme forth to the kynge dome of God preached thowthe the Gospell / and euery man percified into it by violence. ¶ But as yett is it for heauen Esai. 6. 1. and eache so persibe / when one tytle of the lawe is fall. ¶ Whosoever putteth away his wyfe / and marryeth another / breaketh mans mynagie: and he that marryeth her whiche is deuoced from her hous had / breaketh wedlocke also.

¶ There was a certayne ryche man / whiche doned hym selfe with purple / and costlye linnen / and sared deliiciously eury daye. And there was a poore man named Lazarus / whiche laye at his gate full of sores / and desired to be filled with the crumme that fell from the ryche mans table. For came the dogges / and lyched his sores. But it fortuned / that the poore man dyed / and was caried of the Angells into Abrahames bosome. There the man dyed also / and was buryed.

¶ Nowe when he was in the hell he lyft vp his eyes to the payne / and saide: Abraham asure off / and Lazarus in thy bosome / and he cryed and said: father Abraham haue mercy vpon me / and sende Lazarus / that he

I I saye vnto you: In that night shall twofe vpon one bedde / the one shalbe receaued / the other shalbe forsaken. ¶ Two shalbe groning tog. the other the one shalbe receaued / the other shalbe forsaken. And they answered / and sayde vnto him: Where Lord? He saide vnto them: Where seker the head carest / there will the digels be gathered tog. ther.

Chap. XLIII. Chapter.

Mat. xxiij
Lucce. xiiij
 p. c. ¶ That men ought to aduise to prae / and not to care of synne / he se: ¶ There was a iudge in a cytie / whiche feared not God / and stode in awe of no man. And in the same cytie there was a wedde / whiche came vnto him / and said: Wylt thou be myne aduersarye. And he wolde not a greute rebelle. But afterwaide he thought with him selfe: Though I feare not God / and stande in awe of no man / yet feynge that wedde is so importunate vpon me / I wil yeluer her: lest she come at the last and raile vpon me.

¶ Then saide the Lord: There what the vngodly iudge saith. But shal not God also yeluer his chesen / that crye vnto hym day and nyght / though he defere them: I seie vnto you: He shal yeluer them / and that soone. ¶ Heuerebelles / when the sonne of man cometh / suppose ys that he shal fynde fault vpon euery

them selves / that they were perfecte / and despyed othe: he seith: this similitude: There wente vnto two men into the temple to praye: The one a Pharysee / the other a Publicane. The Pharysee stode / and prayed by hym selfe after this maner: I thank the God / that I am not as other men / robbers / vngodly / a lecher / aduocates / or as the Publicane. I faste rayse in the weke / I geue the tythes of all that I haue. And the Publicane stode a parte of / and wolde not lyfte vp his eyes to heauen: but smote vpon his brest / and saide: God be thou mercifull vnto me sinner. I tell you: This man wente downe in his house / iustly / more than the other.

¶ I saye vnto you: Who exalteth hym selfe / shall be brought low / and he that humbleth hym selfe / shall be exalted. ¶

¶ They broughte yonge chyld: also vnto him / that he shoulde touche them. But when the disciples sawe that / they rebulded thaim. ¶ Heuerebelles / I seie tellet them vnto him / and saide: Suffre the chylden to come vnto me / and to bydde them not / for vnto sicke belongeth the kyngdome of God. Verily I saye vnto you: Who seker receaueth not the kyngdome of God as a chyld / shall not enter therein.

¶ And a certayn ruler ased him / and saide: ¶ Good master / what muste I do that I may inheret euerlastyng lyfe: But Iesus sayde vnto him: Why callest thou me good: ¶ There is no man good / but God onely. ¶ Thou knowest the commaundementes: ¶ Thou shalt not swaie wedded: ¶ Thou shalt not sle: ¶ Thou shalt not steale: ¶ Thou shalt not beare fals witness: ¶ Honoure thy father and mothe: ¶ But he saide: All these haue I kepte for my youth vp. ¶ When Iesus herde that / he sayde vnto hym: Yet lackst thou one thyng / sell all that thou hast / and geue it vnto the poore / and thou shalt haue a treasure in heauen / and come and folowe me. ¶ When he herde that / he was say / for he was very ryche.

¶ When Iesus sawe that he was sorowful / he sayde: ¶ How hardly shall the ryche come into the kyngdome of God: ¶ It is easy for a camel to go / thorow the eye of a needle / then for a ryche man to enter into the kyngdome

Mat. xx. b. Luc. 9. c. Then sayde Peter: Behold we haue forsaken all / and folowed the. He saide vnto them. Verely I saye vnto you: There is no man that forsaketh house / or elders / or breth-er / or wyfe / or brethren / for the kyngdome of Gode sake / whiche shall not receaue muche more in this world / and euertylinge lyfe in the world to come.

Mat. xx. b. Mat. 9. d. Then he toke vnto him the twelue and said vnto them: Behold we go vp to Jerusalem / and it shall all be fulfilled that is wyrtten by the prophetes / concerning the sonne of man:

Luc. xxii. a. for he shall be deliuered vnto the Heythen / and shall be mocked / and dyspysfully increased / and spyrred vppon / and whon they haue scourged him / they shall put him to death / and vpon the thyrde daye shall he ryse againe.

Luc. ii. g. And they vnderstode nothing of these say-nges. And this saying was hyd fro them / and they perceaued not the thynges that were spoken.

Mat. xx. b. Mat. 9. c. And it came to passe / when he came nye vnto Jericho / there sat one blynde by the way and begged. And when he herde the people passe by / he arid what it was. Then saide they vnto him / that Iesus of Nazareth passed by.
And he cryed / and saide: Iesu thow sonne of Dauid / haue mercy vpon me. But the people that went before rebuked him / that he should holde his tounge. Neuerthelesse / he cryed much more: I thow sonne of Dauid haue mercy vpon me. Iesus stode still / and commanded him to be brought vnto him. And when he was come neare / he ased him and saide: What wylt thou that I do vnto the?
He sayde: Lorde / what I maye receaue my syghte. And Iesus saide vnto him: Receaue thy sighte / thy faith hath saued the. And im-mediatly he saw / and folowed him / and glorified God. And all the people that sawe it / glorified God the prayse.

The XLX. Chapter.

2 And he entered in / and wente throuer Jericho: and beholde / there was a man named Zachaeus / whiche was a rufce of the Du-bians / and was rich / and desired to see Iesus what he shoulde be / and he coulde not for the people / for he was lowe of stature. And he ranne before / and clymmed vp into a wyde figge tree / that he might see him: for he shoulde come that way. And when Iesus came to the same place / he looked vpon / and sawe him / and saide vnto him: Zachaeus come downe hastily / for to daye must I tene in thy house. And he came downe hastily / and receaued hym with ioye. When they sawe that / they murmured all / and saide / that he was gone in to a sinner.

But Zachaeus stode forth / and saide vnto the Lorde: Beholde Lorde / the halfe of my goodes geue I to that poore / and if I haue deceaued any man / I restore him twofold: Iesus saide vnto him: This daye is healtie happened vnto this house / for so muche as he also is Abrahams sonne. Then for the sonne of man is come to see / and to saue that whiche was lost.

There whyle they belkened / he toke a symonide also / because he was nye vnto Jerusalem / and because they thaught / that the kyngdome of God shoulde appeare imme-diatly. And he saide: For certayne noble man wente into a farr countrey / to receaue him a kyngdome / and then to come agayne.
This man called ten of his seruantes / and deliuered them ten pounde / and saide vnto them: Occupe all I touny agayne. But his cynnyssyns hard him / and sent a messenger after him / and saide: We wyl not haue this man to raigne ouer vs.

And it fortuned / when he came agayne / that he had receaued the kyngdome: he wyd call for the seruantes / vnto whome he had geuen his money / that he might knowe what euery one had done. Then came the first / and saide: Syr / thy pounde hath wonne ten pounde. And he sayde vnto him: Well thou good seruant / for so muche as thou hast bene faythfull in the least / thou shalt haue auctoryne ouer ten ciuites. The seconde came also / and saide: Syr / thy pounde hath wonne fyue pounde. And to him he saide: And thou shouldest be ouer fyue ciuites.
And the thirde came / and saide: Es Syr / here is thy pounde / whiche I haue kepte in a nappeyn / I was afrayed of the / for thou art hard

7 And he said vnto them that stode by: Take the pounde: from him/and geue it vnto hym that hath ten pounde. 8 And they sayde vnto him: 9 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64 65 66 67 68 69 70 71 72 73 74 75 76 77 78 79 80 81 82 83 84 85 86 87 88 89 90 91 92 93 94 95 96 97 98 99 100

 had thus sayde/ he toweine on forwards/ and toke his iourney to Ierusalem. 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64 65 66 67 68 69 70 71 72 73 74 75 76 77 78 79 80 81 82 83 84 85 86 87 88 89 90 91 92 93 94 95 96 97 98 99 100

16 And it fortuned wh he came nye Beth-phage and Bethany vnto mounte Oluyate/he sent two of his disciples/ and sayde: 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64 65 66 67 68 69 70 71 72 73 74 75 76 77 78 79 80 81 82 83 84 85 86 87 88 89 90 91 92 93 94 95 96 97 98 99 100

 The
 Lord hath neede thereof.

21 And they that were sent/ wente their way/and founde euen as he had sayde. 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64 65 66 67 68 69 70 71 72 73 74 75 76 77 78 79 80 81 82 83 84 85 86 87 88 89 90 91 92 93 94 95 96 97 98 99 100 But when they loused the foale/ the owner of therof sayde vnto them: 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64 65 66 67 68 69 70 71 72 73 74 75 76 77 78 79 80 81 82 83 84 85 86 87 88 89 90 91 92 93 94 95 96 97 98 99 100 Why louske ye the foale? 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64 65 66 67 68 69 70 71 72 73 74 75 76 77 78 79 80 81 82 83 84 85 86 87 88 89 90 91 92 93 94 95 96 97 98 99 100
 They sayde:
 The Lord hath neede thereof. 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64 65 66 67 68 69 70 71 72 73 74 75 76 77 78 79 80 81 82 83 84 85 86 87 88 89 90 91 92 93 94 95 96 97 98 99 100
 And they brought it vnto Iesus/ and caste thre clothys vpon the foale/ and set Iesus thereon. 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64 65 66 67 68 69 70 71 72 73 74 75 76 77 78 79 80 81 82 83 84 85 86 87 88 89 90 91 92 93 94 95 96 97 98 99 100
 I knowe
 as he wene/ they spede theyr garments in the waye.

27 And when he wene thome from mounte Oluyate/ the whole multitude of his disciples beganne ioyfully to praise God with loude voyce/ for all the mysades that they

The Gospel of S. Luke.

They come upon you untoward. For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell upon earth. And therefore continually and quietly they may be worthy to escape all this that shall come; and to stand before the face of man.

And on the day next he taught in the temple, but in the night season he went out, and abode all night upon mount Olivet. And all the people get their up early on to him in the temple, so to hear him.

He shall of his sweet sheade (which is called Easter. Hence nye. And the by the pistoles and Seribes sought how they might put him to death, and were afraid of the people. But J. when he was entered into Judas called Iscariot, which was of the number of the twelve, he went his way, and called with the by the pistoles, and with the by the officers, how he wolde betraye him unto them. And they were glad, and promised to give him money. And he consented, and sought oportunitie, that he might betraye him without any rumoure.

Then came the day of seven bread, when the Easterlambe must be offered. And he sent Peter and John, and saide: Go your way, to prepare the Easterlambe, that we may eat. But they saide unto him: Where wylt thou that we prepare it? He saide unto them: Behold, when ye come into the city, there shall meete you a man, bearinge a picher of water; followe him into the house, that he entereth in, and saye unto the good man of the house: The master sendeth thy waight. Where is the grethouse, wherein I maye eat the Easterlambe with my disciples? And he shall shewe you a great parloure chaub. They went their way, and founde as he had saide unto them, and made ready the Easterlambe.

And when the houre came, he sat by him, and he saide unto them: I have desired to eat this Easterlambe with you before I suffer. For I saye unto you, that henceforth I will eat nomore thereof, till I be fulfilled in the kyngdome of God. And he toke the cuppe, and thanke, and saide: Take this and divide it amonge you. For I saye unto you:

I wil not drinke of the frute of the vyne, until the kyngdome of God come. And he toke the sheade and gaue thanke, and gave it to them; and saide: This is my body, which shall be given for you. This he did in the eveninge of the daye, after he had supped, and sayde: This cuppe is the newe Testament in my bloud, which shall be shed for you.

But lo, he bande of him that betrayeth me, with me at the table. And the sonne of man much sooth sayeth as is appointed. But who hath man, by whom he is betrayed. And they beganne to eate amonge them selfe, and each of them it should be, that should be that.

There came a strife also amonge them, which of them should be called the greatest. But he saide unto them: The kyngdome of heuene hath dominion ouer the people, and they that haue rule ouer them, are called gracious lordes. But ye shall not be: But the greatest amonge you, shall be as the youngest, and the chiefest as a seruant. For whiche is greatest, he that serueth: as at the table, or he that serueth? So as he that serueth at the table: But I am amonge you as a minister. So for you, ye are they that haue auctorite, and in my temple. And I will appointe the kyngdome unto you, as in my father hath appointed me; that ye maye eat and drinke at my table in my kyngdome, and sit upon seats, and judge the twelve tribes of Israel.

But the Lord saide: Simon, Simon, beholde, Satan hath desired after you, that he might sift you as wheat: as when thou shalt praye for thee, that thy faith faile not. And when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren. But he saide unto him: Lord, I am ready to go with thee into prison, and into death. Neverthelesse, he saide: Peter, I saye unto thee: The rocke shall not move, and thou shalt build upon this rocke, and thou shalt be the church, and whatsoever thou shalt binde on earth, shall be bounde in heuene.

And he saide unto them: When I sende you without wallet, nor shooe, nor staffe, as yete shoulde ye any thinge? They sayde: Yea. Then saide he unto them: But now be that hath a wallet, let him take up, and let him also the staffe. But he that hath not, let him

¶ And he wente out. As he was wont. Vnto a mount. Wher. But his disciples folowed hym vnto the same place. And when he came thither/ he sayde vnto them: I praye charge fall not into temptacion. And he gat hym from them aboute a stoncs cast / and kneld vnto/ prayed/ and sayde. Father/ if thou wilt/ take awaye this cuppe fro me. Neuerthelless/ not my will / but thine be fulfilled. And there appeared vnto hym an angel from heauen/ and comforted hym. And it came so/ that he wrestled with death / and prayed the longer. And his sweat was lyk dropes of bloude/ runninge. Vnto in the ground. And he rose up from prayer/ and came to his disciples/ and saunde thei slepyng for heauynesse / and saide vnto them: What slepe yet? Rise vp/ and praye/ that ye fall not into temptacion.

¶ But while he yet spake/ beholde/ the multitude / and one of the twelfe called Judas / traitor/ came. And he came nye vnto Iesus to kysse hym. But Iesus saide vnto hym: Judas. betrayest thou the sonne of man with a kysse? What is thy name? he answered hym/ saye what wouldest thou? he sayde vnto hym. Loide / shall we synie with the sword? And one of them firste a seruant of the byrde priest / and firste of hye eare. But Iesus answered and sayde: Suffre them thus for thy sake. And he touched his eare/ and heald hym.

¶ But Iesus sayde vnto thei byrde priestes and rulers of the temple / and to the elders that were come onto hym: Ye are come southe in me to a murderer with swordes/ and with staves: I was haply with you in the temple/ and ye layed no handes open me. But here to your haire/ and the power of dauides myste. I never theless/ they soke hym / and led hym / and brought hym into the byrde priestes house. As for Peter he folowed hym a farr of.

¶ When banded they a fyercin the myddell of the palace / and sat them doune together. And Peter sat thus doune amonge them. Then a damnell saue hym / sturginge by the lyghte / and behelde hym well / and sayde vnto hym: This same was also with him. But he denyed hym / and sayde: Woman / I knowe him not. And after a litle while / another saue him / and saide: Thou arte one of them also. But Peter saide: Man / I am not.

¶ And aboute the space of an hour after / another affirmed / and sayde: Verily this was with hym also / for he is a Galilan. But Peter sayde: Man / I wote not what thou sayest. And immediarly while he yet spake / the cock crew. And the Lord turned hym aboute / and looked vpon Peter. And Peter remembered the wordes of the Lord / how he sayd vnto hym: Before the cock crowe thou shalt denye me thysse. And Peter wente out / and wepte bitterly.

¶ The men that helde Iesus / mocked him / and stroke him / blandyshed him / and smote hym on the face / and cged him / and sayde: Prophete / when thou smote the? And many other blasphemies sayde they vnto hym.

¶ And when it was daye / thei gathered together the elders of the people / thei bye priestes and Scribes / and led him nye before them. He sayd / and sayde: True thou Christ: Tel vs. But he sayde vnto them: If I tell you / ye will not receyve me / neither will ye let me go. For this cause shall the sonne of man sit at the right hande of the power of Gad. He said they all: And yet thou than the sonne of Gad: He said vnto the. Ye saye us for: I am. They sayde: Where haue we any farther witness? We our selues haue herde it of his owne mouth.

The XXXII. Chapter.

¶ And the whole multitude of them arose / and banded him vnto Pilate / and beganne to accuse hym / and saide: We haue founde this man / yf a sallowe peruercinge the people / and subyebdinge Ioudes / and to geue rebute vnto the Emperour / a sayde / that he is Christ a King. But Pilate cged hym / and sayde: True thou the King of Iudea? He answered hym and sayde: Thou sayest. Pilate saide vnto thei bye priestes and to the people: I fynde no cause in this man. The Gospel of S. Luke.

Mar. iij. b hath moued the people in that he hath taught here and there in all the lande of Ierusa / and hath begonne at Galile into this place.

Luce. i. a When Pilate had mention of Galile / he asked whither he were of Galile. And when he perceived that he was iudee / Herodes iurisdiction / he sent hym to Herodes / whiche was also at Ierusalem in those dayes. When Herodes sawe Iesus / he was exceedinge glad /

Luce. i. a for he had long bin desirous to see hym: because he had heard much of him / and hoped to see a miracle of him. And he asked him many things. Iesus therelittle answered nothinge. The hye priestes and scribes stode and accused him sore. But Herodes with his men of warre despised him / and mocked him / put a whyte garment upon him / and sent him againe vnto Pilate. Vpon the same daye were Pilate and Herodes made seditous together: for after this had bene at variance.

Act. iij. c Pilate called the hye priestes / and the ruelles and the people together / and sayde vnto them: * Ye haue brought this man vnto me / as one that peruerbly the people / and beholds / I haue examined him before you / and finde in the man none of the causes / wherof ye accuse hym: wherfore Herodes: for I sent you to him / and beholds / there is brought vpon him nothinge that is worthy of death. Therfore will I chasten him / and let him laufe: for he will haue it one losse vnto them / after the custome of the feaste.

Act. iij. c Then cryed the whole multitude / a sayde: Away with him / and Schauer vnto vs Barabbas / whiche for insurrection made in the cite / and because of a murther / was sette into prison: then called Pilate vnto them againe / a wolde haue let Iesus laufe. But they cryed / and sayde: Crucifie hym / Crucifie him. Yet sayde he vnto them the thirde tyme: What euil then hath he done? I finde no cause of death in him: wherfore will I chasten him / and let him go. But they lay still vpon him with great crye / and required that he myght be crucified. And the voyce of them and of the hye priestes prevailed.

Act. iij. c And Pilate gave sentence: that it should be so they required / and let loose vnto them / Barabbas for insurrection: a murther was call into prison / whome they desired / but gaue Ie sus ouer vnto their wyl: And as they led him away / they toke one Symon of Cyren / whiche came from the feldes / and layed the crosse vpon his shoulders to beare it after Iesus.

And there followed him a greete multitude of people and of women / whiche beweped and lamented him. But Iesus turned hym about vnto them / and said: Ye women griefe of Ierusalem: weepe not ouer me: but weepe ouer your selues / and ouer your chyldren: for behold / the tyme will come / when it shall be said: Blessed are the barenes / and the wombes that haue not bene / and the pappes that haue not gyven lacte. Then shall they begynne to say vnto the mountaynes: fall vpon vs. And to the hylles: Couer vs. For if thou be thine to a greete tree / what shall thou then be to the vye?

And two other whiche were mysdoers / were led also to be put to death with him. And when they came to the place / whiche is called Caluery: they crucified him / with them / and the two mysdoers with him / the one on the right hand / the other on the left. But Iesus sode sayde: Father / forgive them: for they wote not what they do. And they parted his garments / and cast lottes therfore. And the people stode and beholds.

And the rulers mocked him with him / and sayde: He hath helped other / let him helpe hym selfe now / if he be Christ the chosyn of God. The souldyers also mocked him / and went vnto him / and brought him synners / and sayde: If thou be the Kinge of the Iewes / thou helpe thy selfe. And about ouce him they hit with a spear / and wryten with letters of Greke / Latin / and Hebrew: This is the Kinge of the Iewes.

And one of the mysdoers that hangd there / blasphemed him / and said: if thou be Christ thou helpe thy selfe and vs. Then answered the other / rebulshing him / and said: And thou fearest not God alss / whiche are yett lyke damnacion. And truly we are thersyn for righte for we were euen accursed: for to our vices. So far thyn as he hath done / he hath done iustly. And he sode vnto Iesus: Lord / remember me / when thou comest into thy Kingdome. And Iesus sode vnto him: Verily I say vnto thy: To what haile thou be with me in Par

hauē suffred these thinges / and to entre into his glory : And he beganne at Mosco and all the prophetes / and espounded vnto them all the scriptures that were spoken of him. And they were wne as if young children: they were wne / and he made as though he wolde haue gaue sauer. ¶ And they compelled him / and Luke xij. c. saide: Why do we faste / and we faste / and we faste / and the dayes sater passed. And he wente into carye with them. ¶ And as he came to passe when he saate at the table with the: he toke the bread / gaue thanks / brake it / and gaue it them. Then were they eyes opened / and they knewe him. And he washted out of theyr sight. And they saide betwene them selfen: Did not ouer here burne with vs: Why he talked with vs by a waye / while he opened y scriptures vnto vs: And they rose vp the same houre / turned againe to Ierusalem / and founde the cloues gathered together / and them that were with the which saide: The Lord is risen of a murther / and hath appeared vnto Synon. And they told the what had happened by the waye / and how they knewe him in breakinge of the bread. ¶

Joan xx. e. ¶ But while they were talkinge thereof: ¶ Jesus him selfe came in the myddes amonge them / and saide: Peace be with you. But they were abashed and afraied / supposyng that they had sene a spere: And he saide vnto them: Why are ye abashed: and wherefore ye there such thoughtes in your hertes? Beholde my handes and my fete / as I haue / and I my selfe: Handle me / and se for a spere both nose flesh and bones / as ye se me haue. And when he had thus spoken / he shewed them his handes and his fete. But why they yet beleued not for ioye and wonder: / he saide vnto them: ¶ I haue ye any thinge here to cate? And they se before hym a peece of a brylled fish / and an hoire combe. And herofe it / and had as it before them.

Mat. xxj. e. ¶ And he saide vnto them: ¶ These are the wordes whiche I spake vnto you / while I was yet with you. For it must all be fulfilled that was written of me in the lawe of Mosco / in the prophetes / and in the Psalms. Then opened he their vnderstandinge / that they myghte vnderstande the scriptures / and saide vnto them: ¶ Thou art our messias / and thus it deposed Christe to suffre / in the thyrty daye to rise agayne from the dead / and to let redemption and remission of synnes be preached in his name amonge all nacions. ¶ In ¶ and to be gyne at Ierusalem. As for all the thinges / so are written of the. ¶ And beholde / I will sende vpon you the ¶ promys of my father: but ye shall see it in the citty of Ierusalem: till ye be endewed with power from aboue: ¶ And he led them out vnto Bethany / and sayde vp byn hande / and blessed them. And it came to passe / that he blessed them / he departed from them / and was caryed vp into heauen. And they were stopyped him / and turned againe to Ierusalem with great ioye: and were continually in the temple / geuyng prays / and thanke vnto God. Amen.

The Gospel of sayntc Ihon.

The first Chapter. ¶

In the begynninge was the worde / in the worde was God / a God was the worde. The same was in the begynninge with God. ¶ All thinges were made by the same / a without the same was made nothinge that was made. In hym was the lyfte / and the lyfte was the lyght of men: and the lyght shyneth in the darkness / and the darkness comprehended it not.

There was sent from God a man / whose name was Ihon. This same came for a witness to beare witness of the lyght / that he receiued hym they all myghte beleue. He was not the lyght / but that the lyghte beare witness of the lyght. That was the true lyght / whiche together all men / that come into this worlde.

 He was in the worlde / and the worlde was made by hym / and the worlde knewe hym not. He came into his owne / and his owne receaved hym not. But as many as receaved vnto hym / I to them graue he powre to be the chylde of God: euen such as beleife in hym name. Which are not borne of bloude / nor of the will of the fleshe / nor of the will of man / but of God.

¶ And the worlde became fleshe / and dwelt amonge vs: * and we sawe his glorye / a glorye as of the onely begotten sonne of the father / full of grace and trouth. ¶

¶ Iohn vnto bare witness of hym / cried / and said: It was this of whom I spake: After me shall be come that was before me. For he was ec euer I: and * of his fulnesse haue we all receaved grace for grace. For he lawe was gurn by Moses / grace and trouth came by Iesus Christ: I to man hath sene God at any tyme. The onely begotten sonne / which is in the bosome of the father / he hath declared the same vnto vs. ¶

¶ And this is the recorde of Iohn / wha the Iewes sent pielles and leuites from Jerusalem to aske him: Who art thou. ¶ And he confessed and denyed not: he confessed and sayde: I am not Christ. And they aske hym: What then: Art thou Elias: He sayde: I am not. Art thou not the ¶ Prophet: And he answered: No. Then sayde they vnto hym: What art thou then / that we may geue ans-were vnto the that sent vs: What sayest thou of thy selfe: He sayde: ¶ I am the voyce of a crier in the wilderness: Make straight the waye of the Lord. * As the prophet Esay sayde.

¶ And they that were sent were of the Pharisees. And they aske hym / and sayde vnto him: Why baptisest thou the / If thou be not Christ / nor Elias / nor a prophet: Iohn answered them and sayde: ¶ I baptise with water: but there is one come in amonge you / whom ye knowe not. It is he that cometh after me / which was before me: whose shoe I latche: I am not worthy to louch. This was done at Bethana beyonde Iordan: / where Iohn vnto baptise. ¶

¶ The next daye after / Iohn sawe Iesus comminge vnto hym / and saide: Beholde the lambe of God: wherby taketh awaye the synne of the worlde. This is he of whom I sayde: ¶ vnto you: after me cometh a man / which was before me. For he was of euer I: and I knewe hym not: but he should be declared in Israel: therefore am I come to baptise with water.

¶ And Iohn bare recorde / and saide: I sawe the spere descende from heauen lyfe vnto a boue / and abode vpon hym / and I knewe him not. But he that sent me to baptise with water: the same saide vnto me: Vnto whome thou shalt se the spere descende / a raye still on him / shall be: / that baptise with the holy ghost. And I sawe it: and deare recorde that thou is the sonne of God. ¶

¶ The next daye after / Iohn stode againe / and two of his disciples. And whan he sawe Iesus walkinge he sayde: Beholde the lambe of God. And two of his disciples a lode hym spake / a folowed Iesus. And Iesus knewe them aboute / and saue them folowinge / and said vnto the: What seke ye: They said to him: Rabbi: which is so saye by interpretacion / Master: Where art thou at lodginge: He saide vnto to them: Come and see. They came and sawe and abode with him the same daye. It was aboute the tenth hour.

¶ One of the two / which herde Iohn spake / and folowed Iesus / was And: eu the brother of Symon Peter: the same found first his brother Symon / and saide vnto him: We haue founde Messias (which is by interpretacion / the Anointed) and he brought him to Iesus.
 Whan Iesus beheld him / he sayde: Thou art Symon the sonne of Jonas / thou shalt be called Cephas / which is by interpretacion / a stone.

¶ The next daye after / towle Iesus go a-gayne into Galilee / and founde Philippe / and saide vnto him: folowe me. ¶ Philippe was of Bethsaida the cite of Andrew and Peter Philippe founde Nathanael / and saide vnto hym: We haue founde hym / of whom ¶ Moses in the lawe / and the * prophete haue written: euen Iesus the sonne of Joseph of Nazareth.
 And Nathanael saide vnto him: ¶ What good can come out of Nazareth: Philippe saide vnto to him: Come and see.

The Gospel of S. Iohn.

Jesus saw Nathanael comming to hym/and sayde of hym: Beholde a ryghte Israélite: in whom is no guile. Nathanael sayde vnto hym: From whence knowest thou me? Jesus answered/ and sayde vnto hym: Before that Philip called thee/ when thou wast vnder the figge tree: I sawe thee. Nathanael answered/and sayde vnto hym: Kabbist thou all the sonne of God/ thou art the kinge of Israel. Jesus answered/ and sayde vnto hym: Because I sayde vnto thee/ that I sawe thee vnder the figge tree/ thou believest: thou shalt see greater things then these. And he sayde vnto hym: Verily verily I saye vnto you: If so this time saith shall see the heauen open/ and the angels of God goyng vp and downe ouer the sonne of man. †

The II Chapter. †

2 ¶ So was it upon the thyd daye there was a marriage at Cana in Galile / and the mother of Jesus was there. Jesus also and his disciples were called vnto the marriage. And whā the wyne faeled / the mother of Jesus sayde vnto hym: They haue no wyne. Jesus sayde vnto her: Woman what haue I to do with thee? My tyme is not yet come. His mother sayde vnto the wynters: What soeuer he saith vnto you/ do it. There were set there fyve water pottis of stone / after the maner of the purifyinge of the Jewes/ euey one tūcynginge two or thre iucufures. †

Jesus sayde vnto them: Fyll the water pottes with water / And they fylled them vp to the brymm / and he sayde vnto them: Drawe out some / and bringe vnto the masse of the feast / and they dyd bare it. When the masse of the fassle had sayled the wyne / whiche had ben water / and thwere not whence it came.
(But the ministers that drew the water / knewe it.) Then the masse of the fassle called the dy-degrome / and saide vnto hym: Every man as the first greech the good wyne / and whā they are drunken / then doth whiche is worse. But thou hast kept backe a good wyne vntill now.

B This is the first token þ Jesus dyd at Cana in Galile / and shewed his glory / and his disciples beleued on hym. †

¶ Afterward he wente he downe to Caparnaum / þe his mother / his breth / and his bre-th / and taried not longe there.

† And the Jewes Easter was at hande / ¶ And Jesus wente vp to Ierusalem / a fownde / ¶ fringe in the temple / those that solde oxen / ¶ shepe / and boucs / and chaungers of mony. ¶ And he made a scourge of small rodcs / and drowe them al out of the temple with the shepe and oxen / and poued out the chaungers / money / and ouerthrowe the tables / and sayde vnto them that solde the boucs: Haue these thinges hence / and make not my fathers house an house of merchandise. His disciples remembered it that is written. The temple of thyne house shall euery one call. ¶

Then answered the Jewes / and sayde vnto him: What token shewest thou vnto vs / that thou mayest do these thynges? Jesus answered and sayde vnto them: My house dwelleth in this temple / and in the dayes well I ke it vp agayne. Then said the Jewes: Of what and fourty years was this temple buildinge? and wylt thou set it up in the thre dayes? But he spake of the temple of his body. Now when he was risen agayne from the dead / his disciples remembered that he thus sayde / and they beleued the scripture / and the wordes whiche Jesus spake. †

When he was at Ierusalem at Easter in the fassle / many belued on his name / when they sawe the tokens that he dyd. But Jesus counted not him self vnto them / for he knewe them all / and neded not that any man should testifie of man. For he knewe well what was in man. †

The III Chapter. †

¶ There was a man of the Pharisee / namd Nicodemus / a ruler amonge the Jewes. The same came vnto Jesus by nyght / and sayde vnto hym: Master / we knowe that thou art come a teacher from God: For no man can do these tokens that thou doest / except God be with hym. Jesus answered / and sayde vnto hym: Verily verily I saye vnto thee: Except a man be borne a new / he cannot see the kyngdom of God. Nicodemus sayd vnto hym: How can a man be borne when he is olde? Can he entre into his mothers wombe / and be borne agayne? Jesus answered vnto thee: Verily verily I saye vnto thee: Except a man be borne of water and of the spirit ¶

spere / he can not come into the kyngdome of God.

B That which is boine of flesh is flesh: and that which is boine of spere is spere. Marysaide that I sayde vnto the: Ye must be boine of newe. The wynde bloweth where he wyl/ and thou hearest his founde: but thou canst not tell whence he cometh / and wherther he goeth: So is eury one that is boine of the spere.

Nicodemus answered / and sayde vnto him: Howe maye these thynges be? Iesus answered / and sayde vnto hym: Art thou a Master in Israhel / and knowest not these thynges? Verely, verely I saye vnto the: We speake that we knowe / and wylle that we haue sene / and yet because our wyntesse / If ye beleue not what I tel you of earthly thynges / how shoulde ye beleue what I speake vnto you of beauenly thynges.

And no man ascended vp into heauen / but he that is come downe from heauen / (namely) the sonne of man which is in heauen.

And lyke so / Moyses lyfte vp the serpent / in the wyldernes / euen so muste the sonne of man be lyfte vp / that whosoever beleueth in hym / shoulde not perishe / but haue euerlasting lyfe.

For God so loued the world / that he gaue his onely sonne / that whosoever beleueth in hym / shoulde not perishe / but haue euerlasting lyfe.

For God so loued the world / that he gaue his onely sonne / that whosoever beleueth in hym / shoulde not perishe / but haue euerlasting lyfe. For God sene no his sonne into the world / to condempne the world / but that the world shoulde be saued by hym. He that beleueth on hym / shall not be condempned. But he that beleueth not / is condempned already / because he beleueth not on the name of the onely sonne of God. But why so the condemnation / that the lyght is come into the world / and men loued the darkness more then the lyght / for they wylle were euyl.

Who soever truly euyl hateth the lyght / and cometh not to the lyght / that his dedes shoulde not be reposed. But he that doeth the truth / cometh to the lyght / that his dedes maye be knowne: for they are done in God.

Afterwarde came Iesus and his disciples into the lande of Jerusa / and had hys beyng there with them / and baptyfed / Iohn baptyfed also in Ieron besyde Salem: for there was much water there. And they came thither / and were baptyfed: for Iohn was not there yet put in prison.

ther / and were baptyfed: for Iohn was not there yet put in prison.

Then arose there a question amonge the disciples of Iohn / why the Iewes aboute the puryfyng / and they came vnto Iohn / and sayde vnto hym: Master / he that was with the beyonde Iordane / of whom thou barest wyntesse / beholde / he is baptyfed / and eury man cometh vnto hym. Iohn answered / and sayde: A man can receaue nothing / except he be geuen hym from heauen. Ic pour selues at my wyntesse / how / that I sayde: I am not Christ / but am sent before hym. He that hath the hyde / is the hydegrome: but the frende of the hydegrome standeth / and berkeneth vnto hym / and receyueh greatly the voyce of the hydegrome: if he sene wyce of myne is now synfulle. He must increace: but I must decreace.

He that cometh from on hygher / is about all the earth / and the earth / and speakeh of the earth. He that cometh from beauen / is about all / and testifieth what he hath sene: and herde / a man receaueh by wyntesse. But he that receaueh by hart / he knoweth / that God is true. So he whom God hath sent / speaketh the wordes of God: for God geneth not the spere / vnto him / by measure. He father loueth the sonne. This hath geuen hym all thinges / a into his hande. He that beleueth on the sonne / hath euerlasting lyfe: he that beleueth not / the sonne / shall not see the lyfe / but the wrath of God abydeh upon hym.

vnto me Syr / as ruler my chyld dye. Jesus sayde vnto him: Go thy waye / thy sonne li-ueth. The man beleued the woide thar Jesus sayde vnto him / and wente his waye.
And as he was goinge vnto his house meete hym / and tolde him and sayde: Thy childe lyeth. Then inquired he of them the houre / wherein he beganne to amende. And they sayde vnto hym: Yesterday aboute the fourth houre the childe lefte hym. Then the father perceaued that a moe aboute the same houre / wherein Jesus sayde vnto him: Thy † Afterwarde there was a kalle of the Jew-wes / and Jesus wente vnto Jerusalem.

There is a C Jerusalem by the slaughterhouse a poole / whiche in Hebrew is called Bethsaida / and hath fyve poyntes / wherein laye many sicke / blinde / lame / and dyed / whiche waited by the water shoulde moue. For the angell wente vnto at his tyme into the poole / and stered the water. Whosoeuer now went vnto him first after thar the water was ste-red / the same was made whole / whosoeuer after he had. And there was a man / whiche hath lye sicke eight a thretye yeares. Whan Jesus sawe him lye / and knewe thar he had lye so long / he sayde vnto him: Wilt thou be made whole? He sayde aunswered him: Syr I haue no man / whan the water is moued / to put me into the poole. And whan I come/another stepeth vnto in before me.

But he thar was heald / with no man / wher he was / for Jesus had Ioh. vi. b that who so eateth thereof / should not dye. I am the living bread / whiche came downe from heauen: who so eateth of this bread shall live for ever: and the breade that I will geve is my flesh / which I will geve for the lyfe of the worlde.

Luce 11. b

Then stroue the Jewes amonge themselves / and saide: How can this slowe geve us his fleshe to eat? Iesus saide vnto them: Verely verely I saye vnto you: Except ye eate the fleshe of the sonne of man / and drinke his bloud / ye haue no lyfe in you. Who so eateth my fleshe / and drinke my bloude / shall euerlastinge lyfe: and I shall raise him up at the last daye. For my flesh is the very meate / and my bloud is the very drinke.

¶ These thynges sayde he in the Synagoge whan he was at Capernaum. Many now of his disciples that heeded / thus sayde: This is an harde sayinge / who maye abyde the hearinge of it? But when Iesus perceaued on him selfe / that his disciples murmured therof / he saide vnto the. Doeth this offende you? What / and if ye shall see the sonne of man ascende vnto heauen / where he was afore: is it the spirit that quickeneth / the fleshy understandinge profiteth nothinge. The wordes that I speake / are spirite / and are lyfe. But there are some amonge you / that beleefe not. For Iesus knewe well from the begynninge / whiche they were that beleued not / and who should betraye hym. And he saide: There you haue I sayde vnto you: A woman canne come into / excepte it be geuen him of my father.

Job. 1. e

¶ From that tyme forth / many of his disciples wente backe / and walked nomore with him. Then sayde Iesus vnto the twelfe: Will ye also go awaye. Then answered Symon Peter: Lorde / wherther shall we go: Thou best the wordes of euerlastinge lyfe: and we haue beleued / and knowen that thou art Chalthe same of the livinge God. Iesus answered them: Haux I not chosen you twelfe / and thoue of you is a deuell? But he of Ioh. 3. same betrayed him afterwarde / and was one of the twelfe.

Chr. VII. Chapter. ¶

¶ After that wente Iesus aboute in Galilee: For he wolde not go aboute in Jewry / because the Jewes soughte to kill him. When the Jewes that of Tabernacles was at hande / Iesus sayde his brethren vnto him: Get the hence / and go into Jewry / that the disciples also maye see by worke that thou doest. He shot forth to be openly knowne / both sayinge and secretly. If I shal do suche thynges / open thou thy selfe before the worlde: for his brethren also beleued not in him.

¶ Then sayde Iesus vnto them: My tyme is not yet come / but your tyme is alwaye ready. The worlde can not hate you: but I hate the world: because I testifye of it / that the workes of it are euill. Go ye vp vnto this feast / I will no goe vp yet vnto this feast / for my tyme is not yet fulfilled. When he saide this vnto them / he abode still in Galilee. But as soone as his brethren were gone / then wente he vp also vnto the feast / not openly / but as he wente secretly. Then the Jewes soughte him at the feast / and saide: Where is he? And there was a great murmure of him amonge the people. Some sayde: He is good. But other saide: Na / he doeth but because the people. ¶ Cambi. Ioh. 8. and 8. woman spake freely of him / for shewe of the Jewes. F

¶ But in the myddes of the feast wente Iesus vp into the temple / and taughte. And the Jewes enuailed / and sayde: Howe can he the scripture / synge he hath not leered yet. Iesus answered them / and saide: My doctrine is not mine / but his that hath sent me. If any man will do his will / he shall knowe wherther this doctrine is of God / or whether I speake of my selfe. He that speaketh of him selfe / his owne passion / he shall not be the praise of him that sente him: the same to true / and the same to unrighteousnesse in him. That hath not Moses geuen you the lawe / and none of you keepeth the lawe?

that is amonge you without synne / let him cast the syffe frome arber. And he sloped some agayne / and wrote upon the grounde. But when they herde that / they wente ouer one after another: the eldest syffe / and lesse / se sime alone / and the woman standinge before hym. Iesus lyfte him selfe up / and when he sawe woman / that the woman / he sayde vnto her. Woman / where are thyne accusers? Hath no man condemned the? She saith. Lorde / no man. Iesus saith. Neither do I condemne the. Whi saye I / and synne none is. Ioh. 8. 12

Ioh. 8. 12

Then spake Iesus againe vnto them / and saide. I am the lighte of the world. He that followeth me / shall not walke in darknesse / but shall haue the lighte of lyfe. Then saide the Pharisees vnto him: Thou bearest recorde of thy selfe / thy recorde is not true.

Iesus answered and sayde vnto them: Though I beare recorde of my selfe / yet is my recorde true: for I knowe whene I came / and whether I go: but ye can not see whene I come / and whether I go. Ye iudge after the flesch: I iudge no man: but if I iudge / my iudgement is true: for I am not alone / but I and the father that hath sente me. It is written also in youre lawes / that the testimony of two men is true. I am one / that beare witness of my selfe: And the father that sent me beareth witness of me also. Then sayde they vnto him: Where is thy father? Iesus answered. I knowe not / no: yet my father. If ye knewe me / ye should knowe my father also. These wordes spake Iesus vpon the Gods chylde / as he taught in the temple. And nona wold him / for his houre was not yet come. Ioh. 8. 12-18

Then saide they vnto him: Who art thou / and wherof sayde vnto them: Euen the very same thinge / that I saye vnto you: I haue many thinges to saye / and no iudge of you. But he that sente me / is true: I and loke Iohn / wher I haue herde of him / that speaketh / before the world. For whi / they vnderstod not that he spake of the father.

Then sayde Iesus vnto them: When ye haue lyfte up on hyghte the sonne of man / the shall ye knowe that I am he / and that I do nothinge of my selfe: but as my father hath taught me / euen so I speake / and he that heareth me / shall not come to me / but he that heareth the father / shall come to me / and shall be with me. Then answered they hym: We are Abrahams chylde / we were neuer bounde to a man / howe canst thou saye that we shalbe free? Iesus answered them and said: Verely verely I say vnto you: Whosoever doeth synne / is the seruante of synne. Do for the seruante / is to be adyde / not in the house / for euer / but the sonne abideth euer / if the sonne doer / for inake you free / then are ye free in dede. They answered / and saide vnto hym: Wherof sayde vnto the? Iesus saide vnto the: If ye were Abrahams chylde / ye wolde do the wylde of Abraham. But now ye go as howe to kill me / man that haue tolde you the truth / whiche I haue herde of God / wherof ye do not Abraham: Ye do the wylde of your father. Then saide they vnto him: We are not borne of fornicacion / we haue one / chylde / our God. Iesus saide vnto them: If God were your father / then wolde ye loue me. For I am proceded south / and come from God: for I am not come of my selfe / but he hath sent me. Whi knowe ye not thin / my speche? Euen because ye can not abyde / that I bearyng / of my word. know that this is our sonne/and that he was borne blinde. But how he now seeth: we can not tell: wha hath opened his eyes/ can we not tell. He is able through him selfe/ase him/let him speake for him selfe.

Joh. 9. f E This said his elders / because they feared the Jewes. For the Jewes had conspired already/that if any man shd confesse that he was Christ/ he same should be excommunicated. Therefore saide his elders: he is olde blinde/and saide vnto him: What God the payse / let knowe that this man is a synner.

He answered/and saide: Whether he be a synner or no/ I can not tell: one thinge am I sure of/that I was blinde/and now I see. The saide they vnto him againe: What thyd he vnto thee: Howe opened he thine eyes? He answered them: I tolde you right now. Herde ye it not: Whose will ye heare it againe: Wyll ye also be his disciples? Then eared they him and saide: Thou art his discipule. We are sure that God spake with Moses: as for this fellowe/ we knowe not whence he is.

D The man answered/and saide vnto them:
This is a marvellous thinge/ that ye wote not whence he is / and hath opened myne eyes. For we knowe/that God heareth not the synners: But if any man be a feare of God/and doeth his will/ him heareth he. Since the worlde beganne was it not herde / that any man opened the eyes of one that was borne blinde. If this man were not of God/he could haue done nothinge. They answered/and saide vnto him: Thou art altogether borne in synne/teachest thou vs: And they thust him out.

I might belieff in him? Iesu saide vnto him: Thou hast sene hym/and he is he that callist thy selfe with thee. He saide: Lord/ I belieff.
And he wosthipped him. f

And Iesus saide: I am cometo iudge ment vnto this worlde/that they which se not/might see: and that they which se/ might be made blinde. And some of the Pharisees that were with him / herde this / and saide vnto him: Are we then blinde also? Iesu saide vnto them: If ye were blinde/ye should be have no synne. But now that ye saye we se/therefore your synne remaineth.

The X. Chapter. f Wherly verely I saye vnto you: he that entreth not in at the doore into / the kypedole/but climbith vp some other way / the same is a thefe and a murderer. But he that goeth in at the doore / so the shepheard of the shepe to hym the doore openeth / and the shepe heare his voyce / a he telleth his owne shepe by name/ledeth them out. And when he hath sent forth his owne shepe/ he goeth before thee/and the shepe followe him: they knowe his voyce. So for a straunger / they followe him not: but flye from him: for they knowe not the voyce of straungers. This prouced he spake Iesu vnto the Iewes. Therefore doth not what it was/that he saide vnto them.

Then saide Iesu vnto them againe: Verely verely I saye vnto you: I am the doore of the shepe. All they that are come before me/ace theses and murderers. But I shepe her-kened not vnto them. I am the doore. If any man entee in by me / he shall be saued / shall goe in and out/and fynde pasture. The shepe commeth not vnto me for to steale/kill/and destroye: I am come that they might haue life: and haue it more abundantly. f

If I am a good shepheard. A good shep-pearde watcheth his shepe for the thefe. But an euyll shepheard/whiche is not the shepheard neither the shepe are his owne/leaveth the wolfe comynge/and leaveth the shepe/and flyeth.
And the wolfe catcheth and scattereth the shepe. But the good shepheard struameth/struameth he is an euyll shepheard / and careth not for the shepe: I am a good shepheard / I knowe myne / and am knowne of myne. When was my father knowen me/and I knowe the father?
And I I gree my life for my shepe. And I haue yet other shepe/whiche are not of this solde/and those same must I bringe also/and they shall heare my voyce/and there shall come out of them a good shepheard. f

Therefore doth my father loue me/because I leaue my life/that I maye take it againe.
Noman taketh it fro me/and I leaue it of my selfe.

- ¶ Then the hye priestes and the Pharisees gathered a counsaill / and sayde: What do we: This man doeth many tokens. If we let her hym go thus / all men wyl beleue in hym. ¶ The high prieste answered / and sayde: It shall be better for us / and for the people / if we slaye oer lande and people. But one of them named Cassphas / whiche was hye prieste the same yere / sayde vnto them: I feare nothinge / neyther consider any thinge at all. ¶ It is better for vs / if one man dye for the people / then that all the people shoulde perish.*
- ¶ They spake he not of hym self / but for so muche as he was hye prieste of that yere / he propheted. For Iesus was for to dye for the people: and not for the people only: but that he shoulde gather vnto hym self of God / whiche were scattered abroade: from that day forth / they toke counsaill / how they myghte put hym to deaith. Iesus walked no more openly amonge the Iewes / but went from thence into a countrie by the wylder nesse: to a cytie called Bethaniam / and there had he his dwellinge with his disciples.
- ¶ The Iewes after that was at hande. And there were yet many to Jerusalem out of the countrie before the Easter / to purifie them selves. Then slodder they vp / and wente after Iesus / and spake amonge them selfe in the temple: ¶ What thynke ye / that he cometh not to the Pasche? ¶ The hye priestes and Pharisees had giuen a commaundement / that if any man knewe where he were / he shoulde shewe it / that they myghte take hym.

The XV. Chapter. ¶

¶ I am a true Tynce / and my father is an vnderstandeman. Every braunche that bringeth not forth fruite in me / shall be cut of: and euery one that bringeth forth fruite / shall be pruned / that it maye bringe forth more frute.
 Now are ye Tynces / because of the worde / that I haue spoken vnto you. Bide ye in me / and I in you: for as the braunche can not bringe forth frute of it selfe / excepte it bide in the vyne: Euen so neyther ye also / excepte ye abyde in me.

¶ I am the vyne / ye are the braunches. He that abydeh in me / and I in him / the same bringeth forth muche fruite: for without me can ye do nothinge. He that abydeh not in me / is cast out as a vyne braunche / and it wythbereth / and neuer gathereth up / and casteth into the fyre / and it burneth. ¶ If ye abyde in me / and my wordes abyde in you / ye shall see what ye will / and it shall done vnto you. ¶ Herein is my father pleased / that ye bringe forth muche fruite / and become my disciples. As for as my father hath loued me / euen so haue I loued you. Continue ye in my love. ¶ If ye kepe my commaundmentes / ye shall continue in my loue / as I haue kepte my fathers commaundmentes / and continue in his loue.

¶ These thynges haue I spoken vnto you that my ioye myghte continue in you / and that your ioye myghte be perfecte. ¶ These my commaundmentes / that ye loue: that ye as I haue loued you. Whan haue grain loue / then to let his life for his frendes. ¶ I am my frendes / if ye do that I commaunde you. Henceforth call I you not seruantes: for seruantes knowe not what theyr Lords for all that I haue herde of my father / haue I shewed vnto you. Ye haue not chosen me: I haue chosen you / and euen so will I that ye go and bringe forth fruite / and that your fruite continue / that whatsoeuer ye see the father in my name / he shall geue it you.

¶ This I commaunde you / that ye loue one another. ¶ If this worlde hat you / I haue knowe that it hath hated me before you. If ye were of the worlde / the worlde wold haue loved you. Cometh / because ye are not of the worlde / but I haue chosen you from the worlde / therefore the worlde hateth you. Remember my word: that I said vnto you. ¶ The seruantes are not greater then his Lords. If they haue persecuted me / they shall persecute you also. If they haue kepte my wordes / they shall kepe yours also.

¶ I beseeche this shall they do vnto you for my names sake / because they knowe not hym that sent me. ¶ If I had not come and spoken vnto them / when shoulde they haue no synne. But now haue they no synne to close / they synne they shall. He that hateth me / hateth my favnto you / that when the tyme cometh / ye may thynt thereon that I tolde you. † But these thinges haue I not sayde vnto you from the begynninge: for I was wity you.

† But now I go vnto hym that sent me / and none of you seeth me: Whyther goest thou? but because I haue forde durst shew vnto you / your detre is full of sowthe. Ne-uertheless / I tell you the tructy. It is better for you that I go away. For if I go not away / that comforter cometh not vnto you: but if I departe: † I will sende him vnto you / and when he cometh / he shall rebuke che wilde of sinne / and of ryghteousnesse / and of iudgement. Of sinne / because they belese not on me. Of ryghteousnesse / because I go to the father / and ye shall see me no more. Of iudge-ment / because the pynce of this worlde is word already.

† I haue yet muche to saye vnto you / but ye can not here: it is awaye / howbeit / when he be the spere of tructy cometh / † he shall teache you into all tructy. * For he shall not speake of hym selfe / but whosoever he shall heare / that shall he speake: and he shall shewe you what is for to come. He shall glouise me: for he shall receaue of myne / and shall shewe vnto you. † All that the father hath in myne. More. xi. e † These haue I saide: he shall receaue of myne / † I and shewe vnto you. †

† After a litle whyle / and ye shall no see me: and a gaue after a litle whyle: and ye shall see me soe: I go to the father. I thus / and some of his disciples amonge them sayde: What is this that he saith vnto vs / after a litle whyle / and ye shall not see me: and againe after a litle whyle / and ye shall see me: for I go to the father? † Then saide they: What is it that he sayeth? After a litle whyle: We can not tell what he sayeth. Then perceaued Iesus that they wolde see him / and he saide vnto them: Ye enquire of this amonge you: like that I saide: After a litle whyle / and ye shall not see me: and againe after a litle whyle / and ye shall see me.

Verely verely I saye vnto you: Ye shall wepe and lament: but the worlde shall crye: ye shall be foy / but † your sowthe shall be turned into ioye. A woman when she travaileth hath sowthe / for her houre is come. But when she is deliuered of the chyld / she thynteth no more of the anguish / for she hath a man to be borne into the worlde. And now haue ye rowe also: but I will see you againe / and your man take from you. † And in that daye shall ye see me no question. † Verely verely I say vnto you: If ye see the father ther to haue ye asked nothing in my name. Ye and ye shall receaue / that your ioye maye be perfecte. These thinges haue I spoken vnto you by † prouchea. Neuertheless / the tyme cometh that I shall speake nomore by prouoches / but I shall shewe you plainly of my father.

† In that daye shall ye see in my name.
And I saye not vnto you / that I will passe vnto the father for you: for he hath him self loued you / because ye haue loued me / and be-lieued that I am come out from God. † I went out from the father / and came into the worlde: Againe / I leaue the worlde / and go to

¶ I These thynges spake Iesus / and lyste vp by o eyes toward heauen / and saide / t̄ father / the houre is come / that thou glorifie thy sonne / that thy sonne also maye glouifie the. Lyste as thou hast t̄ given hym power ouer all flesh / that he shoulde geue euellastynge lyfe so as many as thou hast given hym. ¶ But thus is the lyfe euellastynge / that they knowe the thei that only are t̄ true God / a whome thou hast sent Iesus Christ.

¶ Iohn. x. c I haue glouified the vpon earth / and t̄ fynished the worke that thou gauest me to do. And now glouifie me thou father by thyne owne selfe / with the glory whiche I had ouer euer the worlde was. I haue declared thy name vnto the men / whome thou gauest me from the worlde. They were thine / and thou gauest them vnto me / and they haue kepte thy worde.

¶ Iohn. xii. c Now knowest they / that all thynges whiche thou hast geuen me / are of the. ¶ For the worlde whiche thou gauest me / haue I geuen vnto them / and they haue receaued them / and knowe of a trouth / that I am come souh from the / a haue beleued / that thou hast sent me. I pray for the / and pray not for t̄ worlde / but for the whome thou hast geuen me / for they are thine. And all that is mysne / is thine / and what thys is / that is mysne. And I am glorified in them. And now am I no more in the worlde / and they are in the worlde / and I come to the. ¶ ¶ Iohn. xiii. a I pray in thine name / that they maye be one lyfe as we are. the is lost / but that lost thynde / that the t̄ scrip- ture myght be fulfilled. But now come I out into the / and thus I spake in the worlde / that they maye haue the lyfe perfecte in them. I haue geuen them by thy worde / t̄ and the worlde hath them / for they are not of the worlde / euen so I also am not of the worlde. ¶ I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the worlde / t̄ but that thou shouldest kepe them from euill. ¶ They are not of the worlde / as I also am not of the worlde.

¶ Sanctifie them in thy truth. Thy worde is the truth. Like as thou hast sent me into the worlde / so haue I sent them into the worlde / and for thy sake I sanctifie my selfe / that they also maye be sanctified in thy truth.

¶ Nicodemus / I praye not for them only / but also for those / whiche thoueue they geue shall beleue on me / that they all maye be one lyfe / as thou father art an me / and I in the / that they also maye be one in thine / the worlde maye beleue / that thou hast sent me. And the glory whiche thou gauest me / haue I geuen the: that they maye be one lyfe as we are one. I in them / and thou in me / that they maye be perfecte in one / and that the worlde maye knowe / that thou hast sent me / and haue loued thou / as thou hast loued me.

¶ Father / I will that they whome thou hast geuen me / be with me where I am / that they maye see my glory / whiche thou hast geuen me / for thou hast loued me / or euer the worlde was made.

¶ Kyngdome father / t̄ the worlde hath not knowne the / but I haue knowne the / and thus haue knowne / that thou hast sent me. And I haue declared thy name vnto them / and will declare it / that the loue whiche thou hast loued me / maye be in them / and I in them. ¶

¶ I When Iesus had thus spoken / he went forth with his disciples ouer the bridge of Cedron / where there was a garden / into the whiche Iesus came / and his disciples. by the Priestes & Pharisees / he came thither with credence / with lanternes / a with wax capers. Iesus now knowinge all that shoulde come upon hym / went forth: and sayde vnto them: Whome see ye? They answered hym: Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus sayd vnto them: I am he. Judas also which betrayed hym / stode with them. Now when Iesus sayd vnto the:
I am he: they wente backe worde / and fell to the grounde. Then asked he them agayne: Whome see ye? They sayd: Iesus of Nazareth.
Iesus answered: I haue tolde you that I am he. If ye seke me: then let these go: they were. That I worde might be fulfilled: which is writen: Of them whome thou gauest me: I haue I not lost one. Then had Symon Peter a sword: and drew it out: and smote by hygh Priestes seruante / and cut of hys right eare: / a the seruantes name was Malchus.

B Then sayde Iesus vnto Peter: Dnt vp thy sword: into the sheeth. Shalt I not haue of the cuppe: which my father hath geue me?
¶ Then the company and the captaines / a the officers of the Jewes toke Iesus / and bounde him: and led hym awaye by ste: vnto Annas: ¶ which was father in lawe vnto Capphas: * which was bygh Priest the same yeare. It was Cap phas: which gaue counsaill vnto the Jewes: that it was good: that one man should die for the people.

As for: Symon Peter: he and another Dis ciple: followed Iesus. These same disciple was betweene them: by the Priest / and were in with Iesus into the priests palace. But Peter stode without at the doore. Then the other disciple which was knowne vnto the priest / wrote out: and spake to the Doer: that he kepe the doore: and thoughte in Peter. Then the Doer sawe that Peter was there: and sayde vnto Peter: Art not thou also one of this mans disciples?
He sayde: I am not.

E The seruantes and officers stode: and had made a fyre of coles (four was colde) and warmed the selfe. Peter also stode with the:
a warmed hym selfe. The bygh Priest asked Iesus of hys disciples: / a of hys Doctryne. Je sus answered him: I haue spoke openly before the world: I haue not taughte in synagoges: ¶ in temple: / whither also the Jewes resorted: / a in secretes haue I spoken nothyng. Why askest thou me? Are them that haue herde what I haue spoken vnto them: / shoulde they can tell what I haue sayde. But I when he had thus spoken / one of the officers that stode by / smote Iesus in the face: / and sayde: Answerest thou the bygh Priest so? Je sus answered him: If I haue spoken eu ill: then beare witness of euill: but if I haue well spoken: why smytst thou me?

¶ And Annas sent him bounde vnto Capphas the bygh Priest: .

¶ Symon Peter stode and warmed hym selfe. Then sayde they vnto him: Art thou one of hys disciples? He denyed / and sayde: I am not. A seruante of the bygh Priest / a synneman of his whiche eare Peter had smote off: stode vnto him: Spyd not I see he in the garden with hym.

Then Peter denyed agayne: And imme diately the facke curre. ¶ Then led they Iesus from Capphas into the common hall. And it was early in the morninge. And they them selues wente not into the common hall: / a they shoulde haue bene defyled: but that they might eate the Paschall lambe. Then wente Pilate oute vnto them: and sayde: What ac cusacion bringe ye agaynst this man? They answered: and sayde vnto hym: If he were not an enell doer: we wolden not haue deliue red hunc vnto the. Then sayde Pilate vnto them: Take hym: and iudge hym after your lawe. Then sayde the Jewes vnto hym: It is not lawfull for vs to put any man to death.
¶ That the worde of Iesus might be fulfilled: whiche he spake: when he signified what he should dye.

¶ Then entred Pilate into the comune hall agayne: and called Iesus: / and sayde vnto hym: Art thou the kyng of the Jewes? Je sus answered: Such is thou that sayst this: or: haue some other tolde it the of me?

Pilate answered: Am I a Iewe? Thy people and the bygh priestes haue deliue red the vnto me: What hast thou done? Iesus answered: My kingdom is not of this world.
If my kingdom were of this world: my synners wold fighte therefore: that I shoul not be deliue red vnto the Jewes. ¶ But

And they smote hym on the face. Then wente Pilate forth agayne/ and sayde vnto them: Beholde/ I bring him forth vnto you/ that ye maye knowe/ that I fynde no faute in him. So Iesus wente out and theyd weare a crowne of thornes/ and a purple robe. And he sayde vnto them: Beholde/ the man. When they bygh the puelles/ and the mynisters sawe him/ they cryed and sayde: Crucifye/ Crucifye. Pilate saide vnto them: Take ye him/ and crucifye him/ for I fynde no gylnesse in him. The Jewes answered him: We haue a lawe/ and after oure lawe he ought to dye. Because he made him selfe the sonne of God. When Pilate herde that word/ he was the more afrayed/ and wente agayne into the ierusalem/ and said vnto Iesus/ whence arte thou? But Iesus gaue hym no answer. They toke Iesus and led him awaye/ and he bare his crosse/ and wente out to the place called the place of dead mens bulles/ whiche in Hebrew is named Golgotha/ where they crucified him/ and two other with him/ on either syde one. But Iesus in the myddes. The pyle was a superscription/ and set it vpon the crosse. And there was wyrtzen. Iesus of Nazareth/ kyng of the Jewes. This superscription redde many of the Jewes. For the place where Iesus was crucified/ was nye vnto the cye. And it was wyrtzen in Hebrew/ Greke/ and Layne. Then sayde the byghthe puelles of the Jewes vnto Pilate: Whye not kyng of the Jewes/ But that he sayde: I am kyng of the Jewes/ Pilate answered: What I haue wyrtzen/ that haue I wyrtzen.

The souldiers when they had crucified Iesus/ toke his garmentes/ and made foure partes/ so eury souldier one parte/ and the coze also. As for the coze/ it was not so weid/ as thoughte from aboute thowme and thowme. The souldiers they one to another: Let vs not dryde it/ but cast lottes for it/ who shall haue it? But the scripture mighte be fulfilled/ whiche sayeth: They haue parted my pylmentes amonge them/ and in my coze haue they cast lottes. This dyd the souldiers in dede.

unto his mother. Woman behold, thax: n thy sounde. Then saide he to the disciple: beholde this is thy mother. And from that bouce the discipple take her vnto him.

After that when Iesus knewe that al was performed; / I that the scripture myghte be fulfilled, he saide: I am a christ. There stode a vessel full of vineger. They filled a sponge with vineger, and woude it aboute with yfesse, and held it to his mouth. Now when Iesus had receaued the vineger, he saide: It is finished, and strowd his heade; and gaue up the ghost.

The Jewes then, for so muche as it was the daye of preparation; / I that the bodyes shoulde not remayne vpon the crosse vpon the Sabbath; / for because Sabbath daye was greene, they sought Pilate; that theye legges mighte be broken; and that they mighte be taken vnto. Then came the souldiers; / a drike the legges of the first; and of the other that was crucified with hym. But when they came to Iesus; and sawe that he was dead already; theye brake not his legges; / but one of the souldiers opened his syde with a speare. And immediately there went out bloude and water.

And he that sawe it bare recorde; / and his word is true. And he knoweth that he saith true; / ye mighte beleefe also. For this is done; that the scripture myghte be fulfilled: / Ye shal not breake a bone of him. And another scripture sayeth: They shall see him; / wchome they haue pierced.

After that Ioseph of Aramathea; / whiche was a disciple of Iesus; / but secretly for feare of the Jewes; / he sought Pilate; that he might take vnto the bodye of Iesus. And Pilate gaue hym licence. There came also Nicodemus; mingled together; / about an hundred pound weight.

Then took they the bodye of Iesus; / and woude it with linnen cloth; / and with the petes; / as the manner of the Jewes is to bury.

Peter forth; / and the other disciple; / and came to the sepulchre. They ranne both together; / and that other disciple ouertooke Peter; / and came first to the sepulchre; / and looked in; / and sawe the linnen clothes layed. But he went not in. Then came Symon Peter after hym; / and wente into the sepulchre; / and sawe the linnen clothes; / and the napkin that was bounde rounde aboute Iesus head; / not lacered with the linnen clothes; / but wapped together in a place by it self. Then went in also that other disciple; / whiche came

He sayde vnto him agayne the seernde tyme: Simon Iohanna/louest thou me: He saide vnto him: Yea Lord/thou knowest that I loue the. He saide vnto him: Sece my shepe.
He saide vnto him the thirde tyme: Simon Iohanna/louest thou me: Peter was souer-cause he saide vnto him louest thou me: And he saide vnto him: I Lord/thou knowest all thinges/thou knowest that I loue the. Ie-sus saide vnto him: Sece my shepe.

D Verely verely I saye vnto the: When thou wast younge/thou gerddest all the selfe/and walkedst wherther thou woldest. But when thou art old/thou shalt sitt vnder foue thy han-des/and another shall gyerde the/and lede the wherther thou woldest not. But this he saide to signyfifye with what death he shoulde glorifye God. ¶

When he had spoken this / he saide vnto him: Followe me. Peter rised him aboute and saide the disciples followinge/whome Ie-sus loued. (Which also leane upon his chest at the supper) and saide: Lord/who is it that betrayeth the? When Peter sawe him / he saide vnto Iesus: Lord/what shall he do?
Iesus saide vnto hym: If I wyl that he trayetyll I come/what is y' wythe? Followe thou me. Then wente theye oute a sayinge. amonge the brethren: This discyple treth not. And Iesus said not vnto him: He treth not. But:
If I wyl that he trayetyll I come / what is that to the. This is the same discyple/which testifyeth of these thinges/ and wrote these thinges/ and we knowe that his testimonye is

 The. 11. Chapter. ¶
 ¶ And when the Whyssonday was fulfilled they were all with one accord in the temple. And sodayly there came a sounde from heauen/ as it had bene the com minge of a mighty wynde/ and they had bene house where they sat. And there appeared vnto them a cloudy tynge/ like as they had bene of syre. And he sat upon the one of them/ and they were all fylled with the holy ghoste.
 ¶ And they beganne to preache with other tongues/ euen as the spirit gaue them vnto saye.

There were dwellinge at Jerusalem Ie wews/ men that feared God/ out of euery nacio that is vnder heauen. Now when this voyce came to passe/ the multitude came together/ and were astonned: for euery one heerde that they spake with his owne tynge. They wondred al and maruailed/ and said amonge the selfe: How heere we see not all these/ whiche speake of ¶ Ye men of Israel/ heare these wordes: Jesus of Nazareth / the man approved of God amonge you with miracles/ a wonders and tokens/ whiche God dyd by him in the mddes amonge you / as ye your selves knowe also/ thim/ after that he was delivered by the determinate counsaill/ and soere knowledge of God/ have ye taken by the han-des of unrighteous persones / and crucified him/ and slayne him/ whom God hath earned up/ and lauded the foures of death / so: so muche as it was impossible that he shoulde be holden of us. For Dauid spake of him: ¶ Wherhande have I se the Lord alwayes before me / for he is on my ryght hande / that I shoulde not be moved. Therefore dyd my heart reioyce / and my tongue was glad: for my flesh also shall reste in hope. for thou shalt not leave my soule in hell/neither shalt thou suffer thy holy to se corruption. Thou haste covered me thc weape of life/ thou shalt make me ful of ioye with thy counsaunce. h

¶ Ye men and brethren / let us frely speake unto you of the pastore Dauid: I see he is dead and buried/ and his sepulchre is with us unto this daye. Wherfore nowe songe that he was a Dropper/ and knewe that God hath promysed him with an oath / that the frute of his loynes shoulde sit on his scate/ he sawe it before / and spake of the resurrection of Christ/ for his soule was not left in hell/ neyther hath his fleshe corrupted. This Jesus hath God raised up / whereof we all are witnesses.

¶ Seege nowe that he by the righte hande of God is exalted/ and hath receaved of the father the promise of the holy ghoost/ he hath shed forth this/ that ye see and heare. For Da-uid is not ascended into heauen/ but he sate neration. They that gladly receaved by a peccadwyng were baptyzed / and the same daye there were added unto this aboute this thou-sante soules.

¶ They continued in the Apostles doctrine / and in the fellowshipp/ and in prayng of bread/ and in prayer. And steate came upon every soule: and many wonders and tokens were done by the Apostles. But all they that believed were together / and had all thyn-gys in commonne. They solde their goodes and possessions / and parted them out amonge all/ accordyng as every man had neede. And they continued dayly with one accord in the temple / and brake breade in every house: h they took theyr meate with ioye and singe-rest (whom ye crucified / whom God hath raised up from the dead) standeth bye man here desire you whole. ¶ This is the stone / referred of you by Iudaea / whiche is become the head corner stone / wchiche is in this situation in any other: * Not yett also is there geuen unto any other name / wherein we must be saved. ¶

B Then sawe the baldnesse of Peter and Iohn / and marvailed / for they were sure that they were unlearned men / and laye people. And they knewe them also / that they were with Iesus. As for the man that was made whole / they sawe him standinge by them / and could not saye against it. Then commaunded they them to stande ashyde out of the counsayll / and commaunded amonge them selfes / and said: ¶ What shall we do to these men: for a manifest token is done by them / and is openly knowne vnto them that dwell at Ierusalem / and we can not denye it. But that it brake out no farther amonge the people / let us threaten them earnestly / that henceforth they speake of this name vnto no man.

¶ And they called them / and commaunded them / that in any wyse they should not speake / nor teache in the name of Iesu. But Peter & Iohn aunswered / and said vnto them: Iudge youre selfes / whether it be ryght before God / that we should be more obedient vnto you / then vnto God. We can not chuse / but speake that we haue seene and heerde. But they threatened them / and let them go / and founde nothinge done to punyssh them / because of the people: for they all prayse God because of that / which was done. For the man / epon whome this token of health was done / was about fouretye yeare olde.

C And when they were let go / they came to the synagogues / and tolde them what the hygh Priestes and Elders had done vnto them. When they herde that / they lift vp thine voyce with one accord vnto God / and saide: Lordde / wher shal arte the God which made heaith in a word / and the sea / and all that therein is / shou the by the mouth of Paul thy seruatur ball saide. ¶ Why do the Synagogs / and the people / imagine wayne thynges: The Kinges of the earth stande vp / and the princes haue gathered the selfes together against the Lordde / de / against his Christ. Of a tructy / against thy holy chyld Iesus / whom thou hast anointed / both Herode / and Pontius Pilate with the Synagogs / and the people of Israel / haue gathered them selfes together: so do whatsoeuer thy hande / and thy counsayll determined before to be done. And now Lordde / behalde their thecouningge: / & graunte vnto thy selfe / vnto mee with all steadfast boldnesse / to speake thy wordes / and stretch out thine hande / that healinge and tokens / and wonders maye be done by the name of thy holy chyld Iesus.

¶ And when they had prayed / the place mooued where they were gathered together / and * Actu. xij. b they were all filled with the holy ghoost / and * Actu. ij. a spake the wordes of God boldly. ¶ ¶ The multitude of them that believed: were of one / & of the same heart / and one soule. They none of them saide and vnto of his goodes / that they were by owne / but had all thynges commune. And with great power gawe the Apostles witness of the resurrection of the Lordde Iesu / and greete grace was vnto them all. Neither was there any / amonge them that lacked: for as many as were possessors of landes / or houses / solde the / & brought the money of the goodes that were sold / and layed it at the Apostles feet. And the distribution was made vnto euery man / accordinge as he had neede. ¶

¶ Iudas whiche was also called of the * Actu. ij. b possion / Barnabas / that is to saye / the sonne of consolacion / a Leuite / of the cuntrye of Cyprus / had lande / and solde it / and brought the money / and layed it at the Apostles feet.

The V. Chapter.

B There came man named Ananias / with Sapphira his wyfe / solded his possession / and kepte awaye parte of the money: his wyfe knowinge of it / and brought one parte / and layed it at the Apostles feet. But Peter saide: Ananias / wherfore hast thou fylled thine heart that thou shouldst lye vnto the holy ghoost / and withdrawe awaye parte of the money of the lyeuclode: Why hast thou not haue kepte it / when thou haddest it: And what was was sold / was not the money also in thy power: Why hast thou then concealed this thyng in thine heart: Thou hast not lyes vnto men / but vnto God. knewe not what was done. But Peter aun-swered vnto her. Tell me / sold ye the lande for so muche / she sayde / Yea / for so muche. Peter saide vnto her. Why haue ye agreed together/to scape the spirit of the Lord? Beholde/the feet of them which haue buried thy housband / are at the doore / and shall crye the out.
And immediately she fell doune at his feet / and gaue vnto the ghoost. Then came in the yonge

But the hygge priest came / and they that were with him / and called the counsayll to-they set them before the counsayll. And the ye commanded you strictly / that ye shoulde not teach in this ciue? And beholde / ye haue filled Jerusalem with your doctrine / and ye intende to bringe I. thys mane bloude vpon us.

But Peter and the Apostles answered and sayde. ¶ We ought not to obeye God be of me / it will come to naught: but if the of God: ye are not able to bestroie / wch / ye be founde as: be the men that will stryue agaynst God. Then they agreed vnto him / and called the Apostles / and bore them / and commaunded them / that they shoulde speake nothinge in the name of Iesu / and let them go.

But they departed from the presence of the counsaill / and they were worthy to suffre rebuke for hya names sake. And daily in the temple and in eache house they ceased not to teach / and to preache the Gospel of Ie-sus Christ.

The VI. Chapter.

In those dayes when the number of the disciples in ierusalem / there arose a grudge amonge the Greeks agaynst the Hebrewes / because they were not taught in the synagoge. Then the twelve called the multitude of the disciples together / and sayde: It is not meete that we should leaue the worde of God / and so serue at the table.
Wherefore brethren / take out amonge you seuen men / that are of honest repute / and full of the holy ghoost / and wysdom / whom we may appoint vnto this needfull busynesse. But we will geue oure selves vnto prayer / and to the ministracion of the worde of God. And the sayinge pleased the whole multitude. And they chose Steuen / a man full of fayth / and of the holy ghoost / and Diophippe / and Pro-corus / and Nicolan / and Timon / and Parmenas / and Nicolas the Discipyle of Antioche. These they set beside the Apostles / and they prayed / and layed their handes vpon them. And the word of God increased / and the number of the disciples multiplied greatly at Ierusalem.
And there were many priests also obedient vnto the sayng.

But Steuen full of fayth and power / did wonders and great signes amonge the people. Then arose there certayne of the Syna-goge / which is called (the Synagoge) of the Libertines / and of the Cyrenyces / and of the Alexandrines / and of others that were of Cilicia and Asia / and disputed with Steuen / and they coulde not resist the wysdome and the spce / out of the which he spake. Then sent they in certayne men / that sayde: We haue brede hym speake blasphemous wordes agaynst Moses / and agaynst God. And they moued the people / and the elders / and the Scribes / and came vpon hym / and caught him / and brought hym beside the synagoge and set false witnesses there / which sayde: Thy vnan casted not to speake blasphemous wordes agaynst this holy place / and the lawe.

For we heerde hym saye: Iesus of Nazareth shall bestroie this place / and changinge the ordinances which Moses gaue vs. And all they that sat in the counsaill / looked vpon hym / and sawe his face as the face of an aungel.

The VII. Chapter.

Uthen said the hygh priest: Is it euen so? He said: Deare brethren and fathers / hearken vnto me. The God of glory appeared vnto oure father Abraham / whyle he was yet in Mesopotamia / before he dwelt in Haran / and saide vnto hym: Get thy self out of thy coun-tre / and from thy kynred / and come into a lande which I will shewe the. Then went he out of the lande of the Caldees / and dwelt in Haran. And from thence came hym byo saba-ton / where he bought him oterimo / this lade (where ye dwell now) / and gaur hym it / and he built therein / and not the birth of a sonne.
And promised hym / that he woulde geue it vnto possesse / and so his fede after hym / when as ye be had no chyld.

But thus sayde God vnto hym: Thy side shalbe a stranger in a strange lande / and they shall make bondmen of thein / and treat thein euen foure hundred yeares / and I people whome they shall serue / will I iudge / sayde God. And after that shall they go forth / and serue me in this place. And he gaue him the conuents of Circincision. And he begat Isaac / and circumcised him the eighte daye. And Isaac begat Jacob. And Jacob begate the twelfe Patriarkes.

And the Patriarkes had indignacion at Joseph / and sold him vnto the gyptic. And God was with him / and deliuered him out of all his troubles / and gaur hym fauour and wyldome.

Act. xij. a but they were baptised ouly in the name of Christ Iesu. Then layed they theyr handes vpon him and they receaued the holy ghoost. b Act. xij. b But when Symon sawe that by the layenge of the Apostles he receaued the holy ghoost was grieved in hearte: and sayde: What grieueth me also this powere: that on whome soeuer I put the hande he may receaue the holy ghoost.
Act. xij. c Herben Peter sayde vnto hym: Man thou with thy inuentione thinkst that the gifts of God maye be obtained with money.
Thou shalt haue neyther parte nor fellowe shipps in this reede: for thy heerte is not right before God. Repent therefore of this thy wickednesse: and praye vnto God: happily the thoughts of thy heerte maye be forgiven the.
For I see that thou art full of hyer gal: and wappid in with vnghteousnesse.

Act. xij. d Then answered Symon: sayde: I praye tho vnto the Lorde for me: that none of these thynges wherof thou hast spoken come vpon me. And they whan they had sayd these things: they wente on: and theyr waye turned agayne to Ierusalem: and preached the Gospel in many townes of the Samarians.

Act. xij. e And the king of the Lorde spake vnto Philippe: and sayde: Arise: and go forwarde the South: vnto the waye that goeth vnto Ierusalem: vnto Gaza: which is the waye. And her he wente on: and beholde a man of the Moors lande: a chamberlaine: and of custodie with Candace: the queene of the lande of the Moors: and which had the rule of all her seruantes: the same came to Ierusalem: to worshipping. And returned home agayne: and sat vpon his chaire: and red the prophesie Esay.

Act. xij. f The spirit sayde vnto Philippe: Go neare: and voyce thy selfe vnto this chaire. Then came Philippe: vnto hym: and herde hym red the prophesie Esay: and sayde: Vnderstandest thou what thou art redde? He sayde: How can I except thou man enforme me.

Act. xij. g And he desired Philippe: that he wolde come vp: and sit with hym. The reuolue of the scripture which he redde was this: He wolde be as a shepe to be slaine: and as a lambe vncleane before his shearer: he opened not his mouth. In his iudgement he was indigne to be counted. Who shall declare his generation: for he is taken awaye from the earth. Then answered the chamberlaine vnto Philip: and sayde: I praye the of whom speakest thou the prophesie wherof thou speakest of this man?

Philippe opened his mouth: and began to saye: and preached vnto him the Gospel of Iesus. And as they were on their waye: they came to a water. And the chamberlaine sayde: Beholde: here is water: what wilt thou doe: that I maye be baptised? Philippe sayde: I see that thou art right hearted: but there is yett a thing which thou muste doe.
I beleue that thou art Iesus Christ the sonne of God. And he desired to holde still the chaire: and they went downe into the water: both Philippe and the chamberlaine. And he baptised hym.
Then they were come vp out of the water: the spirit of the Lorde toke Philippe awaye: and the chamberlaine sawe him no more. And he wente on his waye reioycing. As for Philippe: he was founde in Aethiopia: and walked aboute: and preached the Gospel vnto all the kynnes: till he came to Celarea.

The X. Chapter.

Act. x. a Saul was yett: raisinge out the church: and slaughter agaynst the disciples of the Lorde. And wente vnto the high priest: and desired of hym letters to Damascus: vnto the synagoges: that if he founde any of the disciples: whether they were men or women: he mighte bringe them bounde vnto Ierusalem. And as he was goinge on his iourney: he founde that he came vnto Damascus: and sodenly there shined rounde aboute hym a lighte from heauen: and he fell to the earth: and herde a voyce which sayde vnto hym: Saul Saul: why persecutest thou me? He sayde: Lorde: who art thou? The Lorde sayde: I am Iesus whom thou persecutest.
Then he stood vp: and he said: Lorde: what wilt thou that I shall doe? The Lorde sayde vnto hym: Arise: and go vnto the cytie: there shall thee be told what thou shalt doe.

As for the men that iourneyed with hym: they stood: and were amazed: for they herde a voyce: but sawe no man. Saul rose from the earth: and when he had opened his eyes: he sawe man. Neuertheless they toke hym by the hande / and brought him to Damascon: and he was there daye without sighte / and B never thed care not thynke. The Damascon there was a discipple named Ananias / and ent to hym saide the Lorde in a vision: Ananias And he sayde: Behold / here am I Lorde The Lorde sayde unto hym: Arise / and go into the strete whiche is called straighte / and at at a house of Iuda / after one called Saul of Charia: for he shal be pearyth / a harp sine in a vision a man named Ananias con minge unto hym / and layinge the hande up pon him / that he myght receave his sighte.

Ananias answered: Lorde / I have heard by many of this man: how much euel he hath done to thy sayntes at J. rusa lem. And hee hath be auctorie of the hygge pistles / to dynde all those that call upon thy name. The Lorde sayde unto hym: Go thy waye / for this mania a chosen vessel unto me: / that he maye beare my name: before the Brythen / and before synge / and before the chydren of Isreal. I will shewe hym / how great thynges he must suffer for my name sake.

And Ananias wente his waye / and came into the house / and laide the handes upon him and sayde: Brother Saul / the Lorde whiche appeared unto the in the waye as thou camest / hath sent me / that thou myghtest receave thy sighte / and be fylled with the holy ghoost. And immediately / they fell from hya eyes as it had bene scale / and he receaved his sighte / and rose / and was baptyzed / and toke meat / and was confortyd.

Then was Saul a certayne dayes with the disciples that were at Damascon. And straight waye he preached Christ in the Synagoge / how that he was the sonne of God. But all they that herde him / were amazed and saide: Is not this he / whiche at Jerusalem speyled all those that he called on his name: and came h ther to the intent that he shoulde bunge them bounde unto the hygge pistles? But Saul increased in strenght / and confounded the Je wera whiche dwelt at Damascon / and affirmed that this was very Christ.

And after many dayes the Jewes helde a counsaill together to kill him. But it was tolde Saul / that they layd waye for him: And he they wayed at the gate daye and nyghte / that they myghte kill hym. The discipple Jofia toke him by nyghte / and put hym thowen the wall / and let hym downe in a darke.

But when Saul came to Jerusalem / he assayed to joyne hymselfe to the disciples / and they receave all affrayd of hym / and beleved not that he was a discipple. Neuertheless / Bar nabas toke hym / and brought hym to the Apo stles / and tolde them how he had sinte / Lo de in the waye / and how he spake to him / and how he had done boldly at Damascon in the name of Jese. And he was with them / and went out and in at Jerusalem / and quyre hym selfe boldly in the name of the Lorde Jesu Christ: also / and disputed with the Grikes.
 But they wente aboute to slaye him: And the brethren knewe that they brought him to Cesarea / and sent him forth to Charis. So the congregacions had reste thowout all Jewey / and Galilee / and Samaria: and recee dedified / and walkid in the feare of the Lorde / and were fylled with the comfort of the holy ghoost.

It chaunced that as Peter walked thowen all quarters / he came also unto the sanctes whiche dwelt at Lydda. There founde he a man named Encaas / whiche had been upon his bedde eyght yeres syth of the palsy. And Peter sayde unto him: Encaas / Jhesus Christ make the whole / saye / and make thy bedde for thy selfe. And he arose immediately. And tyme that she was sycke / and dyed. Then was shid they her / and layd her in a chaubdre.

 But for so much as Lydda was nye unto Jopp paly / and the disciples heede that Peter was there / they sent two men unto him / and des red him / that he wolde take it for no gerte / to Peter rose / and came with them. And when he was come / they brought hym into the chaumber/and all the widowes stode rounde aboute him/wiping/and showed him the coate a garmente/with the which he made whyle she was with them/And when Peter had put the al forth/he knedd vnto/ & made his prayer/ and turned him vnto the body/and sayde: Car- bytha/ryse vp. And she opened her eyes: and wha she sawe Peter/ she faste her youne againe. But he gaued her the hande / and lifte her vp/ and called the sumeres and the widowes/ and shewed her there alyfe. And it was tuoreen yeres wout al Joppa / and many beleued on the Lozde. And it fortuned / that he tarped a long season at Joppa by one Symon / whos was a Tanner.

The X. Chapter.

A Petrus was a man at Cesarea/ named Cor- nelius/ a captaine of the company/ which is called the Italiane/ a deuout man/ and one that feared God with all his house/ and gaue muche almsse to the people/ and prayed God al way. The same saue in a vision openly (about the nyght houre of the daye) an angell of God entrage into him / and sayinge vnto hym: Cornelius. He looked vpon hym/ and was afrayed and sayde: Lozde / what is it? He sayde vnto hym: Thy prayes and thyne almsse are come vp into remembrance before God/ and now sende men vnto Joppa/ and call for Symon / whose surname is Peter/ which is at lodginge with one Symon a tanner/ whose house is by the see syde: he shall tell the what thou oughtest to do. And when they auggd which spake to Cornelius/ was departed/ he called two of his household seruantes / and a deuoute souldyer of them/ that wayed vpon hym/ and tolde them all/ and sent them to Joppa.

B On the nexte daye after when these were gorynge on their iourney/ and came nye vnto the cite. Peter / wente vp into a chaumberc to praye aboute the syete houre. And when he was hungrye / he wolde haue eaten. But while they made ready for hym / he fell into a trance / and sawe heauen open / and a vessell comming downe vnto hym / as it had bin a grece lynn in cloth / byt at the foure corners / and was led downe to the earth / wheruer were all maner foure foed bestes of the earth / and wylde beastes / and wyrmes / and fowles of the oyce. And there came a voyce vnto hym: Ryse Peter/ slaye and eat. But Peter sayde: Wha no Lozde. For I neuer vnto care any com- mune / or vnkene ryng. And the voyce thus spake vnto hym agayne the seconde tyme / that God hath cleyned / that make not thou vnkene. This was done thys. And the vessel was recalled vp againe into heauy.

But while Peter was combed in hym / he felte / what maner of vision this shoulde be / whiche he had sene / beholds / the men that receiue seeme Cornelius / enuyred the selfe Symons house / and stode by the doore / and called / and asped whether Symon whose surname was Peter / were lodged there? The Petre was musyng of the vision / the spere sayde vnto hym: beholds / the men seke the. Ryse therefore / and gete the youne / and go with them: and doubte not / for I haue sent them.

Then went Peter vnto the men that were sent vnto hym / fra Cornelius / and saide: lo / I am he whome ye seke / what is the cause wherfore ye are come. They sayde: Cornelius the captaine / a iust man / and one that feareth God / and of good repute amonge all the people of the Jewes / was warned by an holy angell / to sende for the into his house / and to heare wordes of the. Then called he them / and lodged them.

The nexte daye after when Peter forth with them / and certaine brethren of Joppa bare vnto him company / And the daye followinge came they to Cesarea. Cornelius wayted for them / and called together his familylles / and speciall frendes. And as it chaunced that Peter came in / Cornelius met him / and fell vnto at his feet / and worshypped hym. But Peter toke hym vp and sayde: I stande vpon / I am a man also. And as he talked with hym / he went in / and founde many other that were come together / and he sayde vnto them: Ye knowe that it is not lawefull for a man / byng a Jewe / to ierne hym selfe / or to come to a stranger. But God hath shewed me / that I shoulde call no man commune or vnkene. Therefore haue I not doubted to come / as soone as I receiued sent for / I see you therefore / for what might haue ye come for me?

Cornelius sayde: It is now foure dayes ago / when fasted I / and at the nyenth houre I praied in my house / and behold / there stode a man before me in a bright clothyng / and saide / Conclueus / thy prayer is heard / a thine almyse yedes are had in remembraunce in the syghe of God. Sende therefore to Joppa pa / and call for one Symon / (whose sy-name is Peter) whiche is at lodgyng in the house of Symon the tanner by the seydye: the same whan he cometh / I shall speake vnto the. Then stode I vnto the nume-diary / and thou haste done well that thou art come. Nowe are we all here presente before God / to heare all thinges / that are commaunded the of God.

¶ Peter opened his mouth / and sayde: I knowe I pecaue of a reacy / that God hath no respect of persons: / But in all people he that feareth him / a doeth righteous-nesse / is accepted vnto him. Ye knowe of the puaichinge that God sente vnto the children of Israel / puaichinge thowere Iesus Christo: (whiche is Loide ouer all) whiche puaiching was publishede thowout all Jewey / and beganne in Galile after the baptyne that Ihon preached / howe God I anoynted the same Iesus of Nazareth with the holy ghoost and with power / in whiche tyme / aboute / and vyd good / and heald all thase that were oppressed of the deuill / for God was with hym.
And we are witnesses of all thase he dyd in the lande of the Jewes / and at Ierusalem / whome they stowe / and hanged on a tree.

¶ Now God raised vpon the thirde daye / and caused him to be openly shewed / not to al the people / but to the chofen wunnesses of God / euen vnto vs / whiche dyd eate and drinke with him / after he was risen vp from the dead. ¶ And he commaunded vs to preache vnto the people / and to testify / that it is he / is ordyned of God / a iudge of liuing and of the dead. Whan therefore / al the prophecie wynnesses / that thowere his name / all they that belien in hym / shall receaue remission of synnes. ¶ While Peter was yet speakinge these wordes: / the holy ghoost fell vpon all them / that had heerd vnto the woode. And the saythfull of the circumcision whiche came with Peter / were astonnyed / because that the gift of the holy ghoost was shed ouer also vpon the Gentyl / for they had heard that they spake with tunges / and magnified God.

Then answered Peter: / I wote any man sayd / wnto / that these shoulde not be baptyzed / whiche haue receaued the holy ghoost so well as we? And he commaunded them to be baptyzed in the name of the Loide. ¶ The prayer they hym that he wolde tary there certayne daies.

The XI. Chapter.

¶ The Apostles and the brethren that were in Jewey / heide saye that the Gentyl also had receaued the woode of God. And whan Peter was come vp to Ierusalem / they that were of the circumcysion / chode with him / and sayde: / Thou wentest into men that are vnreceaued / and haddest eaten with them. But Peter beganne / and expounded the thinge in order vnto them / and saide: I was in the citty of Joppa prayinge / and in a reauer I sawe a vision / a vessel commynge downe / so it had bene a greate lynnen cloth / with foure corners / and sente downe from heauen / and came vnto me.
Into the whiche I looked / and considered / and sawe foure fend beastes of the earthe / and wyld beastes / and wormes / and fowles of the ayre. And I herd a voyce / whiche saide vnto me: Rys / Peter / slaye and eate. But I sayde: Wha Loide / for I haue neuer entred any / commune or vnreceaued thinge into my mouth. Cleuerlyesse / the voyce aunswerd me againe from heauen: What God hath clefnd / that cal not thou vnreceaued. And was done the same / and all was taken vp agayn into heauen.

¶ And beholde / immediarly stode there thre men before the doore of the house / that I was in / sent from Cesarea vnto me. But the spyte sayde vnto me / that I shoulde go with them / and doubt not in ge. ¶ These thre brethren also came with me / and were entred into the mans house.

¶ And he shewed vs / howe he had sene an Angel standinge in his house / whiche sayde vnto hym: Sende me to Joppa / and call for Symon / whose syname is Peter. He shall tell the woodes / where by thou and all thy house shall be saved. But whan I beganne to speake / the holy ghoost fell vpon them:

The Actes of the Apostles.

Act. i. 1 These things were done at the beginning. The thought I upon the wordes of the Lord, how he said: I Upon Baptized with water: but ye shall be Baptized with the holy ghooste. For as muche then as God hath geue them life giftes / as vnto vs: whiche giftes on the Lord Iesus Christ. Who was I, that I should be able to worshippe God: when they heede this; they held they were / and praised God; and sayde: He hath geue God also to the Genten graunted repentance vnto life.

Act. viii. 1 They that were feared abroad chooseth the trouble that rest aboute Syria: walked on euery syde vntill Pdenites / a Cyprus: and Antioche: and spake the wordes vnto mankinde but onely vnto the Jewes. Nevertheless some of them were men of Cyprus / a Cyrene: which came to Antioche: a spake also vnto the Grekes: and preached the Gospill of the Lord Iesus. And the hande of the Lord was with them. And a great number beloued: / a turned vnto the Lord.

Act. xii. 1 These rydings of them came to the eares of the congregacion at Jerusalem. And they sent Barnabas: that he shoulde go vnto Antioche. Whiche when he was come thither: a sawe the grace of God: he was glad: and exhorted them all: that with purpose of herte they wolde continue in the Lord. For he was a good man: full of the holy ghooste and faith. And there was a greacie multitude of people added vnto the Lord. But Barnabas departed vnto Cyprus: to see Saul. And when he had founde him: he broughte him to Antioche. It chaunced: that a whole yeare they were there conuersaunt together in the congregacion: and taughte muche people: so that the Discipuls at Antioche were first called Christen.

Act. xiii. 1 In those dayes came there Prophecia fro Jerusalem vnto Antioche. And one of them whose name was Agabus: stode vp: a declared by the spere a great Verbe: that shoulde come ouer the whole compass of the earth: whiche came to passe vnder the Emperoure Claudius. But the Discipuls concluded: every one according to his bedette: to sende Ian hands aching vnto the brethren that were in Syria: whiche thing they also dyd: and sent it vnto the Eldres: by the handes of Barnabas and Saul.

The XII. Chapter.

Act. xiii. 1 The same tyme sayd King Herode Agrippa vpon certeyne of the congregacion to wepe them. To wit: James the brother of Iohn: hym he steepe with the sword. And when he sawe that it pleased the Jewes: he proceeded: farther to take Peter also. But it was Easter. Nowe when he had taken him: he put him in prison: and kepte him vnto foure quarters: a of souldiers: to kepe him: and thought after Easter to bringe him forth to the people. And Peter was in the prison. But Prater was made without staffing of the congregacion vnto God for hym. And when Herode wolde haue thoughte him oute vnto the people: in chesame night slepe Peter betwene two souldiers: / bounde with two cheynes. And the keepers before the dore kepte the prison.

Act. xiii. 2 And beholde: the aungell of the Lord was there present: and a lighte shyned in the habitation: and smote Peter on the syde: and waked him vp: and said: Arise vp quickly. And the cheynes fell of from his handes. And the aungell saide vnto him: Gydeth: and put on thy shooes. And he dyd so. And he saide vnto him: Cast thy mantle aboute thee: and folowe me. And he wente oute: and folowed him: and wist not that it was truely that was some by the aungell: but thoughte he had feele a vision. Next daye after: they wente thowen by the se: and secunde watche: and came to the yron gate: that ledeth vnto the city: whiche opened vnto them by his owne accorde. And they wente oute: and passed thowen one street: and immediately the aungell departed from him.

And when Peter was come to him: he sayde: I knowe I knowe of a truth that thou the Lord: hast sent by the aungell: and thy wordes are come of the hande of Herode: and from all the waytinge fol of the people of the Jewes. And as he considered the thinge: he came to the house of Mary the mother of one Iohn: / whiche after his surname was called Marke: where many were gathered together: and prayde. The Peter knocked at the emys dore: thence came forth a damisell called berken: named Rhoda. And when she sawe Peter

The. XLIII. Chapter.

And it came to pass at Ierusalem / that they wente together into the Synagoge of the Jewes and spake so / that a great multytude of the Jewes and of the Grekes beleued.
But the unbelieuing Jewes moued and disquyered the soules of the Grekes agaynst the disciples. So they had theyr synge there a longe season / and quere them selfe vobdely in the Lord / whiche gaue reslymony vnto the woide of his grace / and caused tokens and wonders to be done by thyr handes.
Howbeit the multitude of the synn was in-

The Actes of the Apostles.

The XV. Chapter.

Gal. 14. a 3 And there came certayne from Ierusalem/ and taught the brethren: 1 Excepte ye be circumcised after the manner of Moyses/ ye can not be saved. Where upon there arose a dissencion/ and Paule and Barnabas had set them selves haue against them/ they ordeyned that Paull and Barnabas/ and certayne other of them/ shoulde go vnto Ierusalem vnto the Apostles and elders/ about this question. And they were broughte on their waye by the congregacion/ and wenne thorow Phenice/ and Samaria/ and declared the conuersacion of the brethren: a broughte great ioye vnto all the brethren. When they came vnto Ierusalem/ they were receaued of the congregacion/ and of the Apostles/ and of the elders/ and they tolde howe great thynges God had done wth them. Then rose there vp certayne of the secte of the Pharisces/ whiche stood and sayde: They muste be circumcised/ and commaunded to kepe the lawe of Moyses. But the Apostles and elders came together/ to reason vpon this mattee.

Act. xvij. b 4 Where upon there was muche disputing. Petre rose vp/ and sayde vnto them. Ye men and brethren/ ys knowe that a good wythe ago/ God hath wroughte vnto the heathen by my mouth/ shoulde heare the wordes of the Gospel/ and be saved. And God the knowe of heuene/ hath sent downe vnto them/ and gaue them the holy ghoost/ lyke as vnto vs/ and putt vs difference betwixt vs and them/ and purified their heates thowse sayde. Where therefore/ why tempt ye God/ wch layenge vpon the disciples necke the yoke/ whiche neither our fathers/ nor we were able to beare? But we be like to be saved thowse the grace of the Lorde Iesu Christ/ lyke as they also. Then all the multitude declared theyr ioye/ and gaue audience vnto Paule and Barnabas/ whiche tolde howe great tokens and wonders God had done by them amonge the heathen. Afterwaide when they had sayde these wordes/ James answered vnto them/ sayinge. Ye men and brethren/ I hearken vnto me/ Symon had tolde howe God at the firste visited to kecome a people vnto hye name from amonge the heathen.

them. And vnto this agre the wordes of the prophete as this wyrt: 1 After this will I come/ and will bulde againe the Tabernacle of Dauid/ whare fallen downe/ and that whiche is fallen in decaye thereof/ will I bulde againe/ and will sette vp/ that the residue of men maye see after the Lorde/ and also the heathen/ vppon whome my name is named/ sayeth the Lorde/ whiche doeth all thynges. Incomen vnto God are all his workes from the beginninge of the worlde. Wherefore my sentence is/ that they whiche come from amonge the heathen are not to be circumcised/ nor to be kepte vnto the lawe/ that they abstayne them selves from filthynesse of Idolatrye/ whiche is from Idolatrye/ and from strangled/ and bloudes. For Moyses hath of olde tyme in euery cirkum that pertaineth to him/ and bene edde in the Synagoges euery Sabbath daye.

And the Apostles and elders with the whole congregacion thoughte it good to chuse out men of them/ and to sende them vnto Antioche wth Paule and Barnabas/ namely Judas/ whose surname was Barsabas/ and Syleus/ whiche were chiefe men amonge the brethren/ and gaue them letters in this maner after this maner.

We the Apostles and elders/ and brethren wrythe health vnto the brethren of the heathen/ whiche are at Antioche/ and Syria/ and Cilicia. For so muche as we haue heard that certayne of oures are departed/ a haue troubled you/ and combed you mynde/ sayinge: ye must be circumcised/ and kepe the lawe/ to whome we gaue no such commaundement/ it seemed good vnto vs/ beinge gathered together with one accord/ to chuse out men/ able to sende them vnto you/ wth oure Beloued Barnabas and Paule/ men that haue freproued their liues for the name of our Lorde Iesu Christ. Therefore haue we sent and Judas and Syleus/ whiche shall also tell you the same truth wordes. For it pleased the holy ghoost/ a so to vs/ no charge vpon you/ more then these necessarie pointes. E haie abstain from the offeringes of Idolatrye/ and from bloud/ and from strangled/ and from whoredome. See ye the which if ye abstaine youre selves/ ye shall do well. Fare ye well.

When these were sent forth; they came unto Antioche; and gathered the multitude together; and they were the Epistle. Wha they had red; they were glad of that consolaciō. As for Judas and Sylas; which were prophets; they exhorted the brethren with much preaching; and strengthened them.

When they had tarried there for a season; they were let go of the brethren in peace unto the Apostles. Cornthian; and Sylas thought it good to byd the brethren. But Paul and Barnabas consented at Antioche; to charge and preachinge the worde of the Lord; with other many.

After these things; after certayne dayes Paul sayd vnto Barnabas: Let vs go agayne; and vsite our brethren; thow we all the cytyes wherem we haue shewed the worde of the Lord; howe they do. But Barnabas hath gone cunsaill; that they shoulde take with them Tymo; whose surname was Marke. Howebeit; Paul thoughte it mete; not to take hym with them; whiche departed from them in Pamphilia; and wente not with them vnto the worke. And so sharp was the strife betwene them; that they departed asunder the one from the other; and Barnabas tooke Marke vnto hym; and soyled vnto Cyperro. But Paul chose Sylas; and departed; beinge committed of the brethren vnto the grace of God. He wente thow vnto Syria and Cilicia; establishinge the congregacions.

The XLVI. Chapter.

HE came vnto Derba and to Lystra; and there he shalde; a certayne disciple was there named Timotheus; the sonne of a certaine woman; whiche beloued; but his father was a Greke; the same had a good reputatione amonge the brethren of Lystra and Iconium. Paule wolde that the same shoulde go forth with hym; and toke and circumcised him; because of the Jewes that were in those quarters. For they knewe all; that his father was a Greke. But as they wente thow to the cytye; they belucred them the sentence of Kye; whiche was concluded of the Apostles at Ierusalem. Then were the congregacions established in the church; and increased in nombre daily.

But as they wente thow to Phrygia; and the lande of Galatia; they were in Lystra; where the holy ghost; to preach the worde in Antioche. Howbeit; they came into Mysia; they purposed to take their iourney vnto Bithynia; as the spirit suffered them not.

After these things; when they had passed Bithynia; they came vnto Troas. There they were; and there appeared a vision vnto Paul; by night; that there was a man of Macedonia; and saide vnto him; Come vnto Macedonia; and helpe vs. When he had sene the vision; he soughte immediately to go vnto Macedonia; beinge certified; that the Lord had called vnto hym; to preach the Gospill vnto them. Then departed we from Troas; and came the straight waye vnto Samothracia; on the nexte daye to Neapolis; and from thence to Philippi; whiche is the chiefe cytye of the lande of Macedonia; and a fre cytye. In this cytye abode we certayne dayes.

On the daye of the Sabbathes; wente we out of the cytye; by the water; where men were wonte to praye; and we sat vnto; and spake vnto the woman that resorted thither. And a certaine woman; (named Lydia) a seller of purple; souer of the cytye of Thracia; hearkened vnto; whose herte the Lord opened; that she gaue hede vnto the things that Paul spake. When she was baptised; and her household; she besoughte vs; and saide; If I thinke that I beleeve on the Lord; then come into my house; and abyde there; and she was baptised.

It fortuned when we wente to praye; and she was there; that there mette vnto a damsell; whiche had a spirit of soothsayinge; and shoughe vnto many. And she was greuouslye charged; that she should saye; and sayd; These men are the firste of the most hyge God; whiche shew vs the waye of saluacion. This byd she many dayes. But Paul was not conuincit with it; and cured hym about; and sayde vnto the spirit; I commaunde thee in the name of Iesu Christ; that thou departe out of her. And he departed out at the same houre.

- Act. xix. c
1. 2. 3. 4. But when her master a massester sawe that the hope of theyr nauyge was gone: they toke Paul and Sylas / and threw them into the markett place before the rulers: and brought them vnto the officers: and saide: These men trouble our cite: and are Iewes: a preache an vniuersall: whiche is not lawfull for vs to receaue: nor to obserue: for we are Romanes. And the people ranne on them: and the officers rent theyr clothes: and commaunded them to be beaten with roddes. And when they had beaten them foure: they caste them in prison: and commaunded the wylde to kepe them diligently. Which when he had receaued such commaundement: he caste them into the ynnur prison: and punte theyr fettes in the stocks.

And immediatly were all the doores open: and all theyr bandes lousid. When the keper of the prison waked out of slepe: and sawe the prison doores open: he bare out his sword: and wolde haue kyllid him selfe: for he thoughte the prisoners had bene fled. - sawd vnto them: They haue beaten vs openly vncoumpnyed: where as we are yet Romanes: and haue caste vs in prison: and shoulde they nowe thus: vs oute piouly: What? Buckles them come them selfes: and synge vs oute. The ministres tolde the woide vnto the officers. And they feared: when they herde that they were Romanes: and came and besoughte them: and prayd them to departe out of the cite. Then wente they out of prison: and entred in the house of Elydia. And when they had sent the brethren: a comforted them: they departed.

And so of them beleued: and were ioynd vnto Paul and Sylas: a grate multitude also of the famous Grekes: and of the chiefe women not a fewe.
- But the syncreted Iewes had indignacion: and toke vnto them certayne cruel men: whiche were vagaboundes: and gathered a company: and set the cite in a roxe: and picafed vnto the house of Jason: and soughte to bringe them oute vnto the commune people. But when they founde them not: they drew Jason: and certayne brethren vnto the doore of the cite: and cryed: These that trouble all the world: are come hyder also: whome Jason hath receaued piouly. And this al contrarye to the verities of the Emperours: sayinge that there is another kynge: one Iesus. They troubled the people: and the rulers of the cite: that herde this. And when they had receaued a sufficient answer of Jason: and of the others: they let them go.

They sayde vnto hym: We haue no heede whether there be an holy ghost. He said vnto the: Wherewith then were ye baptysed? They sayde: With the baptysme of Ihon. Paul sayde: Ihon baptysed vnto the people of repentance / and spake vnto the people that they should beleue on hym / whiche should come agayne / that is on Iesus / that is on Christ. When they heard that / they were baptysed in the name of the Lord Iesus. And when Paul layed the handes on them / the holy ghost came vnto them / and they spake with tongues / and prophesied. And all the more were aduenteured.

He went into the Synagoge / and preached boldly thre monethes longe / teachinge and geauinge them exhortacion of the Kingdome of God. But when they were wroght heade hereof / and belued not / and spake out of the waye of the Lawe / before the multitude / he departed from them / and separated the Disciples / and dispersede partly in the cite of one called Tyrannus. And thowt was thowt two yeres longe / so that all they which dwelt in Asia/ herde the woide of the Lorde Iesus/ both Jewes & Grekes. † And God wrought no small miracles by the handes of Paule/ so that from his body there were brought forth many parcels into the cite/ and the vessels departed from the/ and the euell pieces wente out of them.

B But certayne of the vagabounde Jewes/ whiche were churchof/ vnder toke to name the name of the Lorde Iesus/ ouer those that had euil spires/ and sayde: We charge you by Iesus whome Paule preacheth. They were fewe sonnes of one Setua's Jewe the high priest whiche was so. The euell spire answered/ and sayde: Iesus I knowe/ and Paule I knowe/ but who are ye? And the man whome the euell spire was ranc upon them/ and overcame them/ and call them vnder him/ so that they fled out of the same house naked and wounded. This was knowne vnto al the Jewes and Grekes/ whiche dwelt at Ephesus/ and there fell a feare vpon them all. And the name of the Lorde Iesus was magnified.

T Many of them also that beleeued/ came and confessed/ and shewed their works. But many of them that had used curious craftes/ through the houses together/ and burnt them openly/ and they counted the price of them/ and founde it of many fifty thousande pence. So mightily grew the woide of the Lorde/ and preylied.

C When this was done/ Paul purposed in his mynde to take his iourney towarde Aleezandria/ and Thiza/ and to go to Jerusalem/ and sayde: Wher that I haue ben there/ I muste knowe also. † And he sent vnto Ananias the high priest vnto him/ vnto Ananias and Erastus. But he hym self remayned in Asia for a season. † At the same tyme there arose one litte/ vnto whom that waye. For a certayne man named Demetrius a goldsmith/ whiche made silver shynes for Diana/ and brought them of the cite no small vntage. When he gathered together/ and shewe to the men of the same occupation/ and sayde: Syne ye knowe that by this craft we haue vntage/ and yet see and heare/ that not only at Ephesus/ but also mooste also throughte oute all Asia/ this Paule turneth awaye muche people with his persuadinge/ and sayeth: † They be not goddes that are made with handes. Howbeit/ it shall not only bynge our occupacion to this payne to be set at naught/ but also the temple of greuous Diana shall from henceforth be despyed/ and her name also shall be despyed/ whome neuertheless all Asia/ and the world were byppery.

When they hade thus/ they were full of wrath/ and sayde: Weate is Diana of the Ephesians. And all the cite was on a rote/ and they rushed in with one assent into the open place/ and toke † Gaius and † Arrian. † Arrian was the steward of Macedonia/ Darius companion. When Paule wolde haue gone in among the people/ the visiples suffred hym not. Certaine also of the chief of Asia/ whiche were Pauls good frends sent vnto hym/ and besped him/ that he shoulde not preassure to open place. Some cryed one thynge/ some another. And the congregacion was out of quiete/ and the mooste part knewe not wherfore they were come together. Some of the people were for Alexander/ when the Jewes byust him forwarde. Alexander † bekened with the hande/ and wolde haue given the people an answer. But when they knewe that he was a Jewe/ there arose a shoute of all/ and ended the space of two houres: Weate is Diana of the Ephesians.

When the ioune clerke had filled the people he sayde: Ye men of Ephesus/ what man is it which knoweth not/ that the cite of the Ephesians is a worshipp of the greates godde. Ife Diana/ of the heauly image? Seynige now that this can not be saide against/ ye ought to be contente/ as to do nothinge without aduisement. Ye haue brought bynt these men/ whiche are neyther churchrobbers/ nor blaspheiners of youre goddes.

But if Demetrius and they that are craftesmen with him/ haue ought to saye vnto any man/ the lawe is open/ and there are rites/ let them accuse one another. But if ye will go aboute any other thynge/ it maye be betwixt me in a lawfull congregacion. For we stande in company/ to be accused of this vntage of youre/ and yet to there no man gyltlesse/ of whom we myghte geue a rekenyng of it to yourour. And when he saide this/ he left the

But we wente afoie into the stopye / and sayled towards Assen / wyllyng there to receate Paule. For vs had be appointed / and wode him selfe go on foote. Whā he was come to vs vnto Assen / we toke him in / a came to Tynticens / and sayled frō idence / and came on the nexte Daye ouer agaynst Chio / and on the Daye folowynge we arriued at Samos / and taried at Tragnion / and on f̄ nexte Daye came we to Miletion : for Paul had determined to sayle ouer by Ephesus / that he neded not to sprede the tyne in Asia : for he had sayled to come to Jerusalem vnto the Whyscondas / if it were possible for hym.

But from Miletion he sente vnto Ephesus / and called for the Elders of the congregacion.
 Whā they were come to hym / he sayde vnto them : Ye knowe / sente the fyrt Daye t̄ that I came into Asia / after whā serued I haue brn with you as all tyme / and serued the Lorde with all humblesse of mynd / and with many caree and temptacion / which happened vnto me / by the layngge of wyate of the Jewes / howe that I haue kepte backe nothyng that was profytable / but that I haue shewed you and taught you openly and priuaty frō house

And now beholde / I go bounde in f̄ spere vnto Jerusalem / not knowynge what shall happē there vnto me / but that the holy ghoost t̄ warneth in cury cury / a sayth / that ban-des and troubles abyde me there. But I care garde none of them / neyther counte I my life deareer then my selfe / that I maye fullyll my course with ioye / and the office that I haue re-ceaued of the Lorde Iesu / to witness the Gos-pēll of the grace of God.

And now beholde / I knowe that ye shall see my face no more / all ye / thro: we whom I haue gone / and preached f̄ kyngdome of God.
 Wherefor I take you to recorde this Daye / t̄ that I am pure from the bloude of all men / for I haue kepte nothyng backe / but haue shewed you all the counsayll of God. Take hede therfore vnto your selfes / and to all the flocke / amonge the which the holy ghoost hath set you to be Bishoppes / to seke the congregacion of God / whiche he hath purchaused thro: we hys owne bloude. For thus I knowe / t̄ that afoie my departinge there / shall enter amonge you greuous wolfe / whiche shall not spare the flocke. Yee / euen * from amonge drawe awaye / and remembred / whā by the space of the yeres I cāssed not to waine cury oue of you / both nyght and daye with teares.

E And now brethren / I commend you vnto 10 God / and to the wide of hys grace / whiche 10 myght to dyfye you / and to geue you rre-buentance amonge all thyn that are sanctified. I haue not desired siluer / gold / or ray-ment of any of you. For ye were likefow knowe / 10 that these handes haue ministered vnto my needes / and them that were with me. I 10 haue shewed you all thynges / howe that solabounges ye ought to ceasse / & weake / and to 10 remember the worde of the Lorde / howe that he sayde. It is more blessed to geue / then to re-ceue.

And whā he had sayd this / he knedled vnto / 10 and prayed with them all. But there was much wepyng amonge all the all / and they fell about Pauls necke / and kysed him / and were fory / moof of all because of the wordes whiche he had sayde / that they shoulde se hys face no more. And they accompanysed hym vnto the shyppe.

The XXI. Chapter.

I Now when we returned that we had laun-10 dred forth / and were departed from the we came with a straggler course vnto Coos / on the waye followinge vnto Rhodes / and fro thence vnto Patara. And when we founde a shyp readye to seyle vnto Phenicia / we wente aboarde / and seeforth. But whā we came within the sytite of Cyprus / we leste it on the left hande / and sayded vnto Syria / and came vnto Tyre / for thence the shyppe shoulde laye forth the waye. And whā we had founde vsynples / 10 we taried there fowen dayes. I And then cald Paul thow we the spere / that he shoulde see go vp to Ierusalem. And it fortuned whā they had fulfilled those dayes / we departed a weoure wayes / & they all broughe vs ouce waye with wytes and chydren / tyll we were come ouce of the cytie / and we knedled vnto vpd the 10 shopp / I and prayed. And when we had taken our leave one of another / we soke shipp / we then turned agayne vnto tyre. As for vs we com-10 ded the course from Tyre / and came to Ptolemaide / and saluted the bishopp / and abode with them ouce daye.

B On the nexte daye we that were with Paul 10 departed / and came vnto Cesarea / and rarrd 10 into the house of T. Dioppe the Evangeliste / (whiche was one of the seuen) and abode with him. These had fourc daughters / whiche were weyns / and propheted. And so we 10 rared there mo dayes / there came vnto from Jewry a prophete / named T. Agabus. When 10 he was come vnto vs / he toke Dunia girdel / and bounde his handes and feet / and sayde.

 Thus sayeth the holy ghost / I The man whose 10 girdel this is / shall the Jewes binde thus at Ierusalem / and shall deliuer hym into the han-10 des of the Heythen. Whā we heide this / both we and they that were of the same plare / besought hym / that he wolde not go vp to Ierusalem. Then answered Paul and saide.
 What do ye wepyng / and brennyng my 10 herte / for I am readye not onely to be bounde but also to dye at Ierusalem for the name of the Lorde Iesu. But when he wolde not be perswaded / we ceased / and sayde. I The 10 Man. e. j. b. wyll of the Lorde be fulfilled. And after this dayes we were ready / and wente vp to Ierusalem. There came with vs certayne of the vsynples of Cesarea / and brought with them one of Cypris / named Mnason / an 10 olde vsynple / with whome we shoulde lodge.
 Now when we came to Ierusalem / the bish-10 oppen receaued vs gladly. On the nexte 10 daye Paul wente in with vs vnto Iainos / and all the Elders came together. And whā he had saluted them / he tolde by order / what God had done amonge the Heythen / by 10 ministration.

Whā they heede that / they praised the 10 Lorde / and sayde vnto him. Brother / thou 10 kyst how many thou sende Jewes thence which beles / and are all Ielous ouer the lawe.
 But they are enformid of thy / that thou 10 teachest all the Jewes / which are amonge the Heythen / so forsake Mosos / and sayd that they ought not to ceasse their vsynles / nor to walke after the same custome. What is 10 thy serce? The multitude must nedre come together / for they shall heare that thou art come. So they therefore that we saye vnto the.

kyll Paul. They were more then fortye / whiche had made thys conspiracion. These came to the hyghe Princes and Elders / and sayde: We haue bounde oure selues with a vowe / that we will eate nothing / till we haue slaine Paul. Now therfore geue ye knowlege to the opprecaptaine / and to the counsayll / that he maye bringe hym forth vnto you to moue us so though ye wolde heate hym yett better: As for we we are ready to kyll hym / or yett he come nye you.

C But when Pauls syster sonne heerde of this layinge awayte he came / and entred into the castel / and tolde Paule. So Paul called vnto hym one of the vndercaptaine / and sayde: Bringe thys yonge man to the opprecaptaine / for he hath somwhat to saye vnto him. He toke hym / and brought him to the opprecaptaine / and sayde: Paul the paysocker called me vnto him / and played me to bringe to the thys yonge man / whiche hath somwhat to saye vnto the. Then the hyghe captaine toke hanchyff hande / and wene ashe with hau out of the waye / and read him: What is it / that thou hast to saye vnto me? He sayde: The Ierues are agreed together / to desyre the / so let Paule be broughte forth to moue we before the counsayll / so though they wolde heare him yett better. But followe not that they myghte / for they laye waye for hym into thyn fortye men of them / whiche haue bounde them selues with a vowe / neyther to eate nor drinke / till they haue slayne Paul: and euen now are they redye / and loke for thy comynge.

Then the opprecaptaine let the yonge man departe / and charged him to tell noman / that he had thred by hym thys. And he called vnto hym two vndercaptaine / and sayde: Make ready two hundredth souldyers / that they maye go to Cesarea / and thre score and ten housmen / and two hundredth speare men at the thirde houre of the myght / and behur them bestes / that they maye see Paule thre con / and bringe him safe to thys the debite / and he wote a letter on thys mance.

D Claudius Lysias / vnto the most myghty Aem. 55. debite J. lxx. greynge. The J. was had taken thys man / and wolde haue slayne hym. Then came J. with souldyres / and resued hym / and perceaued that he was a Roman. And when

J. wolde haue knowen the cause / wherfore they accused byn. J. brought him into the counsayll: then perceaued J. that he was accused aboute questions of their lawe. But there was no occasion wryth of death / or of bondes. And when it was thend me thas caryne J. was layed wayte for him / J. stre hym sleazyth waye vnto the / and to inmaunds the accusa / also / that loke what they had agaynst hym / they shoulde tell thys same before the / J. well.

The souldyers (as it was commaunded the) toke Paul / and broughte him to Antipatras. But on the next daye they left the hostyll to go with him / and wened agyne to the castel. When thes came to Cesarea / they deliuered the letter vnto the debite / and presented Paul before him also. When the debite had red the letter / he asped of what countrey he was. And when he vnderstode that he was of Cilicia / he said: I will heare the / when thyn accusa are come also. And he commaunded him to be kepte in Herodes ind gemene house.

The XXXIii. Chapter.

After sive dayes / the hyghe prulle An. J. went the outoure Terullius / whiche appeared before the debite agaynst Paul. When Paul was called forth / Terullius beganne to accuse hym / and sayde: Besyng that we lue in great pece by the meane of the / and that many good thynges are done for thys people thouroue thy prouidence / (most myghty filz) that alowe we eue / and in all places / and with all chaunce. Now whislandinge / that J. be more tedious vnto the / J. prayeth / that of thy curesse thou woldest heare to a fewe wordes.

We haue founde thys man a pestille flowe / and a steare vpon of sidraitt andinge at the Ierues / thouroueth all the wilde / and a magny tamer of the fete of the Nagarettes / and had taken in hande also / to suspnde the Temple / whome me eke / and welde haue indygd him accordinge to our lawe. But Lysias the hyghe captaine came vpon vs / and with greut violence behundreded hym out of ouer hande / and commaunded his accusa to come vnto the / of whome (if thou wilt inuene) thou mayst haue knowlege of all thes thynges wrythof wherof we accuse him. The Jewes likewise affirmed and saide that it was euen so.

But Paul (whan the hebreys had beseeched unto hym / what he shoulde speake) answered: Heyng I knowe that thou hast ben iudge nowe many yeeres amonge this people / I wyl not be a frayed to answer for any thing / because thou mayest knowe thou there are yet remoue this twelfe dayes / since I came up to Jerusalem to worshippe / and that they nyther founde me in the Temple disputinge with any man / or chalenge any poynt amonge the people / nor in the Synagoges / nor in the cytie / neither can they proue the thinges wherof they accuse me. But choseth I to confesse unto the / that after this waye / whiche they call heresy / so worshippe I the God of my fathers / that I beleve all that is written in the lawe / and in the prophetes / and have hope towards God / whiche the same referreth of the dead / whiche they chenge felles lofe for also shalbe Gods of the iuste and oniusse. Therefore salue by I to haue alwaye a cleere conscience towards God and towards men.

Thus after many yeeres / I came and thoughte myselfe unto my people / and offeringe: Wherupon they founde not purposing in the Temple withoute any maner enuour: or unquiescence. Howbeit there were certayne Jewes /oure of Asia / whiche shoulde be here present before the / and accuse me / if they had oughte againste us: or els let these saue themselves / if they haue founde any ungraciousnesse in me / whyle I stand here before the counsaile: excepte it be for this one twode that I sayed standinge amonge them: Which is the resurrection of the dead / am I iudge of you in this daye.

Whan Felix heerde this / he deferred them / for he knewe very well of that waye / and sayde: Whan Lyllias the vpprecaryne cometh hoom: I wyl enquireoure youe matter. Thus he commanded the vnder a captaine to kepe Paul / and so let him haue rest / and that he shoulde forbidde none of his acquaintance to nunssele onto him / or to come vnto him.

After certayne dayes came Felix with his wyfe Drusilla / whiche was a Jewesse / called for Paul / and herde him of the faith of Christ. Howbeit whan Paul spake of righteousness / of chastity / and of the iudgment to come. Felix assembled and answered: Which waye say this tyme: Whan I haue a conuenient tyme / I wyl sende for the. He hoped also that money shoulde haue ben giuen him of Paul / wherfore called he offe for him / and continued with him. After two yeeres came Porcius Festus in his tyme. He yet felte willinge to shewe the Jewes a pleasure / lest Paul shoulde.

The XXV. Chapter.

When Festus came into the countrey / ouer the dayes he wrote vp from Cesarea to Jerusalem. Then appeared the high priestes / the chiefe of the Jewes before him against Paul / and intreated him to respect fauoure against him / that he wolde sende for him to Jerusalem / and layd charge on him / that they might slay him by the waye. Then answered Festus / that Paul shoulde be kepte at Cesarea / but that he him selfe wolde shortly go thither againe. Let them therefore saide he / whiche are able amonge you / come vnto me with vs to accuse the man / if there be oughte in him.

Whan he had eard amonge them more then ten dayes / he wrote hoom to Cesarea. And on the nexte daye he set hoom in the iudgemente seate / and commaunded Paul to be broughte. Whan he was come / the Jewes whiche were come downe from Jerusalem / stood rounde aboute him / and broughte many a grieuous quarrels against Paul / whiche they would not proue / while he answered for him himselfe: I haue neither offended ought against the lawe of the Jewes / nor against the temple / nor against the Emperoure.

But Festus willinge to shewe the Jewes a pleasure / answered Paul / and sayde: Wilt thou go vp to Jerusalem / and there be iudged of the thinges before us? But Paul sayde: I stande in the Emperours iudgemente seate: wher I oughte to be iudged: to the Jewes haue I done no harme / as thou also knowest very well. If I haue hurt any man / or continued any thinge woorthy of death / I refuse not to dye. But if there bee no such thinge / as they certifie me af/then maye no man deliuer me onto them: I appeale vnto the Emperoure. Then spake Festus vnto the Counsaill/ and answered: Thou hast appealed vnto the Emperour/ so the Emperour shall thou go.

After certaine dayes came kynge Agrippa/ and Bernice to Cesarea to welcome Festus/ and when they had taried threer many dayes: Festus rehearced Pauls cause vnto the kynge/ and saide: There is a man leste bounde of Iddu/ for whos cause the hygh priestes and Elders of the Jewes appeared before me when I was at Ierusalem/ and desired a sentence agaynst him. Vnto whome I answered: It is not the maner of the Romaynes to deliuer any mā that be shoud pryse/ before that be whiche is accused/ haue his accusers present/ and euewe lycertye to aunswere for him selfe to the accusation. When they were come thither together/ I made no delay/ but sa the next day in iudgement/ and commaunded the man to be brought forth. Of whome/ when the accusers stode vp/ they brought no accusation of such thynges as I supposed: but had certain questiois agaynst him of their amysu persissions/ and of one Iesus dead/ whome Paul affirmed to be aliu. Howbeit because I vnderstode not the question/ I asked hym whether he wolde go at Ierusalem/ and there be iudged of thes matters. But when Paul had appealed/ that be myghte be kepte vnto the knowledge of the Emperoure. I commaunded him to be kepte tyll I mighte fynde him so the Emperoure.

Agrippa sayde to Festus: I wolde faine heare the man also. He sayde: To morowe shall thou heare him. And on the next daye came Agrippa and Bernice with greate pompe/ and wente in the commune hall with the captiuaues and chiefe men of the cync. And as Iesus commaundemente/ Paul was broughte forth. And Iesus sayde: Kynge Agrippa/ and all ye men/ which are here with me/ is this man/ aboute whome al the multitude of the Jewes haue creared me/ both at Ierusalem/ and here also/ and cryed that he shoulde be slayn: and I haue receiued that he had done nothinge worthy of death/ and that he him selfe also had appealed vnto the Emperoure. I determine to sende him/ of whome I haue no certayne thyng to write vnto my Lord. Therefore haue I caused him to be broughte forth before you: specially before the King Agrippa/ that after examinacon had/ I mighte haue som what to write. For me thynke it an vnreasonable thyng to sende a prisoner/ and not to shewe the cause whiche are layd agaynst him.

The XXVI. Chapter.
Agrippa sayde vnto Paul: Thou hast I vnto me to speake for thy selfe. Then Paul stretchede forth the hande/ and aunswere for hym selfe: I thinke my selfe/ O kynge Agrippa/ because I shall aunswere this daye before the/ of all the thynges wherof I am accused of the Jewes: specially for so muche as thou arte expert in all customes/ and questionis whiche are amonge the Jewes. Wherefore I beside the/ to haue me patiently.

My lyuinge truly from youth vp/ how it was led from the beginninge amonge this people at Ierusalem/ I knowe all the Jewes/ whiche knowe me asote at the first/ if they wolde testifye/ for after the most straitt secte of oure Secte/ he lawe/ I haue a charite. And nowe stande I/ and am iudged/ because of the hope of the promise/ I was made by the/ of God vnto oure fathers/ vnto whiche promise/ we haue our certte hope to come first and laste/ vnto the hope of daye and night. For the/ I am accused of the Jewes. Wherefore this I haue I haue amonge you not to be slayn/ that God I haue I haue vnto the dead.

I also verely thoughte by my selfe/ that I shoulde by many contrary thynges cleare agaynst the name of Iesus of Nazareth/ whiche I had at Ierusalem/ when I had vnto many sancted in prison/ whereupon I had receaued authoritye of the hygh priestes. And when they shoulde be put to death/ I thoughte the sentence. And howe all the Synagogs/ I preached them of kyngdome compelled them to be slayn: and was creared iudge asidde yppouent/ and resciued the rate vnto threunge cynces. Whiche whiche thynges as I wente towards Damascus/ with sus/ whom thou persecutest. But rysy vp/and stande vpon thy feete/ for therefore haue I appeared vnto thee/ that I myghte ordeyne thee to be a minister/ and witness of it that thou hast sine/ and that I will yett cause to appear vnto thee. And I will deliuer the from the people/ and from the Hebrewes/ as monge whom I will now sende thee/ to open their eyes/ that they maye turne from the darkenesse vnto the lighte/ and from the power of the death vnto God/ that they maye receiue forgiveness of synnes/ and the cerritainment with them that sanctified by feath in me.

Wherefore O Kinge Agrippa/ I was not saylethe vnto the heauynly vision/ but shewed it first vnto them at Damascus/ and at Jerusalem/ and in all the coastes of Irewe/ and to the Hebrewes/ that they shoulde repenance/ and turne vnto God/ and to do righte works of penance. For this cause the Irewe toke me in the temple/ and wente aboute to kill me. But thatore the helpe of God I came vnto me/ I stande vnto this daye/ and testifie both vnto small and great/and saye none other thyngs/ then that the prophets haue sayde/ that it shoulde come to pass/ and that Christe shoulde susfere/ and be the syke of the resurreccion from the dead/ and shew lyght vnto the people/ as to the Hebrewes.

When he thus answered for hym selfe.
Fellus forde with a loude voyce: Paul thou art besyde thy selfe/ muche larnange makest the madde. But Paul sayde: I am not madde/ (moost heare Fellus/ but spake the wordes of truth and sobernesse: for the kyng knoweth this well/ vnto whome I speake freely. For I thinke that no one of these thynges is hid from him. For this was not I saye in a ceaser. Welcomst thou the Diaphores/ O Kinge Agrippa/ I knowe that thou belouest. Agrippa sayde vnto Paul: Thou perswadest me in a parte to becomee Chrystian. Paul sayde: I wolde to God/ that not only in a parte/ but altogether/ I myghte perswade not the onely/ but all them that heare me this daye/ to be such as I am/ these bondes excepte. And when he had spoken this/ the kyng rose vp/ and the Syrtus/and Bernices/ and they that sat with thim/and wente asyde/ and called together and sayde: This man hath done nothinge that is worthy of death or bondes. But Agrippa and Fellus/ this man mighte haue bene loued/ if he had not appealed vnto the Em-peroure.

The XXVIII. Chapter.

When it was concluded that we shoulde syste in Italy. They desired Paul and certayne other prisoners/ to the vndercaptaine named Julius/ of the Emperours souldyeres. And when we were entred in to a shyppe of Adramis to sayle by Asia/ we launched from lande. And there was with vs one Titharthus ouer of Macedonia of Thessalonica/ and on the next daye we came vnto Sydan. And Julius curraued Paul curiously/ and gaue hym liberte to go to his frendes/ and to reserue hym selfe.
And from thence launched me/ and sayde harde by Cyprus/ (because the wyndes were against vs) and sayde ouer the see of Ce-lycia and Pamphilia/ and came to Myra in Lyca.

And there the vndercaptaine founde a shyppe of Alexandria/ ready to sayle into Italy/ and put vs therein. And when we had sayled slowly/ and in many dayes/ were feare-fully come ouer against Gnydon/ for winds withstode vs/ we sayled in Canby/ nye vnto the cytie of Salmo/ and came finallye to yonder. Then came we to a place whiche is called Woodhouen/ nye to here vnto was the cytie Laosa. Nowe when myde tyme was spoke/ and saylinge was now worderd/ because that they also had sayled ouerlong Paul reheard them/ and sayde vnto them: Cy-

Ife that this saying wyll be with hurte and much damage, not onely of the lading and of the shyppe, but also of oure lyfe.

B Neerebeckesse / the vndercapayne secured the gouernour of the shyppe / and the master / more then it thac was spoken of Daull. And for so much as the haue was not comynous to wynter in the more part of them / so the counsaill to beparre thence / if by any meane they mighte come to Obenices to wynter there / whiche is an haue of Canby / towards the South west / and North west wynde . When the South wynde blew / they supposyng to haue had their purpose / lousyd vnto Dison / and sayed passe all Candy.

But not longe after / they: atofe againste they purpose a floure of wynde / whiche is called North east. And when the shyppe was caught / and coude not resyste the wynde / we let her go / and haue with the weither. But we came to an Ile / named Claudia / where we coude scarce get a boote. Whiche they toke vp / and vied helpe / and bounde it vnder harde to the shyppe / starunge / lest / they shoulde haue fallen into the Sytes / and let boone the vessill / there / so were caryed. And when we had bidden a great tempest / on the next daye they made an overcassinge. And on the thirde daye / with our owne handes we cast out the carlyuge of the shyppe. But when nyether Sunne / nor: starres appeared in many dayes / and no small tempest laye open vnto / all the bope of oure lyfe was taken awaye.

C And after longe abstinence / Paule stode forthe in the myddes of them / and sayde: Sytes / ye shoulde haue berkened vnto mee / and not to haue lousyd from Candy / and not to haue brought vs this harme and losse. And now I exhorter you to be of good cheare / for there shall none of oure lyfes perishe / but the shyppe onely.

For this nyghte stode by me the angell of God / whos I am / and whome I serue / and sayde: feare not Daull / in thet muste he brought before the Emperoure. And lo / God hath geuen vnto the all them that sayle with thet: Wherfore / ye be of good cheare: for I belefe / Gods hande shall come so to passe / as it was tolde me. / Howbeit / we must be cast in Sea / to a certayne lande.

But when the fourteenth nyghte came / as we were caryed in: Thus about myd nyghte / the shypmen vied that there appeared some countre vnto them / and they caste out the head / and found it twenty fiddomes: and when they were gone a litle farther / they caste out the leade againe / and founde fyfene fiddome.

Then fearinge / lest / they shoulde fall on some rocke / they caste foure anchors oute of the sterne / and wysed for the daye. When the shypmen were aboute to flye oute of the shyppe / and let boone the boote in the see / vnder a colour as though they wolde take anchors oute of the foire / shyppe / Paule sayde vnto the vndercapitane and to the souldyere: Excepte these fyde in the shyppe / ye can not be saued. Then the souldiers cutte of the rope from the boote / and let it fall. And when it beganne to be daye / Daull exhorted them all to take meate / and sayde: To daye is the fourteenth daye that ye haue taried / and continued fastyng / and haue receaved nothinge: Wherefore I praye you take meate for youre health: For thire shall not one beere fall from vs / the heade of any you. And when he had thus spoken / he toke bread / and gaue thanks vnto God before them all / and brake it / and beganne to eate. Then were they all of good cheare / and toke meate also. We were altogether thir in the shyppe two hundred / thes foure and fyfene soules. And when they had eaten ynough / they lychtened the ship / and cast out the rebreawes the see.

When it was daye / they knewe nor the lande. But they spred all haire with a bairre / into whiche they were nymped / if it were possible. So thus in the shyppe. And when they had taken vp the anchors / they committed them selves to the see / and lousyd the rube / berhande / and byssed vp the mayne sayle to the wynde / and went toward lande. And when we chaced on a place / whiche had the see on both the sydes / the shipp / sayed vpon it. And the foire part abode full vnto us / but the hynder part brake / spoune the violence of the wynde.

The souldyers counsaill was to Kill the prisoners prisoners/with any of the which he had serued oute/shoulde flye away. But the vndercaptaine willinge to saue Paul/kepeth them from thei purpose / and commaunded that they whiche coulde swimme / shoulde caste them selfe firste into the see / and escape vnto lande / and the other / some on boards / some on broken peeces of the shyppe. And so it came to passe / that al the soules came safe vnto lande.

The XXVIII. Chapter.

AND whā we were escaped / we knew that the shippe that was called Heliope. In for the people they beuew vs no litle syndresse: for they syndled a syre / and receaued vs all because of the rayne that was come vpon vs / and because of the colde. When Paul had gathered a bonnell of wyfenes / and layed them on a fyre / there came a wyper oute of the braste / and lepte on Pauls hande. When the people sawe the beast hang on his hande / they saide amonge them selfes. This man muſt needs be a nutturer / whome vngourne suffereyth not to lyue / though he haue escaped the see.

But he spake of the braste into the fyre / and felt no harme. Howbeit / they wayed whā he shoulde haue molten / or fallen / some dead sodenly. But when they had looked a greace while / a sawe that ther happened no harme vnto him / they chaunged their mindes / and said / that he was a God.

In this same quaretes the chiefe man of the Ile / whose name was Publius / had a lodgings: the same receaued vs / and lodged vs the dayes thre / and foure. For founde when Publius farther laye / syre / of the sweete and of the blisful floure: Paul wente in vnto hym / and prayed / and layed the handes on hym / and healed him.

But when this was done / other also which had by sickness in the Ile / came and were healed. And when they vs a greace honoure / and when we departed / they laded vs with thynges necessary.

After the monethes we sailed in a shyppe of Alexandria / whiche had crewed in the Ile / and had a boarde of Castles / and Pilates. And when we came to Syracuse / we taried there the dayes: and when we had sayled aboute / we came to Rhegium / after one daye when the South wynd blew / we came to Durcorus / where we founde the shipmen / and were despyed of them to carye them seuen dayes / and so came we to Rome. And from thence whā the shipmen herde of vs / they came forth to meete vs to Appocum / and to the the cauerne. When Paul sawe the the thanked God / a worded bold. But when we came to Rome / the vndercaptaine deliuered the prisoners to the chiefe captaine. And so Paul he had leaue to syde alone with one feulbyre that kepte and spoke a hym.

After the dayes it founde that Paul called the chiefe of the Jewes together. And when they were come / he saide vnto them: Ye men and brethren: I haue committed nothing against oure people / nor against the lawes of the fathers: yet was I bounde / deliuered oute of Ierusalem into the Romanes handes: which when they had examined me / wolde haue let me go / for so muche as there was no cause of death in me. But when the Jewes spake the contrary / I was constrained to appeale vnto the Emperoure: nor although I had ought to accuse my people of: for this cause haue I called you / to se you / and to speake with you: because that I for the hope of Israel / am bounde with this chain. And they saide vnto him: We haue neuer receaued letter out of Ierusalem concerning the matter: camt there any of the Saxibien / that spoked: to speake any harme of the. But we will heare of the what thou sayest: for we haue herde of this sett / that cury where this spofen against. And when they had appointed him a daye / there came many vnto him in his lodgings: vnto whome he appointed the kyngdome of God: and preached vnto them of Iesusa of the the we of Moses / and our of the pophete / euen from morninge vntill the euen. And some beleued the thinge that he saide / but some beleued not.

But when they agreed not amonge them selfes / they departed: when Paul had spoken one word: Iul well hath he holy goodly spoken by the prophet Esay vnto oure fathers / and saide: Go vnto this people / a saye: Whiche eare ye shall heare / and their vnderstand / and with eyes that ye shall not perceaue. For the here of this people is waxed grosse / and they

PAll the seruants of Jesu Christ: called an apostle Gospel of God (whiche he promised afore by his prophets: in the holy scriptures: of his sons: which was begonne at the seede of David after the fleshe: and might be declared to be the sonne of God after the sperte which satisfieth: since the tyme that he cose againe from the dead: namely: Iesus Christ once Lorde: by whome we haue receaued grace and Apostleshippe amonge all the Gentylen: to see vp the obedience of faith: whiche bys name: of whome we are a part: also: whiche is called of Iesu Christ: Ihu Christ: To all you that be at Rome: beloued of God: and saintes: by callinge. ¶ Grace be with you: and peace from God ouer father: a the Lorde Iesus Christ.

I praye I thanke my God: whowoe Iesu Christe for you all: that youre sayde is spoken of: shouewout all the worlde. For God is my witness: & I whome I serue in my Inhi-spite in the Gospel of his sonne: wherwith I oute cessyng: I make mencyon of you: & he departyng alwaye in my prayse: / that I neyghe once haue a prosperous iourney: (by the will of God: is come vnto you. For I longe so to you: I myghte bestow vpon some spiritual gyfte to strengthe you: (that is: that I myghte be comforted with you: whowoe yarere saye and myne: whiche we haue to gether.

But I wolde ye shoulde knowe: (whichen) B howe that I haue oftentimes purposed to come vnto you: (but haue beene: I see be bette) In that I myghte do some good amonge you: like as amonge other Gentylen: / I am verie both to the Grekes: / to the vngrekes: to the wylde: and to the vntylde. Wherfore: (as muche as in me is) I am ready to scape the Gospel vnto you at Rome also.

¶ For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God: whiche sated all that beleued thereon: the Jewes first: / and also the Grekes: for in it is the ghyuousnesse that is of value before God: / is opened: whiche cometh oute of faith into faith. To it is written: ¶ The wylde shall lyue by his saye. For the wrath of God is declared fro heauen vpon all vngodlynesse: and vnyghtconscience of men: which withholde the truth of God: in vnyghtconscience: Because that it: whiche were the knowen of God: is ma-nyfeste with them. ¶ For God hath shewed it vnto them: that the vnyghtconscience thinges of God: (that is: his) euerylastyng power: and Godhead: / myghte be seene: / I wylde they are consydeered by the woordes from the creation of the worlde: so that they are without excuse: / in as muche as they knowe: that there is a God: and haue not payed him so God: nor thanked hym: / till he can saye: in these imaginacions: and they: / saye: here is a God: / whiche they counte them the glory of the incorruptible God: / into the fymme

frimlitude of the ymage of a corruptible mā and of Synode/and of foure footed/and six pauge Beastes.

¶ Wherefore God lykewyse gaue them vp vnto theyr heires lustice into vncleanness/ to vsele theyr owne bodies in the felice/ which turned the reuerb of God vnto a lye/ and wasthypped and serued the creature more then the maker/ which is blessed for euer/¶ Therefore God gaue them vp vnto the meffull lustice. ¶ For their women changed the naturall use into the vnnaturall/lye wif the men also lefte the naturall use of the wo man/ and brenie in their lustice one on ano as they regarded not to knowe Gods/ cūen so God gaue them vp into a lwide mynde/to do those thynges whiche were not com monly/ byng full of all vnrightheousnesse/and whoredome / wyfelnesse / couctousnesse/malycyousnesse / full of enuye / murder/

Whiche men though they knowe the righ teousnesse of God/ that they which do suche are worthy of death/ yete not onely do the same / but also haue pleasure in those that do theu.

The II. Chapter.

¶ Therefore canst thou not excuse thy selfe/¶ O man/ whosoever thou be that I iud ge: for loke wherein thou iudgest another/thou condemnest thy selfe/ in so muche/ as thou that iudgest/ doest euen the same. For we are sure that the iudgemente of God is acco:dyng to the truch/ soer them that do such. But thinkest thou this/ thou man/ that iudgest them whiche do suche thynges/ and doest euen the very same thinge thy selfe/ thou thou shalt escape the iudgemente of God? O despyest thou the ryche of his goodnesse/pauence/ and longe sufferynge? ¶ I haue wist thou not/ that the louinge/ and myse of God leadeth the to repentance?

But thou after thy hardie and vnpeny tent heart/ bequest vnto thy selfe a treasure of wrauth/ agaspalle the Raye of wrauth/ and of the openinge of the ryghteous iudgemente of God/ whiche shall reuerde euery man acco:dyng to his dedes: namely / prayse and honoure/ and vnersuption vnto them that wch patience in theyng: good / selfe uerla stynge lyfe: But vnto them that are contem ptuous / and not obedient vnto the truch/ / Bucobey vnryghteousnesse / shall come iud gmayon and wrauth / trouble and anguyshe vpon all the faultes of men that do euell of the Jewe/ yll/ and also of the Greke: But vnto all them that do good / shall come payse and honoure/ and peate vnto theyr Jewe/ yll and also to the Greke.

¶ For there is no respect of persons before God: Whosoever haue synned with one lawe/ shall perishe also without lawe: and whosoever haue synned in the lawe/ shall be iudged by the lawe. ¶ For before God they are not ryghteous/ whiche beare the lawe: but they that do the lawe / shall be iustified. For if the Gentyles whiche haue not the lawe / do of nature the thynges comyng in the lawe / then they haunge not the lawe/ are a lawe vnto them selico/in that they sturre: that in the worde of the lawe is wynged in they: bectro / whyle they: con science beareth witness vnto them/ and also i thange/ whiche accuse or excuse the/ amyg about selfe/ in the daye: vnto God shall iudge the secretes of men by Iesus Christ/ according to my Gospell. ¶

¶ Because heere/ thou art callid a Jewe/ Job. iij. c and trustest in the lawe/ and makest thy boast of God/ and knowest thy wyll: and so fo muche as thou art enshroumd of the lawe/thou prouest what is best to do/ and pur mess to be a leader of the Synde: a lyght of them that are in darkenesse/ an enlumner of the vnseye: a teacher of the simple/ whiche haue the ensample of knowlege and of the truch in the lawe.

¶ Howe teachest thou other/ and teachest not thy selfe: ¶ Thou preachest that a man should not steale/ and thou stealest. Thou sayest/that a man should not beate we beate / and thou beatest we beate. Thou abhorrest ramage / and robbest God of his honour. Thou makest thy Boall of the law / and thou doste byng of the lawe / thou shouldest beate God. For whowoe you is the name of God euell spoken of amonge the Gentiles / as it is written.

The circumcision verely auayleth / if thou kepe the lawe / but if thou beate the lawe / then is thy circumcision become vncircumcision. Therefore if the vncircumcision kepe the righte thinge coneyned in the lawe / shall not his vncircumcision be counted for circumcision? And so is that of nature is vncircumcision / and fulfilleth the lawe / shall wadge the which vnder the letter and circumcision transgresseth the lawe. For he is not a Jewe / whiche is a Jewe out of the deede: neither is that circumcision / whiche is done outwardly in the fleshe: But he is a Jewe / whiche is hyd within. And the circumcision of the herte is the circumcision / whiche is done in the spere / and not in the letter. Whose praise is not of men / but of God.

¶ What furtheraunce then haue the Jewes: Or what auantageth circumcision? Surely very muche. First vnto them was admitted whate God spaketh: But where as some of them byd not beate the lawe / what then? Should they vnbefele make the peccasse of God of none effect: God forbid. Let us rather be thus that God is true: and all men liars. As it is writen: That thou maest be iustified in thy sayings / and shouldest overcome whan thou art iudged.

But if it be for that our vncircumcousnesse praise the righteousness of God / what shal we saye? To God then vncircumcous / that be as angry therfore? (I speake thus after the manner of men) God forbid. Howe might God then iudge the world? For if the truth of God be thowoe my speche more excellent vnto his praise / why should I then be iudged yet as a sinner? a not rather to do thue: (as we are euell spoken of) and as some report / that we should saie. Let vs do euell / that good maye come therof. Whose Verdamacion is iust.

¶ What saie we then: are we better then they? No / in no wise: for we haue proued as for: that both the Jewes and Grekes are all vnder synne. As it is writen: There is none righteous / nor no one. There is none that vnderstandeth / there is none that seeketh after God. They are all gone out of the waye / they are altogether become vnprofitable: there is none that doeth good / nor no one. They chose an open sepulchre / with their tunges they haue deceaued / the poison of Asperts vnder their tpype. Their mouth is full of cursing and byrnesse. They haue seke as swifto thed bloude. Destruction and wretchednes are in their waies / and the waye of pure harte they doe not knowe. There is no feare of God before their eyes.

For by the lawe cometh the knowledge of synne. But nowe without aduantage of the lawe / is the righteousnesse whiche auayleth before God / heered / hauinge witness of the lawe / and the prophetes: But I speake of the righteousnesse before God / whiche cometh by the faith on Iesu Christ vnto al / and vnto all them that beleeue.

For here is no difference. For they are all sinners / and wante the payse that God should haue of them / but without desyring are they made righteous / euen by his grace / wherewe the redemption is done by Christ Iesu / whom God hath set for a Mercysiate thowoe faith in his bloude / to shewe the righteousnesse whiche auayleth before hym / in that be sought by the synners / whiche were done before vnder the sufferance of God / whiche he suffered / that as his name be myght shewe the righteousnesse / whiche auayleth for our iustification / he onely mighte be righteous / the righteous maker of hum whiche is of the subon Iesus. Where is nowe then thy reioynging? It is excluded. By what lawe? By the lawe of works: Nay / but by the lawe of faith. I wold therefore that a man is iustified by faith / without the workes of the lawe. O / in God the the God of the Jewes onely: For hee nor also the God of the heathen: For verely / the God of the heathen also / for so muche as he is the God onely that iustifieth the circumcison / whiche is of sayth: and the uncircumcison / whom he sayth / Destroye we then the lawe whow we sayth: God forbid. But we sayne agayn the lawe.

The III. Chapter.

What shall we saye then / that Abraham / our father / as pertaininge to the fleish / byd sayeth: This we saye: If Abraham were made righteous whow we saye / then had he therein to reioyce / but not before God. But what sayeth the scripture: Abraham beleeued God / and that was counted vnto hym for righteousnesse. Vnto him þ goeth aboue with woikes / in the erredde not refected of fauoure / but of duty: For hee / vnto him sheweth not aboue with woikes / but beleeueth on hym that iustifieth the vngoblye his faith counted for righteousnesse. Euen so David sayeth also / that blisse / this is onely that man / vnto whome God counted righteousnesse without addinge to of woikes / where he sayeth: Blessed are they whos vnrighteousnesse is forgiven / and whose synne is couered. Blessed is the man / vnto whome the Lorde imputeth no synne.

How this blisnesse goeth it ouer the circumcison / for ouer the vncircumcison: We must neede graunte / that Abrahams sayth was counted vnto hym for: righteousnesse. How was it then refected vnto hym: In the circumcison / or in the vncircumcison? Doubtles / that in the circumcison / but in the vncircumcison. In for the cause of circumcison / he remained it for a feele of the righteousnesse of sayth / whiche he had yet in the vncircumcison / that he shoulde be a father of all them that beleeue / byng in the vncircumcison / that it myghte be counted vnto them also for: righteousnesse / and that he myghte be a father of circumcison / not onely of them that are of the circumcison / but of them also that walke in the foresayppes of the sayth / whiche was in the vncircumcison of our father Abraham.

For the poynt / that he shoulde be the heire of the worlde / was not made vnto Abraham as to hys selfe / whow the lawe / but whow the righteousnesse of sayth. For if they which Galat. 3. are of the lawe be heires / then is sayth vaine / and the promes of none effect / for so muche as the lawe causeth but wrath. For where the lawe is not / there is also no transgression. Therefore was the promes made thow sayth / that it myghte come of sauoure / whereby the promes myghte be made sure vnto all the fedes: not onely vnto hym whiche is of the lawe / but also vnto him that is of the sayth of Abraham / which is the father of vs all. As it is writen: I haue made the a father of many heathen before God / whow whom thou hast beleued: whiche and first a quickeneth the dead / a called it whiche is not / that it maye be.

And he beleued vnto hope / where nothinge was to hope / that he shoulde be a father of many heathen / accordinge as it was saide vnto hym: Thou shalt thy selfe be. And he was not sayne in sayth / cyther considred hys owne body / whiche was dead already / while he was almost an hundred yearre old / neyther the dead wombe of Sara. For he doubteth not in the promes of God thow: one vnto left / but was stronge in sayth / and gaue God the prayse / and was sure therof: that he should be promysed / he is able to make it good. And therefore was it refected vnto hym for: righteousnesse. But this is not written onely for his sake / that it was counted vnto him / but also for oure sakes: vnto whome it shalbe counted / if we beleeve on hym that raysed vp oure Lorde Iesus from the dead. Whiche was geuen for / Tim. 4. a once synners / and raised vp for oure righteousnesse sake. Galat. 3. a

The V. Chapter.

Because therfore / that we tustified by sayth / we haue peace with God whow vs. 1. a our Lorde Iesus Christ / by whome also we vs. 2. a haue an euangeli in sayth vnto this grace / wherein we stande / and I reioyce in the hope of the glorie for to come / whiche God shall geue. Not onely that / but we reioyce also in troubles / for so muche as we knowe þ / it is trouble Jacob. 1. a bringeth patience / patience bringeth experiance / experiance bringeth hope: For for hope / let vs. 1. a let vs be not come to confusion / because the loue of God is shed abonde in our hertes / by the hepyse / a holy ghost which is geuen vnto vs. For Coloss. 1. a whan we were yet weak / accordinge to the an. 4. a

The Epistle to the Romaynes.

ynne/ Christ dyed for vs vngodly. Nowe which there scarce any mā for the righteousnesse sake: Dead iudgement for a good man durst one bye-¶ 1 Therefore death was for south by lone co-wade vs in that Christ dyed for vs/ when we were yet synners: Much more then that we be saued from death by my synne we are now made righteous throughe his bloude.

¶ B For if we were reconciled vnto God by the death of his sonne/ when we were yet enemies: much more shall we be saued by hym/nowe that we are reconciled. Not onely that/but we receiue also in God throughe our Lode Iesus Christ/ by whome we haue now reconciled by: attonement. ¶

Gen. iij. a Wherfore T as by one man synne entered into the world/ and death by the meane of synne: euen so wente the death also ouer all man/ in so much as they all haue sinned. For synne was in the world vnto the lawe: but where no lawe is/ there is not synne ei garded.
¶ Nevertheless/ death caryned from Adā vnto Moses/ euen ouer them also that sinned not with lyke transgression as by Adam/ whiche is the synne of hym that was to come.

Joan. iij. b But it is not with the T gyfte as with the synne: for if throughe synne of one many be dead/ yet much more plentifully came T gyfte and gyfte of God vpon many/ by the fauour that belouged vnto one man Iesu Christ.

Joan. i. b And the gyfte is not onely ouer one synne/as death came throughe one synne/ of one that sinned: for the iudgement came of one synne vnto condemnation/ but the gyfte to iustifie from many synnes: for if by the synne of one death reigned by the meane of one: much more shall they which receiue the aboundance of grace and of the gyfte vnto righteousnesse/euen in lyfe by T meane of one Iesu Christ.
¶ Likewise then as by the synne of one condemnation came an all men/ euen so also by the righteousnesse of one/ came the iustification of lyfe vpon all men. For as by the disobedience of one/ many became synners: euen so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous.

Galat. v. i ¶ But the lawe in the meane synne entred/* Luc. vii. c that synne should increase. ¶ Nevertheless/where aboundance of synne was/ there was yet more plentifully. T of grace/ that lyfe as synne had caryned vnto death/ euen so throughe grace euen more also throughe righteousnesse to eternall lyfe/ by the meane of Iesus Christ. ¶

The VI. Chapter.

¶ But shall we saye then: T shall we continue in synne/ that there maye be aboun-dauce of grace: God forbid. Some shall we lyue in synne/ that we be dead fro it: ¶ T Answere ye not/ that all we which are baptysed into Iesu Christ/ shall be baptysed into hys death: Therefore we were buried with him by baptysme into death/ that lyfe as Christ was raysed vp from the dead by the glorie of the father: T euen so we also shoulde walke in a newe lyfe. For if we be graued with him vnto hys death/ when he was lyfe: the resurrection also: so we shoulde as we knowe/ that our old man is crucified with him/ that T synfull bodye enygye: that that hereforth we shoulde liue in synne nomore.
¶ For he that is dead is made a righteouse of synne.

¶ But if we be dead with Christ/ we dwelle that we shall liue also with hym/ and are sure that Christ raysed from the dead/ shoulde not more: We shall haue no more power ouer hym. For as we dwell in that he dyed/ by his concerninge synne: euen so in so iudginge that he lyueth/ he lyueth vnto God. ¶ Likewise ye also/ conuince youre selfes to be euen dead to concerninge synne/ and to lyue vnto God by rowe Iesus Christ ouer the lawe. ¶ Let us not synne againe then: for in your mortal bodye/that ye shall obey vnto the lusts of it. Therefore geue ye ouer youre members vnto synne to be captiues of vnto righteousnesse: but geue ouer youre selfes vnto God/ so they that be dead become lyuynge/ and youre members vnto God/ to be captiues of righteous-nesse. For synne shall not haue power of you in so much as ye are not vnder the lawe/ but vnder grace.

¶ Nowe then shall we synne/ because we are not vnder the lawe/ but vnder grace: God forbid.
¶ T Answere ye not/ that loke vnto whom ye geue ouer youre selfes: as seruantes to obey/ by seruantes ye are to whom ye obey/whether it be of synne vnto death/ or of obedience vnto righteousnesse: But God be thanked/ that though ye haue ben the seruantes of synne/

synne/ye are now yet obedient of herre to the ensample of the Doctine / whereunto ye are committed. For now that ye are made free fro synne/ye are become the seruantes of righte-ousnesse. ¶

C ¶ I will speake grossly/because of the weakkenesse of youre flesh. Lyke as ye haue geuen cure your members to the seruice of uncleanesse/from one wickednesse to another: Eue so now also geue ouer youre members to the seruice of righteousnesse: that ye maye be holy. For whā ye were the seruantes of synne/ye were louse fro righteousnesse. What fruite had ye at that tyme in those thynges/whereof ye are now ashamed: For the ende of such thynges is death.
But now theye shall be free fro synne / and are become the seruantes of God/ye haue your fruite that ye shoulde be holy: but the ende is eternall synnelesse. ¶ For: death is the reward of synne/but the gifte of God is everlasting life in Christe Jesuoure Lorde. ¶

The VII. Chapter.

A ¶ Nowe ye knowe better then I speake vnto them that knowe the lawe. Howe shal the lawe haue power vpon a man as long as he liueth: ¶ For the woman that is in subiection to the man / is bounde vnto the lawe whyle she liueth: but if the man dye / then is she loosed from the lawe that concerneth the mā.
¶ So shal be now with another man / whyle the man liueth / she shall be called a wedlocke: because. But if the man be dead / she is free from the lawe / so that she is no wedlocke because / she be with another man.

Euen so my brethren / ye also are dead vnto the lawe by the body of Christ: that ye shoulde be with another manly with him that is ray-sed vp from the dead: that we shoulde bringe forth fruite vnto God. For whā we were in the fleshe / the synfull lustes / which were stered vp by the lawe / were mighty in ouer meim-bers to bringe forth fruite vnto death. But now are we loosed from the lawe / and dead vnto it / that helde vs captiue / so that we shoulde sette in a newe conuersation of the spere / and not in the olde conuersation of the letter.

B ¶ What shal we saye then: For the lawe sinnet God sochly: & teareth the selfe: I knewe not synne / but by the lawe. For I had knowen nothinge of luste / if the lawe had not sayde: ¶ Then shal not lust. But then toke synne occasion at the commandemens / and stered vp in me all maner of lust. For without the lawe / synne was dead. As for me / I lusted somtyme without lawe. Howbeit / whā the commandemene came / synne awaked / but I was dead. And the very same commandement that was geuen me vnto life / was founde to be vnto me an occasion of death. For synne toke occasion at the commandement / and deceaued me / and slew me by the same commandement. The lawe is holie / and the commandement good / and holie / iuste and good. In that then which is / I am good become dead vnto me: God forbid.

But synne that it myghte appeare howe that it is synne / hath wrought in me death / wherof ye good: that synne myghte be oute of iustifur-synfull by the commandement. For we knowe that the lawe is spiritual / but I am carnall / I soule vnder synne: because I knowe not what I do. For I do not that I will / but what I hate / that do I. ¶ If I do knowe that which I will not / then graunte I that the lawe is good.

So then it is not I that do it / but synne that dwelleth in me: for I knowe that in me / that is in my fleshe / dwelleth no good thyng. To will is present with me / but to per-forme that which is good / I fynde not. For the good that I will / do I not: but the euill which I will not / that do I. ¶ If I do knowe that I will not: the is it not I that do it / but synne that dwelleth in me.

¶ Thus fynde I now by the lawe / that whā I will do good / euill is present with me. For I deire in the lawe of God after the inward man: but the lawe that liueth in my members / which struggeth against the lawe of mynende / and catcheth me prisoner in the lawe of synne / whiche is in my members. O wretched man that I am / who shall deliuer me from this body of this death: I thanke God thowgh I Christe oure Lorde. So then with the mynde I serue the lawe of God / but with the fleshe I serue the lawe of synne.

The VIII. Chapter.

When is there now no damnation vnto them that are in Christ Iesu / which walke not after the fleshe / but after the spere. For the lawe

The Epistle to the Romaynes.

lawe of the spirit (that bringeth life in Christ Jesu) hath made me free from the lawe of sinne and death. * For what impossible was vnto the lawe? in as muche as it was weake because of the fleshe (that persecuted God/and sint hye synne in the similitude of synfull fleshe/ and by synne damned synne in the fleshe: that the righteousnesse required of the lawe might be fulfilled in vs/ whiche woulde not after the fleshe/ but after the spirit. For they that are fleshy/ are fleshy mynded: but they that are godly/ are godly mynded. To be fleshy mynded/ is death: but to be godly mynded/ is life and peace. ¶

To be fleshy mynded/ is enemye against God/ (that synne is not subdued vnto the lawe of God/ for it can not also. So for them that are fleshy they can not please God. For when ye are not fleshy/ but godly/ if so be that the spirit of God dwel in you. For who so hath not the spirit of Christ/ the same is not by a new birth/ if Christ be in you/ when is the body dead because of synne. But the spirit is life for righteousnesse sake. ¶

What for is the spirit of him/ that raysed vp Iesus from the dead/ dwell in you/ then shall you be also that raysed vp/ Christ from the dead/quicken your mortal bodies/ because that hye spirit dwelleth in you. ¶ Therefore brethren/we are now heires/ not to the fleshe/ but to the spirit/ for if ye live after the fleshe/ ye must dye: but if ye mortifie the deedes of the body/ whome the spirit seeth/ ye shall live. For who so is led by the spirit of God/ seeth Gods children: (for ye haue not receaued the spirit of bondage to feare/ any more/ but ye haue re-ceaued the spirit of adoption/ whereby we crye: Abba/ our father. ¶ The same spirit testifieth our spirit/ that we are the children of God.
 ¶ If we be children/ then are we heires also/ namely the heires of God/ and heires annexed with Christ/ if so be we suffer together/ (for we may be also glorified together. ¶ ¶ For I suppose/ that the afflictions of this tyme/ are not worthy of the glory/ whiche shall be reuealed vpon vs. ¶ For the seruice longinge of the creature/ to loke for the appearing of the children of God/ because the creature is subdued vnto vanitie/ against her will/ but for his will shee is subdued her vpon hope. For the creature also shalbe free from the bondage of corruption/vnto the glorious libertye of the children of God. For we knowe/ that every creature groaneth/and travaileth with vs in paine vnto the same tyme.

What they grieve/ but we our selves also/ which haue the first fruite of the spirit/ groane within our selves for the children of God/ and loke for the reuererence of our bodies. For we are ser-ued in death/ howbeit in hope: (but the hope that is in vs/ is no hope/ for how can a man hope for that which he seeth? But if we hope for that which we see not/ then do we with more patience obeye for vs. ¶

Let vs therefore the spirit also helpe/ our weaknes: for we knowe not what we ought to desire as we ought: (neither desire/ the spirit in selfe maketh intercession for vs with unspokeable gronings. ¶ Therefore/ brethren/I beseeche the heere/ for vs/ that the mynde of the spirit: for he maketh intercession for the same/ according to the pleasure of God. ¶ ¶ But first we are/ that all things serue for the best vnto them that loue God: whiche are called of purpose. For those/ whome he hath before/ hath he ordeyned also before/ that they shoulde be life fashioned vnto the image of his sonne/ that he might be the first begotten/ as amonge many brethren. So for those whome he hath ordeyned before/ the hath be called also/ a whome he hath called/ them hath he also indueed with grace: and whome he hath made righte-ou/ the hath he glorified also.

What shal we saye then vnto these thinges?
 ¶ If God be on our syde/ who can be against vs? ¶ What shal we not his owne sonne/ but he hath geuen him for vs all/ howe shall we not reuere him geue vs all thinges also? ¶ Who shall laye any thing to the charge of Gods choyse?
 ¶ It is God that maketh righteous/ who will then condemne? ¶ It is Christ that dyed/ yet ther which is raysed vp againe: whiche is also on the right hande of God/ and maketh intercession for vs.

Who will separate vs from the loue of God?
 ¶ Trouble/ or anguish/ or persecution/ or hunger/ or nakednesse/ or perill/ or sweete death is written: (for thus saith he. We filled all the daye longe/ we are counted as sheepe appoy-ned to be slayn. ¶ Truste therefore/ in all these thinges the hartie. They whiche are chyldren after the fleish are not the chyldren of God / but the chyl-12 b dren of the promes are counted for the seide.

 For this is a woide of the promes: where he unto the Lord for he greuch God thanke: and he that careth not careth nor unto the Lord/and greuch God thanke. for none of vs liueth to him selfe/and none dieth to him selfe. If we liue/we liue unto the Lord. If we dye/we dye vnto the Lord. Therefore whether we liue or dye/we are the Lordes.

B For therto byd Christ/and rose agayne/ and ruynd/that he mighte be the Lord of dead and quyet. But why iudgest thou thy brother? Or thou oder/why despysest thou thy sister? We shall all be brought before the iudgements seate of Christ. For it is writen: I As truly as I liue/ sayeth the Lord/ all knes shall come vnto me/and all kynges shall knowlege vnto God. Theu shall euen one of vs geue accomptes for him selfe vnto God. Let vs not therefore iudge one another any more. But iudge thus rather/ that nona put a stumbling block on an occasion to fall in his brothers waye. I Knowe/and am full certified in the Lord Christ/that there is no thinge commune of it selfe: but vnto him that iudgeth it to be communced him is it commune. But if the vniuersite greuch ouer thy meate/ then walk off thou not now in charite. Despise not with thy meate him/ for whom Christ dyed.

C So therefore that youe realize be not euell spoken of. For the kyngdome of God is not meate nor drynke/ but ryghteousnesse and peace/ and ioye in the holy ghoost. Let that in these thynges stretch Christ/ please thy God/ and so commend of men. Let vs therefore folowe these thynges/ which make for peace/ and thynges wherewith one maye edifie another. Despise not the worke of God for meates sake. All thynges truly are cleane/ but it is euell for that man whiche eateth with hurt of his conscience. It is muche better that thou eate no fleshe/ and drinke no wyne/ nor any thynges/ wherby thy brother stumbleth or fallerh/ so to made wyse. Aske thou sayth/ haue it with thy selfe before God. Happy to be thae condemneth not him selfe in that thyng which he doerh. But he that maketh conscience of it/ yet eateth/ is dampned: because he doeth it not of faith: for what souce is not of faith/ the same is synne.

The XV. Chapter.

What are stronge/ I oughte to feare the synfulness of them which are weak/ and not to stande in ouer owne conceite. Let euey one of vs obide him selfe/ so that he please his neyghboure vnto his welth and charyng. For Christ pleased not him selfe/ but as it is writen: He rebukes of them whiche rebuked the/ are fallen vpon me. Whatsoever thynges are writen afore tyme/ are writen for oure learynges/ that we shal receiue patience and comfort of the scriptures/ mighte haue hope. The God of patience and consolacion/ graunte you to be like myn dede one to another according vnto Iesu Christ/ that ye beynge of our mynde/ maye with one mouche praise God the father of our Lord Iesu Christ.

Wherfore receaue ye one another/ as Christ hath receaued you to the praye of God. But I saye/ that Christ/ Iesus was a minister of the circumcyon for the truth of God/ to confirme the promysed made vnto the fathers/ and that the Genten myghte praise God because of mercy/ as is writen: I For this cause wyl I praye eke amonge the Gentiles/ and sende vnto thy name. And agayne he sayeth: I Receiue ye Genten with hys people. And agayne: I Desyre the Lord/ all ye Gentiles/ and laude him all ye dayes. And agayne I saye/ sayeth: I There shall be the core of Iesus/ in hym shall Ierusalem rule the Gentiles/ in hym shall the Gentiles trust. The God of hope/ shall you wish all ioye and peace in besuynges/ that ye maye be plentious in hope/ thow we the power of the holy ghoost.

I My selfe am full certified of you/ my brethren/ that ye youre selfes are full of goodness/ fylled with all knowlege/ so that ye are able to edifie one another. Wherehelst/ wherwher/ I haue somwhat more boldly wrytten vnto you/ as one that putteth you in remembrance/ for the grace that is giuen me of God/ that I shoulde be a minister of Iesu Christ amonge the Genten/ to declare the Gospell of God/ that the Genten mighte be an acceptable offering vnto God/ sanctified by the holy ghoost. Therefore maie I boast my selfe thow we Iesu Christ/ that I myghte wish

Al concerninge the thinges whercof ye wrote vnto us / Iesus. were: Is it good for a man noye touch a woman. Neuerthelesse / to a tode to whodanie / let every man haue his owne wyfe / and let every woman haue her owne housbande. Let the man geue vnto the wyfe. As himselfe: like wyfe also the wyfe vnto the man. The wyfe shalt not pauer ouer her owne body / but the housbande: and likewise the man shal not pauer ouer his owne body / but the wyfe.

Whidiane not your selues owne from another / except ye do with the consent of both for a tyme / that ye may geue your selves vnto the syrne / and then come together agayne / as gain / as / whan tyme you for your meaneconceit. ¶ But this I saye of sauoure / and not of commaundement: Howbeit / I wold rather that all men were as I am. Neuerthelesse / every one hath his proper gyfte of God / one by one / another so. To them weche that are unmarried / and to weddowes / I saye: It is good for them that they abide also as I do. ¶ But if they can not absteyne / let them marry. for it is better to marrie / then to burne. ¶

But vnto them that are marryd / commaundement not / I bidde. The Lorde / if the wyfe separate not her selfe from her housbande but if she separate her selfe / she shal remayne unmarried / so be reconciled to her housbande: and let not the housband put away his wyfe from him.

As for the other / no man saye / I not the Lorde: If any whiche haue an vndelewing wyfe / and he is content to dwell with hym / let him not pauer away. And if a woman haue an vndelewing housbande / and he is content to dwell with her. let her not pauer him away. for the vndelewing housbande is sanctified by the wyfe / and the vndelewing wyfe is sanctified by the housbande: so els were youre chyldeen vndelewing / nor are they holy. But if the delewing begette / let him departe / whether of a sister or not being in such cases / but god hath called vs in peace.

¶ For whiche knowest thou O woman / wherthe thou shalt saue the man? O whan first wrest thou O man / wherthe thou shalt saue the woman? But when as God hath distributed vnto every one / as he saith. The Lorde hath called every man / so let him walke and so order / I in all congregacions.

If any man be called beinge circumsised / let him take as Cerithen / byppe vppon him: If any man be called in the Cerithen byppe / let hym not be circumsised. Circumsise you is nothinge / and vncircumsise you is no-thinge / but the keepinge of the commaunde-mentes of God. ¶ Let every one abyde in the callinge wherem he is called. ¶ This I saye called a seruante / care not for it. Ne-uerthelesse / if thou wost / it de freyde / rather for: he that is called in the Lorde beinge a seruante / so a freeman of the Lorde. Let wyfe be that is called beinge from a seruante of Chaste. ¶ Ye are deary boughte / by not ye seruantes of men. Whether / let every one wherem he is called / therean abyde with God. ¶

As concerninge virgines / I haue no commaundement of the Lorde. neuerthelesse / I saye my good manninge / as I haue oynayed mercie of the Lorde / so by sayth full / I suppose it is good for the present neecessite / saunt is good for a man so to be. Bre thou beande vnto a wyfe / set not to be loue-sed. Bre thou lousid from a wyfe / set not to a wyfe. But if thou wost / a wyfe / thou synnest not. And if a virgine marry / she synnest not.
Neuerthelesse / she shal haue trouble in the flith. Bre I saouet you.

Howbeit / this I saye bidde: the name is shorte. Further more / this is the meaninge / that they whiche haue wyfes / be as though they had none: and they that receiue / be as though they receiue not: and they that receiue / be as though they receiue not: and they that dye / be as though they possessed not: a they that vse this world / be as though they used it not. ¶ For the sayson of thre

The II. I say for youre profyte / nor that I will entangle you in a snare / but for that which is honeste / and comly vnto you / that ye maye continuallye cleue vnto the Lord without hinderance. But if any man thinke that it is vncomly for his virgin / if he passe time mariage / and if he do for requite / let him do what he list / he is not to blame / for he is coupled in marriage. Let euery of them be that purposeth surely in his heren / hauinge no neede / but hath power of his owne will / and becometh so in his heren / to kepe his virgin / doth will. Finally / he that buyeth his virgin in marriage / doth well / but he that buyeth nor his virgin / in marriage / doth better. The wyfe is bounde to the lawe / as long as her husbande lyueth. But if her husbande slepe / she is at liberty to marrye vnto whom she will / onely that it be done in the Lord. But she is happier if she abyde after my iudgement. I thinke verely that I also haue the spere of God.

The VIII. Chapter.

1. Cor. xij. 2
1. Cor. xij. 2

Touching thinges I taught vnto Idols / we are sure that we all haue knowledge / knowlege suffeth a man vpon another. Let euery of them be that he knoweth any thinge / he knoweth not yet how he ought to knowe. But if any man loue God / he shall be knowne of him.

1. Cor. xij. 2

So are we sure to be concerning the meane offered vnto Idols / that an Idol is nothinge / in the worlde / and that there is none other God but one. And though there be / that are called goddes / whether it be in heauen / or in earth / as there be goddes many / and also a lordes many / yet haue we but one God / and one father / of whom are all thinges / and we in him / and one Lord / Iesus Christe / by whom are all thinges / and we by him.

But euery man hath not knowlege / for some maketh conscience out the Idols / and care it as a thinge offered vnto Idols / and so their conscience byng wake is defyled. Let euery of them be that he knoweth not yet vnto God. If we care / we shall not therefore be the better. If we care not / we shall not therefore be the lesse. But let each of them be that his liberty be not an occasion of falling vnto the wyfe. For if any man be the which hath knowlege / sit at the table in the Idols house / shall not be his conscience while it is weak / be occasioned to care of the Idols offeringe. And so shal we by knowlege shall the weak be their perill / for whom Christe dyed. But when ye sit so agaynst the brethren / and wounde their weak conscience / ye synne agaynst Christ. Wherefore / if ye care for my brother / whye maye ye not slepe / lest / or offende my brother.

The IX. Chapter.

Am I not an Apostle / Am I not free / I saye / Am I not sinned Iesus Christe our Lord. Let not ye my work in the Lord. If I be not an Apostle vnto other / yet am I youre Apostle. For the sake of myne Apostels shipp / care ye in the Lord. Myne answer is vnto them that saye me this: Haue we not power to eat and drinke / Haue we not power also to keade about / as a sister to wyfe / as well as other Apostles / and as the brethren of the Lord / and Cephas: We haue onely / and Baenabae no power thus to do. Who goeth a warfar at any tyme vpon his owne wages: Who planteth a vineyard / or careth not of the frute thereof / who seeth a flock / and careth not of the milke of the flocke.

See I these thinges after the maner of Barmen: Saith not he the same also: I saye it to you: such in the lawe of Moses: Thou shalt not moull the mouth of the ore that receaith one / and coine. With god take thought for the eye: Who saith he is not altogether for our selke. For no doubt it is written for our selke. For he that careth / shoulde care vpon hope: and he that is without / shoulde trobber vpon hope: that he might be partake of his hope. If we haue forgotten vnto your spiritual thinges / things/ is it a greater thinge if we reape your bodily thinges? But if other be partakers of this power on you / wherefore are not we rather? Vneuertheless / we haue not used this power / but suffice all thinges / lest we should hinder y^e Gospel of Christ. Knowe ye not that they which labour in the temple / haue theyr livinge of the temple / and they that waye as y^e militarie / waye / y^e aulter: / I weis thus also haue the Lord obeyed / that they which preach the Gospel / should liue of the Gospel? But I haue esd none of these thinges.

Neyther wite I thereof / that it should be done so vnto me / for I had rather dye then that any man should bringe my reuenge to naughte. For in that I preach the Gospel / I neede not dost my selfe / for I must neede do it. And vnto me / if I preach not y^e Gospel. If I do it with a good will / I shall haue my reward: but if I do it against my will / yet is it the same comitted vnto me. Wherefore then shall I be rewarded: Namely therefore that I preach the Gospel / and do the same freely for naughte / that I adue not my libertie in y^e Gos-pell. For though I am free from all men / yet haue I made me selfe every mans seruaunt / that I mighte winne the more. Vnto the Jewes I am become as a Jewe / to winne the Jewes.
To the that are vnder the lawe / I am become as though I were vnder the lawe / to winne them which are vnder the lawe.

Vnto them that are without lawe I am become / as though I were without lawe / where as yet I am not without the lawe of God / but am in the lawe of Christ / to winne them that are without lawe. To the weak I become as weak to winne y^e weak. I am become of all factions vnto euery man to save some at the least. But this I do for y^e Gospels sake / that I mighte be partaker thereof.

Knowe ye not that they which runne in a race / runne ye so / as they maye obtaine the reward: Runne ye so / as they maye obtaine.
One that ploweth manly / abstayneth from all thynges / and they do it that they maye obtaine a corruptible crowne / but we do vnto an vncorruptible crowne. Therefore runne / not as an vncertaine thinge. So fighte / not as one that beatech the ayre: but I tame my body / and bringe it in subiection / lest whan

I preach vnto other / I my selfe be cast away.

the giftes of healing? Speake they all with tunings: Can they all interpret: But couet ye the best giftes. And yet shew I you a more excellent waye.

The XIII. Chapter. ¶

I Though I speake with the tunings of me and angles/ and yet had no loue/ I were such as soundinge busse/ or as a ringing Cymbal. I And though I coude prophesie/ and vnderstande all secretes/ and all knowlege/ and had all sayth / so that I coude moue mountaines out of their places/ yet had not loue/ I were nor thyng. And though I bestowed all my goods to feede the poore/ and though I gaue my bodye such that I burnid / and yet haue not loue / it profitteth me nothing.

1 Cor. viij. b
Luc. xij. 4

Loue is patient and courteous/ loue is mych not/ loue is not forwardly/ is not puffed wth health/ is not vsurpous/ is not braggis/ is not proud/ is not angry/ is not thinketh not euill/ is not is not inuicous/ but reioyceth in truth/ beareth all things/ believeth all things/ hopeth all things/ suffreth all things.

2 Though Propheycynges saie/ or tunings cease/ knowlege persisteth/ yet loue filleth neuer a waye. For sure knowlege is imperfecte/ and ouer propheycynges is imperfecte. But when that which is perfect/ cometh/ then shall I cease to be done awaye. When I was a child/ I spake as a child/ I vnderstande as a child/ I imagined as a child. But as soon as I was a man/ I put awaye childishnesse. Now we see thow a glasse in a dark speakinge/ but then shall we see face to face. Now I know imperfectly/ but then shall I knowe euill as I am known. Now abideith sayth/ hope/ loue/ these three/ but the greatest of these is loue. ¶

The XIII. Chapter.

3 Now for loue. Couet spiritual giftes/ but specially that ye maye prophesie. For he that speaketh with tunings/ speaketh not vnto men/ but vnto God: for nota heareth him. Howebeit / in the spiche he speaketh mislikes. But he that prophesieth/ speaketh vnto men to edificatione/ and exhortacion/ and to comforte. He that speaketh with tunings/ edifieth himselfe/ but he that prophesieth/ edifieth the congregation. I wold that ye all spake with tunings/ but rather that ye prophesied. For great er is he that prophesieth/ than he that speaketh with tunings: excepte he also expounde it/ that the congregation maye haue edificatione. But now brethren/ I come vnto you/ and speake with tunings/ what shall I profit you/ excepte I speake vnto you/ cyther by reuelacion/ or by knowlege/ or by Propheycynges/ or by Doctrines.

Yet wist I is also in the thynges that graue sound/ and yet I see not: whether it be a pipe/ or an harpe/ or excepte they graue distincte soundes from the harpe/ shall it be knowne what is piped/ or harped/ And if the trompe graue an vnknowen sounde/ who will prepare hym selfe to the battayll. Euen so ye brethren/ when ye speak with tunings/ excepte ye speake plaine wordes/ how shall hee knowen what is spoken/ for ye shall not speake in the ayre. So many kindes of voyces are in the world/ and none of them is without significatione. If I knowe not nowe what the voyce meaneth / I shall be as a chaine vnto hym that speaketh/ and he that speaketh/ shall an alchaine vnto me. Euen so ye Christians/ so muche as ye couet spiritual giftes/ desire that ye maye haue pleasure in the edificatione of the congregation. Wherefore let hym that speaketh with tunings/ prepare that he maye interpret also. If I praye with tunings/ my spirit prayeth/ but my vnderstandinge bungeeth vnto man. How shall it be the: Namely this: I wil praye with the spirit/ and wil praye with vnderstandinge also/ I wil singe Psalms in this sort / and wil singe Psalms with the vnderstandinge also.

But when thou guesst thanks with the spirit/ how shall he that occupieth the reme of the vnlearned/ saie Amen at thy givinge of thanks / synging he knoweth not what thou sayest/ thou guesst well thankes/ but the other is not edified. I thank my God/ that I speak with tunings more then ye all. Yet had I leaue the congregation to speake free wordes with my vnderstandinge/ that I maye edifie mine other also / rather then that I should finde wordes with tunings. I wold that I should be as concerninge vnlearnednesse be edified / but in vnderstandinge be perfecte. In the lawe is written: I wold other tunings / and with other wherby they will I speake vnto the people/and yet shall they not heare me/ sayeth the Lord.

Therefore accuſtinges for a woken / not to them that belefe / but to them that belefe not.
Euary way / wauyngenge / not wchm that belefe / nor wnto them which belefe.

B If the whole congregation now came together into one place / and spake all with tunges / and there tane in they that are vntar-ned / or they whiche belefe not / shoulde they not saye / that ye were out of your wittes? But if all prophesied / and there came in one that belefe not / or one vntarued / he shoulde be redued of them all / and iudged of all / and so shoulde the secreete of hys herte be opened / and so shoulde he fall vpon his face / wor-shippinge God / and knowynginge / that of a trulye God is in you. How is it then brethren? When ye come together / eury one haib a Psalme / haib a vsayne / haib a tonge / haib a reuelacion / haib an interpretation. Lea all be done to edifyinge. If any man speake with tongues / let hym do it hym selfe / beyng the seconde / or at the moost hym selfe / beyng the thyrde / and one after another / and let one interpret it. But if there be not an interpreter / let hym kepe silence in the congregation / wchm let him speake to him selfe / and to God. As for the Prophetes / let two or thre speake / let the other iudge. But if any reuelacion be made vnto another that sueth / then let the first holde his peace.

E Ye maye all prophase one after another / that they all maye learne / and that all may haue comforte. And the spete of the Prophetes are subiecte vnto the Prophetes. For God is not a God of confusion / but of peace / like as in all congregacions of the sainctes. * Let yare waye kepe silence in the congregacion / for it shall not be permitted vnto the / to speake / but to be vnder obediēce / as the lawe saith also. But if they will learne any thinge / let the ax theyr hous bandes at home. For it becommeth not women to speake in the congrega-cion. Wherbyng the worde of God from an-gange you. Whis is come vnto you onely. If any man chaunge hym selfe to be a prophete / or spiritual / let him knowe what I wryte vnto you / for they are the commaundementes of the Lord. But if any man be ignoraunt / let hym be ignoraunt. Wherfore brethren / couet to Prophete / and forbyd not to speake with tonges. Let all thynges be done banefullye Colaf. ij. a and in order.

The XV. Chapter.

I Declare vnto you brethre / the wofull that I I haue preached vnto you / wchich ye haue Galat. ij. a also accepted / and in the whiche ye stande / by the whiche also ye are sauid. After what mane I preached vnto you / if ye haue kepte it / ye erpe ye haue beid in vayne. For first of all I behureth vnto you that whiche I also re-ceaued / how that Christ I dyed for your synnes accordinge to the scriptures / and that he rose agayne / the thyrde daye accordinge to the scriptures / and that he was sene of Cephus / then of the twelue / after that was be sene of moche fre hundred brethre / as at once / wherof thre are yet manye alyue / but some are fallen in slepe.
After that was he sene of James / then of all the Apostles. Last of al was be sene of me also / as of one borne out of the erme. * For I am the leest of the Apostles / whiche am not worthy to be called an Apostle / because I per-secured the congregacion of God. But by the grace of God / I am that I am. And the grace in hath not ben vayne / for I haue laboured more then they all / wchm / not I the grace of God whiche is with me. Now whether it be for they / thus haue we picasced / and thus haue ye beleeued.

I But if Christ be preached / that he is risen from the dead / howe saye they then some amonge you / that there is no resurrection of the dead? If there be no resurrection of the dead / then is Christ not risen. If Christ be not risen / then is our preachinge in vayne / and your faith is also in vayne / yee / and we are founde false witnesses of God / because we haue ius-tified agaynst God / that he hath raised vp Christ / whome he hath not raised vp / if the dead rise not agayne. For if the dead rise not agayne / then is Christ also not risen agayne.
But if Christ be not risen agayne / then is your faith in vayne / and ye are yet in your syn-nes / they also that are fallen in slepe in Christ are perished. If in this life onely we hope in Christ / then are we of all men the moost miserable.

But now is Christ risen from the dead / C

The I. Epistle to the Corinthians.

Colos. b and is become the first frutes of them that sleepe. For by one man cometh death; and by one man the resurrection of the dead. For as they all dye in Adam / so shall they all be made alive in Christ / but every one in his order. For the first is Christ / then they that belonge unto Christ / when he cometh.
 Then the ende / when he shall deliuer vp the Kingdome vnto God the father: when he shall put downe all enemie / and all superiour and power: For he must rayge / till he haue put all his enemies vnder his feete. The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death / for he hath put all thynges vnder his feete. But whiche saith / that all thynges are put vnder hym / it is manifest that he is excepted / whiche put all thynges vnder hym. When all thynges shall be subdued vnto hym / then shall the sonne hym selfe also be subiect vnto hym / whiche put all thynges vnder hym / that God maye be all in all.

D O not thinke so they whiche are baptised ouer the dead / if the dead rise not at all: Why are they then baptised ouer the dead? and why stand we in jeopardy every houre: by oure receyving whiche I haue in Christ Iesu oure Lord / I dye daily. What I haue fought with beastes at Iherusalem after the maner of men / what besetth it me / if the dead rise not againe: Let vs eate and drinke / for we must eate & drinke. Be not ye deceaued: I will speake vnto you good maners. Ye were egypt vs / and synne nor foine haue nor the knowledge of God. Thus I saye to you plainly.

B ut many might saye: Howe shall the dead arise / and with what maner of body shall they come? Thou saulest that which thou sowest is not quickened / except it dye. And whatsoever thou sowest thou sowest not a body that shall be / but a bare sowe / namely of wheate / or of some other. But God giueth it a body as he will / a new eery one of the seedes his owne body.

E All this he is not one maner of sowe / but there is one maner sowe of iun / another of beastes / another of fowles / another of byrdes.
 And there are beauey bodies / and there are earthly bodies: but they beauey haue one glory / and the earthly another. The Sonne hath one clearenesse / the Moone hath another clea-nesse / and the starrs another clearenesse / for one starr exceedeth another in clearenesse: Euen so the resurrection of the dead. It is sowe in corruption / and shall rise in incorruption: It is sowe in dishonoure / and shall rise in glory: It is sowe in weakenesse / and shall rise in power: It is sowe a natural body / and shall rise a spiritual body.

I f there be a natural body / there is a spiritual body also. As it is written: The first man Adam was made into a natural life / and the last Adam into a spiritual life. Howbeit the spiritual body is not the first / but the natural / and then the spiritual. The first man is of the earth / earthy: the seconde man is from heauen / heauenly. As the earthy is such are they also that are earthly: and as the hea-uenly is such are they also that are heauenly.
 And as we haue borne the ymage of his earthy / so shall we beare the ymage of the heauenly also. Thus I saye brethren / that sicke a bloude can not inheret the Kingdome of God: ney they shall corruption inheret incorruption.

Behold / I saye vnto you a mystery: We shall not all sleepe / but we shall all be chaunged: the good / and the odernly / and in the twinkling of an eye / as the yme of the laste trompe. For the trompe shall blowe / and the dead shall rise incorruptible / and we shall be chaunged. For this corruptible must put incorruption / and this mortall must put on immortallite. But when this corruptible shall put on incorrup-tion / and this mortall shall put on immortallite: then shall the word be fulfilled that is wri-ten: I death is swallowed up in victory. O death / where is thy sting? Hell / where is thy victory? The sting of death is synne. The strength of synne is the lawe. But thanks be vnto God / through which hath giuen vs the victory: In whome we oure Lord Iesu Christ. Therefore my dear brethren / be ye stedfast / immouable / and alwaye stande in the word of the Lord: for as much as ye knowe that ye are labouring not in vayne in the Lord.

I will not see you now in my passage / for I hope to abide a while with you / if the Lord will / then will I see you. But I will stay at Ephesus vntill Whitsontyde for a great and fru-tefull booke is opened vnto me / and there are many aduersaries. If Timotheus come / let that be without feare with you / for he wrote the worke of the Lord as I do. Let no man therefore despise him / but conuince him for his peace / that he maye come vnto me / for I loke for him with the bishopp.

As for hys other Apollos / be ye sure / that I greatly desired him to come vnto you with the brethren. And his mynd was not at all to come at this tyme / but he will come when he hath oportunitie. Wandy ye stand fast in the sapientieye you lyfe men / and be stronger / let all your thinges be done in loue.

But brethren / knowe the house of Ste-phana / that they are the first frutes in Achaa / and that they haue appointed them selves to minister vnto the sanctes. I exhorte you to be obedient vnto such / and to all that helpe and labour. I am glad of the coniunginge of Stephana and Fortunus / and Achaeus.
For loke what was lacking vnto me on your parte / that haue they supplied / they haue respected my spere and yours. Knowe them therefore that are such.

The congregacion of Asia salute you. Anquila and Priscilla salute you muche in the Lord / and so doeth the congregacion that is in their house. All the brethren salute you.
Salute ye one another with an holy kysse.

Grace be with you / and peace from God our father / and from the Lord Iesu Christ.

Blessed be God the father of our Lord Iesu Christ / the father of mercie / and the God of all comfort / which comforteth vs in all oure troubles / in so muche that we are able to comforte the that are in any manner of trouble / with the same comforte wherewith we oure sel-ues are comforted of God. For as the afflictions of Christ are plentifull in vs / thus so is oure consolacion plentifull by Christ. One whether we haue trouble or comfort / it is done for your wealth. If it be trouble / it is done for your comforte / which healeth the weaknesse of our power / in that ye suffer the same afflictions which we suffer. If it be comforte / it is done also for your comforte and healeth. Therefore in our hope fall for you / in so muche as we knowe of charitye as ye are partakers of the afflictions / so shall ye be partakers also of the consolacion.

 The II. Chapter. ¶ But I call God to recorde vnto my self / that to fauour you withal I came not agayne vnto Corinthum. For that we are to be rebouled oure comen sayth / but we see helpe of youre ioye / for ye stande in sayth. But I determined this with my self / & I wold not come agayne to you in beauiynesse. For if I make you ioy / who is it that shall make me glad / but ye same whiche is made ioy by me. And thosome haue I wryten vnto you / lest when I come / I shoulde see beauiynesse of them / of whome I ought to reioyce / for so muche as I haue this confidence to you all / that my ioy is the ioy of you all. For in greate trouble / a anguish of herte wrote I vnto you with many teares / not that ye shoulde be ioy / but that ye mighte perceiue the loue / whiche I haue moost specially vnto you.

But if any man haue caused sorrow / the same hath not made me ioy / but partly / lest / I shoulde greue you al. This sufficiency / that I sawe in you / is for rebouled of many / so that I dre to comforte hym / lest / he be swallowed vp in ouermuch beauiynesse. Wherefore I wrote you / that ye shoulde loue vpon him. For the gyfte whiche I wryte vnto you also / that I myghte knowe the prouise of you / whether ye were obedient in all thinges. But loke vnto whome ye reioyce any thyng / I reioyce hym also. For I also if I reioyce ought vnto any man / that reioyce / for a ioye is in forme of Christ / lest / we shoulde be puenient of Satan. For his thoughtes are not enfloument vnto vs.

But when I came to Troada to preache the Gospell of Christ / and a doore was opened vnto me in the Lordes / I had no rest in my sperte / because I founde not Tyms my brother / but I toke my leue of them / and came away into Macedonia. Yet thanke be vnto God / whiche alweye geueth vs the victory in Christ / and openeth the fauoure of his knowledge by vs in euery place. For we are vnto God the good fauoure of Christ / both amonge them that are sauoured / and amonge them that perishe. To these / the fauoure of death vnto death / but vnto the other / the fauoure of lyfe vnto lyfe. And who is meite than? For we are not as many are / whiche chappe and chaunge wath the worde of God / but curie out of pureness / and out of God in the sighte of God / so speake we in Christ.

Begin

Begin we then a gossyp to praise oure selfes: Or neede we (as some other) of epistles of commendation vnto you / as letters of commendation from you: Ye are our epistle written in our hearts: which in vnderstande and reb of all men in that yeare knowen / how that ye are the epistle of Christ / ministered by vs / and written in oyle with ynke / But with the spere of the lyuynge God: not in tables of stone / but in fleshy tables of the heart. ¶ Suche trust haue we thorow Christ to Gods worte / not that we are sufficient of oure selues / to shoke any thing / as of oure selues / but oure abilitie / cometh of Gods / which hath made vs able / to be ministers of Gods new testament: not of the letter / but of the spere. For the letter kylleth / but the spere geueth lyfe.

But if the ministracion that kylleth thoro-we the letter / and was figured in stone / was glorious / so that the children of Israel might not beholde the face of Moses / for the clearnesse of his countenance / which glory neuertheless is done awaye: howe shall not the ministracion of the spere be much more glorious: For if the office that preachers haue had be glorious / much more doeth the office that preachers the ryghteousnesse exceede in glory: For in the other parte that was glorified is nothinge glorified in respect of this exceedinge glory: For if that which is done awaye / be glorious / much more shal that which remaineth be glorious.

Euenger then that we haue suche trust / we vse great boldnesse / and do not as Moyses / which put a vayle besou his face / so that the children of Israel might not see the ende of it / that is done awaye. But they mynded to see vnder it: For vnto this daye remaineth the same coueringe vntaken awaye in the olde Testament / when they receiued it / which in Christ is put awaye. But euen vnto this daye when Moses is red / the vayle hangeth before their heeres: / that they beholde / when they turne to the Lorde / the vayle shalbe taken awaye. / For the Lorde is a spere / and where the spere of the Lorde is / there is liuety. But nowe the glory of the Lorde appeareth in vs all with open face / and we are chaunged into the same ymage / from one clearnesse to another / euen as of the spere of the Lorde.

The IIII. Chapter.

Before yeinge we haue such an office / as euen as mercy is come vpon vs / we sayne not: but caste from vs the cloakes of dishonestie / and walke not in craftynesse: ney / that corrupte we the word of God / but open the truth / and repon oure selues to euery mans conscience in the sight of God.

¶ If oure Gospell be yet hye / it is hye in them that are lost in amonge to whom the God of this worlde hath blinded the myndes of them which beleue not / that the light of the Gospel of the glory of Christ / which is the ymage of Gods light / is not shyn vnto them. / For we preach not our selues / but Jesus Christ to be the Lorde / and oure selues your seruantes for Jesus sake.

¶ For God that commended the lighte to Borne out of the darkness / hath geuen a cleare shyn in our hearts / that by the lighte of the knowledge of the glory of God might come forth in the face of Jesus Christ.

But this treasure hauing in earthen vessels / as the power which excelleth might be of Gods / and not of vs. We are troubled on euery side / yet are we not without hope. We are in pouerty / but not vncertainly without sorrow: We are persecuted / but we are not forsaken: we are oppressed / but in all these things we perseue: we are all waies bare aboute / our body the wynges of the Lorde Jesus / that is the life also of the Lorde: Jesus might appeare in our bodies: / For we which lyue / are alwayes velyued vnto death / for Jesus sake / as the life also of Jesus might appeare in our mortall fleshe.

The cause is death / not our mighte in vs / but lyfe in you. / For but seinge that we haue the same spere of faith / accordinge as it is written: / I beleued / and therefore haue I spoken: we also beleue / and therefore we speake / for we knowe that he / which is raysed vp by the Lorde Jesus / shall visit vs / as he doth by the means of Jesus / and shall sit with vs. / For all thinge do I for your sake / that is the plentifulle grace: by the thanksgyuinge of many / ymage reboune to the praise of Gods. Therefore are we not weery / but though

Of ye Corinthians/oure mouth is open vnto you /oure heere is made large. Ye are in no straitnesse on oure behalfe: but where as ye are in straitnesse/that yo ye of youre owne heere meaninge. I speake to you/as to thyle dyt that haue lre reward with vs. See youre selfe therfore at laege.

E Ye are not a straining yoke with the vnbelieues. For whar fellowshipp hath righteousnesse with vngighteousnesse? What company hath lght with darkness? How agreeth Colosse with Belyall? What pace hath the Belueuer with the infidell? Howe can we order the temple of God with images?

I Ye are the temple of the lvinge God/as sayeth God: * I wyll dwell in them/and walk in them/and wyll be their God/and they shalbe my people. Wherefore come oure from amonge them/and separate youre selfe / I (sayeth the Lo:De/) and woude no vnwelcome thinge: so wyll I receaue you/and be youre father/and ye shalbe my sonnes and daughter / sayeth the almighty Lo:de.

The VII. Chapter.

Synge nowe that we haue suche promise / (Vearly beloued) let vs cleanse oure selfe from all fylthynesse of the fleshe and spite/and growe up to full holynesse in the feare of God. Vnderstande vs ryghte: We haue hurt woman / we haue corupte woman. We haue defrauded woman. I speake not this to cōdemne you/for I haue shewed you this/that ye are in ouer heere to bye and to luge with you. I am very bolde towards you. I make muche boast of you / I am fylled with comforte / I am exceedinge ioyous in all oure tribulation. I for whan we were come into Macedonia / oure fleshe had no rest / but we were troubled on euery syde: outward was syghing / inward was faice. Vncomfortable? God that comforteth the abiete/consolued vs by the communge of Titus.

Not onely by his communge / but also by the consolation wherewith he was comforted of you / whan he tolde vs your besyre / your wylunge / your frentt minde / so me so that I now reioyce the more. For where as I made you ioy by the letre / it rygently me not / though I did repente. for I feare that the same epistle made you ioy (though it were but for a season). But now I reioyce / not that ye were ioy / but that ye were ioy to cepte cause. For ye soted godly / so that I now charge ye were hurt by vs. I for godly sote cause / I repemaunce vnto saluation / not to be expented of: I but woude ye sote cause / death. Beholde / we here as ye haue had godly sote / what vngitnesse hath it wroughte in you? Yeer a sufficient amittence / vspite / feare / desyre / a sequent amittence / punishment. For in all poyntes ye haue shewed your selfe / that ye are chare in the maner.

Wherefore though I wrote vnto you / yet it is not done for his cause that did hurt / ne the for his cause that was hurt: but that your vngitnesse (which ye haue for vs in the sight of God) might be manifest with you. Therefore are we comforted / because ye are comforted: but crynged the more ioyed we / for the ioye of Titus / because his sperte was refreshed of you al. I am the for: not nowe as I shamed / though I boasted my selfe vnto him of you: but lyfe as all is true that I haue spoken vnto you / can so in oure boasting vnto Titus soude true also. And his inward affection is more abundantly towards you / whan he remembreth the obedience of you al / howe ye receaued him with feare and tremblunge. I reioyce that I may be bolde ouer you in all thinges.

The VIII. Chapter.

I do you to wryte (bretheren) the grace of God / which is giuen in the congregacions of Macedonia. For their conyng was mooste aboundaunte / whan they were tried by much trouble: and though they were exceedinge poore / yet haue they giuen exceedinge ryche / and that in synghynesse. For so there power / I haue receyved / yet / and beyonde their power / they were willing of their owne accord / and played vs with greate infuance / that we woude receaue their benefite / and fellowshype of the vbandyching that Act. xij. c is done for the functes: And not as we lo.  about measure / in pynsomenetes more plentifully / in hardnesse. Of the Jewes re-ceued I fve times fourety stripes one lesse.

 the eyes of the Damascenes / and wolde haue taken me / and at a trynbowe was I let doune

 his handes.

The XII. Chapter.

I professeth me nothyng / no doubt / to boast Vlceribless: I wyll come to the wyson / and exultacions of the Lorde. I knowe a man in Christ about fourety yeres agoe / whether he was in the body / can not telle: whether he was oute of the body / I can not tell / God knoweth: the some was taken vp into the thyrde heauen: and I knowe the same man / whether he was in the body / or oute of the body / I can not tell / God knoweth: howe that he was taken vp into the Paradys / and herde wordes not to be spoken / which no man can vter. Hereof wyll I boast / but of my selfe wyll I make no booste / excepte in the of myne infirmities. And though I wolde boast my selfe / I dred not foolshy-ly / for I wolde saye the truthe. But I re-frayne my selfe / lest any man shoulde thinke of me about bragge he sayeth in me / or brachyng of me. And lest I shoulde exalte my selfe oute of measure / because of the bygge exultacions / there is a warninge given vnto my fleshe / euen the necessitarie of Satban / to suffere me / that I shoulde not exalte my selfe oute of measure: for the which I besonght the Lord Iesus / that he myght vpaye in fro me: And he sayde vnto me: My grace is sufficient for the.
 For my strengthe is made perfecte by his we-weakenesse: Vnto glad therefore wyll I reioyce in my weaknesse: that the strengthe of Christe maye dwel in me.

Therefore I am contente in infirmities / in rebukes / in necessities / in persecucions / in angusties

angry w^{ch} for Christs sake: for what I am weak / then am I stronge. I am become a foule in the blaspemye my selfe: ye haue completed me. For I ought to be commended of you / in so much as I am in nothinge inferior to the byge Apostles. Though I be no-thinge yet are the cofessors of an Apst: We our ght amonge you / with all patience / with signes / and with wonders / and with mighty deedes. For what is it / wherein ye are inferiorious to the other congregations? or. epie u si that I haue not bene gracious vnto you.
 I forget me this wronge. Beholde / I am ready the thirde tyme to come vnto you / and will not be that greaue vnto you. For I like not youres / but you. For the children ought not to gather treasure for the idoles / but the idoles for the children. I will very gladly bestowe / and wylbe bestowed for your soules: though the more I loue you / the lesse am I laud againe.

¶ But I reioyce so / that I grieved you not: neuertheless / so muche as I was grieved / I reioyce you with gyle. Hane I defrauded you by any of them / whom I sent vnto you?
 I defraud Titus / and with him I see a throwd: Hane Titus defrauded you? Hane we not walked in one spiete: Wene we not in lyfte for restpeere? Againe / shal I saye that we graue ouer selfes: We speake in this wise in the sighte of God. But all this / dearly beloved / is done for your edifyinge. For I feare / lest / when I come / I shall not fynde you suche as I wold: and lest / ye shall fynde me suche as ye wold: not / in this / where be amonge you / beha-uours / enuicings / wrathes / stryuinges / factionings / whisperings / swellings / opinions left / when I come againe / God hange me lowe amonge you / and lest / I be constrained to bewaile many of them that haue sinned before / and haue not repented oure the vn-cleannesse / and whoredomes / and wantonnesse which they haue committed.

The Epistle of the Apostle S. Paul to the Galathians.

The first Chapter.

ii. Cor. i. a

i. Pet. i. a

Grace be with you, and peace from God the father, and our Lord Jesus Christ, which gave him selfe for oure synnes, that he might deliver us to his precious end, wold, according to the will of God our father, to whom be prayse for ever and ever. Amen.

2. Cor. 10. a

I marvel that ye are so soon turned from him, now called you in the grace of Christ, unto another Gospel, which is nothing else, but that there be some, which I trouble you, and intend to persecute the Gospel of Christ.

i. Cor. 10. a

Nevertheless, though we our selves, or an angel, or from heauen, preach unto you any other Gospel, than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. As we have sayde afore, so saye we now againe: If any man preach unto you any other thing, than that ye have receaved, the same be accursed. Cursed be they men now, who do so, I about to please men? I? I should yet please men? I were not the servants of Christ.

Job. 1. b

Jacob. 1. b

2. Pet. 1. b

* But I certifye you brethren, that the Gospel which is preached of us, is not of man, for I neither received it, nor learned it of man, but by the revelation of Jesus Christ.

Act. 13. a

114. a. 114. a

For ye have herde of my conversacion afore tyme in the Jewshyp, how that beyonde measure, I persecuted the congregacion of God, and spoiled it, and persecuted in the Jewshyp, about many of my companions in my nation, and was much more severe in sinners of the traditiones of the fathers.

But when it pleased God, which separated me from my mothers womb, and called me by his grace, to declare his sonnes in me, that I should preach unto some the Gospel amonge the Gentiles, immediately I communed not of this matter with flesh and bloud, neither came I to Jerusalem, unto them, which were Apostles before me: But wente my wayes into Arabia, and came againe to Damascus. Then after this yeare, I came to Jerusalem, to sit with Peter, and abode with him fyfteen dayes. As for the other Apostles, I sawe none of them, save James the Lordes brother.

2. Cor. 1. a

114. a

The things that I wrote unto you, behold, God knoweth, I write not. After that I wente I into the coastes of Syria and Cilicia: but of fact, I was unknowne of the Challen congregacion in Jerusalem, because they had herde only that: As that persecuted in tyme past, preached now in the faith, which some time be destroyed, and they praised God in me. A

The II Chapter.

Then after fourteen yeares, I wente up againe to Jerusalem, with Barnabas, and Titus, with me also. But I wente up by revelation, and remained with them of the Gospel, which I preach amonge the Gentiles: but specially with them, which were in reputation, lest I should runne, or had runne in vaine. But Titus, which was also with me, was not compelled to be circumcised, though he was a Greeke: and that because of certayne reasons, beinge false brethren, which came in amonge us, to spye out our libertie, which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bringe us into bondage, to whom we gave no room, nor yet for the space of an houre, as seeming to be brought into subjection, that the truth of the Gospel might continue with you.

2. Cor. 1. a

2. Cor. 1. a

As fourth, that seemd to be greater, that they were in tyme past, I make it no matter to me. For God loveth not the outward worde of men. Whether it be they, which seemed great, taught me nothing: but contrarywise, when they sawe that the Gospel, all our the one, returned on was one.

D. 1. 1. a

mitted vnto Peter: (for he that was my gyfte with Peter to the Apostell byppe ouer the circumcision) he same was myghty with me also amonge the Heythen: they receaued by grace that was geaun vnto me.

Galico and Cephas / and Iohn / which serued to be pyllyers / I gaue me and Barnabas the ryghte handes / and agreede with vs / that we shoulde preache amonge the Heythen / and they amonge the Jewes / vnto that we shoulde remember the poore: / whiche thinge also I was diligent to do.

But when Peter was come to Antioche / I withsade hym in the face / for he was worthy to be blamed. For after there came ceruayne from James / he dyd eate with the Heythen. But when they were come / he withdrew and separated hym selfe / fearinge them / which were of the circumcision. And the other Jewes vsfembled with hym lykewyse / in so muche that Barnabas was broughte vnto theyr simulation also. But when I sawe that they walked not ryghte after the tenet of the Gospell / I saide vnto Peter openly before all: If thou desyge a Jewe / lyust after the maner of the Gentiles / and not as do the Jewes / why causest thou the Gentiles then to lye as do the Jewes:

Though we be Jewes by nature / and not synners of the Gentiles: / yet in so muche as we knowe / that: man is not made righteous by the dedes of the lawe: / but by the fayth on Iesus Christ. We haue belueid also on Iesus Christ / that we myghte be made righteous by the feyth of his lorde / and not by the dedes of the lawe: because that by the dedes of the lawe no fleshe shalbe iustified.

If we then whiche seke to be made righteous by Christ / shoulde be yet founde synners our selues / is not Christ then the minisster of synne: God forbid. For if I buyde agayne that which I haue destroyed / then make I my selfe a trespasser. I Doe I knowe the lawe as Gad vnto the law / that I myghte lye vnto Gad. I am crucified with Christ / yet do I lye: where he liueth / now not I / but Christ liueth in me. For the lyfe whiche I now lye in the flesh / I lye in the fayth of the same of Gad: / whiche loued me / and gaue him selfe for me: / I cast not awaye the grace of Gad.

For if righteousnesse come by the lawe / then shoulde Christ in vayne.

The III. Chapter.

We foolish Galatians / who haue becomen vnto you / that ye shoulde not be serued before the eyes / and amonge you crucified. This onely wolde I learne of you: Kepe you from the sprete by the dedes of the lawe: / or by the preachinge of the sayth: Doe ye to vnto us: / Ye began in the sprete / wolde ye enche now then in flesh: Haue ye suffred so muche in vayne: / so be close in vayne. For that gaueh you the sprete / and doerh suche greute aites as amonge you: / woech heu shoulde the dedes of the lawe: / or by the preachinge of the sayth: I Ieuen as Abraham belueid God / and it Gene. xii. was counted vnto hym for righteousnesse. Rom. iij. c. Thus ye knowe that they whiche are of sayth / Jacob. ii. c. Abraham chylde.

The scripture saue aforehande / that God B iustified the Heythen euen sayth: Therefore shewed he glad tidings afore vnto Abraham / and sayde: I In the shall all Heythen be blessed. So then they whiche be of sayth / are blessed with saythfull Abraham. For as many as go aboute with the woordes of the lawe / are vnder the curse. For it is wrytten: I Cursed be e uery man that continueth not in all thynges whiche are wrytten in the booke of the lawe: do the. That now is iustified by the lawe / in the sygh of God is accursed: / For the iust shall Aba. ii. c. lye by his sayth. I The lawe is not of our i. b. sayth: / but the man that doeth the same / shal lye. Ieuen Iheron. I But Christ hath deliuered vs from the curse of the lawe / when he became a curse for vs for us wrytten: Cursed is e uery man that hangeh on a tree: / that the blessinge of Abraham myghte come on the Gentiles in Christ Iesu / and that we myghte so receaue the promysed spere the same sayth.

But then I will speake after the maner of C men. Though it be but a mans wyllement / yet noman despiseth it / or addeth any thinge thereto: / I when it is confirmed. I To Abraham and hys seide were I promysed made. He sayeth not in the sedes as in many / but in thy selfe / as in one / whiche is Christ. This Testamene I saye: / which afore was confirmed to Christ wrytters not disannulled / that I pro-no childen: break forth / and crye thou that enaylsis not / for the Iesulus hath many mo childen then the which hath an houshede.

As for: we brethren we are the children of I saac/according to the promise.

137 Ihus lyke as at that tyme/so that was borne after the flesch/persecuted bym that was borne after the spere / then so is it now also. But 138 what sayest the scripture? I Put away the bonds mayden/and be sonnes for the sonns of the bonds mayden shall not be buye with the sonne of the free woman. So now brethren/we are not childen of the boude mayden / but of the free woman. I

Chap. V. Chapter.

139 Stande fast therefore in the liberty / where with Christ hath made us free/and be not wrapped agayne in the yoke I of bondage.
140 Beholde / I Paul say vnto you: * If ye be cursums / Christ Iesus profereth you nothinge at all.
I eschise agayne vnto every man which is intimus / whether he is boude to kepe the whole lawe. Ye are quite quyre from Christ/as many of you as will be made righteous by the lawe/and as fallen from grace. But we waye in the spere of hope / to be made righteous by fayth. I For in Christ Iesu / neither is circumcisione with any thinge / nor vncircum-

Grace be with you /

 father / and from the Lord Iesus Christ.
 Blessed be God and the father of our Lord Iesus Christ / which hath blessed vs with all manner of spirital blessinge in hea-uenly things by Christ / accordinge as he had chosen vs by him as euer the foundatione of the world was layde / that we shoulde be holy and without blame before him in lone / and without spot / to reueale vs as doctours whom Iesus Christ / accordinge to the pleasure of his will / vnto the praye of the glory of his grace / wherby he hath made vs accepted in the Father. In whom we haue redemption / which is without spot / in himselfe / and without wrinkle / and without any thinge of the sorte / which he hath chosen vs to himselfe before the foundatione of the world / that we shoulde be holye and without blame before him in lone / and without spot / to reueale vs as doctours of his grace / which he hath shed vpon vs abundantly / and in all wis-dome and prouidence / and in his will hath opened vnto vs the mysterie of his will / accordinge to his pleasure / which he had pur-posed in himselfe / that it shoulde be preached / that when the tymes were fulfille / that all things shoulde be gathered together by Christ / both the thynges which are in heauen / and also the thynges that are vpon earth / euen by him / by whome also we receiue to the inheritance / that we that were before tyme predestinate / before accordinge to the purpose of his will / whiche we seech all thynges after the counsaill of his owne will / that we myght be to the praye of his glorie / euen we that therfore beleeued in Christ / on whome also ye beleeued / after that ye herde the word of truth / namelye the Gospill of youre salvation / which began when ye be-leued / ye were sealed with his holy spirit / whiche is the earnest of oure inheritance / to the end of our redemption / that we myght be his owne / and to the praye of his glorie.

Wherefore I also / in so muche as I haue herde of the faith / whiche ye haue in the Lord because not to geue thankes for you / and make mention of you in my praye / that the God of our Lord Iesus Christ / the father of the glorie / may geue vnto you the spirit of wis-dome / and open vnto you the euery thinge of himselfe / and lighten the eyes of youre vnderstandinge / that ye may knowe what is the hope of your callinge / and what the riches of his glorious inheritance / which he hath geuen vs in himselfe / and what is the exceeding great-nesse of his power / whiche he doeth accordinge to the workinge of his myghty power / whiche he wroughte in Christ / when he raised him vp from the dead / and set hym on his right hande in heavenly things above all / rule /

The Epistle to the Ephesians.

Philip j. b. F Wherefore I desire that ye saynt not for a cause of my tribulations / that I suffer for your which is your payse.

E For this cause I bowe my knees unto the father of our Lord Iesus Christ / whiche is the true father of all that is called father in heauen and in earth / that he graunte you (ac-cordinge to the riches of his glorious) to be strengthed with power by his sperte in the inward man / that Christ maye dwell in youe herco by feyth / that ye be fullye rooted / and grounded in loue / maye be able to comprehend with all saunties / what is the breadth and length / and the depth / and the height / and to knowe the loue of Christ / whiche lone yett passeth all knowledge / that ye maye be fylled with all manner of fullnesse of God.

Vnto hym that is able to do exceedinge aboundantly / I aboute all that we see or vnderstande (accordinge to the power that worketh in vs) be present in the congregation which is in Christ Iesu / at all tynes for ever a euer Amen.

The III. Chapter.

Wherefore you which are purpore in the Lords Church / shew you that ye walke as a becommeth your callinge / whereas ye are called / to all humbilities of mynde / and lowe sufferinge / forbearinge one another in loue / be diligent to kepe the vnite of the sperte / that is the bond of peace. One body and one sperte / and as ye are called in one hope of your callinge. One Lord / one faith / one baptisme / one God and father of all / whiche is aboue all / and throughte all / and in you all.

Vnto every one of vs is giuen graced accordinge to the measure of the gift of Christ.
 These sayeth he / he is gone vp on hys / a hath led away captiue captiue / a hath gene vs in to men. That he woulde vs / what is it / but that he first came downe in the lowest partes of the earth / he that came downe / so euen the same which is gone vp aboue all hea-uens to sittel at the right hande of the father / And the same which is come to be the Apostles / some to be Disciples / some to be Euangilistes / some to be shepherdes and teachers / whereby the saunties myght be coupled together by communicatione / to the displayng of the body of Christ / till we all come vnto one maner of saynt / a knowlege of the sonne of God / and become a perfect man into the mee-sure of the perfecte age of Christ. It is that we be none with euery wynde of doctrine / that the wickednesse of me and craftynesse / wherby they laye wyte for vs to deceaue vs.

But let vs loke with trust in loue / and in al things growe in him / whiche is the brady euen Christ in whom all the body is coupled together / and one in the faith by another throughte all the mynne. To wherby one ministereth vnto another (accordinge to the reason as euery man hath his measure) and in such that the body groweth to the displayng of it selfe in loue.

This I saye therfore / and asist in the Lords Church / that ye walke none / as the other heyrin walke in the wante of the mynde / beblinded in theyr vnderstandinge / byng fleungers from the lyfe whiche is in God / throughte the ignorance that is in theyr eyes of the blindness of theyr hert / whiche byng past repentance / haue geuen them selfe ouer vnto wretchednesse to walke all manner of vn-cleannesse with greuousnesse.

But ye haue not fornicate Christ / if so be that ye haue beede of him / and are taughte in hys euill as the truth is in Iesu. So then as concerning the conuersacion in synne past / I saye from you that olde man / which marcheth bym selfe / shaloue decaule in synne. Wherby ye renoued in the sperte of your mynde / and put on that new man whiche is shapen after God / in true righteousnesse and holynesse.
Wherfore put awaye lyenge / and speke the truth as the truth wherby ye maye knowe the same as we are members one of another. Be angry / but synne not. Let not the sunne goe downe vpon your wrath / neyther geue place to the wrath. Be that hath stolen / let hym steale no more: But let hym that hath done rather / and do some good with his han-des / that he maye haue to geue vnto hym that needeth.

Let no feble communicatione preceide out of your mouth / but that which is good to the edificatione of the body / whiche is the bond of the vnite / whan node in / that is to be greuous / and geue not / but holy wherwith ye are trised vnto the daye of

The V. Chapter.

A Be ye the followers thereof of God as of dear children / and walk in love / euen as Christ loved vs / and gave hym self for vs in offering / and sacrifice of a sweet sauour vnto God. ¶ As for whoredome / and all uncleanness in euery conscience / let it not be named amonge you / as it becometh synners / vnto the holy spirit / no / soothly talking / vnto the conscience which are not comly / but rather geuyng of thanks. ¶ For be sure / that no whoremonger / or vncleane person / or couetous person / which is a worshipper of ymagines / hath inheritance in the Kingdome of Christ a of God.
¶ Let no man because you walk vayne wor-des / for because of these cometh the wrath of God vpon the children of vncleane. ¶ Be not ye therefor copartners with them. ¶ For some tyme ye were withoute / ¶ but now are ye light in the Lord.

Walk as the children of light. ¶ For the fruite of the spirit is all manner of goodnesse / a righteousnesse / and truchnesse / and proue what is pleasing vnto the Lord / and haue no seruile / but rather rebuke them / for it is shame euen to name those thynges / which are done of them in secret. ¶ But all thynges are manifested / when they are rebuked of the light. ¶ For whosour is manifest / that same is light.
Therefore sayeth he / ¶ Awake thou that sleepest / and stande vp from the dead / and Christ shall give thee the light.

Take heed therefore how ye walke / euen specially / not as the vncleane / but as the wise / and seeke the tyme / for it is a mysurable tyme.
Wherefore be not ye vayne / but vnderstande what the will of the Lord is / and be not like vnto the world / wherein is excess / but be full of the spirit / and walke amonge your sel-ues of wisdomes / and hymnes / and spiritual soan-ges / singing and making melody vnto the Lord in your heart / geuyng thanks alwayes for all thinges vnto God the father / in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ sub-manage your selues one to another in the feare of God.

Let the women submit the selues vnto the husband / as vnto the Lord. ¶ For Colos. i. c. the husband is the wyfes head / as Christ is the also the head of the congregation / and he is the sauour of his body. ¶ Therefore as the congregation is in subiection to Christ / lyke wyse let wyfes be in subiection to the husband in all thynges.

Ye husbandes loue your wyfes / euen as Christ loved the congregation / ¶ and gave hym self for it / to sanctifye it / and cleanse it in the fountayne of water by the worde / to make it vnto hym self a glorious congregation / without spot / nor wrinkle / nor any such thyng / but that it should be holy and without blame.

So oughte we also to loue the wyfes / euen as the owne bodies. ¶ He that loueth his wyfe / loueth hym self. ¶ For no man euer yet ha-red his owne fleche / but whosoer he / and they thee / is euen as the Lord / wherof also the congregation. ¶ For we are members of his body / of his fleche / and of his bones. ¶ For this cause shall a man leaue father and mother / and cleue vnto his wyfe / and they two shall be one fleche.
This is a great secreete / but I speake of Christ and the congregation. ¶ Meneer ye also ye / that eueri one of you loue his wyfe / euen as hym self / but kepe the wyfe feare her husbande.

The VI. Chapter.

Let the children obey your fathers in the Lord / for that is right. ¶ Honour thy father and thy mother. ¶ This is the first commandement / that hath any promise / that thou mayest prosper / and thine longe epe-narde. ¶ And ye fathers / nurture not your children vnto wrath / but byngre them vnto the nurture / and of instruction of the Lord.

Ye seruantes / obey your bodily masters / with feare and trembling / in the Lord.
For this is the first of your here euen as vnto Christ / but not in the with seruaue only in the eye sight / so men pleasur / but as y seruantes of Christ / doynge the will of God from the heart with good will. ¶ Thinke that ye serue the Lord and not men / and be sure / that what good seruaue a which are at Colossa / and brethren that beleeue in Christ.

Grace be with you / a peace fro God our father / and fro the Lord Iesu Christ.
* We geue thanks vnto God and the father of our Lord Iesu Christ / pasinge alwaye for you / since we herde of your foyth in Christ Iesu / and of youre loue to all synners / for the hopes sake / whiche is layd vp in store for you in heauen: of the whiche ye haue herde before by the woide of truth in the Gospell / which is come vnto you / vnto as it was into all the world / and is fruite full to you / since the day that ye herd a fewe the grace of God in the truth / as ye learned of Epaphrosius oure deare fellowe seruante / whiche is a faithfull minister of Christ for you whiche also declared vnto vs youre loue in the frute.

The III. Chapter.

Continue in prayer / and watch in the same with thanksgiving and pray also together for us that God open unto us the door of the word / to speak the mystery of Christ / wherefore I am also in bonds / that I may visit the same / as it becometh me to speak. Walk wisely towards them that are without / and redeem the time. Let your speech be always savourable / seasoned with salt / that ye may know howe to answer every man.

whiche is one of you: they shall comfort you of all things / which are aboynde here. I Apo-stardus my person flowe salueth you / and Marcus Barendasse his sone / counselling whome ye received commaundmentes: If ye com / visit us / receive hym / and Jesus / whiche is called Theudas / whiche are of the circumcision: These only are my helpers in the Kingdome of God / which were to my consolation.

B Thepphas a servant of Christ / which is one of you / salueth you / and alwaye labourer continually for you in prayer / that ye may stand perfect and full in all that be the will of God: I beseech him recorde / that he hath a fervent desire for you / and for them at Laodicea / and at Hierapolo. Greet Likas the Physician / salueth you / and so doth Onesimus. Salute the brethren / whiche are at Laodicea / and salute Nymphas / and the congregation which is in his house.

And when the epistolic reddes of you / cause it to be redded also in the congregation at Laodicea / and that ye likewise reddes the Epistle of Laodicea. And saye to Archippus: Take heed to the office whiche thou hast recei-ued in the Lord / that thou fulfill it. My salutation with the hands of me Paul. Remember my bonds. I Grace be with you & the leued in Macedonia and Achaia. For from you was the word of the Lord noised out; not only in Macedonia and Achaia; but in all quarters also in your parts in God speed abroad; so that it needeth not saye speake any thinge at all. For they them selves shewe of you; what manner of curinge in we had vnto you; and how ye are turned vnto God from ymagines; for to serue the living and true God; and to loke for his sonne; from heauen whome he calyed vp from the dead; when Jesus; whiche hath deliuered vs from the death is to come.

The 11. Chapter.

1 G^o G^oize your selves brethren knowe of your inturance vnto you here; that it was not inuaine; but as we had suffered at Cor^oth; and were shamefully entreated at Philipp^o; as ye knowe; we were bolde in our God; to speake vnto you the Gospel of Gods with much stryvinge. For oure cybonaryon was not to bange you to erreour; nor yet to vnielence; neither was it with gyle; but as we are allowed of God; that the Gospell should be continued vnto vs to preache; euen so we speake; inoe as though we wolde please men; but Gods; whiche nether cure here.

2 For we haue no knowe about reth flatterring wordes; as ye knowe; nor wanted for oure owne profyte; God is reade; neither sought we praise of men; neither of you; nor of any other; than we might haue bene chargeable vnto you as the Dispensers of Christs; but we write vnder amonge you.

3 Like as a noise sheweth her children; euen so had we herelly affection towards you; and wolde with good will haue dealt vnto you; not onely the Gospel of God; but oure liues also; because ye were deore vnto vs.

4 Remember brethren oure laboure and trouble; for we and myght wroughte vnto any of you; and preached the Gospell of God amonge you. Ye are witnesses; and so is Gods; whiche holys; and with; and vnbloimable; we behauid oure selves amonge you; that ye knowe. For we had as a father his children; euen so laboured we and comforted; and sought tury one of you; that ye wolde waite wonder; before; God; whiche hath called you vnto his kyngdome; and glorye.

5 For this cause thanke we God withoute ceasinge; because that when ye receaued of vs the wordes of the preachinge of Gods; ye receaued it not as the wordes of men; but euen as it is of deathe; the wordes of God; whiche worketh in you; that ye beleue.

6 For ye brethren are become the followers of the congregacion of God; which in Ier^oz^o habite; as euen Christs; Jesu; that ye haue suffered euen lyke thinges; of your paynment; as they haue suffered of the Iewes. Whiche as they put the Lord; Jesus; to death; and they; oure prophetes; euen so haue they persecuted vs also; and pleasure of Gods; and are contrarye to all men; that forbyddinge vs to speake vnto the Brethren; that they might be saved; to fulfill their sentence; all wayes; for the wrath is come vpon them; already; vnto the uttermost.

7 But we brethren; for as much as we haue bene kepte from you; for a season; as to comforte the bodily presences; but not in the hart; we haue hapyled the more; with great desire; to see you personally. Therfore wolde we haue come vnto you; Paul; Ier^oz^o tyme; but Suchan; wisheth vs; for we be oure hope; to see; or; come of; reuenging; see; but; not; yet; in; the; sight; of; our; Lord; Jesus; Christs; as his; countinge; Ye; for; are; oure; praise; and; reue.

The 11. Chapter.

1 Brethren; since we coulde no longer; subdure; we thoughte it good; to remaine at Ier^oz^o alone; and sende Timotheus; our brother; and mynster of Gods; and oure helper in the Gospel of Christs; to stablishe you; as to comforte you in your faith; that no man should be moued in these troubles; for ye your selves knowe; that we are euen appointed thereunto; And when we were with you; we tolde you; that we should suffre tribulation; euen as it is to come; to passe; and as ye knowe; for this cause; I saye; I coulde no longer; be deore; I sent; that I might haue knowlege of your faith; happily; the remembre had bene musinge.

The firſt Chapter.

Paul and Siluanus / and Timotheus.

To the congregation of the Theſſalonians in God our father / in the Lozde Jeſu Chriſt.

Grace be with you / as I praye from God our father / and from the Lozde Jeſu Chriſt.

We are bounde to thank God alwaye for you brethren / as is our duty: becauſe that your faith groweth exceedingly / in the loue of euery one of you increaſeth towarde another amonge your ſelues / ſo that we our ſelues make our boast of you / in the congregation of God of your patience / and ſay in all your perfecutions and troubles that ye ſuffere / which is a token of the righteous iudgement of God / that ye are counted worthy of the Kingdom of God / for the which ye alſo ſuffere.

For as a righteous thinge with God / is recompence tribulation vnto the that trouble you / but vnto you which are counted reſt in vs / when the Lozde Jeſus ſhall ſend him that ſitteth ſilke from heauen / with the angels of his power / and ſhall come / and with flaminge fire / he ſhall reuenge vnto them that know not God / as it is ſayd in the ſcriptures / that he ſhall puniſh the wicked with euerlaſtinge dampnation / from the power of his glory / when he ſhall come to be gloriſied in his ſanctes / and to become marvellous in all them that beleeue / becauſe ye haue beleeued our teſtimony vnto you of theſe things / wherefore we praye alwaye for you / that our God make you worthy of the calling / and fullſhall the ſatisfaction of goodwiſe / in the worke of faith in power / that the name of our Lozde Jeſu be together with hym. Wherefore comforte your ſelues together / and edifie one another / euen as ye do. It

We beſeeche you brethren / that theſe ye knowe them which laboure amonge you / and haue the outſight of you in the Lozde / and geue you exhortation / that ye haue them the moſt in loue for theſe workes ſake / and be as great with them. ¶ We beſeeche you brethren / warne them that are vncleay / comforte the ſoule mynked / ſo that they be patiente towardes all men. ¶ That none recom- pence cutt for euil onto any man: but euer for loue that which is good / both amonge your ſelues and to all men.

¶ Keepe alwaye / praye continually / in all thynges / be thankfull: for this is the will of God in Chriſt Jeſus towardes you. ¶ Quere not the ſpice: ¶ Keepe not prophetynges / proue all thynges / and kepe that which is good. ¶ Abſtayne from all ſuſpicious thynges: ¶ The very God of peace ſanctiſie ye you thow- reuout. ¶ And I praye God that your whole ſpice / ſoule and body be kept blameleſſe vnto the comming of the Lozde Jeſu. ¶

¶ Faithfull to be which haue called you / which we alſo doe. Brethren praye for vs. ¶ Grace all the brethren with an holy kiſſe. ¶ Charge you by the Lozde / that this Epistle be redde vnto all the holy brethren.

¶ The grace of our Lozde Jeſus Chriſt be with you. Amen.

WE beseech you brethren by the comminge of oure Lorde Iesus Christ / and in that we shall assemble vnto hym / that ye be not soe dely in an ed soe in your mynde / and be not troubled in your hearts by spere / neither by wordes / nor yet by letters / whiche should seme to be sent from vs / as though the daye of Christ were at hande. Let none deceiue you by any measure. For the Lorde cometh not excepte the betraying of some first / and that the man of synne be open: / by whom the sonne of perdition / whiche is an aduersary / and is called aboue all things called God / as gods serue so that he synch as God / in the temple of God / and boasteth hym selfe to be God.

Remembur ye not / that when I was yet in you / I tolde you this by synge: And now ye knowe what hath befallen vs / even so it maye be wored at his tyme. For the mysterye of the iniquite worketh already. Let hym that holdeyth holde faste now / till he which nowe onely keepeth be taken oue of the waye. And then shall that wicked be wored / whose name is the Lorde. He shall come with the spere of his mouth / and shall bespore with the appearences of his comminge: He cometh by / whose comminge is as a lixe the workinge of Satan / with all synne / and signes / and wonders / and with all deceaiblenesse of unrighteousnesse amonge them that receiue / because they receiued not the love of the truth / whiche they maye haue ben saved. Therefore shall God sende the stronge delusion / that they shoulde beleue / that all they maye be deuyced / whiche beloued are the truth / but had pleasure in vntyrantynesse.

But we are bounde to geue thanks alwaye vnto God for you brethren beloved of the Lorde / because that God hath from the begynninge chosen you to saluacion in the sanctifyinge of his spere / and in beleuynge of the truth / whiche is to be had called you by oure Gospill / to obtayne the glorie of oure Lorde Iesu Christ.

Therefore brethren stande fast / and kepe the aduortice which ye haue receiued / when heretofore by oure preachinge / or by epistle. But oure Lorde Iesu Christ / and God our Father / whiche hath loued vs / and geuen vs euery synge consolation / and a good hope of glorye / will comforte youe here / as he shall by hym selfe in all tribulacion and good worke.

The iii. Chapter.

WHether more brethren I praye for vs / that the worde of God maye haue fre passage / and be glorified / as it is in us / and that each of us maye be preserved from vniuersall and contumelious. For sayth he not euery man. But the Lorde is saythfull / whiche shall stablye be you / and kepe you from euill. We haue confidence in the Lorde to your ward / that ye hope so / and will so / that whiche we commaunde you. The Lorde will geue you his grace / and the love of God and patience of our Iesu Christ.

But we require you brethren in the name of oure Lorde Iesu Christ / that ye kepe you frome your selfe from euery brother that walketh vniuersally / and not after the instruction whiche he receaued of vs. For ye knowe your selfe knowe howe ye ought to folowe vs: for we behaued not oure selfe vniuersally amonge you / neither toke we bread of any man for nought / but wrought with labour / and trauayle night and daye / lest we shoulde be chargeable to any of you. For that we had no suche auortice: but so geue our selfe for an example vnto you to folowe vs. And what we receiue with you / this we wanted you off that if there were any which woude not worke / these same shoulde not care. For we heare say / that there are some whiche walke amonge you vniuersally / and wike not at all / but are busy bodies. But them that we thus commaunde and exhorte by oure Lorde Iesu Christ / that they wike with quietnesse / and eat their owne bread.

Nevertheless brethren / be not ye weary of worke. But if any man obey not our sayngs / and haue nothinge to do with him / that he maye be shamed. Yet counte hym not an enemye / but wenech him as a brother. The very Lorde of peace geue you peace alwaye by all means. The Lorde be with you all.

the Elders. These things increase/and grow by selfe vnto them / that they increase maye be manifeste onto many. Take heed vnto thy selfe/ as to learning/ continue in these things. For if thou so do/ thou shalt saue thy selfe/ and them that heare thee. I.

The V. Chapter.

Who build not an Elder/ but exhoite him as a father: as the yonger man as brethren: the Elders women as mothers / the yonger as sisters/ with all purenesse. Honour wydoes/ whiche are true wydoes. If any wydoe haue childen/ let them learne fyrst to rule their owne houses/ godely/ and so to respect their elders. For that is good and acceptable before God. I But first that is a ryght wydoe/ and desolate / punish her cruell in God / as commeth in prayer (a supplication nyght/ and daye. But she that curseth in pleasures / is dead/ euen yet aloue. And these things commaunde/ that they maye be without blame. I But if there be any man that proueth not for his owne / and specially for them of hys household / thysame hath denyed the sayth/ and / is a wofull man an infidell.

Let no wydoe be chosen vnder the seate yere olde / as huchene as was the wyfe of one man / a well reported of in good woikes / if she haue brought vp children well / if she be an den fyf / if she haue mistred vnto the which were in aduersity / if she were continually given to all maner of good woikes. But yonger wydoes refuse. For when they haue begonne to worke manian agaynst Christ / then will they marrye / hauynge their damnacion / because they haue ben the first sayth. Bewyde this they acceid / and leaue to runne about from house to house. I Not onely are they ydell / but also trayferyng / a busy bodyes / spealinge things which they doe not comys.

I will therefore that the yonger women marrye / beare children / geue the house / to geue the church / no occasion to speake euell. For some art turned backe already after Sarah. If any man or woman that belieueth / haue wydoes / let them make prouision for the / and let not a congregation be charged / that is which are righte wydoes / maye haue ynough.

Let the elders that rule well / are worthy of double honoure / moost specially that which labour in the worke / and in teachinge. For the scripture sayeth: I Thou shalt not make ill the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne. And the labourer is worthy of his reward.

I against an Elder receive none accusation but vnder two or thre wytnesses. Them that synne / rebuke in the presence of all / that other also maye feare.

I charge before God and the Lorde Jesus Christ and the electe Angells / that thou obserue these things without bawbye iudgement / and do nothinge partially. I Lay ben dede sobertly on noman / neyther by partialite of other mens synnes: I Take thy selfe pure.

I Wike no longer wane / but vse a lyll wyne for thy stomacke sake / as because thou art of thyne synne. Some wiche synnes / see open / so that they maye be wiche of aforesaid: But some more synnes / shalbe manifest hereafter. Let wyfe also good woikes are manifest of his hande: and they that are otherwyse can not be hyd.

The VI. Chapter.

Let as many / as desire to be vnder the honoure / that the name of God and hys doctryne be not euill spoken of. Se that they whiche haue beleuyng nyakers / despyse them not / because they are busshen / but rather do serue: for so much as they are beleuyng / and beleued / and partakers of the benyfyce.

These things teache / and / thete. I If any man teache otherwyse / and agree not vnto the wholesome wordes of oure Lorde Jesus Christ / and to the benyfyce of godlynesse / he is a puffed vp / and knoweth nothinge / but wayes flesh his wayes / and raise questions / and strynges of wordes: the better of synne / as euyle / sayeth / saynges / euell for mys / as / synne / dysputes / of such men as haue corrupte myndes / and are robbed of the truth / whiche synne / that godlynesse in lucre: I geue separate / the selfe / howbeit / no greute auarunage / who so is godly / and holdeth hym content with that hebereth. I For we broughte nothinge into the worlde / thys is / is it a playne case / that we can carrye nothinge out. I When we haue soude and sayment / let us sheweth be soule / for they that wyte / wyfe / shal into the temple

Gene. xix after shoulde lyue vngodly: And deluered iusts both / whiche was seyd with the godly conuersation of the wycked. For in so much as he was righteous and dwelt among them / so that he muste needs see it and heare it: so righteous he was / greued from they to save with their vnlawfull dedes.

i. Cor. x. b The Loide knoweth how to deluer the godly out of temptation / and howe so euer the unius: vnto the daye of iudgement: so to be punished: but specially them that walke after the fleshe in the luste of vnelicenesse / and despise the rulers: byng presumptuous / stub-borne / and feare not to speake euill of them whiche are in aucthorite: when the iugles see whiche are greater both in power and might / feare not the blasphemous iudgements against them of the Loide: But these are as vnic beasts / whiche naturallye are withoute faith to be taken / and destroyed: speaking euill of that they knowe not / and shall perishe in theyr owne deluccion / and so receave the reward of vnrighthousnesse.

Jude i. b They counte it pleasure to lyue vniciously for a season: Spoiles are they / and filthy-ness byung as pleasure / and in decausable wacessing with that whiche is yaures / has vngodly eyes full of aduource / and can not cease from synne: they synge vnstable soules: haunge an vntre cherytye with couerous-nesse: they are cursed children / and haue forsaken the right waye / and are gone astray: so lowing the waye of Balaam the sonne of Bofor / whiche louch the ewerde of vnrigh-teousnesse: but was rebuked of his maister.

Num. xxiij. The tame and vntame beaste spake with

Exu. xxxij. c prophete.

Jude i. c These are welles withoute water / and they are earied aboute of a wynd: to whome the synne of Barnefis is referred for cure. For they speake the proude wordes of vntame vnto the wntowen / and entice the wntowen vnto the lust of the fleshe / euen them that were cleane escaped: and now walke in errorre and promys them libertie: where as they selfe are seruautes of corrupcion. For of whomsoever a man is overcome: vnto the same he is bounde. For if they after they haue escaped from the fleschines of the woild knowe the knowledge of the Loide / and Sauoure I. I. S. Christ: are yet tangled againe therein and overcome: then is the last daye ende worse vnto them then the beryng of the first. For it had bene better for them: not to haue knowen the waye of righteousnesse: / after they haue knowen it: to tume from the hely commandment: that was geuen vnto them. This happened vnto them / accord-dyng vnto the true prouerbe: the dogge is turned to his vomite againe: and the swine that was washed / vnto her wallowinge in the myre.

 were tolde before of the holy prophetes: and also the commandment of our lord: be the Apostles of the Loide and Sauoure.

This firste vnderstande: that in the laste dayes there shall come iudges whiche will walke after theyr owne lustre / and saye: Where is the promise of his coming? For since the fathers fell on slepe / certyn thinge continueth as it was from the beginninge of the creatur. This they knowe not: and the vntowen: howe that the beaues were afore tyme also: and the earth ouer of water: and was in the water by the woide of God: yet was the woild at that tyme destroyed by the same with the flood. But the beaues whiche are yet / and the corth are trepe in flore by his woide: no be referred vnto vnye agaynst the daye of iudgement / and vnto the daye of vntowen of godly men.

Worke delaued / he not ignoraunce of this one thinge: howe that one daye in with the of the lyfe: and the lyfe hath appeared / and we haue sene / and haue wytnesse / and there is one you the I lyfe that is euerlasting / which was with the father / and hath appeared vnto vs. That whiche we haue sene / and herde declare we vnto you / yf ye also may haue felow-shipp with vs / and that oure felowshipp maye be with the father and with his sonne Iesus Christe. And this wyse we vnto you: that your sope may be full.

¶ And this is the sydynge which we haue herde of hym / and declare vnto you / that God is lycht: and in him is no darcknesse at all. If I saye that we haue felowshipp with him / a ye shall in darcknesse / we lye / and do not the truch. But if we walke in lycht / euen as he is lycht / then haue we felowshyppe together / ¶ and the bloude of Iesus Christ: his sonne cleaseth vs from all synne.

* If we saye that we haue no synne / we de-ceave oure selfe / and the truch is not in vs. ¶ But if we knowlege oue synne / he is fayne full and will vs forgive vs our synne / and to cleaseth vs from all unrighteousnesse. If we say / we haue not synned / we make him a lyar / and his woide is not in vs.

Lorde shall come euen as a thefe in the nyght in the which daye the heuens shall peryshe with a greate noyse / and the Elementes shall melt with heate / and the earth / and the wo-res that are therein shall burne.

¶ If all these thynges shall peryshe / what maie persona then oughte ye to be in holy conuersacion and godlynesse / to synge for and praynyng vnto the comminge of Gada daye: ¶ In the whiche the heuens shall peryshe with fyre / and the Elementes shall

The 1. Epistle of S. Iohn.

1. Ioh. iij. e hath bene God at any tyme. † If we loue one another / God dwelleth in vs / and his loue is perfect in vs. Hereby knowe we that we dwell in hym / and he in vs / because he hath geue vs of his sperte. And we haue sene and testifye that the saie sene the sonne to be the Hauoure of the worldes. † Who soeuer now confesseith that Iesus is the sonne of God / in him dwelleth God / and he in God / and we haue knowne and beleued the loue that God hath to vs.

¶ God is loue / a he that dwelleth in loue / dwelleth in God / and God in him. See in is the loue perfecte with vs / that we should haue a fre t' d'oldnesse in the dar of ind'gement / for as he is seue / so are we in this world. Iate is not in loue / but perfecte loue casteth out feare / for feare hath payn / fulnesse. He that feareth / is not perfecte in loue.

1. Ioh. iij. a Leti nolone him / for he loued vs first. † If any man saie / I loue God / and yet hateth his brother / he is a liar. For he that loueth not his brother whom he seith / how can he loue God / whom he seith not. † And this commaundement haue we of him / † that he whiche loueth God / should loue his brother also. †

The V. Chapter.

¶ Who soeuer denieth that Iesus is Christ / is the son of God. And who soeuer loueth him that denieth / loueth him also / whiche was begotten of hym. By this we knowe that we loue Gods children / when we loue God / and keepe his commaundementes. † For this is the loue of God / that we keepe his commaundementes / and his commaundementes are not grieuous.

¶ For all that is borne of God / ouercometh the world / and this is the t' we say that ouercometh the world / when oure sayth. Who is it that ouercometh the world / but he whiche denieth that Iesus is the sonne of God.

This is he that commeth with water and bloud / sene in Iesu Christ / not in water onely / but with water and bloud. † And it is of sperte that denieth weiness / for he sperte is f' weede. For there are they whiche haue receide in heauen / the father / the woide / and the holy ghoost / a these the are one. † And there are they whiche haue receide in earth / the sperte / water / and bloud / and these the are one.

¶ If we receiue the weiness of men / the weiness of God is greater / for this is the weiness of God / which be testifid of his sone. † He that belueth on the sonne of God / hath the weiness in him self. † He that belueth not God / hath made him a lye / because he hath not beleued / he receiue that God hath testifid of his sonne. And this is the receide / that God hath geuen vs euertlasting life. † And this life is in his sonne. He that hath / the sonne of God / hath life. He that hath not the sonne of God / hath not life.

These thinges haue I wrytten vnto you / which bekef on the name of the sonne of God / that ye maye knowe / howe that ye haue receiue life / and that ye maye bekef on the name of the sonne of God. † And this is f' fre holdnesse whiche we haue towarde him / † that if we ce any thyng accordinge to his will / he heareth vs. And if we knowe that he heareth vs / whoso euer we are / this are the sines that we haue the pryncipal / whiche we haue receiued of hym.

If any man se his brother synne / a synne not vnto death / let him praye / and he shall geue hym life / for them that synne not vnto death. There is a synne / vnto death / for the whiche I saye / I nor that a man should praye. All one synne / is that he synne / and there is synne not vnto death.

¶ We knowe / that whoso euer is borne of God / synneth not / but he that is degenerate of God / kepeth him self / and that which saueth him not. We knowe / that we are of God / and the world / so we also gether on wekyde nesse. But we knowe that the sonne of God is come / † and hath geuen vs a mynbe / to knowe hym whiche is true / and are in him / that is true in his sonne Iesu Christ. This is the true God / and euertlasting life. Daboe kpe youre selo ke from synne /

The first Chapter.

To the elder. To the electe lady and her chylidren / whome I loue in the truch: a not I onely / but all they also / I haue knowen I truch for I truches sake which dwelers in vs / and shalbe with vs for euer.

Grace / mercy / and peate be with you from the Lord & Iesus Christ / the sonne of the father in the truch and in loue.

I am greatly reioyced / that I haue founde amonge thy chylidren / them that walke in the truch as we haue receiued a commaundement as though I wrote a new commaundement vnto the / but the same which we haue from the beginninge / that we loue one another. And this is the loue / that we walke after his commaundemente.

This is the commaundement (as ye haue herde from the beginninge) that we shoulde walke afteren: I for many deceauers are come into the world / which confesse not that Iesus Christ is come in the flesch: he is a decauer a n Antichrist. Take heed to your selfen / that we lose not that which we haue wrought / but that we maye receaue a full reward. Whoso euer willesse / a abydeh noe in the doctrine of Christ / hath not God. He that abydeh in the doctrine of Christ / hath both the father and the sonne.

If any man come vnto you / a bringe not this doctrine / receaue him not into the house / neyther salute him: for he that saluteh him / is partaker of his euil dedes. I had many thinges to write vnto you / neuershelos / I wold not wryte it papere and ynke / but I wold come vnto you / and to speake with you mouth to mouth: that our ioye may be full. The chylidren of thy electe sister salute the / Amen.

The thyrde Epistle of the Apostle S. Iohn.

The first Chapter.

He Eldre. To the beloued Gaius / whome I loue in I truch. My beloued / I wryte in all thinges / thou prosper and fare well / euen as thy soule prospereth. I reioyced greatly / when the brethren came / and testified of the truch that ee in the / how thou walkest in the truch. I haue no greater ioye / then to heare that my chylidren walke in the truch.

My beloued / thou dost sayst fully whas forer thou dost to the brethren / and to strangers which haue done wronge of the loue before the congregacion: and thou hast done well that thou dyddest bringe them / warte on their sournes worthely desue God. For because of his name sake they wente forth / and toke nothinge of the brethren. We shalbe fore oughte to receaue / such that we myghte be helpere vnto the truch.

I wrote to the congregacion / but Diotrephes / which loueth to haue the preeminence amonge the receaued no not. Wherefor if I come / I wil declare his dedes / which he doeth / zealous vpon vs with malicious wordes: neyther is he spernyng comen. Not onely he him self receaueth not the brethren / but also he forbiddeth them that wolden / and thus setteth out of the congregacion.

My beloued / solewe not that which is euil / but that which is good. He that doeth willis of God: but he that doeth euil / setteth not God. Demetrius hath a good repute of all men: a of the truch: ye and we our selfe also haue receiued: / a ye knowe that our reuorde is true. I had many thinges to wryte / but I wold not wryte ynke and pen wryte vnto the. But I trust spouete to se the / and so will we speake together mouth to mouth. Peace be with the. The louers salute / Grete the louers by name / Amen.

my chylidren/which God hath giuen me.

For as much then as the chylidren haue flesh and bloud / it be also hyjn selfe lykewyse toke partie with them / so that be whome we shal myght take away the power of hyjn / whiche had led/dropp our heare / that is to say the deuell / and that be myght deliuer them whiche haue a feare of deathe were all theye lyke synne in daunger of boundage. For he in no place taketh on hyjn the awigle / but the side of Abrahams taketh he on hym. Wherfore in all thinges it became hyjn to be made / lyke vnto hys bierechen / that he might be mercifull / and a faythfull hys puelle in thynges concerning God / to make agreement for the synnes of the people. For in that he hym selfe suffere it and was contempned / he is able to succoure them that are temptad.

The III. Chapter.

¶ Wherfore holy bierechen / yf that are partakers of be heuenly calling / consider the kinne bussidure and hys puelle of our profession. Christ Iesus / whiche is / saythfull to him that ordeyned hym / euen as was Moyses in all his house. But this man is won by of greater honour then Moyses / in as much as he whiche prepared the house hath greater honour in / then the house it selfe. For every house is prepared of some man / but he that ordeyned all thynges is God. And Moyses verily was saythfull in all hys house as a minister / and to beare witness of those thynges which were to be spoken afterwarde. But Christ as a sonne hath rule ouer his house / that house are we / the holde fast the confidence / receyvinge of hope vnto the ende.

¶ Wherfore as the holy ghost sayeth / To day if ye shall heare his voyce / haue not youre heare / as in the piousyng in the day of reaptioun in the wilder nesse / where your fathers tempted me / pouerued me / and I saue my woikes fortye seauen legdes. Wherfore I was greued with that gentilecion / and saye. They erre euen in chert herce. But they knewe not mys woyses / that I saue in my wrath / that they shoulde not enter into my rest.

¶ Take heed bierechen / that there be noein any of you an euil partie of unbelife / to depart fro / by synge God. But exhort youre selfe / daily / whyle it is called / to daye / lest / any of you were harde heered / shome / decrease of synne. For we are become partakers of Christ / if we take a sepeure vnto the ende the beginninge of hys and xxiij. a sustaunce / so longe as we saye / to day / if / ye shall heare hys voyce / haue not your heare / as in the piousyng. For some when they herde / theyd piousse. Howbeit / not all they came out of Egypt by Moyses. But with whome was he displeasid fortye years a longe / was he not displeasid with them that synned / whose carcasses were ouerthrowen in the wilder nesse. To whome saue he / that they shoulde not enter into his rest / but vnto them that beleued not. And we see that they coulde not enter in because of unbelife.

The IIII. Chapter.

¶ Lest we feare therefore / lest / any of us forsake / the promise of encreyng into his rest / shoulde sence to come behynde / for it is declared vnto us as well as vnto them. But the woode of preachinge helped noether / whiche they had had heard / beleued it not. For we whiche haue beleued / enter into his rest / accordinge as he saye. Euen as I haue sworne in my wrath / They shall not enter into my rest. And that I spake he / verily a longe / after that the woikes fro the beginninge of the woide were made. For he spake in a certayn place of the fourth day on hys wyse / and God rested on the seventh day from all hys woikes. And in this place againe / They shall not come into my rest.

¶ Creyng it foloweth then / that some must enter therein / and they to whome it was first preached / entered not therein / for unbelife sake / therfore appoynted by a daye againe after so longe / time / and sayeth. To daye / as is receyued by Gaud. To daye if ye shall heare / hys voyce / then haue not your heare. For if I first had giuen them rest then woide he not afterwarde haue spoken of another day. Therfore remayneth there yet a rest vnto the people of God. For he that is entered into hys rest / receiued fro hys woikes / as God saith Gen. ij. a from hys.

¶ Let us make haste therefore to enter into that rest / lest / any man fall after the same cause of unbelife. For the woode of God is quiet / and myghy in operacion / and therefore / any two edged / sword / and / encreyng. *Ecc. ij. c.

The Epistle to the Hebrews.

tho we euen to this decayinge of the soule in the spere/ and of the joyntes and the marry/ as is a iudge of the thoghthen and the inuentione of the beere/ neither is there any creature inuifible in the syghs of hym. But all thynges are naked and bare vnto the eyes of hym of whome we speake.

The V. Chapter.

Synge then that we haue a greater bygh puelle/ euen Iesus the sonne of God/ whiche is inered into heauen/ let vs holde our profession/ for we haue not an hee puelle/ which can not haue compassion on our infirmities/ but was in all poyntes impord lyfe as we are/ but without synne. Les vs therefore go boldly vnto the f^eate of grate/ that we may receaue mercy/ and synde grace to helpe in the tyme of nede.

Therefore is he bounde to offre for synne/ as well for him selfe as for the people. And no man taketh the honoure vnto hym selfe/ but he that is called of God/ as was Aaron.

Then so Christ glorified not hym selfe to be made bye priest/ but he that sayde vnto hym / Thou art my sonne/ this day haue I begotten thee. As he sayeth also in another place/ Thou art a priest for euer after the order of Melchisedech. * And in the dayes of his flesh/ he offered prayers and supplications/ with strong crying and teares vnto him that is able to saue hym fro death/ a was heard also/ because he had God in honoure. And though he was Gods sonne/ yet learned he obedience by those thynges whiche he suffered. And he by the made perfecte/ became cause of euerlasting saluation vnto all them that obey hym/ and is called of God an hee priest after the order of Melchisedech. Whereof we haue many thynges to saye/ whiche are harde to be vnted because ys are dull of hearinge.

For where as concerninge the tyme ye ought to be teachers/ yet haue ye nede agayne/ that we teach you the first pceptes of the woorde of God / and are become such as haue nede of mylke/ and not stryde meate. For eury one that is fed yet with mylke/ is vnperite in the woorde of ryghtheousnes/ for he is but a babe. But stronge meate belongeth vnto them that are perf^ect / whiche beuoyne euilnes/ haue theyr wises iudged to iudge both good and euil.

The VI. Chapter.

Wherfore let vs leaue the doctrine pertayninge to the beginninge of a Christians lyfe/ that we go vnto perfection/ and now no more laye the foundation of repentance from dead woordes/ as of sayng towarde God / of baptysme/ of doctrine/ of layng on of handes / of reuerenccion othe^r dead/ and of eternall iudgmente. And so will we do if God permitte. For it is not possible / by they whiche were onte lygh^t / to stand/ and haue saysted of the bawnyng pyre/ and are become partakers of the holy ghost / and I haue sayst of the good woordes of God/ and of the power of the wordis to come / if they fall away / and concerninge them selfe teachyng the sonne of God a feith/ and make a mo^rte of him / that they shoulde be corrected agayne vnto repentance.

For the earth hath drunken in the sayne/ by which cometh oft vpon it/ and hungereth both herbes meate for them that disseit / receaith blessinge of God. But that goodis which beare sthorne a thylke / is nothyng woith/ a myc vnto eueryng/ whose ende is to be bent. Kneueschekke / ye dearily blyuod / we must to fe better of you / and this saluation is n^eer / though we thus speake. For God is not unryghtheous / that he shoulde forget your woite and labour of loue / whiche ye shered in his name / whan ye ministered vnto the faunces / and yet minister. Yet and we desire that eury one of you shew the same diligen^{ce} to the flabyllyngs of hope / men vnto the ende that ye sayn not / but folowe the which thioiwe sayth a yet paceneth in herite the promysse. For wha God made promes to Abraham / because he had none greater to write by / I the feare by hym selfe / and sayde / Surely I will blesse the / and multiply the m. de. And so he abode patiently / and obeynd the promes.

As for men they sweare by hym that is God greater then them selfes. And the corbe in the endi of all stryfe to confirme the thinge amonge them. But God willinge very abundantly to shewe vnto the heere of promes/the stabilitie of this counsaill added an oorde/ that by two immutable thinges (in) whiche it is impossible that God should lye) we might haue a stronge consolacion: euen we/ whiche are sed to holde faste the hope that us (it) shal be so/ whiche (hope) we haue as a sure and stedfast anker of oure soule. Whiche (hope) also entereth in/ into those thinges that are without the vail/ whyther the forrainger is for to enter in/ euen Iesus whiche is made an hye parric for euer/ after the order of Melchisedech.

The VIII. Chapter.

In this Melchisedech Kinge of Salem whiche gaue priest of the moost hye God/ vnto Abraham so he turned agayne from the slaughter of the kynge/ and blesst him/ vnto whome Abraham also gaue tythes of all he goodes. If these by interpretacion/ Kinge of righteousnesse after that he is Kinge of Salem also/ that is to saye/ King of pietye/ withoute father/ withoute mother/ withoute kynne/ and had no other beginninge of dayes/ no ende of lyfe: But is blessed vnto the sonne of God/ and continueth a priest for euer.

But consider howe greate a man this was/ to whom the Patriarke Abraham gaue tythes of the poyles. And verely the churche of Leui/ when they receiue the priesthode haue a commaundminte accordinge to the lawe/ to take the tythes of the people/ that is to saye of their brethren/ though they also came out of the loines of Abraham.

But he whos lined in our counted amonge the made receiued tythes of Abraham/ a blessed him that had the promes. Now is it so withoute al nay saying/ that the lesse receaueth blessinge of the better. And here men that receiue tythes. But there be receaued tythes of whome it is witnessed that he liueth. And so saue the truth: Ieui him self also receiued tythes/ payed tythes in Abraham: for he was yet in the loines of his father Abraham/ when Melchisedech met him.

Ro. 14. b.
Gal. 1. c.

¶ It nowe therefore perfection came by the priesthode of the Leuitas/ for vnder the same priesthode the people receiued the lawe/ what needed is then further more that another priest should be/ after the ordinaunce of Melchisedech/ and not after the order of Aaron.

¶ Sacrif the priesthode be translated/ then of necessite must the lawe be translated also. For he of whome these thinges are spoken/ is of another orde/ of the whiche neuer man stood at the headere.

¶ For as our fathers/ that oure Lord smoge of the orde of Iuda/ so the whiche orde Ioseph spake nothinge concerninge priesthode/ as it is yet a more euident thinge/ if after the similitude of Melchisedech there arys another priest/ whiche is not made after the lawe of the carnall commaundemint/ But after the power of an vnlesse lyfe. For he resti fyeth: Thou art the past foreuer after the orde of Melchisedech. Then the commaundemint that went before/ he disannulled/ because of his weakness and vnspoyntableness. ¶ So the lawe made nothinge proficte/ But was an introduction of a better hope/ by the which hope we haue nye vnto God. And for this cause so is a better hope/ that it was not promysed withoute an oorde. The priestice was made withoute an oorde/ but this priest with an oorde/ by hys thesorde vnto him: The Lord is swere and will not repent: Thou art a priest for euer/ after the order of Melchisedech. This is Iesus became a stabilisier of so much a better certainties.

And amonge the many were made priestes/ because they were not suffered to endure by the reason of death. But his man/ because he is endurth eternally an euertlasting priesthode. Wherefore he is able also euer to saue the that come vnto God by him: a luyth euer/ that make inuocetion for vs.

¶ For it became vs to haue such an hye priest as is holy/ innocens/ vnblisshed/ spirare from synnes/ and made byer then becomen/ whiche needeth not dailye/ (as yonder hee priestes) to offer vp sacrifices/ for his one synnes/ and then for the peoples synnes. For that hee be onte for al/ when he offereth vp him selfe. ¶ For the lawe maketh mit priestice/ whiche haue infirmitie/ but the word of the oorde/ that came hence the lawe/ maketh the sonne priestice/ whiche is perfect for euermore.

By faith was Noah taken awaye / that he should not see death / and was not founde / for cause God hath taken him awaye. For as he was taken awaye / he had receiue that he was pleased God. But without faith it is impossible to please God. For he that cometh vnto God / must beleeue that God is / and that he is a rewarder of them that seke him.

By faith Aze honoured God after that he was warned of th'inges / whiche were not yete made sene / and prepared the Azeke / to the laung of his householde : for as the whiche Azeke / he was condemned / and became b'rye of the righteousnesse whiche cometh by faith.

Before him/aboue the crosse/and despised the same/and is set downe on the ryght hande of the throne of God. ¶ Consider hym the more that endured such speakinge against him of synners/whiche he weary and faine in your mynde/as he haue not yet resistyd vnto bloud/seguinge against synners/and haue forgottyn the consolation / whiche speaketh vnto you as vnto chylidren / I My sonnes/ Despyse not the chasteninge of the Lorde/seye they saynt whan thou arte rebuked of hym / I for whome the Lorde looueth/ him he chasteneth/ yet/ and he scourgeth every sone that be receaueth.

3po. 14 b

B If ye endure chasteninge / God offereth hym selfe vnto you as vnto sonnes. What sonne is that / whome the father chasteneth not / If ye be not vnder correction / wherof all are partaker / then are ye bastards & not sonnes. Moreover / seeinge we haue had fathers of oure flesh / whiche corrected vs / and we gaue them reuerence / should we not then muche care be in subiection vnto the father of spiriual gyftes / that are mightiour / And they scerely for a fewe daies nurtered vs / after theye own pleasure / but he learned vs vnto that which is profitable / that we mighte receaue of his holynesse / No maner chastynginge for the present / yme semeth to be of your / but greuous / neither helles / afterwarde a discipline / that the quiete fruite of righteousnesse / vnto them whiche are receiued thereby. Beloued/wth I gave al vngener to wyte vnto you of the comyn saluacion / it was needful for me to wyte vnto you / to shewe you that ye shoulde continually laboure in the faith which was once geiue vnto the sainctes. For there are certayne crafty creepers / of whiche it was writtē of an ome vnto such iudgements. They are vngodly / and turne the grace of oure God vnto wantonnes / a T vnto God h only Lorde / and oure Lorde Iesus Christ.

My mynde is therefore to put you in remembrance / for so much as ye once knowe this / how that I Lorde After that he had deliuered the people out of E gypte / destroyed them whiche T after warde beleued not. * The aungels also which kepte nere thei first estate / but leste their owne habitacion / he hath reserved in euertlastinge chayne vnder vnder seruense vnto i iudgement of the great Iudgement as T Sodom and Gomorrah / and the cyties about the which in lyke maner veyshid them selfe wth fornicacion / and folowed straunge flesh / are set forth for an ensample / and suffer the vengeance of eternall fire. Likewise these became vnto the fishes / by spylling / and speake euil of the that are in auenture.

T Yet Michael y archaungel whiche stoue agaynst the deuil / and disputed abouē y body of Moyses / durste not geue raymge sentences / but sayde the Lorde rebuke the. T But the speake euil of those thinges which they knowe not / and what thinges they knowe naturally / as beastes which are without reason / in those thinges they corrupt them selfe. Woe vnto the / so they haue folowed the way of Cain / and are ouerly geuen to the erreour of * * * learn for lures / sake / and pryse in the reason of T Coie.

These are spottes / whiche of your kindnesse keast to gerper / without feare / hiding the selfe. T Clouds they are without water / carryed aboure of wyndes / and trees without fruite at gatheringe tyme / wth dead / and plucked vp by the roote. They are the ragyng waves of y sea / forsynge out their owne shame. They are wandringe starres / to whom is reserved the myst of vnder seruense for euer.

Woe to the fourth from Adam prophesied before of Iude / saying T Behold the Lorde shall come wth thousande of sainctes / so geue iudgement agaynst all men / to rebuke al that are vngodly amonge the / of all they vngodly dedes / which they haue vngodly committed / and of all they cruel speakinges / whiche vngodly sermoes haue spoken agaynst hym.

These are murmurers / complainers / walinge after their owne lustes / in whose mouthes speake proud thinges. They haue me in great seruence because of auantage. But ye shoulde remember the wordes whiche were spokē before of the Apostles of oure Lorde Iesus Christ / how that they haue tolde you / T that there shoulde be deuylers in the laste tyme / whiche shoulde walde after their owne vngodly lustes. These are makers of fettes / deadly / hauinge no spere.

But ye dearly beloued / edifie youre selfe in youre most holy faith / sayinge in the holy goost / I kepe youre selfe in the loue of Gods / lookinge for the mercy of our Lorde Iesus Christ / vnto eternall lyfe. And haue compassion on some / separatinge them / and rebuke some wth feare / pullinge them out of the fire / and save the slyppynge by the slyde.

Vnto hym that is able to kepe you / that ye fall not / and to present you faultlesse before the presence of hys glorey with ioye / to God oure sauour / whiche ouly is wryte / be gloriou / maicstic / dominion / and power / now / and for euer / Amen.

Re. ii. Chapter.

And wyte vnto the aungel of the sonne of the congregacion of Sardis: thus sayeth he that hath the seven spires of God / and the seven starres. I knowe thy works / thou hast a name that thou lovest / and thou receadest Walle / and strength the thinges / whiche remayne that are ready to dye. For I haue not founde the woelkes perfect befor God. Remember therfore how thou hast recead and herde / and holde fast and repent. If thou shalt not watch / I will come vnto thee as a theif / and thou shalt not mar. For I know what haue I will come vpon the. Thou that is a churche / a name / whiche no man knoweth / sayng he that receaueth it. Depled these garments / and they shall walke with me in whiche / for they are worthy. He that ouercometh / shall be clothed in white clay / and I will not put his name out of the booke of life / and I will confesse his name befor my father / and befor his angels. Let him that hath eares / heare / wher the spire sayeth vnto the congregacions.

And wyte vnto the aungel of the congregacion of Philadelphia: Thus sayeth he that is holy and true / whiche hath the key of Dauide / whiche he openeth and no man shutteth / and he shutteth and no man openeth. I knowe thy works. Behold / I will set before the an open doore / and no man can shutt it / for thou hast a litle strength / and thou shalt keep my word / a litle not denyed my name. Beholde / I shall geue some of the congregacion of Sathan / whiche cal them sike Ierem/ and are not/ but so hee. Beholde/ I will make the that they shall come/ and wai'p before thy seate/ and shall knowe that I haue loved the.

Because thou hast kepte the wordes of my patience / therefore will I kepe the from the houre of temptation / which will come upon all the world / to tempt them that dwell upon the earth. Beholde/ I come shortly / hold that which they haue / that no man take away thy crowne. Him that overcometh will I make a pylare in the temple of my God / and he shall no more go out.

E And I will wryte upon hym the name of my God / & the name of the cene of my God / & a new Ierusalem / which cometh downe out of heauen from my God / & I will wryte upon hym my newe name. Let him that hath eares / hear what the spere sayeth to the congregacions.

And vnto the angel of the congregacion / which is in Laodicea written: This sayeth the Amen / the faythfull & true witness / the beginning of the creatioun of God / I knowe thy wretchednes / thou art neither cold nor warme / I woulde thou wast warme / or thoue. So then because thou art betwene both / and neither cold nor warme / I will speme the out of my mouth / because thou sayest thou art warme / and thou art cold / and thou hast neede of no thinge / and thou art neither warme nor warme / therefore I will cast thee out of my mouth / & thou shalt be sicke / & naked / I counsel thee to buye of me golde / tryed in the fyre / that thou mayest be rich / and when thou shalt buye it / thou shalt be clothed / that thou shalt not be ashamed / because thou art naked / thou shalt buye it of me / that thou mayest be sicke.

F And as many as I loue / I rebuke and chasten. Be keene therefore and repent. Beholde / I stande at the doore and knocke. If any man heare my voyce and open the doore / I will come in vnto him / and will suppe with him / & he will be with me. To him that overcometh / I will graunt / to sit with me on my seate / and as I ouercome / and haue striven with my father on his seate. Let him that hath eares / heare what the spere sayeth vnto the congregacions.

Ch. III. Chapter.
After this I looked / and beholds a doore was open in heauen / & the first voyce which I heard / was as it were of / a temple calling to me / which sayeth / Come vp hither / & I will shew thee thinges which must be fulfilled hereafter. And immediately I was in the spere / beholde / my seate was set in heauen / and one satte on the seate. And hee that sat / was as one sitting vnto a Jasper stone / and a Sardin stone. And there was a rainbowe about the seate / as if sight lyke to a Smeralde. And about the seate were sene seven / and seven. And upon the seate / was written the name of the seate / and had on theyr heades crownes of golde.

And out of the seate proceded lightnings / and thunders / and voyces / and there were seven lampes of fyre / burninge before the seate / which are the seven spires of God. And before the seate there was a sea of glass / lyke vnto Crystall / and in the myddes of the seate / was a rounde aboute the seate / were four beastes full of eyes / before and behinde. And the first beast was lyke a Lyon / the seconde beest lyke a Calfe / and the thyrde beest had a face lyke a man / and the fourth beest was lyke a strong Eagle. And the foure beastes had the one of them / theyr wings rounde about / without a wynde / they were full of eyes. And they had no rest daye / neither nyght / saying: Holy / holy / holy is the Lord God almyghty / which was / and is / and is to come.

And when those beastes gaue glory and honoure / and thankes to hym that sat on the seate / which lyeth for euill and cursethe young / Elders fell downe before him that sat on the seate / & worshipped him that lyeth for euill and cursethe young / before / & saide / saying: Thou art worthy / Lord / to receiue glory and honoure / and power / for thou hast created all thynges / and for thy wyllow sake they are / and were created.

The V Chapter.

After this I saw in the sighte of him that sat on the throne / a booke written within and on the backside / sealed with seven seales. And I saw a stronge angel / preadinge with a loud voyce: Who is worthy to open the booke / and to loose the seales thereof? And no man in heauen / nor in earth / neither vnder the earth / was able to open the booke / neither to loose the seales. And I wept muche / because no man was founde worthy to open / and to loose the booke / neither to loose the seales.

The Revelation of S. Iohn.

Apoc. viij. muste be kylled with the sweerde. † There is þe pascence and the fath of the founte.

And þe threbe another bestle comminge vp our of the earth / and he had two hames lyke a lambe / and þe spak as byd þe swage. And he byd all þat þe fysse bestle coude do in his prestis / and he caused the earth / and them whiche dwell therein / to worshippe the fysse bestle / whos beebly wounde was healed. And he byd grete wonderes / so that he made fyre come downe from heauen in the sight of men. And because them that dwell on the earth / by the meanes of those fygnes / whyche he had power so do in the fygges of the bestle / sayinge to them that dwell on the earth: that they shoulde make an ymage unto the bestle / whiche had the wounde of a swerd and was lyur.

And he had power to geue a spyte unto the ymage of the bestle / and that the ymage of the bestle shoulde speak / and shoulde cause that as many as wold not worshippe the ymage of the bestle / shoulde be kylled. And he made all both small and great / fyre / a pooder / and bondis / so recceue a marke in theyr right handes / or in theyr fore headen. And that naman mighte þe / or self / save þat had the marke / or the name of the bestle / yther the nombre of his name. There is wysdome. Let him that hath wysdome / counte the nombre of the bestle. For it is the nombre of a man / and his nombre is xij hundred / thus fore and fyve.

The XIII. Chapter. †

2 I Isted Isted / and Iola lambe stode on the mounte Syon / a with hym C. and xliij thousand / hauinge his fathers name wyrt in theyr fore headen. And þe herde a noyse from heauen as the sounde of many wateres / and as the voyce of a grete thonder. And the voyce that þe herde was as the harpers that play upon theyr harpes. And they songe as it were a newe sange / before the seate and before the foure bestles / and the elders / and no man coude learne that sange / ouer the hundred / and xliij thousand / whiche were redeemed from the earth. These are they that are not defyled with women / for they are vyrgynes. These folowe the lambe / whiche therefore be good. These were redeemed from men / byngs the fysse frutes unto God / and so the lambe / and in their mouthes was founde no gyll / for they are without spot / before the throne of God. †

And þe foure anngel stode in the myddes of beaues / hauinge an euerlastinge Gospell so preache unto them that styt a dwell on the earth / a to all nacions / tymes / edes / and runnes / and people / sayinge with a loud voice: Feare God / a geue honoure vnto him / for the hour is a this / and he that comet / whiche worshipper hym / that made beaues a earth / and the see / and the fountaynes of water. And theyr folowd Mar. xiiij another sungeill sayinge: "Be it fallen / the * Ca. xxiij is fallen / euen Babilon that grete cite / for Terri iij the mabz all nacions / byngs of the wyne of Apo. xiiij her whoredome.

And the threbe anngel folowed them saye: "Inge with a loud voice: If any man worshippe the bestle / a has ymage / and recceue his marke in his foreheade / or in his hande / the same shall byngs of the wyne of the wrath of God / whiche is poured in the cupps of his wrath. And he shalbe punysshed in fyre and brimstone / for the holy anngels / and the foure the lambe.

And the fmake of theyr tomes ascended Apoc. iij vp euermore. And they hau no rest / day nor a nyght / whiche worshippe the bestle and his ymage / a whosouer recceaueth the pynnt of his name. † There is the pascence of fyngnes. Apoc. xxiij Becaus they that kept the commandmentes / tes and fath of Iesu.

And þe herde a noyse from heauen / sayinge vnto me: Wryte: These are the dead whiche dreceat þe in the Loide. Yc / the spete sayeth / that they reste from theyr labour / for they wouit a solow them. And I Isted a boldis / a whyte cloud / a upon the cloud / one fyngs ge lyt vnto the sonne of man / haungis on his bris a golden croune / a in his hande a sbarpe fysse. And another anngel came out of the temple / cryngs with a loud voice to hym that sat on the cloude: "Thust in thy fyre Isa. iij be a ceupe / for the rime is come to strap / for the come / of theyr arch in rye. And that sat on the cloude / thust in his sicke on the earth / a the earth was caped.

And another anngel came out of þe temple / whiche is in heauen / haungis als a sbarpe fysse. And another aungel came out fro þe altar / whiche which hath power ouer fyre/and cryed with a laude voice vnto him that had the sharpe sycke/stand sayd: Thrust in thy sharpe sycke/and garbe the clusters of the earth/for they grapes are ripe. And the angel thrust in his sycke on the earth/and eu' youne the grapes of the wyneyard of the earth/and call them thus the greete wynevat of the wrath of God: and the wynevat was troden withoute the cyme/ and bloude came out of the factours vnto the horse/ by the space of a thousande and fyve hundred furloges.

 a voyce came out of the frate, sayinge: Disse ouer Loide God all ye that are his ser-uantes, and ye that frate him / both small and greate.

And I herd the voyce of muche people, I euen as the voyce of many waters, and as the voyce of stronge bonding, sayinge: Alleluia, for God omnipotente reigneth, I I be be glad and receyue, and geue honoure to him

And the arch and hel were cast in to the lake of fyre. This is the seconde year. And wofol was not founde wyemen in the boke of lyfe/ was cast into the lake of fyre.

The XXX. Chapter.

V And I saw a new heauen a new earth. For the first heauen is the first earth were wanshed away / and there was nomore sea. And I John saw the holy cyne newe Jerusalem come downe from God out of heauen/ prepared as a bride garnished for her housband. And I herde a great voyce frō hieate/ sayinge: beholde the tabernacle of God is with men/ and he will dwell with the. And thei shall be his people / and God hym selfe shall be with them/and shall be their God. I And God shall wype awaye all teares from their eyes. And there shall be nomore death / neyther sorrowe/ neyther shall there be any more paine/ for the olde things are gone. And he that sat upon hieate/sayde: Beholde / I make all things newe. I And he sayde unto me: wryte/for thei wofol are faithful and true.

And he sayde unto me: is done. I Iom Alpha and Omega the beginninge and the ende. I will give to hym that is a thyrst of the well of the water of lyfe frely. He that overcometh shall inherit all things. I I will be to God/ a he shall be mynne. But the fearful and unbeluynge / and the adonnable/ and murderers/ and whomongers/ and fornicers/ and idolaters/ and all theye/ that have thye part in the lake/ that burneth with fyre and brimstone/ which is the seconde death.

And there came unto me one of the seven angles / which had the seuen vialles full of the foule last plague: and talked with me sayinge: Come/ I will shew the the byddyng of the lambe wyse. And he caried me awaye in spiere so a great and an hye mountayn / and he shewed me the great cyne / holy Jerusalem/ descendinge out of heauen from God/ hauinge the brightnesse of God. And pershynge was lyc unto o stone most precious/ set as a Jasper/ clear as cristall/ and had great and hie walls of on had four gates/ and at the gates twelfe angles/ and names wyemen: which are the twelfe trybes of Israel: on the East parte the gates / and on the North syde the gates / and toward the South the gates / and on the West syde the gates: & the wall of the cyne had twelfe foundations/ and on them the names of the lambe twelfe Apostles.

I And he that talked with me/ had a golden reede to mesure the cyne/ and the gates / and the wall thereof. And the cyne was buyldt foure square / & the length was as large as the bredth of it / and he measured the cyne with the reede: the wall fouringones / and the length and the bredth / and the height of it were equal. And he measured the wall thereof an cubit/ and after the measure of a man/ which the angell had. And the buylding of the wall ofre was of Jasper. And the cyne was of pure gold / lyke vnes cleare glasse / and the foundations of the wall and of the cyne were garnished with all maner of precious stones. The first foundation was a Jasper/ the seconde a Saphyre/ the thyrde a Calcedonye/ the fourth a Smaragde/ the fyfth a Sardonye/ the syxte a Turquoise/ the seventh a Chrysolite/ the eyght Berall/ the nynth a Topas/ the tenth a Chrysolopasos/ the eleuenth a Jacint/ the twelfte an Amethyst.

And the twelfe gates were twelfe pearles/ and every gate was of one pearle/ and the flete of the cyne was pure gold / as a thosome of crystynge glasse. And I sawe no temple therein. For the Lord God almyghty and the lambe is the temple of it / and the cyne had no mebe of the Sunne/ neyther of the Moone / to lighten it. For the brightnesse of God shal lyghten it/ and the lambe is the light of it. And the people which are saved/ shall walke in the light of it: and the Kinges of the earth shall bringe theye glory unto it. I And the gates of it shall not be shute by daye. For there shall be no night there. And there shall enter into it none unchane thinge / neyther wofol/ neither abhominacion/ for maketh hee: but they which are wryten in the lambe boke of lyfe.
